"In all probability," answered Dr. Wheeler, "you must die."

Mr. Marsh took it standing up. He said nothing for a moment. Then he asked steadily:

"How long do you give me?"

"Not very long," replied the physician. "Probably not more than four days. There is nothing we can do for you here."

Without another word Mr. March was driven to his home and at once began the arrangement of his affairs preparatory to meeting death. Through it all he sought to comfort his family and advise them as to how to direct certain business matters after his demise.

HAS INSPECTED FOUR REGIMENTS

Major General Lake Expects to Have Tour of Inspection Finished About End of Year

Major-General Lake, who is on his tour of inspection of the Canadian corps has thus far only inspected the regiments of four places, Windsor, Woodstock, London and Peterborough.

He left Ottawa about a week ago on his inspection journey and will inspect the regiments all over the Dominion. He stated to the Review that he expected to have his work completed about the end of the year.

Canon Charles Hopkins, of St. Albans, dropped dead at the Midland Station, St. Albans, on his arrival from London. He was hon. Canon of Peterborough.

HIRED MAN MAKES BRUTAL ATTACK ON A LEEDS FARMER

Robert Stewart of Brockville, the Victim—Robbery Probably the Motive—Had a Padded Club Concealed—Assailant Has a Bad Record.

Brockville, May 21.—Suffering from terrible injuries about the head and face, Robert Stewart, a farmer, residing near Brockville, was brought yesterday to St. Vincent de Paul Hospital. His condition is alarming.

Stewart, who is 70 years old, was the victim of a well-planned assault and robbery of the house, where his daughter was alone. One week ago he hired James Young, aged 29, to work for the season. Until yesterday morning Young acted properly, though his inclinations were not for hard work. Yesterday, in company with Stewart, he went out to do some seeding.

In periods of consciousness Stewart informed the doctor that he was stooping over adjusting a nut on the seeder when Young dealt him a heavy blow on the head with a padded club and said, "I'm going to kill you if you don't stop shouting." Seven or eight more blows were struck, when Robert Kingston, working in an adjoining field, heard Stewart's cries. Young gave his victim another blow and took to his heels for the woods, a short distance north.

A doctor found the skull cut open on both sides, while the back of the head was so badly bruised that a minute examination could not be made.

Young has so far eluded capture, though searching parties have been out. It is thought he has boarded an outgoing freight train.

Evidence to show that robbery was the motive was secured some time later when Stewart's dog was found chained to a fence some distance away, something Stewart never did. The club, which Young dropped when Kingston appeared, is carefully wrapped with a piece of cloth and had evidently been concealed under his coat.

Young is a man with a bad record, but of late years he has lived a fairly quiet life. When a lad in his teens he served a term in Dannemora, N.Y., for attempting to wreck a train near Ogdensburg. He was also convicted here several times for petty robberies.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS FROM MANY POINTS OF THE WORLD

The newsboys of Toronto paraded yesterday to the number of 400 or more.

The South Carolina State Democratic convention has declared for Bryan.

Viaduct or bridges was considered by the Railway Commission at Toronto yesterday.

Steffan Swyryda was committed for trial for the murder of Olecka Liuteck near Toronto.

The two-year-old son of Henry Vocial was drowned at Dundas by falling into Dundas creek.

Walter Peaker, aged 9, died in the operating chair at Vancouver while being operated on for tonsilitis.

In a bye-election in Ottawa, in Victoria ward, Ald. Brown was re-elected over ex-Ald. Boucher by 281 majority.

A New York despatch says the Franco-English exhibition is a fizzle, and that King Edward is very angry.

Empire Day was celebrated at Toronto by a meeting in the Normal School at which patriotic addresses were delivered.

William Whyte, second vice-president of the C. P. R. has been called home from the Mediterranean on account of the threatened strike.

The dead body of Mrs. Eliza Kelley, aged 70, a washer woman, was found in her cottage, where she had lain dead for at least four days.

Wm. Marling, of the Canada Life, Montreal, son of the late Percy Marling, Toronto, lost his life by falling from a hotel window in New York.

Ten delegates will be sent from the Presbyterian Church in Canada to the third Ecumenical conference which will be held in Edinburgh in June, 1910.

A crowded car on the Niagara, St. Catharines & Thorold Railway jumped the track, and the passengers had a narrow escape from going over a 60-foot embankment.

The Canadian Northern flyer between Winnipeg and St. Paul was wrecked at Cartier. The fireman was hurt and the passengers escaped with a bad shaking up.

James E. Waugh, ex-immigration officer for the Dominion Government in West Kent, pleaded guilty to obtaining $250 from the Government by false pretences and was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

Because her husband, whom she married nearly twenty years ago, had accused her of unfaithfulness, Mrs. Mary Weltman, New York, killed herself, after writing a letter to her children, in which she declared that the accusation was baseless.

The Indians of the Six Nation Reserve near Brantford sent eight chiefs to Ottawa to ask that the present tribal treaty with the Government be renewed and that they be allowed to draw $30,000 out of their trust funds for improvement purposes.

Gen. Willcocks has reached the heart of the Mahomedan country and is engaged destroying native villages and forts. The neighboring tribes remain loyal and the Ameer of Afghanistan appears to be doing his best to restrain the border men. Cholera is abating.

It is proposed to change the arrangement of the House of Representatives at Washington, substituting cushioned benches, like the English House of Commons, for revolving chairs. Under present conditions it is said to be the most disorderly legislative body in the world.

The poll tax of $500 on each Chinese immigrant into Canada brought the Federal treasury last year $690,000. The total arrivals of Chinese were 1,380. Under terms of the act half the tax goes to the Dominion and half to British Columbia, where nearly all the Celestials remain.

West Toronto is to have an Independent Liberal candidate in the person of Dr. Hunter, who will run in Class A. His platform will be based on the abolition of the bar, the reform of our educational system, public ownership, the removal of the civil service from party politics, and a liberal colonization policy for New Ontario.

INDIFFERENT TO HIS FATE

John David Tearse Would Prefer Execution to Life in Prison

Brampton, May 21.—John David Tearse, the young English immigrant who is in jail here under sentence to be hanged June 11, spends his time reading British history and appears wholly indifferent to his fate.

Daily papers having any references to him are denied the prisoner. The only reference he makes to his sentence is that he would prefer execution to a life spent in prison.

Tearse displays a very erratic temper. When in his quarrelsome moods he will grumble about the food he gets and it is said he has told many petty lies to his jailer about the turnkey having stolen his sugar or portions of his meals. His appetite is hearty, and if his rations have not altogether met his fancy, he sometimes throws the dishes upon which they have been served around his cell.

County Crown Attorney McFadden says he has had no intimation up to the present from the authorities as to the convict's fate, but the general impression is that Tearse will not go to the scaffold.

The Smallest Building.

Reno, Nev., May 21.—On a plot 26 inches wide a three-story building, the narrowest for its height in the world probably, has been constructed on Centre street, for use as a shoe store and dwelling.

Exchanging of Prisoners.

Washington, May 21.—The Senate committee on foreign relations has voted to report favorably a convention relating to wreckage and salvage and the transfer of prisoners in Canadian waters.

Practical Church Union.

Brockville, May 21.—The Methodists and Presbyterians of this district have agreed to meet jointly and arrive at a definite understanding for the amalgamation of weak churches.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE IN OLD ENGLAND

Premier Asquith Replies to the Delegation—Would Not Oppose it

London, May 21.—Prime Minister Asquith took a long step yesterday in the direction of encouraging the claims of women for enfranchisement when he replied to an important delegation of radical members of the House of Commons, who were deputed to obtain his views on this matter.

He declared that the Government intended before the close of the present Parliament to pass a comprehensive measure of electoral reform.

He said he was not himself an advocate of woman suffrage, not having yet been convinced of its desirability, but he had an open mind, and if an amendment was introduced to the projected reform bill favoring woman suffrage on democratic lines, the Government would not oppose it.

Costly Fire at Russell.

Russell, Man., May 21.—A serious fire occurred here, doing much damage to property in the heart of the city. Several business blocks on Main street were entirely wiped out. The buildings burned were: G. W. Glover's general store, J. W. Fraser's general store, J. Matheson's store, Oddfellows' Hall, T. A. Wright's office, R. R. Rogers' office and A. E. Gainlain's office. Loss about $50,000; partly covered by insurance.

Italian Banker Arrested.

Montreal, May 21.—Luigi Zarossi, an Italian banker, who conducted business on St. James street up to a few months ago, but fled from the city after being released on bail, after having been arrested on a charge of defrauding his compatriots, has been arrested in Mexico City. Steps will be taken to secure his return to Canada.

Zarossi was accused of having accepted sums of money from Italians for the purpose of forwarding the same to their families in Italy.

In the efforts to secure a workable and at the same time a thoroughly humane system, there has been a great deal of what racing men call "plunging" done by the various legislators. Among the various schemes that have been tried in certain States of the Union are:

Prohibition of the employment of convicts.

Prohibition of the sale of convict-made goods.

Marking of convict-made goods as "prison-made."

Prosecution of industries not before carried on in the States.

Prohibition of the sale of convict-made goods except in States where manufactured.

Fixing the prices at which convict-made goods may be sold in the market.

Prohibition of the use of machinery in prison labor.

Reduction of hours of labor in prison.

Exportation of convict-made goods.

Payment of wages to convicts.

Prohibition of convict labor contracts.

Prohibition of convict labor contracts at any wage lower than average paid outside.

Employment of convicts upon public improvements that would not otherwise likely be undertaken.

These remedies have all failed in greater or less degree.

Any system adopted should be one which will enable the prisoner to earn an honest livelihood on his discharge, and should turn him out in a fit physical condition to do a day's work. Without a doubt, the difficulty of finding honest work is the cause of nearly all the recommittals. A man cannot be turned out of prison, however well conducted he may be, without a certain stigma on his character. His former employer distrusts him, sometimes his family disowns him, the police suspect him, and unless in condition to go to work at once he is apt to resort again to crime.

The employment of prisoners in the produce of supplies for the maintenance of the State, county and municipal institutions, or in work on roads, it has been found, tends to less direct competition with free labor, and has been generally regarded as objectionable but there is only a limited amount of labor can be employed in this way. To the extent that employment offers, it is generally agreed it should be adopted. With this class of employment given, there would still remain upwards of three-quarters of the prisoners without employment. How can this best be given. That the objections of the labor interests to the competition of prison labor are well founded and should be met, the Government admits

In 1900 the United States Congress appointed an industrial commission to investigate a number of economic subjects, one of which was prison labor. They reported very fully. The Commission of Labor of the United States in 1906 investigated and reported at great length. From these reports it will be found that in of prisoners is largely employed upon farms, upon roads, and out-of-door work. It is found that the benefits to be derived from the employment of convicts in agricultural labor are many. It completely removes competition with free labor the public receive the full benefit of the labor in the maintenance of the institutions no special skill is required on the part of the prisoner, who can be at once set to work. The work is helpful and important and can be made more useful than any other work as a reformatory measure.

In New York State, the prisoners do a large amount of work on the prison farm and upon the highways. The Commission on Prisons say that they are in favor of working short-term convicts on the public roads. In no other way, the report says, can convicts be employed in outside labour so well as in working on the highways. Where conditions are favorable for such work, it has proved very satisfactory. It must be borne in mind that in all these States they have a long term as well as short-term men. We are confined to the short-term men. In New York State they find that short-term men can be freely employed at outside work, and that no more keepers are required for them than are required in prison.

In Arkansas the prisoners are set to work on cotton farms on the share crop principle. The penitentiary is self-supporting.

In Colorado the prison farm is 400 acres and the work is mostly on the farm and road building besides.

In Alabama there are State Prison farms on which diversified crops are grown as well as stock-raising, but the farms are not self-sustaining.

In Connecticut there is a prison farm, and the report says, it has been clearly demonstrated that the farm can be carried on profitably, also that the farm furnishes to the Government institutions food of a quality that could not be afforded if it had to be purchased; also that having a prison farm simplifies the tramp problem.

In Indiana the Warden of the State Prison reports in favor of the farm project.

In Maine the Warden recommends the purchase of a large farm. He regards farm work as an important factor in reformation.

In Massachusetts there is a State farm worked by the prisoners, but it is small in comparison with the prison population of that populous State.

In Minnesota the State Prison has a 700 acre farm on which many prisoners are employed.

In North Carolina nine-tenths of the convicts are employed upon the farms.

In North Dakota the convicts are employed principally in agricultural pursuits, the only ones that can be carried on as the State law now stands.

In Oregon road-making, brick-making and the prison farm give employment.

In Rhode Island the male prisoners work largely out-doors farming and building roads.

In South Dakota the report says: "The penitentiary farm and garden is an important factor in the support of the institution, and it is the intention of the Board to add to the farm and increase the opportunities for farm labor as the wisest and best means of furnishing useful and helpful employment to the prisoners and conducing to their reformation."

Illinois and many other of the States, however, still continue the carrying on of industries in the prison, either on Government account or labor contract, but this is always subject to the like protests that we have in this Province, and the authorities in these States are looking to the farm for the solution.

Would the farm be the proper solution here? We have a Central Prison in the centre of Toronto, occupying land that is worth more per foot than land occupied by prisoners should be worth per acre. With unobjectionable employment offering for one hundred of our prisoners or thereabouts, operating on public account and about the prison, we have still three hundred unemployed. Would it be a satisfactory solution if we had somewhere convenient and easily accessible by railway a farm of three or four hundred acres with the institution on it?

Properly directed, how far would this farm go towards giving employment to these three hundred prisoners? How far would it go towards maintaining them and maintaining other public institutions of the province from the growth of the farm?

In this connection there has already been done some work in this Province that has a bearing as indicating how far the prisoners may be trusted under proper conditions. When we took office we found a Mercer Reformatory and a Mercer Refuge for Girls. The population of the Mercer Refuge for Girls averaged about 72, with five women officers of this Government in charge as matrons, instructresses and otherwise. These girls were from sixteen to nineteen years of age.

Early in 1905 the Government took up the question of how far it could dispense with that institution entirely. It set Mr. Kelso to work to see what could be done towards placing those girls in homes with relatives, or otherwise, where the environment would be such as to give them a chance, instead of having them serve their terms and sent back to the old environment only to return again to the senior institution for a worse crime.

He did get to work. One after another of the girls was placed, sometimes with relatives, sometimes in homes far removed from the homes that they first knew, until finally there were left with the Mercer Refuge for Girls with but four prisoners and five officers in charge. We were told that whatever might be said of the others that had gone out, and of whom we had received good reports in nearly every case, that these four could not be trusted out of sight of the authorities in charge. One night they saw their chance and made their escape and then the situation was terrible indeed. Five officers of the Government in charge of a Refuge for Girls and no inmates. The girls, however, kept together, went to the telephone, and called Mr. Kelso up at 11 o'clock at night and asked to be captured. He took them back to the Refuge, and in course of a short time they as well were placed—always against the terrible warnings of the officers in charge. The result has been most satisfactory, and to-day we have in this Province no longer a Refuge for Girls. The work is better done in another way. The Province has been saved thousands of dollars per year, and the work of reform is being better done in the homes to which those girls have been sent without cost to the Province.

CONSERVATIVES, REGISTER! FOR THE COMING ELECTION

Every One Elegible Should Get on the Voters' List—Where Sittings of Registration Board Will be Held—Qualifications Neccessary—Visit the Committee Rooms.

Sittings of the local Board of county registrars will be held as follows:

Saturday, May 23rd, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. and from 7.30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

From Ward No. 1—At Lewis Spry's shop, 214 Stewart street.

For Ward No. 2—At the Council Chamber.

For Ward No. 3—At the Police Chamber.

For Ward No. 4—At Wm. Lee's shop, corner of Smith and George streets.

For Ward No. 5—At the Ashburnham town hall.

A sitting of the Board of Appeal will be held in the City Council Chamber on Friday, May 29th, at eight o'clock p.m. to hear appeals from the decisions of the several registrars.

QUALIFICATIONS.

To be eligible to vote on the provincial election you must be:

1. Over 21 years of age.
2. A British subject.
3. A resident in Canada for at least one year.
4. A resident of the city for at least three months previous to the last day of registration, May 23rd.

Students who are residents of this city and who are registered in any other centre are eligible for registration there on return from any university or college in the Dominion.

If you are a lodger and not a householder, report at the Conservative committee rooms, 418 George st. where the energetic secretary will give you full particulars in connection with eligibility, time and place of registration and voting, etc.

The same thing applies to householders moving into new polling divisions. Make sure that your name is in good standing. Don't take any chance in the matter. Report at the committee rooms and get full information.

Again, let the young men who believe themselves eligible for registration not wait to be hunted up. The committee rooms are open all day and every evening and the secretary will be glad to give you information. It is your privilege and right to cast a vote for the continuance in office of a good government.

The Conservative committee rooms are at 418 George street, (Dutton's old store). Call there. You will be made welcome.

EDITORIAL NOTES

There is to be a magnificent new G.T.P. hotel built at Ottawa. It is to be named appropriately "Chateau Laurier."

POLITICAL NOTES

The Examiner reports that Mr. Solomon Northey rose up as one man in their revival meeting at Bridgenorth after hearing Mr. O'Connel speak and confessed that he had intended to vote for Mr. Bradburn, but his failure to sign a bond with Mr. Gillespie settled it. He would vote for Gillespie. Like many other things this brilliant effusion proves too much.

Mr. Northey is a Liberal, and always was, hence he confesses that as such he approves of the Whitney Government, if not of Mr. Bradburn. This is a sad commentary on Mr. O'Connell's eloquence.

Why is it that the Liberal spellbinders "fire and fall back" when they think of the fiscal policy and management of the Whitney Government? They have not a word to say against it. This one item in the political programme gives these gentlemen complete pause. They can't bluff the figures, so they tackle other and less difficult objects.

Mr. Bradburn will have a huge majority. One well-known man bet two to one that he would have over twelve hundred.

MONAGHAN CLUB TO HAVE OUTING

Will Run Excursion to Idyl Wyld on Victoria Day

The Monaghan Club has chartered the steamer Monarch for an excursion to Idyl Wyld on Monday, Victoria Day. The boat will leave the Wolfe street wharf at nine o'clock, and returning will arrive at Peterborough about eight o'clock. There will be dancing at Idyl Wyld. Mr. Archie Moore will be master of ceremonies.

MR. McNULTY AT KEENE

A large meeting was held in the town hall Friday evening in the interests of Mr. P. McNulty, the Liberal candidate for the Legislature. Mr. John Lang, ex-M.P., acted as chairman first introducing Mr. McNulty who gave a short but interesting speech, followed by Mr. Roland McWilliams, and Mr. Sam Clarke, M.P.P. of Cobourg, who made a decided hit with the audience by making a very clever speech, which was well received. He began his discourse by paying tribute to the character of the preceding members for East Peterborough, the late Thomas Blezard, and Mr. William Anderson and asked the audience for their support for Mr McNulty to fill their place. He then referred to the policy of the Whitney government, contrasting it with the Liberal government which had gone before it, and made a lengthy reference to the recent gerrymander, by which West Peterborough had been torn apart to help out the Conservatives in East Peterborough and West Northumberland.

With only one vote in Opposition, the Brighton Town Council has given general approval to the scheme for the erection of a summer and winter palace on the foreshore.

Mr. Birrell states that Sir Antony MacDonnell, Irish Under-Secretary, will resign at the end of July and be succeeded by Sir James Dougherty, the Assistant Under-Secretary.

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

By CHARLES KLEIN.

A Story of American Life Novelized From the Play by ARTHUR HORNBLOW.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

"Time will remedy that," smiled Shirley. Then, mischievously, she added: "I rather expected to see Mrs. Ryder."

There was the faintest suspicion of a smile playing around the corners of the plutocrat's mouth as he picked up a book lying on his desk and replied:

"Yes, she wrote you, but I—wanted to see you about this."

Shirley's pulse throbbed faster, but she tried hard to appear unconcerned as she answered:

"Oh, my book! Have you read it?"

"I have," replied Ryder slowly, and, fixing her with a stare that was beginning to make her uncomfortable, he went on: "No doubt your time is valuable, so I'll come right to the point. I want to ask you, Miss Green, where you got the character of your central figure—the Octopus, as you call him—John Broderick?"

"From imagination, of course," answered Shirley.

Ryder opened the book, and Shirley noticed that there were several passages marked. He turned the leaves over in silence for a minute or two, and then he said:

"You've sketched a pretty big man here."

"Yes," assented Shirley; "he has big possibilities, but I think he makes very small use of them."

Ryder appeared not to notice her commentary, and, still reading the book, he continued:

"On page 22 you call him 'the world's greatest individualised potentiality, a giant combination of materiality, mentality and money—the greatest exemplar of individual human will in existence today.' And you make indomitable will and energy the keystone of his marvelous success. Am I right?" He looked at her questioningly.

"Quite right," answered Shirley.

Ryder proceeded:

"On page 26 you say 'the machinery of his money making mind typifies the laws of perpetual unrest. It must go on relentlessly, resistlessly, ruthlessly making money, making money, and continuing to make money. It cannot stop until the machinery crumbles.'"

Laying the book down and turning sharply on Shirley, he asked her bluntly:

"Do you mean to say that I couldn't stop tomorrow if I wanted to?"

She affected to not understand him.

"You?" she inquired in a tone of surprise.

"Well, it's a natural question," stammered Ryder, with a nervous little laugh. "Every man sees himself in the hero of a novel just as every woman sees herself in the heroine. We are all heroes and heroines in our own eyes. But tell me what's your private opinion of this man. You drew the character. What do you think of him as a type—how would you classify him?"

"As the greatest criminal the world has yet produced," replied Shirley without a moment's hesitation.

The financier looked at the girl in unfeigned astonishment.

"Criminal?" he echoed.

"Yes, criminal," repeated Shirley decisively. "He is avarice, egotism and ambition incarnate. He loves money because he loves power, and he loves power more than his fellow man."

Ryder laughed uneasily. Decidedly this girl had opinions of her own which she was not backward to express.

"Isn't that rather strong?" he asked.

"I don't think so," replied Shirley. Then quickly she asked: "But what does it matter? No such man exists."

"No, of course not," said Ryder, and he relapsed into silence.

Yet while he said nothing the plutocrat was watching his visitor closely from under his thick eyebrows. She seemed supremely unconscious of his scrutiny. Her aristocratic, thoughtful face gave no sign that any ulterior motive had actuated her evidently very hostile attitude against him. That he was in her mind when she drew the character of John Broderick there was no doubt possible. No matter how she might evade the identification, he was convinced he was the hero of her book. Why had she attacked him so bitterly?

At first it occurred to him that blackmail might be her object. She might be going to ask for money as the price of future silence. Yet it needed but a glance at her refined and modest demeanor to dispel that idea as absurd. Then he remembered, too, that it was not she who had sought this interview, but himself. No, she was no blackmailer. More probably she was a dreamer—one of those meddling sociologists who, under pretense of bettering the conditions of the working classes, stir up discontent and bitterness of feeling. As such she might prove more to be feared than a mere blackmailer whom he could buy off with money. He knew he was not popular, but he was no worse than the other captains of industry. It was a cutthroat game at best. Competition was the soul of commercial life, and if he had outwitted his competitors and made himself richer than all of them he was not a criminal for that. But all these attacks in newspapers and books did not do him any good. One day the people might take these demagogic writings seriously, and then there would be the devil to pay. He took up the book again and ran over the pages. This certainly was no ordinary girl. She knew more and had a more direct way of saying things than any woman he had ever met. And as he watched her furtively across the desk he wondered how he could use her—how instead of being his enemy he could make her his friend. If he did not, she would go away and write more such books, and literature of this kind might become a real peril to his interests. Money could do anything. It could secure the services of this woman and prevent her doing further mischief. But how could he employ her? Suddenly an inspiration came to him. For some years he had been collecting material for a history of the Empire Trading company. She could write it. It would practically be his own biography. Would she undertake it?

Embarrassed by the long silence, Shirley finally broke in by saying:

"But you didn't ask me to call merely to find out what I thought of my own work."

"No," replied Ryder slowly, "I want you to do some work for me."

He opened a drawer at the lefthand side of his desk and took out several sheets of foolscap and a number of letters. Shirley's heart beat faster as she caught sight of the letters. Were her father's among them? She wondered what kind of work John Burkett Ryder had for her to do and if she would do it whatever it was. Some literary work probably, compiling or something of that kind. If it was well paid, why should she not accept? There would be nothing humiliating in it; it would not tie her hands in any way. She was a professional writer in the market to be employed by whoever could pay the price. Besides, such work might give her better opportunities to secure the letters of which she was in search. Gathering in one pile all the papers he had removed from the drawer, Mr. Ryder said:

"I want you to put my biography together from this material. But first," he added, taking up "The American Octopus," "I want to know where you got the details of this man's life."

"Oh, for the most part—imagination, newspapers, magazines," replied Shirley carelessly. "You know the American millionaire is a very overworked topic just now—and naturally I've read"—

"Yes, I understand," he said, "but I refer to what you haven't read—what you couldn't have read. For example, here." He turned to a page marked in the book and read aloud: "As an evidence of his petty vanity, when a youth he had a beautiful Indian girl tattooed just above the forearm." Ryder leaned eagerly forward as he asked her searchingly, "Now who told you that I had my arm tattooed when I was a boy?"

"Have you?" laughed Shirley nervously. "What a curious coincidence!"

"Let me read you another coincidence," said Ryder meaningly. He turned to another part of the book and read, "the same eternal long black cigar always between his lips."

"General Grant smoked, too," interrupted Shirley. "All men who think deeply along material lines seem to smoke."

"Well, we'll let that go. But how about this?" He turned back a few pages and read: "John Broderick had loved when a young man a girl who lived in Vermont, but circumstances separated them." He stopped and stared at Shirley a moment, and then he said: "I loved a girl when I was a lad and she came from Vermont, and circumstances separated us. That isn't coincidence, for presently you make John Broderick marry a young woman who had money. I married a girl with money."

"Lots of men marry for money," remarked Shirley.

"I said with money, not for money," retorted Ryder. Then, turning to the book, he said: "Now, this is what I can't understand, for no one could have told you this but I myself. Listen." He read aloud: "'With all his physical bravery and personal courage, John Broderick was intensely afraid of death. It was on his mind constantly.' Who told you that?" he demanded somewhat roughly. "I swear I've never mentioned it to a living soul."

"Most men who amass money are afraid of death," replied Shirley with outward composure, "for death is about the only thing that can separate them from their money."

Ryder laughed, but it was a hollow, mocking laugh, neither sincere nor hearty. It was a laugh such as the devil may have given when driven out of heaven.

"You're quite a character!" He laughed again, and Shirley, catching the infection, laughed too.

"It's me and it isn't me," went on Ryder, flourishing the book. "This fellow Broderick is all right; he's successful and he's great, but I don't like his finish."

"It's logical," ventured Shirley.

"It's cruel," insisted Ryder.

"So is the man who reverses the divine law and hates his neighbor instead of loving him," retorted Shirley.

She spoke more boldly, beginning to feel more sure of her ground, and it amused her to fence in this way with the man of millions. So far, she thought, he had not got the best of her. She was fast becoming used to him, and her first feeling of intimidation was passing away.

"Um!" granted Ryder. "You're a curious girl. Upon my word you interest me!" He took the mass of papers lying at his elbow and pushed them over to her. "Here," he said, "I want you to make as clever a book out of this chaos as you did out of your own imagination."

Shirley turned the papers over carelessly.

"So you think your life is a good example to follow?" she asked, with a tinge of irony.

"Isn't it?" he demanded.

The girl looked him square in the face.

"Suppose," she said, "we all wanted to follow it; suppose we all wanted to be the richest, the most powerful personage in the world?"

"Well, what then?" he demanded.

"I think it would postpone the era of the brotherhood of man indefinitely, don't you?"

"I never thought of it from that point of view," admitted the billionaire. "Really," he added, "you're an extraordinary girl. Why, you can't be more than twenty or so."

"I'm twenty-four or so," smiled Shirley.

Ryder's face expanded in a broad smile. He admired this girl's pluck and ready wit. He grew more amiable and tried to gain her confidence. In a coaxing tone he said:

"Come, where did you get those details? Take me into your confidence."

"I have taken you into my confidence," laughed Shirley, pointing at her book. "It cost you $1.50." Turning over the papers he had put before her, she said presently, "I don't know about this."

"You don't think my life would make good reading?" he asked, with some asperity.

"O! MY POOR HEAD"

Stop Those Headaches.

Headache and neuralgia are pronounced signs of blood poisoning. This poisoning of the blood comes from the waste matter of the body being left in the system, instead of being regularly carried off by the bowels, kidneys and skin.

When the bowels do not move regularly, the refuse is absorbed by the blood. Thus, the blood is loaded with foul poisons which irritate the nerves.

Poor skin action also causes headache and neuralgia. Impurities cannot escape through the skin, so the blood must take them up and deposit them on the nerves.

If the bowels and skin are not ridding the system of waste, the kidneys try to do so and are overworked.

There is just one way to cure headaches and neuralgia—to regulate bowels, kidneys and skin so that all the poisons of the body will be properly carried off.

"Fruit-a-tives" keep blood pure and rich—relieve the stomach and kidneys—regulate the bowels; and invigorate the skin to healthy action. "Fruit-a-tives" are a wonderful discovery, being a combination of fruit juices and tonics. 50c a box—six for $2.50. At all dealers, or from "Fruit-a-tives" Limited, Ottawa.

"It might," she replied slowly, as if unwilling to commit herself as to its commercial or literary value. Then she said frankly: "To tell you the honest truth, I don't consider mere genius in money making is sufficient provocation for rushing into print. You see, unless you come to a bad end, it would have no moral."

Ignoring the not very flattering insinuation contained in this last speech, the plutocrat continued to urge her:

"You can name your own price if you will do the work," he said. "Two, three or even five thousand dollars. It's only a few months' work."

"Five thousand dollars?" echoed Shirley. "That's a lot of money." Smiling, she added: "It appeals to my commercial sense. But I'm afraid the subject does not arouse my enthusiasm from an artistic standpoint."

Ryder seemed amused at the idea of any one hesitating to make $5,000. He knew that writers do not run across such opportunities every day.

"Upon my word," he said, "I don't know why I'm so anxious to get you to do the work. I suppose it's because you don't want to. You remind me of my son. Ah, he's a problem!"

Shirley started involuntarily when Ryder mentioned his son. But he did not notice it.

"Why, is he wild?" she asked, as if only mildly interested.

"Oh, no; I wish he were," said Ryder.

"Fallen in love with the wrong woman, I suppose," she said.

"Something of the sort. How did you guess?" asked Ryder, surprised.

Shirley coughed to meet her embarrassment and replied indifferently:

"So many boys do that. Besides," she added, with a mischievous twinkle in her eyes, "I can hardly imagine that any woman would be the right one unless you selected her yourself!"

Ryder made no answer. He folded his arms and gazed at her. Who was this woman who knew him so well, who could read his inmost thoughts, who never made a mistake? After a silence he said:

"Do you know you say the strangest things?"

"Truth is strange," replied Shirley carelessly. "I don't suppose you hear it very often."

"Not in that form," admitted Ryder.

Shirley had taken on to her lap some of the letters he had passed her and was perusing them one after another.

"All these letters from Washington consulting you on politics and finance—they won't interest the world."

"My secretary picked them out," explained Ryder. "Your artistic sense will tell you what to use."

"Does your son still love this girl? I mean the one you object to," inquired Shirley as she went on sorting the papers.

"Oh, no, he does not care for her any more," answered Ryder hastily.

"Yes, he does. He still loves her," said Shirley positively.

"How do you know?" asked Ryder, amazed.

"From the way you say he doesn't," retorted Shirley.

Ryder gave his caller a look in which admiration was mingled with astonishment.

"You are right again," he said. "The idiot does love the girl."

"Bless his heart!" said Shirley to herself. Aloud she said:

"I hope they'll both outwit you."

Ryder laughed in spite of himself. This young woman certainly interested him more than any other he had ever known.

"I don't think I ever met any one in my life quite like you," he said.

"What's the objection to the girl?" demanded Shirley.

"Every objection. I don't want her in my family."

"Anything against her character?"

To better conceal the keen interest she took in the personal turn the conversation had taken, Shirley pretended to be more busy than ever with the papers.

"Yes—that is, no—not that I know of," replied Ryder. "But because a woman has a good character, that doesn't necessarily make her a desirable match, does it?"

"It's a point in her favor, isn't it?"

"Yes, but"— He hesitated as if uncertain what to say.

"You know men well, don't you, Mr Ryder?"

"I've met enough to know them pretty well," he replied.

"Why don't you study women for a change?" she asked. "That would enable you to understand a great many things that I don't think are quite clear to you now."

Ryder laughed good humoredly. It was decidedly a novel sensation to have some one lecturing him.

"I'm studying you," he said, "but I don't seem to make much headway. A woman like you whose mind isn't spoiled by the amusement habit has great possibilities—great possibilities. Do you know you're the first woman I ever took into my confidence—I mean at sight?" Again he fixed her with that keen glance which in his business life had taught him how to read men.

COMMITTEE DID NOT MAKE A DECISION

Regarding the Chiefship of Fire Brigade—Meeting Held Yesterday

The Fire, Water and Light Committee held a meeting yesterday afternoon to meet Mr. Leslie G. Finch, of Brantford, who is an applicant for the position of chief of the fire brigade. The meeting lasted for a considerable time and the matter was gone into very fully. The committee, however, arrived at no decision, and will hold another meeting before making any recommendation to the council. The committee will likely meet again this week to make further progress on the question.

CITY AND COUNTY TEACHERS' CONVENTION OPENED TO-DAY

Meetings Started This Mornig at 9.30 O'clock—Many Excellent Papers Being Read—Address by President Falconer This Afternoon

The Public schools and Collegiate Institute of the city are closed to-day and to-morrow, during the City and County Teachers' Association convention. The convention opened this morning, the city teachers meeting in the Central school and the county teachers in the Y.M.C.A.

At the opening meeting of the teachers' Institute after the minutes of the last meeting were read Mr. Mowat presented a draft constitution for the management of the Pedagogical Library which ti is proposed shall be established discussion war portponed till tomorrow.

President J E. Hodgson gave his address which took the form of a paper on "Educational Ideals" in which he sought to answer the question, what ideal of life should we cherish and how should we attempt to realize it in our school work?

Those who have followed recent changes in the school courses and methods of teaching will realize that ideals are very varied and the ideals put before us by the department tend to disturb our personal ideals and we seem to be at the mercy of the faddist.

In human nature we must seek the materials for our ideal. This when truly conceived makes explicit what is implicit and gives definite expression to what is indefinitely followed as a rule of action. Ideals are the greatest realities.

Mr. Hodgson then pointed out that the ideal of life could not be the pursuit of happiness which as Mill said equaled pleasure and the absence of pain. This crude theory has been broadened by Hobbs who taught that man is a selfish being who to gain his own pleasure entered with others into a social contract which placed restrictions upon the individual. To Mill, the truly moral course in life is that which contributes to the greatest happiness of the greatest number This made way for more altruistic motions but in itself is inadequate.

Mr. Hodgson then approached the subject from the standpoint of the evolutionist. He showed that the failure of any form to adapt itself to changing environment means the death of the individual, and sometimes the extinction of the species. But there is a mental development corresponding to a physical development, and this tends to control the environment. Man's superiority over the rest of the living kingdom is a mental one. He has learned the laws of the universe and seeks by this knowledge to control nature. From this we may get a partial solution of the problem. Man's ideal is to establish complete control over nature. but since man is a moral and a social being he will seek to place himself in right relations with the nation to which he belongs, and also in relation to humanity. Man must be so trained that he may know his position as the master of nature. The measure of a man is the measure of his mental, moral and spiritual development, the true aim of life. Man's powers must be realized by and through society. The aim of all organization, social, civic, educational, is the realization of man's mental, moral and spiritual powers.

To the teachers a great part of the responsibility of raising the nation to a higher level falls. A respect for labor and an eagerness to labor must be instilled into the minds of those who are taught for the most part to have only a good time and money. The parents make the teachers' work more difficult by allowing too much liberty to the children and being too lax in discipline.

Mr. Hodgson then referred to the courses of education giving a few hard knocks to some of the prevailing fads and so-called reforms, such as manual training domestic science, agriculture. He outlines briefly a broad course which would develop the intellectual emotional, aesthetic, moral and spiritual nature in which were included mathematics, physical and biological sciences to a proper extent in each case, history, literature and some philosophy.

This afternoon a joint meeting of city and county teachers was held at the Y.M.C.A. A paper on "Electricity," was read by Mr. C. Fessenden, of the Collegiate Institute. The chief feature of this afternoon was Dr. Falconer's address. Two papers on "Nature Study" were also read by Miss Duff and Mr. Rich. Lees.

To-morrow morning the association will again meet at 9 30 o'clock. Miss Warner will read a paper on "Kindergarten Work," and Mr. A. Mowat, I. P.S., will read one on "English composition." In the afternoon, a paper on "Arithmetic," will be given by Mr. Kerr, also one on "Music" will be read by Miss Coleman. Mr. Dunlop will read a paper on "History."

COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The County Association met in the YMCA assembly hall this morning. About fifty of the members are in attendance and the convention promises to be one of the most successful ever held The president. Mr. Richard Lees occupied the chair and the minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Miss Kirkpatrick, of Norwood.

A report of the annual convention of the Ontario Educational Association held at Toronto was read by Miss Greenley of Hastings. It contained a most complete record of what transacted at the convention, arranged in such a manner as to be of great benefit to those present. The principal points brought out at the big gathering in Toronto were presented very clearly in Miss Greenley's report.

Considerable routine business was transacted before adjournment took place.

METHODIST MINISTERS OF DISTRICT ARE IN SESSION

The annual meeting of the Methodist district of Peterborough is being held in the Charlotte street Methodist church. Sessions were held this morning and afternoon and two more will be held to-morrow. Ministers alone were present at to-day's sessions, but prominent laymen of the district will be in attendance to-morrow. Rev. H. M. Manning, chairman of the district, is presiding, and those present at to-day's sessions were:—Revs. Coon, Manning and Pearson, of Peterborough; Garbutt, of Apsley; Wetheral, of Fraserville; Clare, of Millbrook; Morrison, of Bethany; Mettzler, of Bridgenorth; Chapman, of Pentypool, and Sexsmith, of Cavan.

The principal business at the morning session was the examination of three young men, who are now in charge of circuits in this district. They were J. G. Brown, B.A., B.D., of Victoria College, Clarence E. Mark, of Selwyn, and W. W. McKee, of Bethany. It was recommended that Mr. Brown be ordained to the ministry and that Mr. Mark and Mr. McKee attend Victoria College.

One young man, who desires to become a candidate for the ministry, will be examined this afternoon.

REV. H. M. MANNING

Chairman of the Methodist District of Peterborough.

Rev. Mr. Garbutt, of Apsley, is secretary of the meeting.

MEMBER FOR EAST PETERBORO' PASSED AWAY THIS MORNING

Death of Mr. Wm. Anderson, M.P.P., at Nicholl's Hospital To-day—A Life Long Resident of Peterboro' County His Municipal Career—Was Two Terms In Parliament.

After an illness of three years' duration, Mr. Wm. Anderson, M. P. P. of Otonabee, passed away at Nicholls Hospital this morning at a quarter to eight o'clock. Mr. Anderson was widely known in the municipal life of the county and the political life of the Province and his death, while it was not unexpected, will be deeply regretted by a host of friends. During the Provincial election campaign in January 1905 Mr. Anderson contracted pleurisy from which he never recovered. He partially got better but suffered from a severe bleeding at the nose. He developed anaemia which resulted in his death. For over a year he had been confined to his bed. He was in a Toronto Hospital for some time and a year ago was treated in Nicholls Hospital where he was six weeks previous to his death. During his long illness he bore it with patience and Christian fortitude.

The late Wm. Anderson was 68 years of age and was born in Otonabee in which township his whole life was spent. The greater part of his life was spent in service to his county and Province. He was a member of the Otonabee council for 10 years and deputy reeve for four years. He was elected reeve three years, once by acclamation. He was warden of the county for two terms — in 1893 and 1897.

Mr. Anderson was East Peterboro's representative in the Provincial legislature for two terms, having been first elected to parliament in 1902 and again returned to Parliament in 1905. In 1902 he was opposed by Dr. Ford of Norwood, and in 1905 by Mr. H. A. Moore of Dummer. Mr. Anderson was considered a good representative. Although not a frequent speaker in the House he did good work in the committees, his splendid municipal experience admirably fitting him for his work.

In religion he was a Presbyterian and was a faithful member of the Keene Presbyterian church. Besides his wife, a family of five sons and one daughter is left to mourn his loss. The sons are Messrs. William, James, and Robert, of Otonabee, Fred of Manitoba, and John, of Montana. The daughter is Miss Annie, residing at home.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at one o'clock from the family residence, lot 29 concession 7, to the Keene cemetery. Rev. D. D. McDonald will conduct the service.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA CIRCLE MEETING

Mrs. Head Becomes District Deputy—Circle Will Attend Divine Service

There was a large attendance of members at the regular meeting of Queen Alexandra Circle, No. 136, A. O. F., held last night in the I. O. F. hall. The Chief Companion, Mrs. Scott, presided. Several applications were received for membership. After considerable business was done for the good of the Circle, a letter was read from High Chief Companion Mrs. Riggs, of Toronto, asking Mrs. W. Head to take the office of District Deputy, which she did, and with the assistance of her companions will do her best to fill the office satisfactorily. Companion Head was the guest of the Circle. Ice cream was served and a most enjoyable evening was spent. The members of the Circle will attend the annual church service of Court Stanley, A. O. F., to be held on Sunday evening May 31st, to Mark St. Methodist church, when the Rev. Mr. Coon will deliver an address.

"AT HOME" WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Over Three Hundred in Attendance at Function at T. A. S. Rooms Last Night

The largest gathering that ever attended a function of a similar character in the T.A.S. rooms was present last night at the "At Home" held under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Peter's. The affair was a most successful one and the large gathering had a thoroughly enjoyable time.

The tables were spread in tempting array and the young ladies of the Sodality proved most efficient waitresses. During the evening a lengthy musical programme of merit was rendered and the efforts of those contributing were much appreciated by the large audience. Mr. Frank Pope made an excellent chairman.

Progressive euchre was played, there being 25 tables. The winner of the lady's prize was Miss Nellie Morency and of the gentleman's, Mr. Gus Conlin.

The programme is given below;
Instrumental duet—Misses Dorris.
Vocal solo—Miss Ella Brady.
Instrumental selection — Mandolin Club.
Instrumental duet — Misses McCabe and Doherty.
Vocal solo—Jas. O'Brien

THEATRICAL

THE PRESS AGENT'S RETORT

Ralph Stuart, who will present "Strongheart," at the Grand Opera House, Tuesday, May 27th, was playing in an eastern city several weeks ago. A rival company was appearing at a theatre but a few blocks away, and doing a very poor business.

The press agent of the unfortunate company, while doing his utmost to divert public interest from the "Strongheart" company to the one he represented, was personally on quite friendly terms with the gifted Star. They met frequently in a social way, and in a light vein discussed the merits of their respective attractions. Mr. Stuart, who is devoid of the petty jealousy that at times obtains the profession, was genuinely commiserating, and sorry for the hard luck his friend's company was up against.

"Oh, we're not doing so badly," was the constant assertion of the press agent, "come around and see for yourself."

"I can't unless I close up for a night," retorted Stuart, "and that would disappoint too many people."

On Saturday afternoon the funeral of a German musician was held in the neighborhood of the hard luck theatre and the streets on both sides was thronged as Stuart strolled past after his own matinee. In front of the opposition house he met the energetic press agent, armed with a camera.

"What are you going to do, old man?" asked Stuart.

"Photograph this immense crowd leaving our theatre," responded the press agent; "Isn't it a dandy?"

"Pretty good crowd," said Stuart; "But what is the hearse here for?"

"Oh, that! Why, that's to carry away the unfortunate killed in the crush."

MANY SHOULD HEAR ADDRESS THIS EVENING

Dr. Falconer, President of Toronto University, at Conservatory Music Hall at 8 O'clock

Dr. Falconer, president of Toronto University, will give an address before the combined associations of the teachers of the city and county of Peterborough at the Conservatory Music Hall to-night. The meeting is open to the public and it is most likely a large number will attend.

Dr. Falconer occupies a position quite as distinguished and as responsible as that of the Premier of the province, and his influence as head of the second largest university in the British Empire, is possibly more farreaching than that of any public man in the Dominion. He is scholarly and eloquent and it is hoped that the opportunity of hearing such a distinguished man will appeal to a very large number of people of both city and county.

DISORDERLIES WERE FINED IN COURT TO-DAY

Three D. and D's. Appeared This Morning—City Clerk Armstrong Presided

ly cases in the police court this morning. City Clerk Armstrong was on the bench in the absence of Magistrate Dumble.

Wm. Graham was fined two dollars and costs amounting to $4.45 for the offence. Last Saturday night he went home to his boarding house in Ashburnham where he raised a disturbance. From the evidence adduced it was learned that Graham was wanting to fight with the landlord, and invited him out to the back shed to have the encounter but his opponent objected. According to the landlady's story they were living in terror of their lives on account of Graham's threats.

Herb Landrey and another young man were also fined two dollars for being drunk in a public place.

HAVE LEFT TO SEARCH FOR MR. SAM, LONG

Messrs. Geo. Long and Geo. Lipsett Left Last Evening for North Country

Messrs. George Long and George Lipsett left last evening for Worthington in the lumbering district, in Algoma, to find out the whereabouts of Mr. Samuel Long, who is reported to be lost. It appears that Mr Long had been left alone in his camp on Friday last. When the men returned on Sunday, Mr. Long was not to be found. His gun and clothing were in the camp, and the cows appeared as if they had not been milked for several days. One report received by Mrs Long, East City, was to the effect that her husband was lost in the woods and had been traced several miles from the camp. His mysterious disappearance is causing great anxiety and some message is being eagerly awaited.

FORTUNATE FOR THE PURCHASERS

Mr. H. LeBrun Struck it Rich in the Matter of Purchasing Splendid Stock at Unusually Low Prices

As the result of the foresight of Mr. H. LeBrun in attending the whole sale trade clearing sales in clothing and furnishings at Montreal two weeks ago exceptional values, which means much money saving to purchasers are offered at the popular establishment of H. LeBrun & Co.

Mr. LeBrun, who is a shrewd and experienced buyer secured many choice offerings in suits, trousers, vests, and furnishings at prices clipped in most instances to the original cost to the wholesalers.

The idea of holding the sales was to clear out all lines in the warehouses before commencing to manufacture for next season. The goods purchased by Mr. LeBrun are of the best quality and direct from the wholesale firms of Messrs. Greenfield Ltd.; Levison and Company; and Winer Bros. and Hart. A splendid opportunity is now offered at LeBrun and Co's. to buy summer outfits at surprisingly low prices.

Fuller particulars are announced in the firm's large advertisement in another section of the Review.

This is spring. No doubt of it. Your heavy underclothing tells you the fact. Spring—calls for certain handy tools to do up the chores. Suppose you go to the best Store for the best Shovels, best Garden Tools, certainly the best Lawn Mowers and Garden Hose. All the best and surely at BEST'S.

OBITUARY

MRS. A. BALL.

Mr. Geo. Ball received the sad intelligence yesterday afternoon of the death of his brother's wife, Mrs. E. Ball, which occurred yesterday morning in Brooklyn, N. Y. The deceased had been ailing for some time but her death came rather unexpectedly. Her maiden name was Mullens. She was the daughter of the late Michael Mullens, of Norwood. She was married thirty years ago and went to Brooklyn, N. Y., where she resided until her death.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband and two brothers, Messrs. Maurice and Michael Mullens, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Ball left this morning for Brooklyn, N. Y., to attend the funeral.

MRS. GEO. MEHARRY.

The death occurred yesterday morning of Mrs. George Meharry, at her late residence in North Monaghan. The deceased's maiden name was Catharine Buck and until her marriage about three years ago, resided in Norwood. She was 28 years of age.

Her husband and one child are left to mourn her loss. Mrs. Harry Cox Ashburnham, is a sister of the late Mrs Meharry.

The funeral will take place tomorrow to the CPR. station for Norwood where interment will take place.

IN NEW YORK FOR FOUR MONTHS

After a surfeit of comic opera, musical comedy and extravaganza, Ralph Stuart in his excellent comedy drama "Strongheart," will prove a most agreeable change, and probably meet with much favor by the theatre goers of this city. Mr. Stuart who is starring under the direction of Henry B. Harris, will present "Strongheart" at the Grand Opera House, Tuesday, May 26th. College scenes and football atmosphere figure very largely in the play, and should attract the college element in large numbers. It is safe to say that the play has been one of the most pronounced successes of the past two seasons. It ran in New York for four months and for an equal period of time at the Park Theatre, Boston, having played in the latter house to the largest business in the history of the theatre.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF RHEUMATISM

THE CAUSE An excess of uric acid and ureates are deposited in the tissues of the body and joints, causing aches and pains which are called rheumatic.

All the various causes of rheumatism, such as the acute, articular, muscular and gout, have the same common cause—Uric Acid.

To effect a satisfactory cure the uric acid must be removed. This can only be done by introducing into the circulation a remedy which will dissolve the uric acid and stimulate the action of the excretory organs.

No Case That Ferrozone Can't Cure

The remarkable success of Ferrozone is due to the fact that it attacks the disease in the blood. It goes right to the root and cause of the trouble.

Ferrozone is a perfect solvent for uric acid and quickly destroys its evil effect. It stimulates and quickens the sluggish circulation and drives every trace of rheumatic poison out of the system.

Rheumatism Can't Last If FERROZONE is Used.

We have conclusive proof of this. The strongest possible endorsements from people who have been cured after all else failed. If you suffer from rheumatism yourself, or in case you have a friend or relative subject to this disease, read the following—they tell their own tale.

LIFE-LONG CRIPPLE CURED

Mr. Louis Noll, 15 Fulton street, New York, N. Y., writes: "Ever since boyhood I have been a sufferer from rheumatism. My joints were twisted and swollen, and the pain at times was really intense. I used gallons of liniments, vapor baths, and other treatments, but was first noticeably relieved by Ferrozone. It cured me perfectly after taking twelve boxes."

Mr. Henry Hear, Pharmacist, 28 Eldridge Ave., New York, vouches for Mr. Noll's absolute cure. He says: "Mr. Noll has been freed from chronic rheumatism by Ferrozone. For years he has not been so well, and today shows no signs of rheumatic trouble. It is a pleasure to recommend Ferrozone."

The BEST remedy for rheumatism that science has produced is Ferrozone—it is unquestionably the only sure and lasting cure. Sold everywhere by druggists. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50—by mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. POLSON & CO., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

FERROZONE, THE ONE SURE CURE.

SPORTING NEWS

SATURDAY'S BALL GAME IS THE TALK OF THE TOWN

There will be a record crowd at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon, when the Peterboroughs and Athletics meet in an exhibition game. Although it is not yet a league fixture, both nines are determined on a victory and there will be something doing all the time. It is proposed to have a parade previous to the game, and some interesting ceremonies before the teams get down to playing. The first ball will be pitched by a prominent citizen, another one will be at bat and another one will do the receiving.

The Petes will have on their strongest line-up and say they will roll up a big score. Manager Connors on the other hand, has plenty of confidence and says the Athletics will have another win to their credit after Saturday. Quinlan and Shea will be the battery, and if they are going right they should keep the Petes on the jump. Clements and Edmunds will be the Peterborough battery, and as both are in great shape there should not be many hits recorded against them.

The game will start at 3.30 o'clock and a record crowd is promised. Seats will be provided and the prospects are for fine weather for the game.

The match is being discussed on all sides and both teams have backers galore.

PETES DEFEATED THE T.A.S. TEAM IN A PRACTICE GAME

Art Johnston's Midland League Petes and the T.A.S. Intermediate City League team played a practice game at Riverside Park yesterday afternoon and the former annexed a victory by 12 runs to 1. About a hundred spectators witnessed the contest and were well pleased with the exhibition.

The Petes had a rather easy time but Manager Derochers nine showed good form and at times made it quite interesting for the Midland Leaguers. Sammy Murphy started in to do the pitching for the Petes and held the ground until the end of the sixth. Edmunds did the receiving for Murphy's benders. At the end of the sixth, Fritz O'Brien took the rubber and Murphy did the backstopping, Edmunds going to third base. All the regular men were not on and they were all out of their positions. The feature of the game was the appearance of Hoagland Craig on the first sack. He covered the sack thrice, lived up to his reputation as a thief—of bases—and made a hit with the spectators.

Harry Quinlan did the twirling for the T.A.S. nine in the first six innings and showed a nice assortment of curves, although he was touched rather freely. Bill Cahill was on the rubber for the last three innings and pitched nice ball. Len Giroux, who was at the receiving end of the City Leaguers' battery had a sprained shoulder which handicapped him greatly. He missed a number of fouls as a result of his injury but otherwise did good work. Mike O'Brien's one hand catch of a fast drive in the early part of the game was one of the features.

Mr. Davidson made a satisfactory umpire.

THE WALK STARTS THIS AFTERNOON

There Are Ten Entries and Some Fast Walking is Assured

Everything is now ready for the Y. M. C. A. Boys' Walking Race and if the weather is suitable it will commence this afternoon at 4.30. Ten entries are in and things will be lively right from the start. The contest will be free for outsiders for the first three days, and on the last day which will be Monday morning, an admission fee will be charged.

ROGERS WINS ANOTHER BOUT THROWS KARANOFF, THE TURK

W. B. Naylor, Yankee Roger's manager, arrived in the city last night and is registered at the Oriental. It was expected that the big wrestler would have accompanied him, but he stayed over at Cornwall, where he is securing a summer home.

He will be here to-night however.

CONSTANT WINNER.

The frequency with which Rogers wins his bouts is almost monotonous. On Monday night at Sherbrooke, Que., he placed another victory to his credit when he defeated Karanoff, the Turkish grappler, winning quickly in two straight falls.

"Immediately after the match with Hurtubise, provided it is a success in the matter of public patronage, I would like to arrange a match to take place here between Rogers and Fritz Moble, the ex-champion of Germany, and a formidable wrestler. Moble weight 240 pounds and is looked upon as being a worthy match for Yankee. Moble is very strong and has an abundance of speed and skill. The match, if arranged, would be a magnificent one."

Referring to Rogers, Mr. Naylor said he was 29 years old and had been in the wrestling game for eight years. He was born at Vergennes, Vermont.

THE Y.M.C.A. BOYS' WAKLING RACE STARTS THIS AFTERNOON

J. O'Brein.
Cecil Armstrong.
Trevor Cuffe.

The officials are—

Referee—Jim Harrison.
Starter—Sergt. Major Brittain.
Scorers—Dick Baker, Fred Simpson Stewart Laing, Stanley Wade, Elmer Sanderson.

An admission fee of 5 cents will be charged on the last day of the walk which will be Monday morning, the 25th of May.

There are 18 laps to the mile on the tennis court track.

LAKEFIELD WALKERS MADE FAST TIME ON FIRST NIGHT

The three days' walk in Lakefield commenced last night. There were eleven starters. Small and Doidge raced hard all night for first place and each succeeded in covering 11 miles 3 laps during the evening.

Northey, a lad of 13, walked in great fashion, finishing second with 10 miles and 16 laps to his credit.

The track is 17 laps to the mile.

The standing at the conclusion of last night's going was:

Doidge	11	3
Northey	10	16
Crawford	10	13
Carter	10	12
Coudon	10	11

BATTER UP! PLAY BALL!

The baseball season is now on in full swing. There is every indication the game will boom in Peterborough this year. The Review has always looked after player and fan, and rapped out many a bit of encouragement to those who follow the sport. All managers, captains, secretaries and players are requested to send in details of any games played or news of any games to come, all of which will find space in our baseball column. There is a supply of score cards at this office suitable for recording a game by innings which are at the disposal of any team manager in the city. These cards should be filled in properly at the conclusion of the game and left at this office as soon as possible so as to insure publication in the Review without delay. Properly authenticated box scores will also be gladly received and published.

Call at the Review office and secure a supply of score cards.

WORKMEN'S RIGHTS

In Canada a workman may proceed against his employer under the Workmen's Compensation for Injuries Act and at common law. That means untold annoyance and inconvenience to an employer. An employer is even liable for damages to an employee for injuries resulting from the negligence of a fellow employee. Oft times a workmen will get back at an employer in this way. The employee may or may not win. Whether he does or not, it means a great deal of anxiety to you as an employer. Let us relieve you of all this. Our liability policies are designed to do this very thing.

Will be glad to explain our plan.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM A MISSIONARY IN CHINA

Miss M. Quinn Tells About the Work in That Country—The Spread of the Christian Religion—Many Are Being Reclaimed From Heathen Darkness—A Message to Friends in Canada

The Review has received the following interesting letter from Miss M. Quinn, who is engaged in missionary work in China:—

Tsing Yang Hsien, via Tatung, China,
April 7, 1908.

My Dear Friends, — It certainly is a long time now since I have sent out a letter to you and if you think of me at all you will wonder at my silence. It is not that I have been unmindful of you, nor indifferent to your kind interest; nor has it been that I've had nothing to write about. but the past year has been one of unusual pressure in the work and it wait over, and so it has happened that seemed as if I could only, by strenuous effort accomplish that which daily came to my hand, and anything that could be left undone had to not only my circular letter has been unwritten, but to my real regret, my personal letters have been unanswered. I hope you will forgive me, and I am hoping in the future that I shall be able to do better, although I am afraid to make any definite promise to that effect.

Our work grows larger each year and new problems and difficulties confront us so that we must give it our undivided attention if we would measure up to our opportunities and responsibilities.

When I wrote last I was in Wuchang, one of the largest cities in China. During this year we were greatly tested by sickness at our station, and, while I am thankful to say I was not ill myself, yet I had often to do double work. The boys' school, fo which I was in charge was much more of a care than when the boys were younger and smaller, and my faith was severely tested many times, not only financially but otherwise, and it was a real relief to me when the committee decided two months ago that they could make a change for me, and put Dr. Glover in charge of the school again. Some of the boys are now out on active service for the Lord and seem to be doing well. One who had to be expelled at the beginning of the year is doing badly, indeed he is now a thief. He got restless, wanted to learn English which we do not teach and then became wilful and mischievous. He was a bad boy that we always felt was as likely to turn out bad as good, but we hoped for the best and have grieved over his failure. Boys in China are just the same as at home; they have their peculiar testings and times of restlessness, and they do not always know when they are well off. The world seems very attractive when one has not full liberty to partake of its seductive pleasures, and most everyone has to learn by sad experience some time that "all is not gold that glitters." Before the close of the school year we were favored with a gracious revival, which, while not lasting so long, nor doing such deep work as in other places, yet was a great blessing to many, and made us long still more ardently for the time when we shall not only have "showers of blessing" but "floods upon the dry ground."

Financially I was often greatly tested for the needs of the school, and it would fill my letter to tell just how God met my needs when the critical moment arrived that the barrel was empty. All praise to Him who has never failed to put their trust in Him! The testings may be accounted for by the facts that prices were higher and my family larger and not so united in faith as formerly. Then, too, the awful three Miss Quinn famine in another part of China, no doubt diverted some feelings, and may it not be too, that some of the Lord's children failed to obey the Spirits' promptings and left for others to do what God whispered to them to do! At all events I do not regret the experience for it is precious to see our loving Father's care manifested in these trials of faith, to learn to know that He will supply because He said He would and to see the wonderful ways He uses to meet the need at the right moment. Your faith would be strengthened if I were to tell you some of the incidents in this connection during the year, but I will leave it for the day when those who secretly gave the "cups of water in His name" shall openly receive their reward. I will only add that not once had any of His little family in our particular corner to go hungry, nor were they allowed to feel the lack of any good thing.

One of the bright spots in our year's history was the visit of Rev. R. P. McKay, D.D., Foreign Missionary Secretary, of the Canadian Presbyterian Church in May, on his way to Honan. We had the pleasure of entertaining him one Lord's Day, he seemed much interested in our boys, and they as greatly enjoyed a message from him. It was like a little bit of home to meet this dear friend, and I trust many of you will hear from his own lips his testimony of the missionary work in China. I wish it were possible for us to oftener receive our home friends and I believe you would enjoy it as much as we do if you could come!

I had hoped before I left the school to see our new building erected, but it has not materialized yet. We trust it may soon as it is a pressing need.

Now I must tell you a little about my new field of service. Some of you may remember my telling of a station Miss Young and I visited the year after the Boxer uprising, where a few Christians were bravely holding the fort, and who begged me to remain with them. It was a call from the Lord to me, and many times since have they prayed when they were without a missionary, that I might be sent to them, and always in my heart there was a desire to be there, but I never spoke of it, nor really expected to come. Last year at our annual conference, my friend Miss Morgan, then still on furlough, was appointed to it. When she returned in November. She was unfortunate enough to leave her luggage behind, and so she could not come on to her work, and it was only after the re-arrangement had been made that her boxes arrived. Her friends were anxious for her to return to Nan-ling, and so I was sent to Tsing-Yang instead. It seems very wonderful to me now as I think it all over, and I feel very sure I am here by the Lord's appointment and in the Lord's time. It was during the vacation that I received my "marching orders." and in a very few days I was on the way, the Lord graciously going before me and making everything easy for me and looking after all our needs, giving us bright, sunshiny weather whenever we were travelling, although it was cold and stormy between times. My fellow-workers are two ladies who have been out in China a little over a year, and who are busy at language study, and helping as they can in the work. One is Miss Fradd, an English girl, and the other Miss Shore, from Ottawa, Canada. I have also a Bible woman a woman whom I have often spoken to some of you about who was brought to Christ in Wauchu five years ago. She has developed into a very bright, capable, tactful worker. They were very loth to part with her in Wauchi where she had won all hearts by her faithful life, but our need seemed the greater here. She has her dear little daughter with her who is a ray of sunshine wherever she is. I also brought along my lame boy, now a young man of 21. He is not engaged as a helper but I hardly know how I could get along without him, he helps in so many ways. He is a nice, good boy, and it gives me great joy to see these two so earnestly and faithfully testifying, teaching and seeking to lead others to their Saviour. I often thank God He has let me see and partake of some of the fruit of the service.

Then there was another dear, wee lad, only five years old, but so bright and wise for his years whose mother died last year with the cholera and whose father one of our preachers had to be disciplined for persistently getting into debt, and who thus was homeless, little David, a dear lamb of the little flock whom I could not see sent adrift into the world, and so Mrs. Ching brought him along. Another little mouth to feed, but also another precious soul to train for the Lord. He brightens our home and gives me no trouble. When I came I found three little boys in the chapel. They board themselves and attend our school. Their fathers are Christians and live several miles away so that they only come on Sundays. So you see already I have quite a nest of boys. I can't help it. Yesterday the Lord sent a poor demented lad to us with his poor thin arms bound in iron rings and scarcely able to move his feet. He used to go to school here but lately has been quite crazy and his parents are bitterly poor. Some one of our people saw him outside the city where he was left for safety and he being most sensible at that time, they talked to him of the power of Jesus to save and to heal him. His mother, at times crazy herself, brought him to us yesterday to pray with him. In spite of his malady and emaciation of body he has a good sweet face and we received him for the time, in the name of the Lord, laid our hands on him and claimed his deliverance from the power of Satan. Already he seems decidedly better and we will feed him and care for him until he is stronger. Please pray for this poor tormented child. There is absolutely no provision that I know of in this part of China for such cases. We made him a shake down in the wood house and our people are gladly ministering to him. To-day, our cook's brother, a boy of sixteen, came along. His brother had sent for him to teach him his trade, and as he —the cook,—is becoming an earnest Christian, we are hoping to lead the other boy to the Lord. Still another inmate of our home, is a young man who is giving up opium. He is very weak yet and cannot be trusted to go out into temptation, so he has work next door and sleeps here.

Last week a bright girl of 18 became an inmate of our growing family. She was engaged years ago to one of our best boys in the middle school, and as she is a heathen she is with us to get broken in and instructed a little preparatory to her going to the Girls' school in Nanling later on.

Besides the evangelist and his wife and several relatives occupy two rooms. A language teacher, a bright, gifted man but a heathen whom we covet for the Lord, an old servant woman, and a Christian coolie, make up our family circle. Do you think we will get lonesome? And I have forgotten the dog, several cats, and hens that ramble around at their sweet will about the house. We have a great long Chinese house where we could accommodate a dozen Chinese families. Our own living rooms are above the chapels at the front, and the Chinese are down stairs at the back. It takes several minutes to go from front to back, although it is quite narrow, and we have to depend on skylight windows and openings, with the exception of three rooms for light and ventilation, and rain water. Only for the heat and cold and noise I'd like the house well. It suits for the work and when it rains we do not need to go out of doors. Our day school, where we have 29 bright boys and girls, is at the end of the court, and from there we open out into a lovely little river, which flows down from the mountain near by and on to the mighty Yangtzi at Tatung.

Our work is full of promise, and opportunities. Lots of work for several full fledged workers. On Sundays we have fine audiences, a large Sunday school and a bright evangelistic meeting in the evening, although the singing sounds dreadful to us, and Miss Fradd wishes she had an organ, at which one or two hundred perhaps hear the Gospel. The people receive us very readily into their homes. Out in the country we have a few earnest Christians, some of whom walk 15 miles to service and where we hope in time to open an outstation. Several of our Christian men have been saved a number of years. I was deeply moved yesterday in talking with one of them (the man who wheeled us over in his barrow years ago) I was exhorting him and another brother to more liberality in their offerings, and he told me (they are very poor) that he and his wife did without breakfast on Sunday morning in order to bring their mite (which is equal to one gold cent.) Somehow I didn't feel like saying anything more just then, except a kind word of encouragement. I wish I could say all were doing their best, but our evangelist has become entangled in the things of this world. He has been a man whom we trusted very much, and fully believed in, but I am sorry to say he will have to be removed from here, if not from the Lord's service. I do not know if we will have anyone in his place or not. We are very short of workers. Two died last year; one was dismissed and one resigned. So some stations have to go without. Now, I've told you enough to let you know a little of my surroundings and work. I shall give more details next time, perhaps. With this mail I sent a number of annual reports out. Will you read them carefully and circulate them among your friends. I hadn't enough to send to each one. The map of Anhuei, I hope you will study, and take in the fact that for hundreds of "li" southward there is not another lighthouse in this sin-cursed idolatrous land. It makes my heart ache to hear the processions pass on their way to the sacred mountain near by, chanting their hopeless prayers, and I long to be able to do more to bring light to those who sit in darkness.

I will close my message by quoting from a letter recently received from Mr. Christie whom some of you will remember is working in a Tibetan city in the far west of China. 'Our missionaries there had been much in prayer for a revival, they had laboured for years with little apparent result, and as they met in conference with the natives they spent days in prayer together. But I will just copy her letter. "The Lord so blessed us in the prayer conference held beforehand that when the natives came together there was wonderful manifestations, and oh the grandeur of all was that 70 or 80 were converted. Such times have never been seen in Kansab. Minches —the place of meeting was shaken from centre to circumference. 800 people pressing into the chapel at a time, every man woman and child, native and foreigner, weeping at once. Conversions definite and so clear there was no mistaking. "O praise the Lord with me, and let us exalt His Name together.' A man went to his home and told his wife, 'I believe in Jesus.' She at once began to break up the furniture and in her rage, said, 'I will go to that Gospel hall, and if you open your mouth to speak I will kill you.' Twice she came with a dagger up her sleeve, and the second time she too fell at Jesus' feet and confessed her sins and got pardon and peace. You can imagine our joy after so many years of seed sowing and the end is not yet. We all got great blessing and several natives were set apart for evangelists and bible women. These had been Christians for some years. Our first convert in West China, Seventy-eight, his name was kept awake a whole night at the thought of how little he had done for his own people. He came and confessed and told how God had talked to him all night and said he would now preach the gospel to his own people. One dear woman laid all her silver in the altar, took off her earrings, bracelets, and other jewellery. No one told her to. She let out her feet some months since." Mrs. Christie also gives other incidents all so interesting. Does this not stir you up to continue in prayer for all the heathen lands? We, in Central China are earnestly looking to God for His blessing in our field and I am sure some of you will join us in this petition.

Now I must draw my letter to a close and as I do I realize with renewed sorrow that some of my dearest friends, who always so lovingly received my letters and held up my hand in prayer, will send me no response to this one. They have passed on into the presence of the Lord, their labors are ended but oh how we miss them. I think especially of our dear Mrs. McTavish the truest friend we ever had, and whose beautiful life of unselfish ministry has been laid down. God only knows how much she will be missed to the very ends of the earth and none of us will ever know till that day when every man's work will be made manifest how many will rise up and call her blessed. Humanly speaking it is doubtful if I should ever have reached the mission field if it had not been for her kind interest and encouragement. May God comfort her loved ones and may He make us all ready for the time is quickly coming when we must all appear before Him. It seems as though we were coming soon. I wonder if we are all ready, and can truly say from our hearts, "Amen, come Lord Jesus."

Looking for His appearing,
I am, sincerely yours,
M. QUINN

A RESOLUTION OF CONDOLENCE

Royal Scarlet Chapter of Peterborough Sympathizes With Bereaved Brother

At a meeting of the Royal Scarlet Chapter of Peterborough, the following resolution of condolence was passed;—

To William Jones, Esq., Peterborough, Ont:

Dear Sir and Brother.—As it has pleased Almighty God in His infinite goodness to remove from this earthly scene your aged, respected and loving father, who was noted for his loyalty not only to his country, and his king, but also to his God. We, the members of the Royal Scarlet Chapter of Peterborough, hereby extend to you our heartfelt sympathy in the sad bereavement under which you are called to undergo. Yet, after we take into consideration the will of our Redeemer, who was once upon earth; lived amongst men; laid in the cold grave; on the the third—the appointed day—arose from the dead; exalted a Prince, and a Saviour for all mankind, we, as members of one common brotherhood, recommend you to His comfort and grace, who is able to subdue all things.

Trusting that when you are called to cross the Jordan, you will meet him face to face and enjoy each others companionship so long as eternity rolls.

"Days and moments quickly flying, speed us onward to the dead;
Oh, how soon will we be lying each within our narrow bed."

Signed on behalf of the Chapter.
DAVID HAMILTON,
W. C. in Command.

"SHOW ME" PROOF

That is What Hyomei Will do in All Forms of Catarrah and Troubles of the Breathing Organs

It's not a question of Hyomei having cured someone else, but will it reach your own particular case. If its Cold in the head, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, Croup or any affection of the breathing organs, W. Madill, druggist, corner of Hunter and George street, Peterborough, says yes, and will refund the money if it fails. No other preparation for the same purpose can successfully do this, because the Hyomei system of treatment is different from anything else.

You simply breathe and inhale its medication in dry air from which destroys the germ life that causes oppressed breathing, Nasal Catarrh, Throat Irritation and Lung Troubles. It brings to these suffering organs the balsam laden air they would get in the Pine and Eucalyptus forests. The air that stamps out Bronchial troubles.

The prince of entertainers Marshal P. Wilder, says:—Hyomei is easy to Pose, and swift to cure. It insures you pure air and kills the germ of disease. It helps the voice.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS, 1908

To the Electors of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—It is my privilege to again appear before you as the Conservative candidate in the approaching election of members of the Ontario Legislature, and while on the previous occasion I was in opposition to the Government, I now have the pleasure of supporting the Administration of Hon. J. P. Whitney, whose management of the affairs of the Province, with the support of an able cabinet, has, during his short premiership, proved of such marked benefit.

Measures of a far-reaching character have been passed, and the statute books of the last three years are replete with legislation of a high order, as well for its originality as its soundness. Let me mention a few of the important acts of the past sessions. The establishment of a Railway and Municipal Board, the new act relating to mining, the creation of the Hydro-Electric Commission, the amendment of the liquor laws, amendments to the law relating to the election of members of the Legislature, particularly the alteration in the ballot, which is now absolutely secret.

The administration of the public domain, especially the mining laws of the Province, has been most profitable, adding large sums to both revenue and capital, and the different changes which have been effected in the Education Department have met with the approval of all persons, concerned in that most important branch of the public service.

One of the beneficial acts of the Government is the taking with its own hands the distribution of electric energy through the great water power of Niagara Falls, and other rivers capable of hydraulic development. Thus are the different municipalities through the Province enabled to obtain the inestimable commodity at a minimum of cost.

The Government, while endeavoring to serve the people generally have not been unmindful of the importance of this riding, and when the new normal schools were to be created one of the four was placed in this constituency, thus affording exceptional advantages to the teachers and schools of this county.

In the short time which will elapse before polling day, I shall endeavour to make my views more fully known to you both privately and publicly, and I bespeak your cordial support, not so much becausee of any merits of my own, as on account of the splendid record of the Government.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,

T. E. BRADBURN

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS, 1908

To the Electors of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—As you are aware I have received the unanimous nomination in the Liberal interests to contest the Riding of West Peterborough for its representation in the Legislature of Ontario. I beg to respectfully solicit the votes and support of all those who desire good economical and efficient administration of our affairs. I am not bound down by any straight and fast lines, but will, if chosen as your representative, take the course which, in my best judgment will best promote the interests of West Peterborough, irrespective of party considerations, and of the Province generally.

The test of good representation, either by a Government or member, is good work and, in this respect, both the late member for West Peterborough and the Government he supports have fallen short of a faithful discharge of their tust and regard for the pledges upon which was founded the policy upon which they appealed to the people. Both the Conservative leader and Mr. Bradburn appealed for a cessation of the extravagant expenditure, which they condemned in the late Government, The result has been an increase of expenditure in three or four short years of sixty per cent., not a productive expenditure for the benefit of the people, but in the mere work of administration.

In this address I cannot enter into details of the manner in which the present Government has failed to live up to the policy upon which it appealed for office, but there has been a general disregard of the principles which they claimed to be guided by. They have failed in their trust and they evidently feel that they have done so, for fearing to trust to their record, they have resorted to a "gerrymander" of the constituencies, inconsistent with fair redistribution and especial unfairness has been done in the city of Toronto by doubling its representation and giving each elector two votes, thus giving the city voter double the power in the government of the province accorded to electors in the country constituencies.

The interests of the farmers have been ignored to the extent that the expenditure for agriculture has been increased only some eight per cent, while the general increase to less worthy interests has been sixty per cent.

Disregard of the rights of labour was shown by the Government reviving the contract system of prison labour abolished by a Liberal Government, and farming out to contractors Central Prison labour at 3 cents per hour to compete against free labour.

The introduction of the "spoils system" the failure to remove license administration from the sphere of political influence, the three-fifths handicap to local option, the invasion of the rights of rural trustees by depriving them of the right of saying how they shall spend their own money, the friendliness to corporation interests, the disregad of private rights and discouragement of private enterprise in the matter of mining claims, neglect of law reforms with a view of making our law courts available for securing justice within the means of a poor man, and the delay and inaction in the matter of dealing with the power problem are but items in a long list of matters in which the present Government have forfeited their claim to the support of the people.

If elected I shall devote my best efforts to the advancement of the interests of the city in every direction and shall not overlook its most important interests, the allied welfare of our workingmen and our manufacturing industries; and will also do all in my power to advance the great farming and dairying interests which are the foundation of our prosperity, giving fair play at the same time to every provincial interest and to political friend and political opponent alike.

Trusting that I may be favored with your support and influence and vote, I remain, Gentlemen,

Very sincerely yours,

G. A. GILLESPIE

ONE THOUSAND HAS TO BE RAISED BY NINE O'CLOCK

Hard Work Needed to Make Y.M.C.A. Campaign a Success—$1.486 Reported up to noon To-day, Leaving $1,014 to be Obtained

This is the last day of the campaign conducted by the Young Men's Christian Association to secure its financial support from the public for three years. As already stated $2,500.00 a year is needed for this purpose, of which the Business Men's Committee have undertaken to raise $2,000.00 and the Young Men's Committee $500.00. Up to noon to-day the business men had reported $1,146, and the young men $304, making a total of $1,486. This leaves a total of $1,014 to be secured today. This is a large amount, but the committee is sanguine of success, though it will require strenuous effort on the part of all the canvassers.

There will be some whom it will be impossible to call upon, and as every dollar will be wanted, friends of the work, who are not solicited, are asked to 'phone their subscriptions before nine o'clock tonight, as the campaign must close today.

"OPEN TILL FOUR IN THE MORNING AND I CAN PROVE IT"

Last night's well-attended meeting at Selwyn will be memorable for Mr. Kendrey's scorching words regarding the administration of the License Law under Mr. Stratton.

Mr. Hayward occupied the chair in a very capable manner.

Mr. Bradburn, MPP., said that the labour of active campaigning did not leave him the time or energy for all the speaking he would like to be able to do in behalf of the Whitney administration. He thanked the people of Selwyn for their generous treatment of him at the last election and hoped that Mr. Whitney's good record would ensure him at least an equal vote at the coming one. There were many attempts being made at the present time to draw herrings across the scent but it would be without avail as the people knew where their real interests lay. The continued misrepresentation regarding colonization roads seemed to him so much lost time as the people where those roads lay knew and willingly admitted the satisfaction which they enjoyed as settlers under the present administration. Mr. Bradburn dealt at length with the secrecy of the present ballot and the honest, impartial character of law enforcement generally.

Mr. Burnham said that nothing demonstrated the total inefficiency of the late government and the efficiency of the Whitney administration like a full investigation of the financial history of the province. Mr. Ross admitted that we were going behind at the rate of a million a year and that therefore the institutions of the province must go on half fare. The consequence was universal debility and corruption. At present, we are enjoying unexampled provincial prosperity. Nothing is being starved. All is changed as if by magic. Mr. Stratton, the speaker remarked, had attacked Mr. Peck, Mr. Bradburn and himself at the Bridgenorth meeting. It was useless for Mr. Stratton to scoff at his statement that "hiring conveyances" was against the election law. If, as Mr. Stratton charged Conservatives were now violating the law in that respect why didn't he inform the authorities. Prosecution was cheap and easy now. The fact is Mr. Stratton is bluffing. The speaker declared that the Power Policy was the greatest achievement of colonial government in any age.

Mr. Kendrey, Ex-MP. said on opening that as a non-pay government officer he had he considered a perfect right to speak in defence of good government. If anybody wanted his job he could have it. He wanted to say, however, that some of the statements being made by the Liberal speakers were unjustifiable, and untrue. There was no comparison between the way the license law was administered under Mr. Stratton and at present. Mr. Stratton was member, license commissioner and inspector all in one. He was the whole thing. What he said went. The law wasn't kept at all. Drinks could be got at pretty nearly any time. Hotels were often open till four o'clock in the morning instead of being made to close at eleven and he could prove it. "Now what do we find. We find the law well-kept because there is no crooked work wanted, and no open ballot to terrorise people with. The general testimony of the public is that the license law is at least well administered. Mr. Kendrey then took up the agricultural and fiscal policy of the government giving an effective account of the good record of the government.

LOCAL REGIMENT INSPECTED BY MAJOR GENERAL LAKE

There was a turn-out of 281 officers and men all told at the inspection of the 57th Regiment Peterborough Rangers last night at Central Park, by Major General Lake, of Ottawa, Inspector General of Canadian forces. A large representation of citizens were also on hand and watched with much interest the different evolutions of the companies. The band, as usual, was quite a centre of attraction and played in good style, rendering a number of selections during the manoeuvres of the regiment.

General Lake arrived at the Park at 7.30 o'clock and was received with the general salute, the regiment being drawn up in line.

He was accompanied by Col. W. D. Gordon, Kingston, O.C.E.O.C.; Col, Young, Kingston, D.A.A.G., and Lieut.-Col. Heward, late of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, as orderly officer.

General Lake inspected the regiment and then each company in drill. He also inspected the stretcher bearer section and the brass and bugle bands.

THE TURNOUT.

The strength of the rank and file of the different companies at the inspection was as follows:

No. 1 Company	19
No. 2 Company	20
No. 3 Company	16
No. 4. Company	21
No. 6 Company	16
No. 5 Company	24
No. 7 Company	26
No. 8 Company	21
Signal Corps	8
Band	30
Buglers and Drummers	19
Stretcher Bearers	2
Total of officers	24
Full strength	284

Three officers were on leave of absence.

Major General Lake was not in a position to express his opinion of the efficiency of the regiment. He has to write his report and forward it to Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, and the Militia Council. The latter, after digesting the report send the letter to Col. Gordon, O. C. E.O.C., and he in turn will forward it to Lt.-Col. Stevenson.

Major General Lake's letter will be received at headquarters in the course of a week and the report of the inspection should reach Peterborough in about six weeks or two months.

The final inspection will take place towards the end of June and will be conducted by Col. Gordon.

PORT HOPE IS SIGNING MEN

Jack O'Tolle Secured by Manager O'Brien of the Port Hope Team

Manager O'Brien returned last evening from Toronto and his sojourn in the Queen City was very successful. He secured Jack O'Toole's name to a certificate and has a line on several other fast ones. Last year O'Toole played third base for the Grand View, Man., team, and he is also an old team mate of Manager O'Brien's. He plays a fast, snappy game, has a batting average of .315 and will be a strong acquisition to the local club.

"Jimmy" O'Hearn, who became quite a favorite with the local fans last year, is desirous of returning, but would like to secure a position. If satisfactory arrangements can be made the heavy hitter will again be found holding down second bag.

The club this year are limited to fifteen certificates and only the "good ones" will be given the privilege of signing. The certificates of the Port Hope Club will not be filled out until Saturday, but Manager O'Brien promise to have a nine that will give Manager Johnston's imports a busy time at Riverside Park on May 25th.

Three teams are at work at the Town Park to-day placing the grounds in shape. Mr. W. H. McCallum is superintending the work and it is not necessary to add that everything will be in tip top shape.

COMMITTEE TO MEET

The Fire, Water and Light Committee will meet at the City Hall tonight at 7.30 o'clock to consider the applications for the chiefship of the fire brigade.

TWO MEETINGS WILL BE HELD

Special Farmers Institute Meeting to be Held in North Country

Mr. William Collins, secretary of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute has informed the Review that he has received a circular containing a list of special meetings to be held in some of the northern townships of the counties of Peterbroough, Victoria and Haliburton at places where it is not advisable to hold winter meetings. Two of those meetings will be held at Hall's Bridge and Lakehurst, on June 27th and 29th respectively. Addresses will be given by Dr. H. G. Reed, of Georgetown and Mrs. F. W. Watts, of Clinton.

AN INVESTIGATION IS NOW PROBABLE

Government Will Likely Take up Tillsonburg Fire Case—Most of the Injured Improving—Miss Mero's Condition, However, is Serious.

Tillsonburg, Ont., May 22.—Coroner Bennett has so far not issued a warrant for an inquest in connection with the fatalities at the burning of the Queen's Hotel here. He has intimated that he will not do so until the necessity for an inquiry is more definitely brought to his attention. He is waiting for some one else to act.

Commercial travelers who were staying at the hotel assert that in some of the rooms, at least, there were no fire escape ropes.

One of the license commissioners declares that the regulations in respect to fire escapes and ropes were lived up to by the proprietor of the hotel. He is positive fire ropes were in the rooms.

The fire escape was along only one side of the hotel, and would naturally only protect three or four rooms, as guests would have to go through other people's bedrooms in order to reach it.

The fire fatalities may yet number five, as two of the injured may die.

Mrs. Mero, wife of the proprietor, is reported to be slightly improved, though her injuries are serious.

Miss Dunbar shows some signs of improvement, but her injuries almost preclude recovery.

Miss Mero, who was reported as badly burned, and her leg sprained through jumping, has become paralyzed, and her condition is very serious. Her back had evidently been injured by the drop from the third storey.

Miss McLean, milliner, whose room was on the third floor of the Queen's Hotel, was one of those who had a very narrow escape. Her room adjoined that of Miss Jessie Gray, and right across the hall from Thomas Wheatley's apartment. Miss Gray and Wheatley both perished.

The proprietor of the hotel thinks that the fire started in the cellar or the first flat, while the woman who was first wakened by the smoke and raised the alarm thinks it started in the bedroom occupied by Wheatley, the unfortunate man who was burned in his bed.

Toronto, May 22.—Premier Whitney intimated this morning that the Government will consider the advisability of holding an investigation into the Tillsonburg hotel fire. In the absence of the Provincial Secretary, no more definite information could be obtained.

In February last the Government sent out a special circular to inspectors in a sufficient quantity to provide one for every hotel in the province. These set forth the requirements for fire protection demanded by the Liquor License Act. The act provides that there shall be at least one outside ladder or stairway on hotels more than two storeys in height, and a rope in each room above the ground floor sufficiently long to reach to the ground. The inspector has the power to grant a certificate to the hotelkeeper if there are such other sufficient fire escapes or appliances as may reasonably be held to satisfy the spirit of the regulations. Notices must be posted up in every sleeping apartment, calling attention to the position of the fire escapes.

A fine of $20 to $200 may be imposed with alternatives of three months' imprisonment for neglect.

The general question of the advisability of permitting large numbers of hotel guests to sleep in the tinder boxes of which many frame-built inns consist, will probably be raised, besides the necessity of a night watchman.

According to James Sargent, secretary of the Commercial Travelers' Association, there are a good many hotels in Ontario not adequately equipped for fires.

"A few years ago," said E. Fielding, treasurer of the association, "when you went into your room in a provincial hotel, the first thing you saw was a coil of rope right under the window. But you can find these safety ropes in very few hotels in Ontario nowadays."

In 30 years Mr. Bernard was the only member of the Commercial Travelers' Association to meet death at a fire. Two have been killed in railway accidents, and two in a steamship disaster on Georgian Bay 23 years ago.

FIFTY KILLED AND MANY INJURED IN BIG WRECK

Express Crashed Into a Train Loaded With Pilgrims Going to a Local Shrine—A Scene of Horror—Aid Sent From Antwerp and Brussels.

Antwerp, May 22.—A railroad accident of unprecedented horror in the annals of Belgian train disasters, occurred yesterday at Contich, a station six miles southeast of Antwerp, on the main line.

An express train from Antwerp to Brussels crashed into a train loaded with pilgrims on their way to a local shrine. This train was standing on a siding. Several of its cars were telescoped and shattered to matchwood. The total number of dead is placed at 50 and the wounded at over 100.

Special trains with doctors, priests and nurses were sent to Contich from Antwerp and Brussels.

The accident is supposed to have been due to a misplaced switch. The engineer and the fireman of the express train were killed.

The spectacle was horrible. Many of the bodies had lost all human shape, heads, arms and limbs having been ground off by the wheels and scattered through the wreckage. Three decapitated bodies were found 20 feet from the track.

By the evening 38 dead and 79 in[illegible] of whom died later, had been recovered. The occupants of the cars were mostly workmen and peasants.

A second-class coach was overturned by the force of the impact. The bodies of the wounded were so pinned down by wreckage that the rescuers had to use axes to get the victims free.

The signal man at Contich saw that his switch was not working just as the express came thundering down the line. He leaped from the window of his signal station and heroically ran down the track toward the oncoming train, waving a red flag, but was too late. Two signalmen have been arrested.

With regard to the cause of the collision, a railroad official states that the switches were being repaired, and that a workman who had been placed at the temporary hand switch appeared to have made a mistake or the switch failed to act. The engineer, it is said, saw the danger and applied the brakes, but it was too late to avoid the disaster.

OPERATIVES' ARE AT WORK AGAIN

Thousands of Employees go Back on the Companies' Terms.

Montreal, May 22.—The backbone of the cotton operatives' strike has been broken. Yesterday the mills of the Dominion Textile Co. at Magog resumed operations, about half of the employes returning to their places. It is thought that the others will return, as no notice of the opening of the mills was posted, and many of the employes did not know of it.

About twelve hundred of the employes of the Hochelaga mills of the same company also returned to work.

The men returned on the company's terms, the rate of wages being the same as before the strike.

Leaves $10,000 to Roosevelt.

Boston, May 22.—Upon the authenticity of a new will and two codicils, which have just been discovered, and which provide for a bequest of $10,000 to President Roosevelt, depends the distribution of the $50,000 estate left by Benjamin Hadley, an eccentric recluse, who was found dead in his home in Somerville last December.

A Boy Burglar.

Woodstock, May 22.—Willie Jones was arrested yesterday, charged with breaking into the First Baptist Church. The same night the Beale street school, nearby, was entered and $4 in money and some jackknives stolen. Willie, who is 16 years of age, has confessed, and says he was assisted by another boy.

Three Burglars Sentenced.

Belleville, May 22.—Frank Walker, Albert Prince and John H. Kelly, the three young American burglars, who were caught in the act of burglarising Robinson & Thompson's tailor shop in this city about two weeks ago, and pleaded guilty, were yesterday sentenced by Magistrate Masson to three years and six months each in Kingston Penitentiary.

Bishops Elected.

Baltimore, May 22.—Rev. Dr. William F. Anderson of New York and Rev. Dr. John L. Nelson of Nast Theological Seminary, Berea, Ohio, were elected bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Sixty Sent For Trial.

Brantford, May 22.—Sixty striking moulders appeared in court yesterday, charged with picketing the Buck Stove Works, and were committed for trial. They were allowed out on $100 bail.

Found Drowned.

Smith's Falls, May 22.—The body of William Corbett, aged 59, who disappeared on Saturday, was found in the Rideau river, about half a mile below the town.

No Flag on Empire Day.

London, May 22.—In the House of Commons, by 156 to 88, leave was refused to introduce a bill for the due display of the national flag on Empire Day.

Hindoos' Resentment.

London, May 22.—The Evening Globe ascribes the recent outrages in India to the ill-treatment of Hindoos in British Columbia and South Africa.

DEFICIT IN THE MISSION FUNDS

Synod of Ontario Had to Cut Down the Appropriation

Kingston, May 22.—At the executive meeting of the Synod of Ontario, the mission board reported a shortage of $2,356 on last year's accounts, on an expenditure of $9,904, causing an overdraft. Offerings were $200 below the previous year, showing a deficit. The board cut down the missions $50 each, and a special committee was charged to revise the plan of stations and stipends. Present grants will not extend beyond Dec. 31. The proposal for the diocesan conference this fall was negatived. This meeting takes the place of the annual synod, owing to the bishop's absence.

First Call at North Sydney.

North Sydney, N.S., May 22.—The Empress of Ireland, the first inward bound mail steamer to call at this port, landing passengers and mail, arrived yesterday at 6.55 a.m. The Empress left Liverpool on Friday, May 15, at 6 p.m., making this port in five days, 12 hours, and 55 minutes. She had 1,392 passengers. The C.P.R. sent a full staff of customs officers, immigration inspectors, medical examiners and passenger agents to North Sydney to meet the Empress and proceed to Quebec, in order to facilitate the inspection of passengers and baggage.

The Weather and the Crops.

Winnipeg, May 22.—The weather is still unusually wet and the temperature below normal, although not nearly so cold as Wednesday. Reports from the country state that no particular damage will result from frosts on Wednesday night beyond a slight retarding of growth. The ground will be so thoroughly soaked that the crop is expected to make splendid progress when the weather clears up. Samples of winter wheat 22 inches high are on exhibition here.

AWARDS FROM CARNEGIE FUND

Medals and Cash Awarded in Thirty Cases

Pittsburg, Pa., May 22.—The Carnegie hero fund commission has granted a medal or medal and cash in thirty instances. The awards include: Thomas Conroy, a city fireman of Niagara Falls, N.Y., awarded a silver medal and $1,000 to pay a mortgage on his home, and J. H. Batts, a police sergeant of Niagara Falls, N.Y., awarded a silver medal and $1,000 to meet a payment on his home. The two men in June, 1906, rescued Amos Schweitzer, a merchant of Sutton, Ont., who, while demented, waded into the swift current of Niagara river and fought off all who attempted to save him. The rescuers, at the end of a frail ladder hanging over a current flowing 14 feet a second and but 15 feet from the brink of the falls, struggled with the insane man for nearly an hour and finally brought him ashore unhurt.

Belonged to an Historic Family.

Toronto, May 22.—In the death of Mrs. Mary Coxwell, widow of the late W. H. Coxwell, of Osgoode Hall, Ontario loses one of its oldest residents. Mrs. Coxwell, whose maiden name was Mary Sophia Powell, was the only daughter of Capt. John Powell, a naval officer who settled at Niagara, and became sheriff of Welland and Lincoln and usher of the black rod in the Assembly of Upper Canada. Mrs. Coxwell was born at Niagara nearly 93 years ago. A sister of Mrs. Coxwell's mother, Sophia Shaw, was engaged to Gen. Isaac Brock, whose career was cut short at the battle of Queenston Heights.

Born In a Box Car.

Moosejaw, May 22.—Wishing to avoid having to pay railroad fare, a settler secreted his wife in a carload of household effects which he was shipping from Cupar to Regina. When the car was opened it was found that the woman had given birth to a child. Both are doing well.

CANADA'S FUTURE DEPENDS ON IDEAS IN MINDS OF ITS PEOPLE

Eloquent and Scholarly Address by Dr. Falconer, President of Toronto University, at Conservatory of Music Hall Last Evening—A Large Audience—County and City Teachers' Association Represented.

The visit to Peterborough of such a distinguished man as Dr. Falconer, President of Toronto University, was indeed a rare treat to all who were fortunate enough to hear him in Conservatory Music Hall last evening. The hall was well filled with the members of the City and County Teachers' Associations, and a large number of citizens. Everyone who heard Dr. Falconer's eloquent and scholarly address must have gone away inspired and with a cleared insight into the practical results to be obtained from a university training. The chairman of the evening was Mr. J. E. Hodgson, President of the city teachers' association. In introducing the speaker of the evening he referred to Dr. Falconer as occupying the foremost position in educational matters. The Association congratulated themselves on obtaining him to address them.

Dr. Falconer was given an ovation on rising to speak. He was always glad, he said, to have the opportunity to come into contact with teachers and he hoped that, as time goes on, those in the University would come together with those not connected with it, in the uplifting of all that goes to make strong, national character. The importance of the teaching profession should be impressed upon the public. In Peterborough there were evidences of industry on all sides. This city was rapidly growing and the rapid growth is universal over the whole Dominion.

The speaker thought that Canadians had a task to perform such as no other country had. Realizing Canada's possibilities, he said that one must see that there is a wonderful future for the Dominion. Her great resources and her climate held forth possibilities which few countries could equal. But Canada must be careful of the immigration to her shores. Dr. Falconer thought that the future of this country was one overwhelmed with responsibility, and unless some disaster fell upon her people, a great task laid before them to perform. It was not in the national resources alone that the future depended, but upon the ideas in the minds of the people that turned the resources to account. Then the people should be trained with ideas "Get a school well trained and you will get ideas" said the speaker.

The ordinary business of life was a fertile place for ideas. The business men often thought that they were the only practical men. The practical man was the one who kept his mind strong and alert. The learned doctor thought that there was a great chasm between the business man and the university. Canada was a country of colleges. The university was a great source for ideas.

The speaker referred to the student who entered a course in Arts at Toronto University. The Arts building was one of the finest on the continent and he thought what that subtle charm of beauty that building had exercised over the minds of the many who had gone out from it. In an Arts course the student got discipline of language. He was for the first time brought into touch with great men. The study of the classical languages was the finest mental training a pupil could have.

The student who studied mathematics was taught to think abstractly. He obtained power to carry in his mind a train of thought. In the science courses he learned to rely upon facts, to know things as they really are.

All this was marvellous training. A man became the master of his own thought and not a slave to his own prejudices. He went out from the university a strong, creative intelligent man.

There were several things involved in a profession. There was technical knowledge, breadth of view and the ethical side. The professional man should have a high moral standard in a community. The life of this Province and Dominion was dependent on the quality of its professional men.

The speaker, in conclusion, said that he was thoroughly persuaded that wherever there is a power of mind it must be to the good of the community. There were ideas that were disastrous, but these should be swept out by the better ones and men imbued with brains should use them for those who are not. In the schools there should be held up the true humanity, that the great future for the Dominion might be realized.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Dr. Falconer, Dr. Morrison made the motion and Mr. G. M. Roger seconded it, both gentlemen referring in eulogistic terms to the speaker and his able address.

Big Japanese Loan.

London, May 22.—The Japanese financial agent here has placed with financial houses of London, South Manchurian railroad notes to the amount of £2,000,000 at 5 per cent., maturing in 1911. They will be issued to the public at 98.

Blackmailers at Ottawa.

Ottawa, May 22.—Many prominent people of the capital are again receiving blackmailing letters. They are of the same class as those for which a young man is now undergoing imprisonment.

Lord Rayleigh has been installed as Chancellor of the University of Cambridge, in succession to the late Duke of Devonshire.

RECRUITING NOW GOING ON

24th Field Battery Goes into Camp on June 15th.

As the 24th Field Battery, Canadian Artillery is proceeding to camp at Kingston on June 15th, members or intending members of this corps should apply at once to Major T. W. H. Young, for uniforms, etc. at his residence, 326 Rubidge street.

Those wishing to supply horses apply to Vet. Lt. W. H. Blanchard, 380 Queen street.

THOSE CHARGES OF MAJOR HODGINS

The Enquiry Adjourned Till June 8th—Major Hodgins on the Stand

Ottawa, May 22.—The enquiry into the charges of Major Hodgins as to the construction of the National Transcontinental Railway has been adjourned to June 3.

Yesterday the major was cross-examined by Charles Murphy, counsel for the Railway Commission, and asked as to his relations with his former assistant, J. A. Heaman. The major admitted that at Mr. Heaman's request he had destroyed certain letters at Toronto after he was subpoenaed to attend the investigation at Ottawa.

Major Hodgins practically admitted that his sole authority for some of the charges he made of over-classification was based on Mr. Heaman's notes, and that if these notes were erroneous then the charges could not be substantiated. He declared, however, that Heaman was a very reliable engineer.

The latter will be called as a witness later in the enquiry.

It had been stated previously that Major Hodgins reported to Mr. Lumsden that in one division 18,000 yards of pure muskeg had been taken out at a cost of 23 cents a cubic yard, and had been charged as solid rock at $1.70.

CARDINAL LOGUE MAKES STATEMENT

Wonders at Strength and Power of Catholic Church in America

New York, May 22.—Cardinal Logue, the Primate of Ireland, who came to America to take part in the Catholic centenary in this city, granted an interview in which he said:

"The wonderful strength and power of the Catholic Church in this country was a most agreeable and pleasant surprise to me. Its progress here has been remarkable and it is destined in the future to be a storehouse for the Catholicism of the world, and a preventative against the attacks of those who have no faith or who are in danger of being led astray by the so-called modernism and materialism. Religion, I believe, is fostered under a republican form of government as under no other."

Harbin at Mercy of Japs.

Shanghai, May 22.—It is said on reliable authority that the Russian Government intends to sell the Kwang-Cheng-Tse-Harbin Railway to the Japanese. If this plan is carried out it means the abandonment of Vladivostock and the Pacific provinces, which would thereby be placed at the mercy of the Japanese, who would immediately possess control of Harbin.

C. P. R. and the Mechanical Unions.

Winnipeg, May 22.—The board of conciliation and arbitration appointed to deal with the trouble between the C. P. R. and its mechanical unions which has been at a deadlock for two days over the question of the actual scope of the investigation was dissolved yesterday as a result of this disagreement.

Heroism Rewarded.

London, May 22.—(C.A.P.)—The Board of Trade has received a silver cup, gold medal and sum of money for the chief officers and members of the crew of the steamer Carniola in recognition of the rescue of the crew of the Canadian bark Mary A. Troop on the Atlantic, Feb. 27, 1904.

Many Visitors Expected.

Winnipeg, May 22.—The food show and Retail Grocers' Association here are planning to entertain ten thousand people on June 8 and 9. They have guaranteed the Belleville Kilties Band $2,000 to stop off two days on their tour of the world.

Bridge Dynamited.

New York, May 22.—The new bridge under construction on the Harlem branch of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad at Baychester, was wrecked by dynamiters.

Don't Understand Gaelic.

Detroit, May 22.—Mr. and Mrs. John McLean, aged 90 and 80 respectively, who left their home in Bruce County, Ont., to visit their daughter in Mount Clemens, Mich., were found wandering aimlessly around the streets here. The police turned them over to the poor commissioner and the latter are stumped by the Gaelic of the aged couple, who can speak very little English.

Policeman Discharged.

St. Catharines, May 22.—The police commissioners have discharged Thos. Burke, found drunk on duty on Sunday, and appointed Thomas Boyle to fill the vacancy. Sergt. William McCarthy was appointed truant officer. The board practically decided that in future no stranger will be given a position on the force.

Contract Let.

Ottawa, May 22.—The contract for the new union depot to be erected at Winnipeg by the Canadian Northern, Grand Trunk Pacific and National Transcontinental, has been let to Peter Lyall & Sons of Montreal, at $886,000.

Zavitz to Go to Newfoundland.

Ottawa, May 22.—A report to the Trade and Commerce Department by Trade Commissioner Arnand of Newfoundland states that Prof. C. A. Zavitz of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, has been engaged by the Newfoundland Government to assist in the organization of the first experimental farm to be established on the island. An appropriation of $25,000 has been made for the purpose.

ROSS RIFLE AGAIN IN FOR ATTENTION

Col. Worthington Condemns it, Col. Hughes Defends—Most of the Sittings Spent in Discussion as to its Efficiency—A Monster Petition.

Ottawa, May 22.—The Ross rifle contract was the feature of discussion in the House yesterday.

Col. Worthington submitted an amendment condemning that arm, while Col. Sam Hughes appeared as chief defender of the Minister of Militia. There were some lively passages at arms between the two members.

Col. Worthington's amendment was couched in the following terms:

"That the dealings of the Department of Militia and Defence in connection with the adoption and manufacture of the Ross rifle as an arm for the defence of Canada have displayed deplorable inefficiency, have been characterized by crown extravagance and improvidence and have impaired public confidence both in the alleged efficiency of the rifle and in the management of the Department."

The debate was adjourned.

A monster petition, signed by 433,845 people, was presented by Armand Lavergne, praying that the French and English languages be placed on the same footing for all public services in Quebec.

The matter of the disappearance of the papers of the Stanstead bye-election of 1906 was referred to the committee on privileges and elections.

Hon. Mr. Lemieux said that a special commemorative stamp will be issued on the very day of the Quebec tercentenary.

With regard to the election bill, Sir Wilfrid Laurier discussed it with his western followers before the House met.

He announced his proposal, but some of the Manitoba Liberals would not agree, and Mr. Borden has been asked for further time.

At the Liberal conference were the Prime Minister, Mr. Fielding, Mr. Aylesworth, the Manitoba Liberal members, and a few Ontario representatives. That the Manitoba contingent were not pleased with what they called "a complete surrender to the Conservatives" is well known. Mr. Jackson absolutely refused to back down until he has the consent of his constituents, and he left for Manitoba to consult them.

It is conceded that Sir Wilfrid has the situation well in hand. He is backed up by nearly all his supporters outside of Manitoba, and it will be difficult for Messrs. Jackson and Turriff to hold the Government to the old bill.

The general opinion is that the substitute clause will abandon the proposal to add to or revise voters' lists in Manitoba, but will recognize the principle that in regrouping of voters' lists the work shall be done by county judges acting under instructions from the Governor-General-in-council, instead of under orders from the executives of the provinces.

Mr. Sifton, who is in the south, has been sent for and will be here on Saturday. He is expected to strengthen the Opposition to the Laurier surrender. Another story is that many of the Quebec members are against yielding to the Opposition, not because they care anything about the Manitoba lists, but because they believe the humiliation cast upon the party will weaken the Prime Minister's prestige in every part of the country.

Hon. Frank Oliver held a conference with the western members in the afternoon, with with what result is not given out.

In the Senate, the Juvenile Delinquents' Bill was given a second reading. It provides for the appointment of special officers for juvenile offences and a juvenile court.

A resolution to refer back to committee the bill of the Sushwap & Thompson River Boom Co. was carried by 29 to 15. The committee had reported against the bill on the ground that it is an infringement of provincial rights.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS FROM MANY POINTS OF THE WORLD

William Anderson, ex-M. P. P. for East Peterboro, is dead.

Five persons were killed by a tornado in Kansas and Iowa.

The steam barge Monteagle went ashore near Oakville in a fog.

Mr. Tomlin, Ind. Cons., has retired from the contest in West Toronto.

Guesippe Greco has been found guilty of murder at Hamilton for stabbing a fellow Italian, Antoni Riesso, on March 12. The medical testimony was very conflicting. Chief Justice Mulock practically told the jury to bring in a verdict of stabbing with intent.

The Lord's Day Alliance has sent a circular letter to all the Toronto druggists warning them against the sale of cigars, cigarettes, tobacco, pipes, stationery, toilet articles, perfumery, ice cream bricks, ice cream by the dish, confectionery, magazines, newspapers and picture postals on Sunday.

THE CAMPAIGN SUCCESSFUL; THE RESPONSE WAS GENEROUS

$2,500 Was Successfully Subscribed at Nine O'clock Last Night—More Will Come in Yet—Workers Sacrificed Personal Ends to Help Y.M.C.A. Great Credit is Due.

YMCA Campaign closes successfully

The campaign of the local Y.M.C.A. for $2,500 a year in subscriptions for three years in the last three days, closed last night with a total sum of $2,535 pledged. The Business Men's Committee raised $2,009 and the Young Men's Committee $526 of this amount. This is the tenth of these three day campaigns in Ontario and Quebec, everyone of which has been successful. In almost every case the amount pledged during these campaigns was more than asked for by the different associations, and as the Peterborough Association is really in need of five hundred dollars more, and there are several large subscribers yet to hear from, and a great many smaller ones will want a share in this great work, and yet have not sent in their pledges, it is hoped the amount will yet reach $3,000, which will enable the association to make some very much needed improvements in the bath rooms, but which are not included in the $2,500 estimate. The success of the campaign was largely due to Mr. E. M. Thomasson, the field secretary of the Provincial Committee, who engineered the campaign. The directors under the chairmanship of Mr. J. J. Turner, jr., with some volunteers and the Young Men's Committee, under the able leadership of Mr. E. M. Best, did the soliciting, some of the directors spending practically the whole three days in the work. At least twenty-five new members have been received besides the subscriptions, and a large number more are expected in the near future.

Any persons wishing to help in this work kindly send in their subscriptions to the secretary.

THE EXPENDITURE

The Liberal orators, with a persistence and obstinacy that do them credit—in a way, continue to dilate upon the increase in expenditure under the Whitney administration. Let us ask these gentlemen a few questions. Has the Whitney Government a surplus? Does it sell capital stock to pay current account debts? Has it increased governmental grants to the people? Is it improving the whole provincial establishment generally, from the Agricultural College to the continuation or township High school? What would Mr. MacKay do with a surplus if he ever got one? Let these gentlemen take a trip and investigate our gaols and asylums, if they are not afraid. It would open their eyes and possibly have the effect of "closing their mouths." Explain also while you are at it, gentlemen, why Mr. MacKay opposes railway taxation. Address the farmer at length upon this striking attitude of your leader, they will appreciate it all right. You invite them to continue to pay three times as much taxes as the railways. Why? Can any sensible man explain why? Mr. Gillespie in his address, objects to the Government's policy regarding mining rights. Private enterprise, he says, should not be interfered with. In other words, the public domain is a private domain. Mr. Gillespie would deprive the province of a million a year and hand it over to his friends, all because of "private enterprise." The farmer who spends what money he makes, on his land is again invited to walk into the maw of the financier. Let the one work while the other salts him stock in his own mines. It is indeed a glorious privilege which some of Mr. Gillespie's friends would gladly enjoy.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Would it be in order to move that Tory candidates must secure three-fifths of the votes cast to secure election?—The Globe.

Don't worry, they will.

It is said that the crop of black-flies will be a record one this year. The mosquitoes will also do a humming business without doubt.

"The Merry Widow" was denounced by a Methodist clergyman the other day, who affirmed that he could not see more than half his flock from the pulpit. They must have worn a sheepish look when he got through with them.

Wm. O'Connor has been given ten years and thirty lashes for robbery with violence. We hope that will be the "lasht" of William. Robbing women is bad enough, but smashing them all to pieces needs stopping, badly.

Mr. MacKay is preaching lay sermons daily in the Toronto Globe. They are called lay sermons because their design is to lay Whitney out.—Hamilton Herald.

But that they will succeed is "improbable."

Out of a jury of eight summoned at Bow County Court to try an action no fewer than seven answered to the name of Smith.

ENGLISH PREFERENCE

The English Preference Act, relating to preference duties on English woollen fabrics, which has been in force since 1897, has practically ruined the woollen manufacturing industry in Canada as the Canadian market has proven a profitable dumping-ground for good, bad and indifferent English products and the Canadian woolen manufacturing industry is practically extinct. When this preference act became law in 1897, there were 110 woolen mills doing a prosperous business that are now entirely abandoned being forced out of business through inability to compete with the English goods being dumped into Canada at the 30 per cent duty, with very questionable valuations in many instances, and from the best authority we can state that today there are not ten active woolen mills left in Canada as the result of the English preference.

Except on specialty lines which the few mills in operation are running on, the Canadian woolen industry is wholly at the mercy of its English competitors with a 30 per cent duty under the existing laws. But the valuation of goods is almost as serious a matter as the low duty and we are told that the present methods of assessing make the duty nearer 20 per cent than 30 per cent which is not high enough to foster Canadian woolen manufacturing.

This is a condition that must be carefully studied before there is any tariff tinkering in the United States is under ample protective duty, our manufacturers are finding it difficult to make both ends meet.

Our present German trade treaty is a dangerous affair so far as our knit goods industry is concerned as the German knitters have absolute say in fixing valuations and when the time is ripe this country may become the dumping ground for Germany as Canada is for England on woolen goods.

There is nothing the English woolen manufacturers and the German knit goods producers want so much as a tariff low enough to permit them to flood this country with their output as on labor costs alone they save from 75 to 150 per cent in not a few departments of manufacture, and the extent of production is limited only by the available territory in which to dispose of their output.

Our manufacturers are now well protected, except from the danger of the trade agreements, and the danger of these affairs cannot be overestimated. A study of Canadian conditions will verify this. — American Reporter.

EAT WHAT YOU WANT

But Find the Way to Digest What You Do Eat.

The first thing to do in the case of indigestion or stomach weakness is to strengthen the muscular walls of the stomach and intestines, so that they will care for the food that is eaten. In no other way can this be done as well as by taking a Mi-o-na tablet before each meal. This restores strength to the stomach, muscles and stimulates the pouring out of gastric juices, then the food digests readily and you begin to get the full benefit from what you eat.

Use Mi-o-na whenever you have sick headache, heartburn, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, spots before the eyes, sleeplessness and the many other symptoms that are the direct result of indigestion.

W Madill, druggist, corner of Hunter and George streets, Peterborough gives with every 50 cent box of Mi-o-na a guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy cures.

FORTUNATE FOR THE PURCHASERS

Mr. H. LeBrun Struck it Rich in the Matter of Purchasing Splendid Stock at Unusually Low Prices

As the result of the foresight of Mr. H. LeBrun in attending the wholesale trade clearing sales in clothing and furnishings in Montreal two weeks ago exceptional values, which means much money saving to purchasers are offered at the popular establishment of H. LeBrun & Co.

Mr. LeBrun, who is a shrewd and experienced buyer secured many choice offerings in suits, trousers, vests, and furnishings at prices clipped in most instances to the original cost to the wholesalers.

The idea, of holding the sales was to clear out all lines in the warehouses before commencing to manufacture for next season. The goods purchased by Mr. LeBrun are of the best quality and direct from the wholesale firms of Messrs. Greenshield Ltd.; Levison and Company; and Winer Bros. and Hart. A splendid opportunity is now offered at LeBrun and Co's. to buy summer outfits at surprisingly low prices.

Fuller particulars are announced in the firm's large advertisement in another section of the Review.

POLITICAL NOTES

Mr. John Read of Keene, took the chair at Mr. Thompson's meeting at Villiers on Thursday night. Over fifty electors attended. Messrs. Oxsmith and Thompson spoke. There will be a meeting in Mr. Thompson's interests at Keene early in June.

If the vote is got out Mr. Bradburn will go in. His majority will be very large. Mr. Gillespie and Mr. MacKay are two different men. It is the latter the people have their "eye" on.

Mr. Gillespie is incurring a great deal of censure for his address. It is generally admitted to be very unfair in tone. A man must be careful and not careless in regard to his facts even allowing for hopes deferred. It is to be hoped that Mr. Gillespie has not "come to set up less exacting standards of morality in politics" as the Examiner asserts the world has done.

The registration is very large although at first it did not look that way.

To the Electors of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—It is my privilege to again appear before you as the Conservative candidate in the approaching election of members of the Ontario Legislature, and while on the previous occasion I was in opposition to the Government, I now have the pleasure of supporting the Administration of Hon. J. P. Whitney, whose management of the affairs of the Province, with the support of an able cabinet, has, during his short premiership, proved of such marked benefit.

Measures of a far-reaching character have been passed, and the statute books of the last three years are replete with legislation of a high order, as well for its originality as its soundness. Let me mention a few of the important acts of the past sessions. The establishment of a Railway and Municipal Board, the new act relating to mining, the creation of the Hydro-Electric Commission, the amendment of the liquor laws, amendments to the law relating to the election of members of the Legislature, particularly the alteration in the ballot, which is now absolutely secret.

The administration of the public domain, especially the mining laws of the Province, has been most profitable, adding large sums to both revenue and capital, and the different changes which have been effected in the Education Department have met with the approval of all persons, concerned in that most important branch of the public service.

One of the beneficial acts of the Government is the taking with its own hands the distribution of electric energy through the great water power of Niagara Falls, and other rivers capable of hydraulic development. Thus are the different municipalities through the Province enabled to obtain the inestimable commodity at a minimum of cost.

The Government, while endeavoring to serve the people generally have not been unmindful of the importance of this riding, and when the new normal schools were to be created one of the four was placed in this constituency, thus affording exceptional advantages to the teachers and schools of this county.

In the short time which will elapse before polling day, I shall endeavour to make my views more fully known to you both privately and publicly, and I bespeak your cordial support, not so much because of any merits of my own, as on account of the splendid record of the Government.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

T. E. BRADBURN

CONSERVATIVES, REGISTER! FOR THE COMING ELECTION

HAPPENINGS AT GORE'S LANDING

Busy Season is Expected—Concert Was a Great Success

Gore's Landing, May 21—Mr. Wm. Clarey and wife have been stopping at the White House the past week. Mr. Clarey has been attending to Mrs. Shoenberger's yacht and has got it launched. Mrs. Shoenberger is expected soon at her summer residence on Spook Island.

Mr. John Daley of Cobourg, is having his yacht painted and will very soon be sailing around the lake again.

Mr. Albert Young, of Harwood, formerly mate on the steamer Water Lily, is to be with Captain Wilber Harris on the steamer Monarch, which will run between Gore's Landing and Peterborough, every Saturday, leaving Gore's Landing at 6.30 am. Harwood at 7 calling at all points on the river and arriving at Peterborough at 10.30. Returning the boat leaves Peterborough at 4 pm. The travelling public will have the benefit of Capt. Harris' experience.

The concert in the public library, which was to have been held on the 8th was postponed owing to the bad night and held on the 11th instead. A good number were present. The young ladies received congratulations from a large number of people on their success and they well deserved it. Master Jack Pratt and Miss Pessie Herald did well. We are glad to see so many of our Harwood friends present.

There is some talk of giving the play at Hiawatha in the near future if arrangements can be made.

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

By CHARLES KLEIN

A Story of American Life Novelized From the Play by ARTHUR HORNBLOW.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

He continued: "I'm acting on sentiment—something I rarely do, but I can't help it. I like you, upon my soul I do, and I'm going to introduce you to my wife—my son"—

He took the telephone from his desk as if he were going to use it.

"What a commander in chief you would have made—how natural it is for you to command!" exclaimed Shirley in a burst of admiration that was half real, half mocking. "I suppose you always tell people what they are to do and how they are to do it. You are a born general. You know I've often thought that Napoleon and Caesar and Alexander must have been great domestic leaders as well as imperial rulers. I'm sure of it now."

Ryder listened to her in amazement. He was not quite sure if she were making fun of him or not.

"Well, of all"— he began; then interrupting himself he said amiably, "Won't you do me the honor to meet my family?"

Shirley smiled sweetly and bowed.

"Thank you, Mr. Ryder, I will."

She rose from her seat and leaned over the manuscripts to conceal the satisfaction this promise of an introduction to the family circle gave her. She was quick to see that it meant more visits to the house and other and perhaps better opportunities to find the objects of her search. Ryder lifted the receiver of his telephone and talked to his secretary in another room, while Shirley, who was still standing, continued examining the papers and letters.

"Is that you, Bagley? What's that? General Dodge? Get rid of him. I can't see him today. Tell him to come tomorrow. What's that? My son wants to see me? Tell him to come to the phone."

At that instant Shirley gave a little cry, which in vain she tried to suppress. Ryder looked up.

"What's the matter?" he demanded, startled.

"Nothing, nothing!" she replied in a hoarse whisper. "I pricked myself with a pin. Don't mind me."

She had just come across her father's missing letters, which had got mixed up, evidently without Ryder's knowledge, in the mass of papers he had handed her. Prepared as she was to find the letters somewhere in the house, she never dreamed that fate would put them so easily and so quickly into her hands; the suddenness of their appearance and the sight of her father's familiar signature affected her almost like a shock. Now she had them, she must not let them go again; yet how could she keep them unobserved? Could she conceal them? Would he miss them? She tried to slip them in her bosom while Ryder was busy at the phone, but he suddenly glanced in her direction and caught her eye. She still held the letters in her hand, which shook from nervousness, but he noticed nothing and went on speaking through the phone:

"Hello, Jefferson, boy! You want to see me. Can you wait till I'm through? I've got a lady here. Going away? Nonsense! Determined, eh? Well, I can't keep you here if you've made up your mind. You want to say goodby. Come up in about five minutes, and I'll introduce you to a very interesting person."

He laughed and hung up the receiver. Shirley was all unstrung, trying to overcome the emotion which her discovery had caused her, and in a strangely altered voice, the result of the nervous strain she was under, she said:

"You want me to come here?"

She looked up from the letters she was reading across to Ryder, who was standing watching her on the other side of the desk. He caught her glance and, leaning over to take some manuscript, he said:

"Yes, I don't want these papers to get"—

His eye suddenly rested on the letters she was holding. He stopped short, and reaching forward he tried to snatch them from her.

"What have you got there?" he exclaimed.

He took the letters, and she made no resistance. It would be folly to force the issue now, she thought. Another opportunity would present itself. Ryder locked the letters up very carefully in the drawer on the lefthand side of his desk, muttering to himself rather than speaking to Shirley:

"How on earth did they get among my other papers?"

"From Judge Rossmore, were they not?" said Shirley boldly.

"How did you know it was Judge Rossmore?" demanded Ryder suspiciously. "I didn't know that his name had been mentioned."

"I saw his signature," she said simply. Then she added, "He's the father of the girl you don't like, isn't he?"

"Yes, he's the"—

A cloud came over the financier's face. His eyes darkened, his jaws snapped, and he clinched his fist.

"How you must hate him!" said Shirley, who observed the change.

"Not at all," replied Ryder, recovering his self possession and suavity of manner. "I disagree with his politics and his methods, but—I know very little about him except that he is about to be removed from office."

"About to be?" echoed Shirley. "So his fate is decided even before he is tried?" The girl laughed bitterly. "Yes," she went on, "some of the newspapers are beginning to think he is innocent of the things of which he is accused."

"Do they?" said Ryder indifferently.

"Yes," she persisted, "most people are on his side."

She planted her elbows on the desk in front of her, and looking him squarely in the face she asked him point blank:

"Whose side are you on—really and truly?"

Ryder winced. What right had this woman, a stranger both to Judge Rossmore and himself, to come here and catechise him? He restrained his impatience with difficulty as he replied:

"Whose side am I on? Oh, I don't know that I am on any side. I don't know that I give it much thought. I"—

"Do you think this man deserves to be punished?" she demanded.

She had resumed her seat at the desk and partly regained her self possession.

"Why do you ask? What is your interest in this matter?"

"I don't know," she replied evasively. "His case interests me, that's all. It's rather romantic. Your son loves this man's daughter. He is in disgrace—many seem to think unjustly." Her voice trembled with emotion as she continued: "I have heard from one source or another—you know I am acquainted with a number of newspaper men—I have heard that life no longer has any interest for him, that he is not only disgraced but beggared, that he is pining away slowly, dying of a broken heart, that his wife and daughter are in despair. Tell me, do you think he deserves such a fate?"

"What have you got there?"

Ryder remained thoughtful a moment, and then he replied:

"No, I do not—no"—

Thinking that she had touched his sympathies, Shirley followed up her advantage:

"Oh, then, why not come to his rescue—you, who are so rich, so powerful; you, who can move the scales of justice at your will—save this man from humiliation and disgrace!"

Ryder shrugged his shoulders, and his face expressed weariness, as if the subject had begun to bore him.

"My dear girl, you don't understand. His removal is necessary."

Shirley's face became set and hard. There was a contemptuous ring to her words as she retorted:

"Yet you admit that he may be innocent!"

"Even if I knew it as a fact, I could not move."

"Do you mean to say that if you had positive proof?" She pointed to the drawer in the desk where he had placed the letters. "If you had absolute proof in that drawer, for instance, wouldn't you help him then?"

Ryder's face grew cold and inscrutable; he now wore his fighting mask.

"Not even if I had the absolute proof in that drawer!" he snapped viciously.

"Have you absolute proof in that drawer?" she demanded.

"I repeat that even if I had I could not expose the men who have been my friends. It's noblesse oblige in politics as well as in society, you know."

He smiled again at her, as if he had recovered his good humor after their sharp passages at arms.

"Oh, it's political! That's what the papers said. And you believe him innocent. Well, you must have some grounds for your belief."

"Not necessarily."

"You said that even if you had the proofs you could not produce them without sacrificing your friends, showing that your friends are interested in having this man put off the bench"—She stopped and burst into hysterical laughter. "Oh, I think you're having a joke at my expense," she went on, "just to see how far you can lead me. I daresay Judge Rossmore deserves all he gets. Oh, yes, I'm sure he deserves it." She rose and walked to the other side of the room to conceal her emotion.

Ryder watched her curiously.

"My dear young lady, how you take this matter to heart!"

"Please forgive me," laughed Shirley and averting her face to conceal the fact that her eyes were filled with tears. "It's my artistic temperament, I suppose. It's always getting me into trouble. It appealed so strongly to my sympathies, this story of hopeless love between two young people, with the father of the girl hounded by corrupt politicians and unscrupulous financiers. It was too much for me. Ah, ah, I forgot where I was!"

She leaned against a chair, sick and faint from nervousness, her whole body trembling. At that moment there was a knock at the library door, and Jefferson Ryder appeared. Not seeing Shirley, whose back was toward him, he advanced to greet his father.

"You told me to come up in five minutes," he said. "I just wanted to say"—

"Miss Green," said Ryder senior, addressing Shirley and ignoring whatever it was that the young man wanted to say, "this is my son Jefferson. Jeff, this is Miss Green."

Jefferson looked in the direction indicated and stood as if rooted to the floor. He was so surprised that he was struck dumb. Finally, recovering himself, he exclaimed:

"Shirley!"

"Yes, Shirley Green, the author," explained Ryder senior, not noticing the note of familiar recognition in his exclamation.

Shirley advanced and, holding out her hand to Jefferson, said demurely:

"I am very pleased to meet you, Mr. Ryder." Then quickly in an undertone she added: "Be careful. Don't betray me."

Jefferson was so astounded that he did not see the outstretched hand. All he could do was to stand and stare first at her and then at his father.

"Why don't you shake hands with her?" said Ryder senior. "She won't bite you." Then he added: "Miss Green is going to do some literary work for me, so we shall see a great deal of her. It's too bad you're going away." He chuckled at his own pleasantry.

"Father," blurted out Jefferson, "I came to say that I've changed my mind. You did not want me to go, and I feel I ought to do something to please you."

FACE AND SCALP ERUPTIONS

TROUBLED THIS LADY TILL ZAM-BUK CURED.

Miss Mary Levesque, 313 Stadacina St., Hochelaga, Montreal writes:—"I have found Zam-Buk an excellent remedy for skin eruptions. Up to this Spring I was bothered for almost five years with a red rash, small pimples and sores on my face and on the scalp thro' the hair. Nothing I used would clear this rash from the skin until I began using Zam-Buk. This salve has effectually and I believe permanently taken off those unsightly pimples and sores from both scalp and face. I shall recommend Zam-Buk to all my friends."

For healing eczema and all skin diseases Zam-Buk is without equal. It is good for rheumatism when well rubbed in. Piles also yield to Zam-Buk. All stores and druggists, 50c. or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

PRESIDENT WAS ENTERTAINED

Dr. Falconer Guest of Local Alumni of Toronto University at Hooper's Last Evening

The local alumni of Toronto University took advantage of the visit of President Falconer of the university, to the city yesterday and entertained him to supper at Hooper's Palm Gardens last evening at the conclusion of the lecture in the Conservatory Music Hall. There were about 35 of the alumni present including three ladies. A very pleasant hour was spent. President Falconer made a very fine speech to the alumni and seemed to appreciate their hospitality. Dr. Falconer made a splendid impression on his hearers and his open and courteous manner has made for him many friends.

Mr. Dumble, president of the local alumni, presided.

THREATENED TO KILL SISTER

Young Man in Police Court This Morning---Promised to Keep Away From Her Place

Wm. Graham was charged with making threats to kill his sister, at the police court this morning. He pleaded not guilty.

The complainant stated that she was living in terror of her life. She said that her brother had threatened to kill her, using the words, "I will kill you yet." Last night the complainant and her husband were moving. Graham, who had a key of the house, dared them to come near it. He made a rush at his sister, but another woman stepped between them and prevented him from striking her.

Graham denied having made any threats or used any violence.

His Worship ordered that if Graham would promise to keep away from his sister's place he would allow him to go.

S. S. CONVENTION AT MILLBROOK

Addresses Were Given by Rev Mr. Keith and Rev. Mr. Potter of Peterborough

Millbrook, May 22.—The Sunday school convention under the auspices of the Presbytery of Peterborough, in the Presbyterian church on Tuesday was most interesting and successful. Many good points of instruction were brought out by the speakers and in the discussion on the better management and more efficient work of the schools. The afternoon session was not largely attended but the evening meeting was very satisfactory. Rev. Mr. Keith, of Peterborough; Rev. Mr. Potter, of Peterborough; Rev. Mr. Robertson and Mr. W. A. Cameron, of Toronto, were the outside speakers. The great aim now is to bring the Sunday school up to a more thorough standard, including Home Class s and the Cradle Rolls, as it is recognized that from the schools flow the broad and beautiful strain of church life and usefulness.

DOG TAG CASES TO BE SETTLED IN OPEN COURT

His Worship Will Deal Severely With All Owners Who Have Not Their Dog Tags by June 1st.

"After June 1st all dog tags not paid must be settled in open court." His Worship Magistrate Dumble this morning. Jas. Prew was charged with harboring a dog without a tag. Prew pleaded not guilty. He said that he had the dog given to him last October, but he returned it to its original owner last March. He had not seen it since then His Worship enlarged the case until Wednesday next.

WAS HE RIGHT?

Owing to the widespread interest and discussion brought by the problem in Ralph Stuart's play, "Strongheart," "Should the Indian marry the girl?" the Chicago Post during Mr. Stuart's return engagement there offered a prize of one hundred dollars for the best essay in argument for or against the Indian marrying Dorothy Nelson, a white girl, and out of the five thousand answers received, more than eighty-five per cent agreed with the author's ending of the play, namely, namely, that the son o tan Indian chief should not marry outside of his own race. This is the play which comes to the Grand Opera House Tuesday, May 26th, and which in all probability will prove the big theatrical event of the season.

EXCELLENT ADDRESSES GIVEN AT JOINT MEETING OF TEACHERS

Electricity Dealt With in Interesting Manner by Mr. C Fessenden---Principal Falconer Urges Teachers to Higher Appreciation of Pupils and to Self Improvement.

There was a very interesting joint meeting of the City and County teachers in the Y.M.C.A. Hall yesterday afternoon. The hall was filled and those present enjoyed thoroughly the good things provided. First there was a scholarly and interesting address by Principal Fessenden. Then President Falconer, of Toronto University, gave a short but eloquent address, urging the teacher to higher appreciation of his pupil and to greater labor for self-improvement. Miss Duff, of Lakefield, then showed how much could be done in nature study, being followed by Mr. Richard Lees, M.A., in a short address, in which he sought to encourage the teachers to attack the work with greater energy.

Mr. C. Fessenden spoke on "The History of Electricity." He referred to the mention of electricity in the Odyssey, where amber and the Thunderbolts of Jove are linked together when Phaeton is described. Thales first mentions the phenomena of electricity, but did not attempt to classify them. But experiment and observation were not applied to the subject till much later. The development of the physical laws based on facts observed did not take place till the close of the 16th century. Dr. Gilbert should get the credit of the scientific investigation of electricty, and its name rather than Bacon, who is often credited with this honor. Gilbert observed the properties of the magnet of amber and other materials which have the peculiar properties of amber. The two following centuries were fruitful in progress. Boyle, Newton, Wall and Gray worked in this period. The last named discovered the qualities of certain conductors and non-conductors. Dr. Wall conducted thunder and lightning and electricity. In 1745 the Leyden jar was invented, Dr. Watson thought he discovered that transference of electricity was instantaneous. This afterwards was shown to be wrong, but is pardonable owing to the poor apparatus at that time available.

1747.—Dr. Franklin was sent a Leyden jar by Collinson. Results of Franklin's experiments were sent back in letters to Collinson, who read them before the Royal Society. Many of these were laughed at at first, but later, 1751, the Royal Society published a fair account of these experiments. Great honor was given to Franklin for his most able work and for the excellent results of his experimental work. In 1755 Franklin was made an honorary member of the Royal Society. Franklin proved the similarity between electricity and lightning. From this arose the first practical application of electricity in the lightning rod suggested by Franklin. Chemical results of electric currents were observed shortly after this, and many important discoveries in chemistry were the results. In 1786 one of the most important discoveries in electrical science was made by Galvini by accident when a current was brought into contact with a recently slain frog, which he was studying. At least this is the story. In this way was discovered that the effect of electricity on the frog was to cause the muscles to twitch. His own motion was that the electricity proceeded from the frog, and he called it animal magnetism. This gave rise to the name Galvanism. Volta carried on these experiments and finally developed the Volta batteries. He proved the identity of Galvanism and electricity obtained by friction. The discovery of the battery gave an immense impetus to the study of electricity.

In 1800 the decomposition of water by electricity was discovered by Nicholson, a marked advance in study of chemical effects of electricity. Sir H. Davy shortly after this showed that many other so-called elements were in reality compounds.

In 1820 Oersted discovered the connection between electricy and the magnetic needle.

Ampere discovered the principal lines of magnetic force produced by electricity. This was the result of one week's work, more important, the speaker said, than the result of the last awful week's work of the Ontario Legislature, about which we hear so much.

The connection between electricity and magnetism suggested after many years the transference of energy to some distance. In 1837 the first commercial telegraph was established in Germany. In 1848 the first submarine cable was established; the first ocean cable, unsuccessful to some extent, was established in 1858. Lord Kelvin inventedmany delicate instruments to receive messages by these cables.

Faraday discovered a means of converting mechanical energy into electrical energy in 1831.
excellent addresses 222

The discovery of motors and transformers was then referred to as being the result of Faraday's discoveries.

The telephone was referred to and passed over owing to lack of time.

Mr Fessenden then referred to some possibilities.

Seeing by electricity is a possibility as hearing by electricity is a fact.

A second possibility is the more direct transformation of coal into energy without such great loss as at present is the case.

As a conclusion to this valuable account of the history of electrical development and some of its possibilities Mr. Fessenden referred to an impossibility. While the biologist may believe that he may arrive at a solution of the mystery of existence the physicist is irresistibly led to the conclusion that that mystery will never been solved. The laws of physics point to something above and beyond man's power — to something supernatural.

PRESIDENT FALCONER'S ADDRESS

The material and ethical sides of education were referred to in opening. The president then spoke of the object upon which the teachers must expend their energies, viz.. The child, notwithstanding all the weaknesses, inconsistencies and bad habits of the children, the teacher must be congratulated upon the work he has to do. The child has certain characteristics, which must be developed at that time or not at all, and this characteristic must be developed if the race is to be improved. Life is always something beyond and we must help the child to be able to make use of the possibilities of this fuller life. The child is not merely a preparation for manhood but has certain qualities of freshness and brightness which enable him to ad brightness which enable him to advance to the better life. And the true teacher must appreciate the virtue of the child life in order to bring the child, through sympathy with the individual child, into full development.

The greatest teachers are not necessarily the greatest scholars but they must be sympathetic with the individual student and seek to develop the unique in each pupil.

The teacher will never do his best for pupils if he does not maintain his own intellectual life. The weariness of the daily grind may cause some to relax after hours of work. But the president warned the teacher not to relax too much or mental deterioration will become so great, that failure will be the result. Mental freshness is the one thing all-important to the teacher. He advised each teacher to direct his attention to one particular subject, not in a desultory way. This subject should be out of the ordinary of the day's work. Not an easy thing such as magazine reading but which calls for effort. This stirring appeal for self-improvement on the part of the teacher closed a very fine twenty minute address.

NATURE STUDY

Nature study was a subject handled by Miss Duff of Lakefield. Miss Duff pointed out the advantages the teacher entering the profession at present has over the older teachers, especially in the training they get in nature studies. This study makes it possible to remove a great deal of dullness, lassitude of pupils and enables them a—to see accurately.

b—to take delight in seeing and hearing the things of nature.

c—to express by drawing or writing.

Miss Duff emphasized the necessity of making a collection of natural objects in order to develop interest and enthusiasm as well as to serve as materials for study.

Even parents are interested in the work of pupils in this subject. Ex-pupils also send specimens for the use of the classes. This shows the effect the study has on the home. Miss Duff showed some specimens of the work done wholly by her pupils and these proved the evident interest of the pupils in the work.

Mr. Lees then followed with a few remarks on the difficulties in teaching the work.

The first difficulty in the teaching of the subject is the lack of knowledge of the work, due largely to lack of idea of how and where to get the information. The first necessity is a love of nature itself; it is not because of a lack of scientific training. Nature study is not elementary science and it is the effort to make it so that robs it of its charm.

He advocated the taking up of the work informally, not at regular periods.

The indifference of parents to nature study is another difficulty met with by the teacher. The aims of the teacher should be to a—get at the fact.

c—leave a question with the pupils.

BATTER UP! PLAY BALL!

The baseball season is now on in full swing. There is every indication the game will boom in Peterborough this year. The Review has always looked after player and fan, and rapped out many a bit of encouragement to those who follow the sport. All managers, captains, secretaries and players are requested to send in details of any games played or news of any games to come, all of which will find space in our baseball column. There is a supply of score cards at this office suitable for recording a game by innings, which are at the disposal of any team manager in the city. These cards should be filled in properly at the conclusion of the game and left at this office as soon as possible so as to insure publication in the Review without delay. Properly authenticated box scores will also be gladly received and published.

Call at the Review office and secure a supply of score cards.

C. ARMSTRONG DOES SIX MILES IN AN HOUR IN Y.M.C.A. WALK

Great Time For 15-year old Boy—Opening of the Race Yesterday Afternoon.

Peterborough's big juvenile walk alk commenced last night at the .M.C.A. tennis court track and the oungsters certainly made splendid me. The boys walked square heel d toe and showed good form as the sult of their hard and consistent aining for some time past. Quite number were in attendance and the lk lasted an hour, from 4.30 to 5.30. Referee Jim Harrison kept the boys ing square and gave every satisfacon. Sergt.-Major Brittain acted as arter. C. Armstrong, a boy of 15, in the lead, having covered an even miles in the hour. This is certainy a great performance.

The walk will be resumed this afnoon at 4.30 o'clock.

A DIET OF SIX EGGS A DAY FOR A WEEK AND A HALF

The box that George Clapp will do e mysterious act in at to-night's ut is exactly by inside measurement inches by 16 1-4 inches by 19in. is is remarkably small space for y man to get into, but Clapp, neverseless, claims he can and has been hearsing the stunt every day. It an act that is next to impossible d is a puzzler for professional ntortionists.

A LIGHT DIET.

For the past week and a half he has been living on a diet of six eggs a day, two at each meal, and has eaten no solid food. He has drank nothing but water during the time mentioned above and is down as fine as he possibly can be and has not an ounce of superfluous flesh on his body. Clapp will enter the box in ordinary clothes and come out in a short time clad in tights. The turn is certainly a mysterious one and shows the performer to have a wonderful anatomy.

Referee Conkle a Wrestler of International Repute—Knows Game Perfectly

The fact that Charlie Conkle will referee the wrestling bout between Hurtubise and Rogers should be quite an attraction in itself.

Conkle is the champion welterweight of America and has an international reputation as a mat artist.

Sometime ago there was talk of a match being made between him and Hurtubise but final arrangements in the matter were not arrived at.

Conkle has a perfect knowledge of the game and his wide experience should qualify him for the position.

THE Y TEAM WILL ELECT OFFICERS

At Meeting To night—Players for Game—Millbrook Will be Selected

At the conclusion of the Y.M.C.A. practice to-night a meeting will be held at the Y.M.C.A. when the six players to represent the "Y" team in the combined Y.M.C.A. T.A.S. aggregation which plays in Millbrook on Saturday.

The Y.M.C.A. club will also be organized and the officers elected. Every member of the club is asked to be in attendance.

THE SALE OF SEATS IS BIG

The sale of seats for the Yankee Rogers-Hurtubise bout is most encouraging and everything points to a record crowd.

The event is certainly causing unparallelled excitement in local sporting circles.

REVIEW HAD A CHAT WITH THE BIG WRESTLER, YANKEE ROGERS

The man who has been the subject of so much newspaper talk and public comment, Yankee Rogers, arrived in the city this morning, and, like all visitors, had to take a look at the Lift lock. He started over this morning and is much impressed with the big example of engineering skill.

Rogers is a man of pleasant address and chatted quietly with a Review representative concerning his bout with Hurtubise.

"You are in pretty good condition, are you not?" he was asked.

"Yes, I'm always in good shape. Keep in good condition all the time."

"What is your course of training?"

"Mostly punching the bag, running, walking and wrestling. I do a lot of wrestling with myself. That is a good plan for getting into trim."

"What do you think about to-night's bout?"

"Well, they say Hurtubise is a good man. I am going on to do my best and will take no chances with him."

Referring to speed among heavyweights, Rogers said he was of the opinion that he, himself, was as speedy as any of them, with the exception of Frank Gotch, whom he regards as being phenomenally fast.

The big grappler is a very large man with hands that look powerful enough to crush the ordinary individual. He is good-natured, and agreeable, however and converses in a gentlemanly way, using his strength and skill where he should—on the wrestling mat.

TO-NIGHT'S PROGRAM

ORCHESTRA

Wrestling—Featherweight championship of Peterborough.—Best two in three falls for gold medal. Bobby Long versus A. C. Yokome.

George Clapp of Toronto in his mysterious box act.

Boxing—Corney Burns, Peterborough; versus Buddy Ryan, Toronto.

Wrestling—Yankee Rogers of Buffalo; versus "Gene" Hurtubise, Peterborough. For purse of $200. Winner to take all.

First bout at 8.15 sharp.

PORT HOPE COMING WITH GREAT TEAM ON MONDAY

The Port Hope Guide says:

The locals are practising each evening at the town square, and from present appearances we are going to have a speedy nine. The three Londonites, Jeffery and the Wilson Brothers, are showing up in good form. Jeffery will do the receiving and his work in practice has been of the gilt edge variety.

A message was received from Jimmy O'Hearn this morning and all the fans will be glad to learn that he will don a Port Hope uniform this summer. Manager O'Brien has his line-up now completed and all ready for Monday.

The team on Monday will be as follows—Surphlis p; Jeffery c; W. Wilson 1b; O'Hearn 2b; O'Tolle 3b; O'Brien ss. For the outfield there are four candidates, J. Wilson, Bowden, Walters and Adams, and the selection will be made after Saturday's practice.

Jack Wilson is quite a slab artist as well as a snappy infielder, and will relieve Surphlis in some of the strenuous battles of the season.

The first lot of certificates of the Midland League arrived this morning and they bear the signature of ten players on Manager Johnston's line-up, as follows.

H. A. Cheatham; D. Lawson, W. McDermott, Edward Maddocks, Corney Burns, J. C. Murphy, Jerry Edmunds, Francis O'Brien, Fred Clements, W. Thorne.

BIG DOINGS IN BASEBALL TO-MORROW AFTERNOON

There will be big doings in the base ball line tomorrow. The Athletics and Peterboroughs meet in an exhibition game at Riverside Park and the spirit of rivalry between the two nines is increasing every hour and they will both go on the diamond determined to win. Arrangements have been completed for the parade and opening ceremonies. The parade which will be made up of the two teams and leading citizens in hacks, will be headed by the 57th regimental band. It will start from the market square at two o'clock and the principal streets will be traversed, before proceeding to Riverside Park. The first ball will be pitched by His Worship Mayor Rush, Ald. Bradburn will be at bat and Ald. Phelan will do the receiving. The band will be in attendance during the afternoon and will play before the game starts. The diamond is in fine shape. Benches have been erected and everything is being done to provide for the comfort of the spectators. The teams will line-up as follows;

PAT McDONOUGH WITH TORONTOS

Brought From Fort William to Play With Jimmy Murray's Team

Pat McDonough, who was very much in evidence last year, has signed with the Torontos and turned out to practice last night, along with Powers, the Elora boy. Both men showed up strongly, and look billed for the regulars. Pat, it will be remembered, was given more press notice than any other player last season, as being heralded a wonder. Evidently Jimmy Murphy thinks he is the goods, as he was brought here from Fort William.

THE RING

GANS WILL BOX NELSON

San Francisco May 21.—Joe Gans and Battling Nelson last night signed articles for a 45 round battle to take place in this city on the afternoon of July 4th. Selig, representing Gans, insisted upon the referee breaking the men, but to this Willie Britt, on behalf of Nelson, refused. Gans demanded a guarantee which promoter Coffroth refused. Then Selig asked for sixty per cent, win, lose or draw, and finally the division of sixty and forty was agreed as a winners and losers end.

CITY LEAGUE WILL OPEN TO-MORROW

Two Games Will be Played at the Driving Park

Through the kindness of the Peterborough Turf Club, the Intermediate City Baseball League will have the use of the Driving Park for to-morrow's games. Two matches will be played. The Wellingtons will meet the Strathconas at 2 o'clock and the Lakeviews and T. A. S. nine will meet at four o'clock. Both games should be gingery, as the teams have had plenty of practice and are eager for the fray. The secretaries of the four teams interested are requested to meet the secretary at the Examiner office to-night at eight o'clock to arrange for an umpire.

PRACTICE OF T.A.S. LACROSSE TEAM

The following members of the T.A.S. lacrosse team are requested to turn out to practise to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock at the King Edward school field—

T. Tucker, J. Devlin, J. Judd, K. Overend, W. Donovan, H. Donovan, James McNichol, John McNichol, E. Saunders, H. Long, T. Daly, A. Dore and any others.

COMPOSITE REGIMENT WILL GO INTO CAMP IN JUNE

Peterborough Regiment Has Been Asked to Send Four Companies—Col. Miller Will Command the Corps.

A composite regiment composed of companies from the 57th Regiment Peterborough Rangers, 15th Regiment Argyle Light Infantry, and 14th regiment Kingston, will go into camp at Barriefield, Kingston, in June, for four or six days training.

Orders to this effect have been issued from headquarters, but it has not yet been decided whether the composite regiment will train for four or six days. Lieut.-Col. Miller will be in command of the regiment and it is not improbable that several other officers of the 57th regiment will be on the staff.

Peterborough has been asked to furnish four companies if possible, but it is not yet known whether this number can be sent. Two companies were sent last year and the same number in 1906. A portion of the bugle band will also be taken along. The date on which the regiment will go into camp has not been given out.

MR. BRADBURN HOLDS LARGE MEETING AT YOUNG'S POINT

Head's hall was filled on Thursday evening with electors who had assembled to meet Mr. Bradburn and to hear an exposition of the Whitney policy for the next four years. Mr. Davis occupied the chair.

Mr. Bradburn expressed his gratitude to the electors of Young's Point for their handsome treatment of him at the last election. He knew he did not deserve it but he had done his best and if re-elected he would still work hard to do all he could for the riding and in the general interests of the community at large. Whichever way it went the present ballot made them free. Not only was it secret but there was a penalty of $200.00 and a year's imprisonment awaiting anyone who intimated that the ballot was not secret. This had been done to protect the unlearned from unscrupulous agents. The election law was exceedingly strict. The general policy of the Government may be judged by its extraordinary ability. It had turned huge yearly deficits into surpluses, not by a new system of book-keeping or large timber sales, but by securing an increased Dominion Subsidy, a better collection of succession duties on properly valued estates, increased license fees, etc. The revenue from these sources, notwithstanding the fact that all sales of timber, etc. had been eliminated from revenue account and put in their proper place, has so increased that it was more than double that of four years ago. It enabled the Government to more than double grants to municipalities, have a handsome surplus and pay off $671,000 from the immense debt left by Mr. Ross. Sales on Capital Account had been transformed into another form of capital account, viz.: Permanent roads, buildings, money grants for permanent improvements, etc. All this would be duplicated in the next four years. He found no excitement amongst the people such as there was four years ago, and commercial travellers were saying that Whitney would be overwhelmingly returned, even on his power policy alone. (Applause). Mr. Burnham reviewed the past policy of the Government in detail. He called attention to the fact that the $2,800,000 cash in the bank to the credit of the Ross Government when Mr. Whitney came into power was the balance of of the $3,600,00 that had just been received from an immense timber sale, from which it will be remembered that Mr. Ryan, the auctioneer culled a commission of $16,000. This money is the present loan made by the Government on Capital Account to the T. & N. O. Railway and of course does not appear in the current revenue account as it did before. The old Governemnt left us heavily in debt, as Mr. Ross admitted. The speaker regretted that Mr. Gillespie had allowed his name to be signed to his address which denied the existence of all the items on the long list of what had been accomplished by that great statesman, Mr. J.P. Whitney. It was not fair, in fact it was not honest to give a blanket denial to plain facts. He might dispute all or deny some, but to deny all was attempting too much. He was sure Mr. Gillespie could not be responsible for it.

Mr. Kendrey delivered a forcible and eloquent address upon law enforcement, the O. W. R. and Government pledges. He had a perfect right as an unpaid officer to clear the License Board of insinuations made against it just as the chairman of the School Board or any other unpaid officer had. Paid officers might be supposed to fight for their salaries, but if anybody wanted his salary as commissioner, he might have it. It was represented by a big round zero. The first three licenses cut off by the present board were Conservatives. Was that partizan? He thought not. Hotel keepers were now made to keep hotel, and not merely bars. There were no more dark rooms. They had been ordered to be lighted. Bathrooms were now in every hotel. No one would for a moment deny that, as the Globe said of Toronto when Mr. Stratton was at the helm, the license law in Peterborough, under the Ross Government was a farce. Liquor was not sold now at all hours. Favorites no longer had right of way over the law, the Government and the people generally. He could prove, also, that hotelkeepers used to be threatened if they did not vote right and they were told that their ballots could be looked at and to watch out. The proof of the difference in enforcement lay in what had been done. He would take a day off and show the people what had been done by the Board of Commissioners immediately on taking office to improve the unwholesome nests allowed and fostered by the former local member. The former condition of affairs was simply scandalous. It was far worse even than people supposed. He warned the people to keep an eye on the money sharks—men who also made money out of money only, for they were all against Mr. Whitney.

The meeting closed with cheers.

MR. THOMPSON'S MEETING AT GRADY'S SCHOOL HOUSE

On Wednesday evening a meeting in the interests of Mr. James Thompson, the Conservative candidate in East Peterborough, was held in Grady's school house in Otonabee, near Indian River station. Every seat was taken and a number of ladies were present. Close attention was given to all the speakers.

Mr. David Armstrong very acceptably performed the duties of chairman and with him upon the platform besides the candidate, Mr. Thompson, were Mr. O. A. Langley, of Lakefield, and Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, the Conservative candidate for the Commons.

Mr. Langley was first called upon. He effectively disposed of the charge that the spoils system had been inaugurated and showed that the facts did not warrant any such charge.

Mr. Thompson was heartily cheered upon rising to speak. He thanked all for turning out in such large numbers, with a rainstorm threatening, and particularly the ladies, who, if they had not a vote, did at least have a great influence. While the leader of the Opposition and speakers for the Opposition were attempting to criticise the Government in some particulars, he failed to find in their speeches or in the Liberal press any platform set out upon which the support of the electors was claimed, and their criticisms were not made on the floor of the House, where they could be met and argued by the representatives of the people, but afterwards upon the stump, and instanced particularly the criticism being made of the C.N.O. guarantee of bonds. Mr. MacKay had not objected to this on the floor of the House, had moved no amendment and the speaker compared his attitude with that of the councillor sitting at a municipal council meeting, who sat and allowed a by-law to pass without opening his mouth and then going out to the voters and asking them to vote for him for reeve for the next year, because that by-law shouldn't have passed and he was against it. Would the voters support such a man upon such grounds?

The mortgage for the first guarantee did not cover terminals as any one who had the statutes could see.

Mr. Thompson also dealt with the mining laws, with the largely increased revenue and the expenditure for the benefit of the people in increased grants for education, roads, etc., and showed that while the expenditure was greater it went to the people, and that while before the change in government we had annual deficits now every year we had a surplus. Mr. Thompson also dealt effectively with the La Rose grant, showing that the whole dispute between the La Rose people and O'Brien was handled in a businesslike way by the administration and large profits to the province were resulting and would in the future result from it.

Mr. J. A. Sexsmith said that it was particularly pleasing to him to note that the Hon. Mr. Whitney was not going about the country stating that Opposition members were not as capable men as Government members. What a much higher plane the discussion of public questions took under Mr. Whitney. How well his Government had demonstrated their capabilities.

At the conclusion of Mr. Sexsmith's address, Mr. Thompson again spoke and answered several questions, and a fine meeting was closed with singing and cheers for the King and Mr. Thompson.

SHOWED SPIRIT OF SACRIFICE

Business Men Gave up Personal Ends to Help Y.M.C.A.

In connection with YMCA campaign which has just closed it must be remembered that the success was largely due to the personal work done. The support of the Y.M.C.A. is purely voluntary and it is gratifying to note that busy business men, like Mr. Oressman, Mr. Shook, Mr. Roger, Mr. Turner, Mr. Conway, Mr. Best and many others, who realize that the Y.M.C.A. is a great benefit to, and has an uplifting effect on the moral life of the community, were willing to sacrifice personal ends to assist in the work. They with many others practically gave up their business for three days to help the Y.M.C.A. and the greatest credit is due them.

ARE FIGURING ON TWO TRIPS

45th Regiment Hopes to go to Quebec

The Lindsay Warder says:—It is quite possible that the 45th Regt. will go to Quebec as well as to Kingston this year. The officers of the regiment hope to take the 45th down to Quebec, especially if the regiment makes as good a showing at Kingston as it did last year. The only fly in the ointment is that there will be no pay for the government have decided to send the different regiments to the usual camps and of course the money which the generous (?) Liberal regular pay there will exhaust the Government have set aside for the yearly expenditure on the Canadian Militia.

COUNTY TEACHERS IN CONVENTION

Morning's Session Was of Unusual Interest---Good Papers

The morning session of the County Association opened with an address by the President, Mr. Lees, who took up such topics as the qualifications necessary to entitle teachers to vote for members of the Advisory Council, the establishment of school libraries and the redistribution of school grants. At present the government makes a grant of forty percent of a teacher's salary above $300 and those teaching in the southern part of the county and on all over $150 in the northern part.

The questions of uniform promotions was also taken up. It is not the intention of the inspectors to make these cast-iron. They should only assist the teacher in his work. The pupil's record during the year is a very important factor in promotion.

At the conclusion of the address there was a short discussion by different members of the Association. This was followed by two papers on Geography, the first on Primary Work, by Miss McGregor; the second by Mr. M. Graham on work of a more advanced character.

The report of the committtee appointed to take into consideration the formation of a Branch Teachers' Alliance was received, but no action was taken.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The report of the Nominating Committee was next read, the following officers having been appointed for the coming year:—

President—Mr. Frappy.
Vice-President—R. Lees M.A.
Sec.-Treas.—Miss M. Kirkpatrick.
Executive Committee—Miss Carter, Miss McGregor and Mr. Hamilton.

An excellent paper on Reading, with appropriate selections, was read by Miss Kenneally, of Lakefield, and was well received by all present. The teachers could not but derive abundant and far-reaching benefit from the manner, address and elocution of the speaker.

It was shown by frequent examples that reading is the basis upon which all knowledge has been founded; that it should be a vital factor in the development of youth and that so long as it remains a lifeless repetition of mere words it cannot rise from its present debased condition. There are so few men, even the most enlightened, who know how to read well—a gift always so agreeable and so often necessary.

Very much depends upon the enthusiasm of the teacher. We must throw ourselves into the lives of those about us, raising them by raising with them. There cannot be too much preparation on the part of the teacher for each and every reading lesson. Pattern reading by him should form a recognized and systematic part of all recitations, conscious, daily increasing regard to the elements to time, pitch, quality and force, should be shown forth in spirited practice. The cultivation of the voice by breathing exercises should begin at the first. In our race after principles of education we have forgotten that culture, as well as knowledge, must supplement nature. A voice of dignity and elegance will attract to purity and truth to virture and religion.

Miss Kenneally closed her address by reciting several selections in a manner which gave abundant evidence that she thoroughly understood the study of voice culture and elocution.

TORONTO STONY LAKE COTTAGERS

The Stony Lake cottagers of Toronto passed through the city to-day at noon on their way to the lakes where they will spend a few days opening up their cottages and getting them ready for the summer. The first train to Lakefield this morning carried a large number of cottagers but, on the noon train which came in from Port Hope, there was a special car of cottagers. At Lakefield they took the steamer "Stoney Lake" for their several cottages.

AN INTERESTING EVENT

Tomorrow the plan opens for the coming production of "Esther," in which great interest is being taken. The promise of a very fine production is made by the practices which show that the general performers are acquiring confidence and familiarity with the work of the cantata. The event will be enjoyable, not only from the merit of the cantata, but from the local corps engaged in its production. The plan is at McDermid & Jury's. The prices, 25c and 35c.

UNDERGROUNDING WIRES IN LINDSAY

The work in connection with putting in the underground conduits of the local branch of the Bell Telephone Company has been completed. The work has been rapidly and very successfully carried out and reflects credit on Mr. D. W. Leach, who superintended the job. Much favorable comment has been heard regarding the manner in which the streets have been left. The wiring has not been completed but will in the course of a few days. It will be probably a few months yet, however, before the new office will be in use—Lindsay Post.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS, 1908

To the Electors of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—As you are aware I have received the unanimous nomination in the Liberal interests to contest the Riding of West Peterborough for its representation in the Legislature of Ontario. I beg to respectfully solicit the votes and support of all those who desire good economical and efficient administration of our affairs. I am not bound down by any straight and fast lines, but will, if chosen as your representative, take the course which, in my best judgment will best promote the interests of West Peterborough, irrespective of party, considerations, and of the Province generally.

The test of good representation, either by a Government or member, is good work and, in this respect, both the late member for West Peterborough and the Government he supports have fallen short of a faithful discharge of their trust and regard for the pledges upon which was founded the policy upon which they appealed to the people. Both the Conservative leader and Mr. Bradburn appealed for a cessation of the extravagant expenditure, which they condemned in the late Government. The result has been an increase of expenditure in three or four short years of sixty per cent., not a productive expenditure for the benefit of the people, but in the mere work of administration.

In this address I cannot enter into details of the manner in which the present Government has failed to live up to the policy upon which it appealed for office, but there has been a general disregard of the principles which they claimed to be guided by. They have failed in their trust and they evidently feel that they have done so, for fearing to trust to their record, they have resorted to a "gerrymander" of the constituencies, inconsistent with fair redistribution and especial unfairness has been done in the city of Toronto by doubling its representation and giving each elector two votes, thus giving the city voter double the power in the government of the province accorded to electors in the country constituencies.

The interests of the farmers have been ignored to the extent that the expenditure for agriculture has been increased only some eight per cent, while the general increase to less worthy interests has been sixty per cent.

Disregard of the rights of labour was shown by the Government reviving the contract system of prison labour abolished by a Liberal Government, and farming out to contractors Central Prison labour at 3½ cents per hour to compete against free labour.

The introduction of the "spoils system" the failure to remove license administration from the sphere of political influence, the three-fifths handicap to local option, the invasion of the rights of rural trustees by depriving them of the right of saying how they shall spend their own money, the friendliness to corporation interests, the disregad of private rights and discouragement of private enterprise in the matter of mining claims, neglect of law reforms with a view of making our law courts available for securing justice within the means of a poor man, and the delay and inaction in the matter of dealing with the power problem are but items in a long list of matters in which the present Government have forfeited their claim to the support of the people.

If elected I shall devote my best efforts to the advancement of the interests of the city in every direction and shall not overlook its most important interests, the allied welfare of our workingmen and our manufacturing industries; and will also do all in my power to advance the great farming and dairying interests which are the foundation of our prosperity, giving fair play at the same time to every provincial interest and to political friend and political opponent alike.

Trusting that I may be favored with your support and influence and vote, I remain, Gentlemen,

Very sincerely yours,

G. A. GILLESPIE

REMOVED SOD FROM STREETS

Two Citizens Had to Pay Costs in Court To-day for the Offence

Jas Barnard and Wm. Stewart were charged with removing sods off the city streets at the police court this morning. They both pleaded guilty. Mr. Barnard said that he removed some from in front of his lot but as soon as he learned he was breaking the law he put them back again. Mr. Stewart also stated that he would put back the sods that he took. His Worship ordered that they pay the costs amounting in Mr. Bernard's case to $3.40 and in Mr. Stewart's $4.10.

GIVEN ONE MONTH

John Doyle was given one month in gaol at the police court this morning on a charge of vagrancy. He is without home money, or friends.

57TH BAND TO VISIT HASTINGS

Has Been Engaged to Play There on July 1st.

The famous 57th Regiment Band, of Peterborough, has been engaged by the fire brigade for their monster celebration on July 1st. The boys are sparing no expense and having nothing but the best for that day. The band will give a programme during the afternoon while the baseball and football games and sports are being run off. This one attraction alone will be worth the price of admission to the grounds, but to tis will be added two first-class ball games and a list of sports that will be well worth going miles to see. Make your dates for Hastings on Dominion Day.—Hastings Star.

OPENING BRANCH AT HASTINGS

The Richmond Studio of Peterborough is opening a branch in Hastings in charge of Mr. J G. Richmond. The studio will be open on Tuesdays and Saturdays commencing Tuesday, May 12th. The studio is being furnished with the most up-to-date back grounds and accessories. — Hasting Star.

WILL ALL CITY CORPS HAVE TRIP?

Local Military Man Says That They Will all be Invited to Quebec

A local military man stated to-day that all the city regiments will be asked to go to Quebec for the Tercentenary celebration.

"Just watch if I am not right," he said, "all the city corps will be invited and some of the best of the rural battalions."

WHO WILL BE THE NEW CHIEF?

Committee Has Made no Recommendation---Some Favor a Local Man

The Fire, Water and Light Committee made no recommendation regarding a chief for the fire brigade at the meeting last night. It was decided to ask one of the Toronto applicants to come to Peterborough to meet the committee and nothing will be done in the meantime.

It is understood that some members of the committee would like to see a local man get the job if a competent one can be secured. They argue that a local man would have a better knowledge of the city and therefore would give the best service.

OLD COINS UNEARTHED BY WORKMEN ON KING STREET

One Cent Pieces of Nearly One Hundred Years Ago Found Yesterday by Mr. John Weatherhead While Digging Gas Main---Coins in Good State of Preservation.

While digging the gas main on King St., at the corner of Bethune St., Robt. Weatherhead unearthed two coins nearly a century old. Mr. Weatherhead was excavating and not expecting to come across any coins, when his shovel struck something harder than earth. He had dug down about eight feet, when the coins were discovered. They are one cent pieces, one being marked 1812 and the other 1820. The figures are quite distinctly shown. On one side is the representation of justice holding out a pair of scales. The other coin is so badly defaced that only the year of its make is discernible. They are evidently foreign coins.

How they came there, of course not known, but it is thought that they were buried there many years ago.

Another very old one was found by Mr. Quinlan, also a workman on the gas main.

FLOWER THIEVES CAUSE ANNOYANCE IN THE CITY

The flower thieves are at work again. There have been several complaints about stealing from the flower beds in the parks and information came to hand today that private grounds are being despoiled. Last night some person or persons made a clean-up of a tulip bed at the residence of Mr. Jas. Edgar, corner of Park and Weller streets. The tulips had just opened a few days ago, and made a beautiful display. This morning they were all gone, the thieves having made a complete sweep. This kind of thieving is most annoying and it is unnecessary to add that Mr. Edgar was deeply chagrined when he looked at the flower beds today. It is understood that the vandals left a clue which may lead to their identity and if the guilty ones are apprehended they will be severely prosecuted.

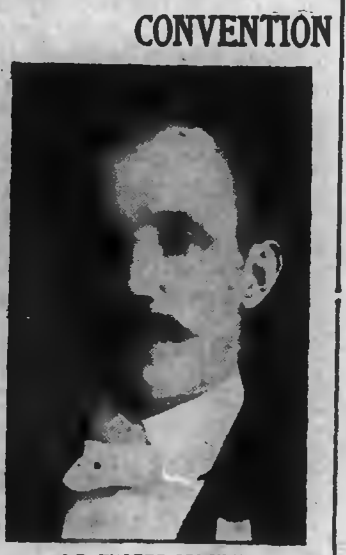
BILL POSTERS CONVENTION



MR. WALTER STOCKER.
Ex-President of the Canadian Bill Posters Association.

HOW TRAVELLER LOST HIS LIFE

Some More Details of the Fire at Tillsonburg.

Toronto, May 23.—The family of the late C. A. Bernard, who met death in the Tillsonburg hotel fire, have learned that Mr. Bernard, whose room was on the top floor, had been awakened and had dressed himself entirely with the exception of his collar and tie. He also had time to pack his valise. On the way down the proprietor called out, "Barney, the stairs at the back are clear." Mr. Bernard was almost there when he saw two women rushing the other way through the dense smoke. To save them he followed. The women were making their way to a balcony which was reached through swinging doors. "As soon as the three were seen by the firemen they shouted, "Wait a minute and we'll have a ladder." Almost at the same moment there was a rush of flame from behind which forced the heavy doors open, and the three people were knocked forward and down to the pavement below. It is alleged that the fire protection appliances at the hotel were very inadequate.

BISHOP McEVAY SUCCEEDS ARCHBISHOP OF TORONTO

Latter Retires on Account of Ill-Health—Will Probably Retire to a Monastery—The New Prelate a Native of Lindsay—Has Great Executive Ability.

Toronto, May 23.—Official announcement of the appointment of Rev. Dr. McEvay, R. C. Bishop of London, as Archbishop of Toronto has been made. The announcement was not unexpected, as it was understood some weeks ago that Archbishop O'Connor had sent his resignation to His Holiness the Pope and that Bishop McEvay would succeed him. Archbishop O'Connor has been in poor health for some time and it is believed that he will retire to the seclusion of a monastery.

Bishop McEvay was born at Lindsay in 1854 and was educated at St. Michael's College and the University of Toronto, afterwards studying theology at the Grand Seminary at Montreal. At Trenton in 1882 he was ordained to the priesthood by the late Archbishop Cleary and entered upon his first charge at Kingston, but on the diocese of Peterboro being created he was transferred there, assuming charge of the missions of Fenelon Falls, Bobcaygeon and Galway. In 1887 he was appointed rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, Montreal.

Bishop McEvay has earned a reputation for executive ability.

Later he was Episcopal secretary and afterwards rector of the cathedral at Hamilton, and subsequently private chamberlain to His Holiness Pope Leo XIII., and domestic prelate and vicar-general of the diocese.

United Canada, the Catholic organ, says:

"The propaganda at Rome seems to have decided upon retiring several aged Canadian archbishops. In addition to Archbishop O'Connor of Toronto, this paper is informed that three other Ontario bishops will soon retire, including the chief pastors of Hamilton, Peterboro, Kingston and probably Ottawa."

BILL POSTERS TO ASSEMBLE HERE MONDAY AND TUESDAY

Delegates Will be Present From all Over the Dominion—Sessions Will be Held at City Council Chamber.

The annual convention of the Canadian Bill Posters Association will be held in Peterborough on Monday and Tuesday. Mr. Walter Stocker is looking after the local arrangements and it is expected that there will be a large number of delegates in attendance. Representative members from all over the Dominion will be in attendance and they will be given a hearty welcome to the Lift Lock City. The different sessions will be held in the Council Chamber and on Monday evening a banquet will be held at the Oriental hotel. The programme for the convention is as follows;

May 25th, 9.00 am.—The preliminary directors' meeting will be held in the Oriental hotel.

10.00 am.—General sight seeing of the city. The celebrated lift lock of the Trent canal —the largest of the Trent Valley Canal —the largest of its kind in the world. The gigantic mill of Quaker Oats, Works of the Canadian General Electric. The magnificent residence of Senator Cox, are points of considerable interest.

2.00 pm.—Official welcome to members and their friends by the Mayor of Peterborough and Ex-president Stocker.

Roll call of members, reading minutes of last meeting. President's, Secretary-treasurer's annual reports. Reports of Committees. The hearing of complaints of members or advertisers. Petitions for membership, and readjustment of rates. New business and the good of the Association. Election of officers

7.00 pm.—Members and prominent advertisers will be the guests of official solicitors for the evening. At the dinner there will be songs of gladness and words of wisdom, and a regular night of profitable enjoyment but no dress suits.

May 26th, 9.00 am.—The adjourned meeting will be re-convened and unfinished business dealt with in the order of programme.

During the convention a practical demonstration as to the best and most economical plans for the building of steel and other billboards will be made. Ex-president Stocker is supplying the material and a board will be erected on the spot. As the most experienced bill posters of the country will exchange ideas, all will profit and no doubt, receive valuable information that will enable us to keep plants in better shape and to effect a saving in daily business.

A prize will be offered to the bill poster who posts the most attractive stand. Posters and blanks will be furnished and the bill poster will have carte blanche in arranging his posters for the best effect and advertising value.

LADY HAS BEEN CALLED TO BAR

Miss Grace Hewson the Third Lady Admitted

Toronto, May 23.—Miss Grace Hewson of Barrie was sworn in as barrister-at-law by Mr. Justice Clute yesterday. The somewhat unusual ceremony was witnessed by quite a large number of interested spectators, among whom were a number of ladies.

Miss Hewson is the third lady to be called to the bar, Miss Clara Brett Martin of Toronto, and Miss Robinson of St. Thomas being the other two.

Warning Was Fatal.

Schenectady, N. Y., May 23.—Calvin Milbanks, an expert mechanic, accidentally came in contact with a switch in the testing department of the General Electric Co. and received a shock of over 13,000 volts. He died in a few minutes. He had been employed by the company fifteen years. As he passed the switchboard a fellow employe warned him of danger. Stepping closed to hear what the fellow was saying he received the fatal shock. Milbank was forty years old, and has a wife and four children.

Train Crew Suspended.

St. John, N. B., May 23.—All the members of the Intercolonial train crew of the special which collided with a Derby branch train, killing Brakeman Lambkie and injuring Conductor Vye, have been suspended for three months as a result of the investigation.

Delightful Weather at Cobalt.

Cobalt, May 23.—Delightful weather prevails in camp, and the woods are being rapidly filled with prospectors.

The lakes and rivers of the north are all open and the capacity of every steamboat is overtaxed taking prospectors into the various camps.

Type Officers Re-Elected.

Indianapolis, May 23.—Officials at headquarters of the International Typographical Union announce that enough votes of local unions have already been received to assure the re-election of the president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer. Official counting of the votes wil begin June 1.

Banker's Arm Fractured.

Goderich, May 23.—R. S. Williams, manager of the Bank of Commerce, had his arm broken and sustained some bruises by being thrown out of a buggy while descending the Maitland river hill.

THE ROSS RIFLE IS STILL THE CENTRE OF ATTRACTION

Col. Hughes and G. W. Fowler Have a Wordy Battle—Acrimonious Debate in the Commons—Col. Hughes Attributes Motives to Col. Worthington—Anti-Tobacco Legislation Introduced—Post Office Supplies Voted.

Ottawa, May 23.—This was an afternoon of Sam Hughes and Geo. W. Fowler. The former warmly attacked his colleague, Col. Worthington, while Mr. Fowler dressed down Col. Hughes. The Government side watched the civil war with evident enjoyment.

It was all over the Ross rifle, of which Col. Hughes is an ardent defender.

He began by saying that it had been stated in some quarters that the reason the Militia Department had been immune from criticism was because the leader of the Opposition was of the same name and family as the Minister, and this the colonel hastened to disprove.

"When the Conservatives went into opposition Sir Charles Tupper asked me to take charge of the militia affairs of the country, and when Mr. Borden succeeded to the leadership of the party he renewed that confidence, and his request has invariably been to probe to the bottom any expenditures of this Department," declared the colonel. He accepted the chairmanship of the Militia committee of the Opposition on the understanding that this Department should be removed, as far as possible, from the arena of politics. He hoped he might induce his leader to see the error of his way in allowing this matter to be thrown into politics. He thought he could make Col. Worthington "smile on the other side of his face," and he would challenge him to show that in the United States any politician would be base enough to make party capital out of a question of arming the militia.

After further remarks of a personal nature regarding himself, he dealt with Col. Worthington's motive.

Did he, asked Col. Hughes, demand that the Minister of Militia appoint him chief medical officer of the Dominion?"

"No," replied Col. Worthington.

"He admitted it to me in the presence of Dr. Daniel," said Col. Hughes.

The Ross rifle was not to be condemned for minor defects. The United States army rifle, conceded to be the best in the world, was changed from time to time because of defects, yet no one in that country had attempted to make political capital out of this. The report of the United States ordnance department on the Ross rifle was quite as satisfactory as the report on their own rifle, and if they had not adopted a rifle two years before, he believed they would have accepted the Ross.

G. W. Fowler characterized ninety-nine per cent. of Col. Hughes' speech as fiction, and criticised his remarks at length.

Sir Frederick Borden and Hon. R. L. Borden also spoke, after which Col. Worthington's amendment was lost by 18 to 36.

Hon. Mr. Aylesworth introduced his bill "to restrain the use of tobacco by young persons."

He explained that it was an attempt to meet a call that had been heard for legislation, but he could not pretend to hope to satisfy those who desired prohibition of the sale or manufacture of tobacco in a form supposed to be particularly deleterious.

It was proposed to make it an offence to furnish or sell to any person under 16 years of age tobacco in any form for consumption, and a penalty of $1 for second offence and $4 for third offence may be imposed.

Any police constable will be authorized to seize upon and summarily forfeit tobacco found on any girl or boy under 16 years of age.

He said prohibitory legislation was on the statute books of some of the provinces, but there was room for doubt that this legislation was ultra vires.

Mr. Armstrong read a despatch that contractors' supplies for the G. T. P, were being shipped by the port of Seattle to the loss of Canadian ports.

Hon. Mr. Graham regretfully admitted that Seattle had grown rich owing to the fact that "our friends opposite" assisted in killing a project to construct a railway to the Yukon.

The House adjourned at 1 a. m., after passing $5,447,000 of postoffice estimates.

A conference had been arranged for Saturday between Sir Wilfrid Laurier and R. L. Borden to discuss the Aylesworth bill. This conference was first called for Thursday, but had to be postponed by the Premier owing to objection by some of his supporters from the Northwest.

The Senate has adjourned till June 20.

With reference to charges respecting dredging at Matchedash Bay, J. W. Gendron denies in toto many of the statements made to the committee by Coghill of Toronto, who had said that he (Gendron) was manager of a dredge at Matchedash Bay and a Government inspector at the same time. Gendron said he had nothing to do with the management or control of the crew. When a man was required he would help the engineer to get one.

Matthew Porter, who was a cranesman on the dredge, corroborated Gendron. He said that, in his opinion, Coghill had perjured himself when he had said that he was frequently on the dredge on which Gendron was the inspector.

Two Bylaws Only.

Toronto, May 23.—The only bylaws to be submitted to the ratepayers on June 27 will be those to provide $750,000 for water filtration and $2,400,000 for sewage disposal.

Nevada's Governor Dead.

Reno, Nev., May 23.—Governor John Sparks of Nevada, who has been ill for some time, died yesterday.

WAS ARRESTED AT STRATHROY

Man About Whom Peterborough Police Were Notified is Thought to be in the Toils

Strathroy, Ont., May 23.—A man answering the description of Charles Brewnan, who is wanted at Urbania, Ohio, for murdering his brother on April 16 last, was arrested here.

When arrested, the prisoner, who claimed to be Edward Hart of Port Huron, was armed and offered no resistance and informed the chief that he knew why he was arrested, having seen an account of the murder in the papers.

The chief states that he was undoubtedly the man wanted, although he said, as in the case of Moir, it is possible to arrest a man on suspicion bearing strong resemblances to a much-wanted murderer, and yet be mistaken. The authorities at Urbania were at once communicated with. An officer will arrive to identify the prisoner.

HAVE THRILLING EXPERIENCES

Crusaders in Pittsburg Have an Exciting Time

Pittsburg, Pa., May 23.—Woman crusaders of the W. C. T. U. under the protection of special police officers, who have caused considerable excitement in prominent down town cafes in the quest of stray girls, had a thrilling experience last night.

The women and officers followed a young girl and a Japanese escort from a cafe to a Fifth avenue office building. Gaining access to the office by the fire escape they arrested the girl, but the Japanese escaped to the roof. After a chase over the roof in the darkness from building to building the officers captured the foreigner. In the meantime the theatre crowds in Fifth avenue witnessed the sensational chase and almost tied up traffic.

A short time later the women entered another Fifth avenue building, and using the fire escapes again caused the arrest of two couples in a third floor office.

Twenty Peasants Hanged.

Kerson, Russia, May 23.—Twenty peasants who took part in recent agrarian disorders in the Kekaterinoslav district were hanged here after being condemned to death by a court-martial. They belonged to a peasant association, the avowed object of which was to drive out landed proprietors by the burning of their estates.

Medal For Mariner.

London, May 23.—(C. A. P.)—The committee at Lloyds have awarded John F. Welch, aged 21, a Canadian, second officer of the Bermudian, a silver medal for conspicuous gallantry in the rescue of the crew of the Mary Newhall on the Atlantic.

Bridge Collapses; Three Killed.

Detroit, Mich., May 23.—Three men were killed and seven injured yesterday afternoon by the collapse of the Howard street bridge across the Michigan Central tracks at Twelfth and Howard streets.

Henry B. Harris, Manager "The Lion and The Mouse" Co. Presents RALPH STUART in STRONGHEART, the Great College Play, Grand Opera House, Tuesday, May 26. Plan now open.

Freed of Forgery; Arrested For Theft.

New York, May 23.—Ray S. Cogswell of Rochester is held in 2,500 bail in the Police Court here on a charge of larceny. He had been arrested in Batavia on complaint of Herman Levy, a New York diamond dealer, who declared that he had delivered a diamond lorgnette and chain valued at $10,000 to young Cogswell on March 1, 1907, and that Cogswell had pawned it instead of delivering it to a jewelry firm in Rochester as arranged. Cogswell, at Batavia, was discharged on the forgery charges.

Will Deport Italian.

Montreal, May 23.—Edraro, the man who is held on a charge of sending a threatening Black Hand letter to Madame Forget, wife of Senator Forget, will most probably be dismissed without trial. Madame Forget is anxious to leave for Europe, and will not return until the fall. On this account the case against Edraro will be dismissed, and he will be deported.

Quebec Bridge Enquiry.

Ottawa, May 23.—The special committee of Parliament appointed to investigate the operation of the Quebec Bridge Co. met yesterday for organization. A. K. McLean, M. P. for Lunenburg, was elected chairman and it was decided to summon Ulric Barthe, secretary of the Quebec Bridge Co. for examination on June 2.

Explosion In Sugar Refinery.

Paris, May 23.—Two persons lost their lives and forty-two were injured as the result of an explosion in the grinding room of the Say Sugar Refinery. The refinery occupies a seven-storey building.

The force of the explosion was tremendous and blew out a portion of the wall on the Rue Debois side of the building. Windows were shattered for several blocks. Fire broke out immediately and added to the panic which followed among the 2,400 employes of the factory, many of whom are women. Most of the injured were crushed in the rush to escape from the building. It is believed that a spark from a dynamo fired and exploded an accumulation of sugar dust. The loss is placed at $150,000.

Burglar Captured.

Kamsack, Sask., May 23.—Forrester, the ex-station agent who robbed the Atikokan station a week ago, came in on a freight train yesterday and 20 minutes later was landed in a cell by the mounted police. He was armed with a revolver and a belt full of ammunition. Nearly all the money was recovered.

District Engineer Resigns.

Ottawa, May 23.—Guy C. Dunn, district engineer on the A, or New Brunswick, district of the Transcontinental, has resigned. It is said that his health has been poor for some time. It is understood that since leaving the Transcontinental he has been employed by the Grand Trunk.

THE SHIPPERS LOST HEAVILY

Large Consignments of Produce Were on the Thomson Line Steamer Latonia.

London, May 23.—The Thomson line steamer Latona, which was sunk off the Lizard in collision with the British steamer Japanic, carried 18,000 boxes of cheese from C. W. Riley & Co. of Ingersoll and T. Ballantyne & Son of Stratford; also cheese in crock from the Maclaren Imperial Cheese Co.

The Davies Packing Co. had a large consignment of meat, as did also the Matthews Co. of Brantford and Peterboro, the Ingersoll Packing Co., the Whyte Packing Co. of Stratford, the Canadian Packing Co. of London and the Fearman Co. of Hamilton.

The Canadian canners lost a large shipment of canned goods.

TORONTO'S PROBLEM COMES BEFORE THE COMMISSION

Viaduct or Bridges—Qnestion of Jurisdiction of Commission to Deal With the Problem—Valuable Evidence in Behalf of City's Contention.

Toronto, May 23.—The consideration of the viaduct or bridge question before the Canadian Railway Commission stands adjourned until June 4, when the first order of business will be argument as to the jurisdiction of the board to deal with the problem. "Had I been originating instead of just continuing this enquiry," said Chairman Mabee, "I should have settled the question of jurisdiction before going on with this expensive enquiry." The chairman also suggested that a definite application should be submitted to the board, as at present the matter arose only in connection with the application of the railways for the approval of the Union Station plans.

Valuable evidence on behalf of the city's suggested scheme for a viaduct was given by Isham Randolph of Chicago, an eminent authority on railway construction and track elevation. The proposed erection of the viaduct on a foundation of piling was, he said, unquestionably stable and safe, while the whole plan was absolutely feasible and workable.

The cost of the viaduct scheme, prepared by Mr. Tye, and confirmed by Mr. Randolph, is $2,577,069.

Of this amount, $4,356 will be paid in remuneration to deputy returning officers, poll clerks and constables. The remaining $2,376 is for rental of polling booths, the amount for none of which must exceed $6.

International Peace Conference.

Lake Mohonk, N. Y., May 23.—Gratefully recognising the development of the forces which make for international peace, the Lake Mohonk conference on international peace adopted a platform setting forth its views on the peace movement. The platform commends the work of The Hague conference, notes the existence of fifty or more international arbitration treaties concluded within the last five years, commends the activity of educational institutions and business, professional and labor organisations toward the prevention of war and rejoices in the final act of The Hague conference for a future meeting. The principal address of the early session was delivered by Baron Korogo Takahira, Japanese ambassador to the United States.

New Flying Machine.

Elmira, N.Y., May 24.—The "Helicopter," an entirely new kind of flying machine, built like a revolving fan, with long wide inclined planes propelled by a motor at the foot of a mast, was tested sufficiently to prove the principle a success. Loaded down with ballast equal to the weight of a man it rose eighteen inches from its resting place. With increased power J. Newell Williams, the inventor, believes he can soar to any height. A thirty horse-power motor was used yesterday.

Galicians Turned Back.

Ottawa, May 23.—The steamship Montrose, which arrived at Quebec on May 20, had as passengers 64 Galicians booked to Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa and other cities. They did not have on them the amount of money prescribed by the regulations of the Immigration Department, namely $25, and were refused admission to Canada.

SERIOUS CHARGE HAS BEEN LAID

Toronto Produce Buyer Alleges Violent Assault

Orangeville, May 23.—Moses Wolf, keeper of a fish stall in Toronto, is said to have had a terrible experience on Wednesday night in the township of Melancthon. He is a dealer in butter and eggs, and has been doing business with farmers at their homes, making the residence of Mrs. Thomas Mournaham his stopping place for the night. On the night of the 20th, Wolf alleges that after he retired, James Mournaham, Felix Mournaham, and Sam Bates came to his bedroom, jumped on and choked him, went through his pockets, abstracting $140 which he had to buy produce, and threatened to kill him. Another brother named Bryan Mournaham, and the mother of the boys, interfered and prevented further injury to Wolf, who escaped from the house at 5 o'clock Thursday morning without breakfast, walked to Shelburne, and swore out a warrant for his assailants, who were arrested and brought to that village.

The accused all denied the charge at the preliminary hearing. Wolf told his story on oath, and the case was adjourned.

The case is exciting great interest.

Arrested After Seven Years.

Fort William, May 23.—After an absence of seven years in the United States and elsewhere, Andrew Kas[illegible] returned to Kevene. PERPETUAL FRANCHISES

In 1905 the Toronto and York Radial Railway Co. applied for legislation to enable it to hold a franchise in perpetuity. The Whitney Government would not allow the application. There can never be such a thing again. The Whitney Government has abolished perpetual franchises. The rights of the people are protected. The Liberals voted in favor of the perpetual franchise. But their opposition was overcome.

SEEDING

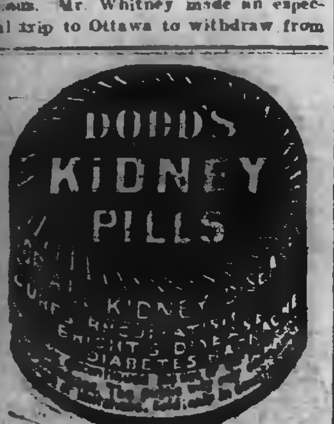
Up north seeding has been general and successful. Around Young's Point and on the rocks of Burleigh rain has no more effect than "nuthin." They glory in it up there. They must have it—and they're getting it. A political delegation going strong in the interests of one of the candidates figured in a "sensational stop" near Young's Point. Suddenly the view of the stumps was obscured by a moving picture. A runaway horse came over the hill. The delegation sprang to the rescue. The horse was stopped. It was a beast of burden all right, to itself at any rate. It had seven ribs sticking out on one side and three on the other. One trace was of leather and the other of rope. The wheels had lost some spokes years before. A thankful old pedlar overtook the horse, thanked the delegation and said he would vote twice for Mr. Bradburn. He was cautioned about that. But the question had been keenly debated as the horse came on if it would not be "a corrupt practice" to aid anybody by stopping his horse or doing him a favor. However, as the job did not look formidable or dangerous the debate was decided in the negative. The plum and cherry trees are in blossom. But peanuts are going to be a poor crop. Local option is doing well. "Variety is the spice of life," especially at election times.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The ballot may not be the highest development of Christianity or civilization, but it is the only plan as yet devised that will protect employees from unscrupulous masters. If we are to have a ballot the Whitney Government said that it must be secret, and so it is.

The Examiner asks very pertinently why we do not condemn the Whitney Government for spending money on immigration. The reason is obvious. Mr. Whitney made an especial trip to Ottawa to withdraw from all immigration schemes on the part of this province. He said he was done with them and has kept his word. We are satisfied. Why abuse him? The Examiner, as usual, is behind the times.

Mr. Whitney at Norwood challenged the editor of the Globe to say whether as one of the new Government Board he approved of Mr. Whitney's Government of the University of Toronto or Mr. MacKay's proposed plan. The editor at last acknowledges Mr. Whitney's plan is the better. Why did not the editor of the Globe speak out in defence of justice and the University before? Because the coming Dominion election compels him to wish to defeat Whitney now. It must be done at once if there is any way way on earth to do it—or Laurier will be doomed.



TYRANICAL ACT

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I would like to draw the attention of Conservatives to an incident which took place yesterday (22nd inst.) in the Canadian General Electric Company's building. Several of the employes of said company were hauled on the carpet and warned against taking any active part in the political campaign, which is now on. This was done in consequence of or rather at the instigation of the Reform Association of West Peterborough. Now gentlemen is this a free country or do we belong to an absolute monarchy as embodied in the Grit party? As this is not the first time such things have happened down at the C.G.E. shops, it is quite easy to trace the handiwork of a past master at that sort of game and if we have to fight him then let us do it without gloves and fight fire with fire. If my memory serves me right I think Conservatives joined with Liberals in voting on the by-law granting the C.G.E. certain privileges and rights, if they located here and now they turn round and kill the Conservative party, or rather that part of it, employed by the company, and it is no inconsiderable number, practically to keep quiet under pain of expulsion. Conservatives, are we going to tamely submit to this kind of thing? Is the Canadian General Electric Company an obligarchy? Are their employees slaves? It looks like it and it rests in our own hands whether such a state of things continue or not. So let us be up and doing. The Conservative party is a powerful party and let us show the Reform Association of West Peterborough that when they monkey with it they, the R.A., are going to get hurt. Let each individual Conservative get to work, not half heartedly, and pile up such a majority for Bradburn on the 8th June next, as will put a quietus to the wirepullers of the Liberal party.

There was once a young man called Jamie,
Ran foul of a fellow called Gamey,
The row that ensued
Would have done your heart good,
But alas 'twas the last of poor Jamie.
Such things happen once in a while.

BUSY MAN'S MAGAZINE FOR JUNE

Many New Features That Will Prove of Much Interest

With many decided improvements in contents and appearance, the Busy Man's Magazine for June comes to hand. It is admirably illustrated and has timely references to the approaching midsummer vacation season, which gives an Outing character to the number. There are several bright, breezy articles telling the life stories of prominent Canadians—men who are doing things and how. Numerous other acceptable contributions will be found within the red cover of the June issue. In addition to well selected articles from leading periodicals of the world, a few others of interest to Canadians may be mentioned. "How Sir Thomas Shaughnessy Reached the Top," "The Passing of the Macphersons," "The Power Behind a Great Enterprise," "The Richest Coal Baron in the Dominion," "Building a Busy Business City," "Will There be Another Canadian Cardinal?" "The Proper Way to Spend a Holiday," "The Fertility of the Great Hinterland," "The Enlistment of the Long Reach Men," and "Some Methods of Distributing Profits," are all fresh, entertaining, and up-to-the-minute in character.

Dr. Crewes, teacher training secretary for the Methodist Sunday Schools. On the afternoon of Sunday, May 31st, there will be a mass meeting in George street Methodist church at which Dr. Crewes will address the Sunday School pupils and workers of the city, and as many of the general public as can make it convenient to attend.

LOCAL SCOTSMEN VISITED LAKEFIELD

Were Guests of Munro Camp Last Evening---A Pleasant Time

About twenty members of Clan Alpine Camp, Sons of Scotland, drove out Lakefield last evening where they spend an evening with Munro Camp of that place. After the business of the evening had been transacted a pleasant time was spent. A musical programme was rendered and Piper MacKay gave several selections on the bagpipes. A banquet was held at the conclusion of the proceedings and the visitors returned home about two o'clock this morning.

THEATORIUM FOR CAMPBELLFORD

Mr. Tom Marks Locating One There---Said to Have Tried to Secure Mr. Bert Peters

Mr. Tom Marks the comedian of Marks' Bros. fame, is establishing a theatorium in Campbellford. Mr. Peters is a Peterborough boy and was heard here as singer with Green's picture show.

SCHOOL GIRLS

Most of our ambitious young American girls work too hard at school.

Many teachers have little or no judgment about pushing a child beyond her endurance. They ought to know that girls especially have a danger period. Often, too often, utter physical collapse is the result, and it takes years and years to recover lost vitality.

Many a young girl has been helped over this critical period, and been prepared for a healthy womanhood by

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Miss Elsie L. Hook, of Chelsea, Vt., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I am only sixteen years old, but I want to tell you that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and your advice cured me of sideache, periodic pains and sleeplessness, also of a nervous, irritable condition after everything else had failed, and I want to thank you for it."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

LARGE MARKET THIS MORNING

Many Venders and Buyers Attended---Prices Reasonable

The market was unusually well attended. The farmers, taking advantage of the fine day, turned out in large numbers. Prices remained about the same. Eggs sold at 17 cts. per dozen, while butter brought 28 cts. per pound. Fowl was very plentiful. Chickens went at $1.00 and $1.20 per pair, while turkeys ranged in price from $1.50 to $3.00 each.

On the outside market, there was considerable green stuff offered for sale, consisting of rhubarb, onions and other early vegetables. Veal sold at 7 and 8 cents per pound.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS, 1908

To the Electors of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—It is my privilege to again appear before you as the Conservative candidate in the approaching election of members of the Ontario Legislature, and while on the previous occasion I was in opposition to the Government, I now have the pleasure of supporting the Administration of Hon. J. P. Whitney, whose management of the affairs of the Province, with the support of an able cabinet, has, during his short premiership, proved of such marked benefit.

Measures of a far-reaching character have been passed, and the statute books of the last three years are replete with legislation of a high order, as well for its originality as its soundness. Let me mention a few of the important acts of the past sessions. The establishment of a Railway and Municipal Board, the new act relating to mining, the creation of the Hydro-Electric Commission, the amendment of the liquor laws, amendments to the law relating to the election of members of the Legislature, particularly the alteration in the ballot, which is now absolutely secret.

The administration of the public domain, especially the mining laws of the Province, has been most profitable, adding large sums to both revenue and capital, and the different changes which have been effected in the Education Department have met with the approval of all persons, concerned in that most important branch of the public service.

One of the beneficial acts of the Government is the taking with its own hands the distribution of electric energy through the great water power of Niagara Falls, and other rivers capable of hydraulic development. Thus are the different municipalities through the Province enabled to obtain the inestimable commodity at a minimum of cost.

The Government, while endeavoring to serve the people generally have not been unmindful of the importance of this riding, and when the new normal schools were to be created one of the four was placed in this constituency, thus affording exceptional advantages to the teachers and schools of this counyt.

In the short time which will elapse before polling day, I shall endeavour to make my views more fully known to you both privately and publicly, and I bespeak your cordial support, not so much becausee of any merits of my own, as on account of the splendid record of the Government.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

T. E. BRADBURN

WILL RECOMMEND CONFERENCE TO APPOINT MR. MANNING

As Pastor of the New Circuit in South End of Peterborough—Important Matters Transacted at Methodist District Meeting

At the meeting of the Methodist district of Peterborough yesterday, a resolution was passed recommending conference to open a new circuit in the south end in Peterborough and that Rev. H. M. Manning, pastor of Charlotte street church at the present time, be placed in charge. Mr. Manning retires from his present pastorate in June of this year. It was brought out at the meeting that Mr. Manning would be an excellent man for the position as he is familiar with the conditions. Work on the new church to be erected at the corner of Aylmer and Romaine streets will be commenced shortly.

Laymen as well as ministers were present at yesterday's meeting and considerable important business was transacted.

The laymen elected their representatives to the annual conference to be held at Lindsay and the ministers elected their representatives to the different committees. Rev. Dr. Marvin of Bethany, was elected to the Stationing Committee.

A resolution was passed condemning the three-fifths clause in connection with local option. The opinion was expressed that it was unfair.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF A YOUNG ENGLISH GIRL

A young English girl, who lived with a family in Smith, disappeared from the house at which she was staying about ten days ago. She left for Peterborough and has not been seen since. She was thirteen years of age, and a bright and intelligent girl. Nothing has been heard of her since her disappearance. The family with which she was staying is considerably worried over her disappearance. There is some money to her credit in a local bank.

Anybody hearing of her whereabouts should notify the police.

DENIAL GIVEN TO STATEMENT MADE BY HON. J. R. STRATTON

Editor of the Review

Sir,—My attention has been called to an address of Hon. J. R. Stratton in Stewart's schoolhouse, Otonabee, delivered a few evenings ago, wherein he refers to a resolution passed by the Official Board of the Charlotte street church, said resolution commends the License Inspector and others for the efficient manner in which the license law is enforced. Mr Stratton also referred to another resolution passed by the Board at the same meeting regarding the three-fifths clause and stated that the chairman of the License Commissioners presided at that meeting. I wish to correct Mr. Stratton, by saying that I neither presided at the Board meeting, nor was I present at the same. I knew nothing of either resolution until I saw them in the public press.

Thanking you for this space,

Yours truly,

M. A. MORRISON.

Yesterday Mr. Wedlock's "Mermaid" ran up to the Street Railway wharf and became stranded. It was some time before she was removed back into the river.

SUDDEN DEATH LAST EVENING

Of Mr. James Johnston of Otonabee—Succumbed to Apoplexy

Death came suddenly to Mr. James Johnston of Otonabee last evening at 7 o'clock. Mr. Johnston was in his usual good health throughout the day and his demise came as a great shock. His death was due to apoplexy. Deceased was 80 years of age and was born in Manvers. He was married to Jane Beattie. He was widely known and highly respected by all who knew him. He had resided in Otonabee for nine years. Besides his wife, four sons and three daughters are left to mourn his loss. The sons are, Noble, Norman, Willie and Lloyd of Otonabee. The daughters are Mrs. Braithwaite, Mrs. O. Kingdon of this city and Miss Millie residing at home. Three brothers Edward, of Almieda. Geo of McDonald, Man.; Thos. of Fenelon Falls and one sister, Mrs. C. Wetherell of Claremont also survive him

The funeral will take place on Monday from the family residence, lot 21, concession 14, Otonabee to the Little Lake cemetery.

A TONIC FOR THE STOMACH

Wonderful Success of the Modern Method of Treating Even Obstinate Cases of Indigestion

The old fashioned methods of treating stomach diseases are being discarded. The trouble with the old-fashioned methods was that when the treatment was stopped the trouble returned in an aggravated form.

The modern method of treating indigestion, catarrh of the stomach or chronic gastritis, is to tone up the stomach and glands to do their normal work. Every step towards recovery is a step gained, not to be lost again. The recovery of the appetite, the disappearance of pain, the absence of gas—all are steps on the road to health that those who have tried the tonic treatment remember distinctly.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic every constituent of which is helpful in building up the digestive organs and therefore are the very best remedy for chronic cases of stomach trouble. The success of the treatment is shown by hundreds of cures like the following:

Mrs. Wm. E. Dunn, Prince Dale, N. S., says:—"For upwards of seven years I was an almost continuous sufferer from stomach trouble, which was aggravated by obstinate constipation. Food was not only distasteful, but every mouthful I ate was painful The trouble so affected my heart that at times I thought I could not live. I was constantly doctoring, but did not get the least relief. Indeed I was growing worse, and in the summre of 1907 had got so bad that I went to the city of Boston where I spent some time under the care of a specialist. I returned home, however, no better than when I went away. The pains I endured were almost intolerable, and would sometimes cause me to drop. I kept getting weaker and weaker and had practically given up hope of even being wlel again when my mother urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. How thankful I now am that I took her advice. My case was a severe one and did not yield readily, but once an improvement was noticed the cure progressed steadily and satisfactorily, and after the use of ten boxes of the Pills I was again a well woman. Every symptom of the trouble disappeared, and it is years since I enjoyed as good health as I am doing now. All who know me look upon my cure as almost a miracle, and I strongly urge all suffering from stomach trouble to give this medicine a fair trial."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co, Brockville, Ont.

With only one vote in Opposition, the Brighton Town Council has given general approval to the scheme for the erection of a summer and winter palace on the foreshore.

LOCAL GOODS ON LOST STEAMER

Shipment From Geo. Matthews' Co. on the "Latona"

London, May 22.—The Thomson Line steamer Latona, which left Montreal on May 8th, for London, and was sunk off the Lizard in collision with the British steamer Japanic, bound for Montivideo, carried a very valuable cargo of farm produce, mostly from Ontario.

Among the cargo was a large quantity of meats from the Geo. Matthews Co., Ltd., of this city.

FAREWELL AND PRESENTATION

By Members of Eko Camp to Mr. Leslie Ransden Last Evening

An enjoyable time was spent by the members of Eko Camp at their club rooms last evening when they gathered to say good-bye to Mr. Leslie B. Ramsden who is leaving the city. Mr. J. Morrison, Gemmell, on behalf of the club presented Mr. Ramsden with a handsome smoking outfit. Short speeches were made by Messrs. W J Kelley, H Gillespie, W. G. R. Higgins, and Manson Comstock, all expressing regret at Mr. Ramsden's departure. "Leslie" has been a valuable member of the camp and will be much missed. During the evening a recitation was given by Mr. M. C. Bennett and a vocal quartette by Messrs. Herb. Gillespie, R. Watt, J. Watt and H. Warner.

A feast formed not the least enjoyable part of the evening.

ALMOST GIVEN UP

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" SAVED HIS LIFE.

Mr. Dingwall was Superintendent of St. Andrews Sunday School in Williamstown for nine years and License Commissioner for Glengarry — and Tax Collector for Charlottenburg—for fourteen years continuously. Read how strongly Mr. Dingwall comes out in favor of "Fruit-a-tives."

Williamstown, Ont., April 5th., 1907.

I have much pleasure in testifying to the almost marvellous benefit I have derived from taking "Fruit-a-tives." I was a life long sufferer from Chronic Constipation and the only medicine I ever secured to do me any real good was "Fruit-a-tives." This medicine cured me when everything else failed. Also, last spring, I had a severe attack of bladder trouble with kidney trouble, and "Fruit-a-tives" cured these complaints for me, when the physician attending me had practically given me up. I am now over eighty years of age and I can strongly recommend "Fruit-a-tives" for Chronic Constipation and bladder and kidney trouble. This medicine is mild like fruit, is easy to take, but most effective in action. 147

ENTERS SUIT FOR $5000 DAMAGES

A Toronto despatch says: Mr. Timothy H. Crowley, mine owner and prospector, has issued a writ against Ralph C. Braund, merchant, Peterborough, to compel specific performance of a certain contract to purchase an interest in a mining claim in Nipissing. The plaintiff also claims $5,000 damages.

TWO MEETINGS WILL BE HELD

Special Farmers Institute Meeting to be Held in North Country

Mr. William Collins, secretary of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute has informed the Review that he has received a circular containing a list of special meetings to be held in some of the northern townships of the counties of Peterbrough. Victoria and Haliburton at places where it is not advisable to hold winter meetings. Two of those meetings will be held at Hall's Bridge and Lakehurst. on June 27th and 29th respectively. Addresses will be given by Dr. H G. Reed, of Georgetown and Mrs. F. W. Watts, of Clinton.

The Richmond Studio of Peterborough is opening a branch in Hastings in charge of Mr. J S. Richmond. The studio will be open on Tuesdays and Saturdays commencing Tuesday. May 12th. The studio is being furnished with the most up-to-date back grounds and accessories. — Hasting Star.

Stirling Remains Liberal.

London, May 23.—The bye-election for the Stirling district of burghs, consequent on the death of the late Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, resulted in the return of Arthur Ponsonby, the Liberal candidate, who pulled 3,873, against 2,512 cast for William Whitelaw, who stood in the Unionist interest. The Government majority was thus 1,362. The late Premier represented the riding for 40 years. His smallest majority in that time was 630.

Incline Car Runs Away.

Calgary, Alta., May 23.—The Calgary Pressed Brick & Sandstone Co. has a trolley line running up the hill, down which loaded cars are sent, controlled by a cable. A loaded car weighing a ton was standing at the top of the hill, when the cable broke and the car shot down 200 yards into a building where a number of men were at work, injuring Robert Peperin, Charles Thomas, J. Bennett, W. Ramsay. All are in the hospital.

Welland Canal Closed By an Accident.

St. Catharines, May 23.—For the first time since early in the season of 1906, the Welland Canal is closed for navigation, owing to an accident at lock 18, near Thorold, caused by the steamer D. D. Calvin yesterday. The steamer, in charge of Capt. Houston, Port Dalhousie, while passing light up the canal, bumped into the gates at the head of the lock and they were carried away by the rush of water from the level above. The steamer was also considerably damaged.

Superintendent Weller has a gang of men rushing repairs, in hopes that navigation may be resumed to-day. The damages will total about $500, which must be borne by the owners of the steamer.

James Young Captured.

Brockville, Ont., May 23.—After an exciting chase of three days, in which a large section of Leeds County and a part of the State of New York was covered, the police succeeded in capturing James Young, the farm hand who made a murderous attack on Robert Stewart, his employer, on Tuesday last. Young appeared before Magistrate Deacon and was remanded for a week.

The victim of the assault has made an ante-mortem statement to the crown attorney, as he is in a critical condition.

South African Monument.

Kingston, May 23.—A resolution has been adopted here applauding the heroism of Canadians in South Africa, and suggesting that a suitable site be at once chosen by the Dominion Government on the famous Quebec Heights, or some other suitable place, and dedicated by the Prince of Wales at the forthcoming military celebration.

Burned Out For Fifth Time.

Moncton, N.B., May 23.—An incendiary fire yesterday caused the total destruction of the Abrams Machine Works. The buildings were practically all new, and contained new equipment. The loss is $15,000, with insurance only 20 per cent. of that amount. This is the fifth time the Abrams people have been burned out.

Sent For Trial.

St. Thomas, May 23.—Police Magistrate Glenn has committed for trial J S. Wilson, retired gentleman, charged by his former intimate friend, A. M. Hutchinson, also retired gentleman, with having sent the latter, through the mails, scurrilous and indecent letters and postal cards.

Miners Go Back.

Mitchell, B. C., May 23.—The miners have returned to work as they left, of their own volition, no agreement being reached on the question in dispute, viz., discrimination. A committee of men will meet the companies' representatives.

HARRY ADAMS

HAD RIGHT LEG BROKEN IN COLLISION THIS MORNING

Mr. Wm. Kearns, G. T. R. Employee, Victim of Serious Accident at McDonell St. Crossing—His Railway Velocipede Collided With Horse and Buggy

Wm. Kearns, bridge constructor for the Grand Trunk Railway, was the victim of a painful accident this morning at the crossing at Bethune and McDonell Sts. Mr. Kearns was going north on a three wheel railway velocipede when at the above mentioned place he collided with a horse and buggy going east. He was knocked down and the horse trampled on his right leg breaking it just below the knee. The injured man was removed to St. Joseph's hospital in the Dan Spence ambulance, where the broken limb was set by Dr. McClelland.

It was an impossibility to avoid the accident. Mr. Kearns was travelling at a moderate speed but did not notice any horse coming. The crossing at this point is a particularly dangerous one and it is difficult to see if anyone is coming until right on it. The unfortunate affair was done very quickly.

Mr. Kearns is a resident of Lindsay but is well known in this city. His many friends will regret to hear of his misfortune.

YOUNG CONSERVATIVE CLUB RALLY AT COMMITTEE ROOMS

There will be a grand rally at Mr. Bradburn's committee rooms, 418 George street, (Hatton's old store) at eight o'clock sharp this evening. Attend and hear the account of the registration. A number of electors have promised to speak on the campaign and an entertaining and instructive hour may be looked for. It is but a short time to polling day and as some interesting campaign developments are taking place in the city the evening will be one of more than passing interest. Hurrah for Whitney and Bradburn!

LOCAL MAN STILL MISSING IN FORESTS OF ALGOMA

Word was received in the city to-day from Messrs. George Long and George Lipsett who left last Wednesday for Worthington in the Algoma district to search for Mr. Sam. Long who was reported lost. The telegram was to the effect that they were still searching for Mr. Long, eight men being engaged day and night in the search. It also stated that a substantial reward had been offered for any information that would lead to his discovery. Enquiry has been made at almost every place where it was thought he was most likely to be out no traces of him have been found. His freinds have no idea as to his whereabouts and much mystery surrounds his disappearance.

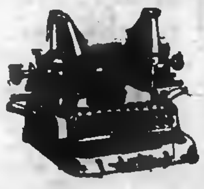
You Can Easily Operate This Typewriter Yourself



Don't worry your correspondent.

Don't write him anything by hand that takes him time to make out — that may leave him in doubt— that he can't easily read.

And don't fill out legal papers or card memos — or make out accounts or hotel menus in your own handwriting.

It looks bad, reflects on your standing, makes people think you cant afford a stenographer, and is sometimes ambiguous.

You can write out your letters—make out an abstract—fill in an insurance policy—enter your card memos—make out your accounts, or a hotel menu—or do any kind of writing you need, on ANY kind, size or thickness of paper, and SPACE any way you want, on

The OLIVER Typewriter

The Standard Visible Writer

You can write any of these things yourself if you do not happen to have a stenographer.

For you can easily learn, with a little practice, to write just as rapidly, and as perfectly, as an expert operator on the OLIVER. Because the OLIVER is the simplified typewriter. And you can see every word you write. About 80% more durable than any other typewriter, because it has about 80% less wearing points than most other typewriters.

80% easier to write with than these other complicated, intricate machines that require "humoring" technical knowledge—long practice and special skill to operate.

Than machines which cannot be adjusted to any special space—with which it is impossible to write abstracts, insurances polices, or odd-size documents except you buy expensive special attachments requiring experts to operate.

You can adjust the OLIVER to any reasonable space—you can write on any reasonable size and thickness of paper, right out to the very edge, without the aid of any expensive attachment or special skill, and your work will be neat appearing, legible and clear.

For the OLIVER is the typewriter for the doctor, the lawyer, the insurance agent, the merchant, the hotel proprietor—or any man who does his own writing.

Write us now for our booklet on the simplified features of the OLIVER.

MISSION BAND HELD CONCERT

Annual Event at St. John's Church Last Evening—A Successful Affair

Last night the members of St. John's Mission Band held a successful concert in their school room, and drew a large and appreciative audience. The leader, Mrs. Frederick and Misses Dean and Gladman, have given much time in preparing the attractive programme, all present having a most happy time. Choice bouquets for the leaders marked the appreciation of the children of their useful work during the past season, which has been very successful.

Mr. R. J. Devey, as general chairman, spoke encouragingly of the Mission Band work, as part of the congregation also alluding to the absence of Rev. Canon Davidson on his Pan-Anglican trip, and congratulated the Mission Band on their excellent record for the season.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W., 62, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother, her home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

VICTORIA DAY AT STONEY LAKE

The Steamer "Water Lily" will leave the Wolfe street wharf at 7.30 a.m. on Monday, May 25th, lift lock at eight o'clock for Stony Lake, calling at the principal points. Dinner at Mount Julian. Return at eight p.m. Return tickets, adults 75 cents children 40c.

CITY AND COUNTY TEACHERS HEAR INSTRUCTIVE PAPERS

Closing Sessions Held Yesterday—The Value of Kindergarten Work—Music in the School Curriculum—Mensuration Methods Outlined.

The morning session of the City Teachers' Institute yesterday was held as usual in the Central school.

"Aim of Kindergarten and some of its Objects," was a paper prepared by Miss Warne and read by Miss Cameron. Frobel's life was one of high ideals. His object in life was to bring the people to their highest development. Born in 1782 he spent an exceedingly happy childhood, and to this is due to a large extent the course of his whole life work for children. In his play he evinced a fondness for building, and from this grew his desire to provide for children activities such as to satisfy the natural thirst of their souls. All-round development was one thing which he sought to give to the young. As he discovered in his teaching life that that the boys and girls came to him in a poorly prepared way, he thought he should confine himself to the training of the infant. He arranged a series of exercises which would develop the mental, and, as well, the moral and spiritual nature. Self-unfolding was a theory which he sought to make as easy as possible to realize.

As play is the first natural expression of the child, he sought to make use of this play principle in the unfolding of its nature.

The mind grows by self-revelation and he allowed the child to reveal itself in a gradual series of plays which would inculcate also the subjection of self and the active principle which leads to doing what is right.

These groups of principles were arranged by Frobel:

1. Songs, the substance of which is the true and beautiful in nature.
2. Gifts.
3. Occupations which deal with power of thought.
4. Games which puts in practical operation the principle of song and gifts.

The writer then explained by illustration the work taken up under each of these headings, and it was shown that, while the songs and games seem simple there is a very large amount of practical information to be obtained from these. For example nature study is helped by the songs which refer to the sowing of grain, domestic science by the description in song of baking. An early beginning is made in the study of literature by the stories such as Mother Goose rhymes. These precede naturally the fables and myths read by the 1st, 2nd and 3rd grades of the schools. In this way it was shown that all the subjects studied later, and all the works of life are benefitted by this kindergarten work.

INSPECTOR MOWAT.

The Inspector of Public Schools, Mr Mowat, was then called upon, and gave his paper on "Composition" especially as it relates to public school work. In opening he emphasized the importance of composition as the handmaid of all other studies. Then, too, it is the most practical of all subjects, being used by all persons in everday life. Its disciplinary value is in orderly arrangement of thought. When this discipline is combined with genius we have a Ruskin or Dickens.

Proceeding he referred to the value of the reproduction of myths and child stroke by the children of the primary grade as a help in writing or in speech.

He then followed the course laid down and gave methods as to how to show the value of the sentence form. Errors in speech should be corrected at once, but errors should never be put on the board. Oral composition should have a large place in the first book and the subjects should be simple ones suggested by the life of the child such as "My Dog." In Part II. the written work should begin and in this grade he pointed out that these children should be led to read several books. Story reproduction should be the work in composition. Original stroke should not be encouraged as it leads to too many errors.

In Book II. the pupils should prepare outlines under direction of teacher and after the essays were corrected they should be copied into their books. Explanation of proverbs is a good exercise, "Haste Makes Waste."

Model letters should be placed before the pupils in this grade. Short sentences will be the rule, but as long as they are pointed they should be accepted. Informal letter writing should be encouraged.

In Book III. grammer should be taught incidentally and inductively in composition work.

In this grade initiative and oral work of Book II. should be continued drawing material being drawn from reading and activities in the children. Illustrations were freely given of how to provide material in way of descriptions and scenes and pictures. Business letter writing should be added to the informal letterwriting of the grade.

In Book IV. grammer is systematically studied and this should be made much use of in composition. Stories and descriptions should be emphasized in this grade. Even an attempt at characterization should be made and it is surprising how the pupils will endeavor to show their powers in this department of original work. The teacher should study models of descriptive work with the class in order to show method. Description by narration and description from a definite point of view was illustrated and their principles emphasized. The personal element in the composition should be encouraged.

Exposition, though not a part of entrance work, should not be neglected, as it is necessary in business letter-writing, clearness and precision in expression must be developed in all grades. With several other illustrations Mr. Mowat closed what was a very practical paper.

MENSURATION METHODS

Mr. F. E. Kerr treated the subject "Mensuration Methods," dealing with it in a practical way urging thorough treatment of it to develop concentration of thought. The extent of the limit table in arithmetic and the complicity of the lives of city pupils make for poor results in this subject. Arithmetic must never be taught by memory methods of by rule, but must always make use of the reason. Principles should be taught and the application ought to be left to the unaided effort of the pupil to as great an extent as possible.

The teaches of principles often is not the teacher of the application. This should not be permitted. For example, the tables of measures should not be taught by a teacher of one grade and their application left to a teacher of a higher grade, but but the tables should not be taught until it is time to make use of them.

Mr. Kerr held that an undue time is not given to arithmetic, as this is the only mathematical subject on the public school course.

Mensuration teaching is based on the long, square and cubic measurer. Practical illustrations were given of the manner in which these should be presented. Actual measurements should be made using visible units such as a square piece of wood, one inch to a side. From practical experience the child will build up his ideas of perimeter, volume, etc,

At the conclusion of this paper, so very practical in its nature, Mr. Fessenden complimented Mr. Kerr very highly on the excellent and reasonable way in which he handled the subject, adding that he had followed similar methods for thirty years.

MUSIC IN SCHOOLS.

"Music in the Schools" was excellently presented by Miss Coleman, formerly on the staff of St. Peter's school, but who has lately entered the order of St. Joseph.

After opening with a beautiful quotation on music from Moore, the essayist traced the rise of music from earliest times, suggesting that after Spencer and Huxley the sounds of nature in earliest times musical instruments were used, as these are found belonging to the bronze age. Soon a number of notes of certain intervals were formed into a scale. In 300 Emperor Julian formed a choir to assist in the service of the church and from that time music has become more and more an important force in the life of man.

Then the educational influence of music was discussed. The sounds of nature, the mother's lullaby and the great strains of organ music all help to develop the nature of man and prove the power of music over humanity. Food, clothing, shelter, music, have been said by someone to be four great essentials, and when we consider the uplifting power of music, the softening and ennobling influence of this subject we can easily believe it.

The writer believed fully in the teaching of music in schools and by note in the earliest grade. Though note singing was to be the object aimed at, still any good methid of teaching in the hands of a competent teacher would produce most important and beneficial results. A competent teacher is the prime necessity. Then followed a series of suggestions of a practical nature as to the method of treating the subject, such as the various breathing exercises, exercises for the voice production, physical training necessary for the groundwork.

In closing, the writer eloquently pleaded for a more formal place on the curriculum of public schools for this subject.

In the discussion following the paper, Mr. Kenner said that he thought it a shame that this subject was not properly provided for in this city.

METHODS IN HISTORY

Mr. Dunlop next read a paper on "Methods in History." He dealt with the new requirements in history and and showed that the desire now is to introduce the children to the life of the people of the past rather than to the dry bones of the subject, such as tables of kings, dates, provisions of ancient statutes.

The proper modern way to begin the study of history is to explain the meaning of the word Town, and family names, and proceed from this to the reason that we find fenced homes, showing that the picket fence is the survival of the old idea of town. This leads to a discussion of the enemies of the people of the town. In this way we develop the interest and the reasoning powers of the pupil.

Patriotism should be inculcated in a rational way, by endeavoring to make it clear that our country and its deeds should not be magnified at the expense of others. But they should be taught to appreciate the privileges which they enjoy in their country.

Biography was stressed as making clear the life of the age and investing it with real interest. The method followed by the Old Testament writers of history was commended in that they ever keep before the reader the life of the people, passing over long uninteresting periods to expand into full accounts of such characters as Joseph.

In our limit table in 3rd grade biography is rightly emphasized in that we must teach the careers of such men as Cartier and Champlain, connecting these by mere threads of narrative. In this way the story becomes a living reality to the pupils.

A most interesting meeting of the County Association was conducted along the lines of educational advancement at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. About fifty teachers listened with great interest to papers which must prove of vital interest to all in the profession.

MUSICAL EVENT OF INTEREST

Presentation of "Esther" at Conservatory Music Hall on Wednesday a Thursday of Next Week

Great interest among the musical people of Peterborough and the public generally is being taken in the production of "Esther" the beautiful Queen," which will be given at the Conservatory Music Hall on Wednesday, and Thursday evenings of next week. The cantata is one of the most charming ever written.

The production will be given by a large and clever company and the principals and chorus will be composed of the leading singers of the city. They will be dressed in the quaint and pretty costumes of the period of the play. The presentation will be most complete and satisfactory in every detail and an artistic interpretation of the play is assured.

The orchestration of "Esther" is a beautiful one and the orchestra will be a large and well trained one.

The plan of the hall is now open at McDermid's and Jury and a splendid sale of seats is anticipated.

Round trip car will run on Monday, commencing at 10 O'clock. a. m.

YANKEE ROGERS DISQUALIFIED FOR GOUGING GENE HURTUBISE

Secured First Fall on Further Arm Hold and Half Nelson After 20 Minutes Wrestling—Referee Conkle Stopped Bout When the Struggle for the Second Fall Had Gone 9 Minutes.

Local Man Put up Good Defence Against the Big American Professional—The Milling Was Very Fast all the Time With Rogers Using all His Great Strength and Science—Preliminaries Were Very Interesting.

The biggest wrestling match ever pulled off in Peterborough took place at the Grand Opera House last night, before a crowd that was not only a record maker numerically, but in the matter of enthusiasm as well. Fully 1,400 persons were in the audience and all present certainly got their money's worth during the 29 minutes of wrestling in the main bout alone. It is unfortunate that it ended the way it did, Rogers being disqualified for gouging, by Referee Conkle.

Hurtubise did phenomenally well against one of the top notchers in the professional wrestling game and a man who is as good as any in America at the catch-as-catch-can art with the exception of Frank Gotch, the world's champion.

Rogers went right in to break up his man and used the approved tactics of doing so, featuring to a great extent the distressing arm tapping just which is very effective and painful. Gene's strength and condition served him to good purpose and he put a splendid defence against the onslaughts of the celebrated American. He squirmed out of many dangerous holds and fought back gamely. He was handled in no gentle way, and made a big jump when he took on Rogers after having practically only left the amateur ranks. About one man in a hundred would have taken the chances he did and he is deserving of great praise for his commendable pluck and his excellent showing. Charlie Conkle of Hamilton, the American welterweight officiated as referee.

The preliminaries were interesting, Yokome winning from Long in the bout for the featherweight championship of Peterboro, and Corney Burns of Peterboro, putting away Buddy Ryan, of Toronto, in their bout. Geo. Clapp found it impossible to do his disrobing act while curled up in a small box. But he has not done the turn for some time and was given too short notice to get into condition. However, he managed to get into the box which, in itself, is a feat worthy of much credit.

For the preliminaries Mr. C. G. Graham acted as referee and gave most impartial and satisfactory service in that capacity.

The Yokome-Long bout was scheduled to go half an hour and twenty nine minutes had elapsed when Yokome pinned his man for the second time. From a spectator's standpoint it looked as if Long were in the best condition. Both men were wary at first and it was some time before they settled down to the mat. Yokome was the aggressor and did most of the work. A fall looked likely for Long early in the bout, but he wasn't able to pin his man, although he had a good hold. Yokome got the first fall in twenty-six minutes with a well executed half Nelson and neck hold. Both men were glad of the five minute breathing spell. The second fall came quickly. Yokome rushed from the start and put on a full Nelson. Long tried hard to break it but failed and he was pinned with a quick change from the full Nelson to a half Nelson and shoulder hold.

Three minutes was the time of the second and final fall.

Corney Burns of Peterborough, and "Buddy" Ryan gave a lively exhibition. Both showed cleverness, although it was apparent that Burns had his man sized up pretty fully after the second round. In the third round the local boy handed Ryan a stiff right to the jaw and the latter reeled and took the count. It was good, fast work all the way through and the crowd was well pleased.

George Clapp's box mystery proved a good feature. He got into a box 18 1-2 inches square and it was announced that he would disrobe with the cover of the box tightly closed. He was in the confines of the pine boards for five minutes, but only succeeded in getting partially undressed. He has been out of practice for several months and what he did under the circumstances was very creditable.

THE MAIN BOUT.

Rogers was the first man introduced and was given a good reception by the crowd which was naturally not so enthusiastic over the big Yankee as over the local boy who was received with considerable cheering by the spectators.

When the Yankee stripped his magnificent development was at once apparent and he looked very formidable with his massive chest, arms and back. Beside him Gene appeared comparatively slender, but when the two grappled on the mat the latter showed that he had great strength, although Rogers is undoubtedly the more powerful man of the two. In fact he is like a big living bull and his rushes seemed to have the fierce force of a mighty avalanche. To a Peterborough audience, the majority of whom had never seen one of the big mat artists at work, he was quite a study.

To see him at rest he appears rather ponderous on account of his abnormal development but in action he has the speed of a panther and worked with the agility of a tumbler. One of the quickest moves on his part was when he suddenly dived for Hurtubise's legs securing them both and flopping him on his side off the mat.

Hurtubise used good judgment and put up a spirited defence. He resented Rogers' advances and continually pushed his head back with both hands. He resisted his opponent's holds on his toes and legs in remarkably good fashion. He was game for all that was coming to him and came back for more every time.

When the bout commenced everybody was on edge and as soon as the wrestlers began to mix it up a buzz of excitement was heard punctuated by frequent outbursts of applause. Gene was soon on the mat with Rogers working toe holds and leg twists on him. Rogers also bumped Hurtubise's arm quite frequently with his hand while the latter's arm which was rigid on the mat with Hurtubise on his hands and knees. This form of punishment is very severe but quite legitimate. It is used as a means of disabling the cartileges in the arm. After some very fierce milling Rogers clapped on a half Nelson and further arm hold and Gene went down on the carpet. Rogers forced him over for a pin fall and Referee Conkle tapped the Yankee on the back. Time 20 minutes.

When the men got busy again Rogers used altogether different tactics to what he had pursued for the first fall. He discarded the leg and toe holds and worked more on the upper part of the body. He still kept up the cartilage breaking jab. Hurtubise grabbed his head two or three times as he was working over him and held him a short space of time in the head lock.

Rogers was digging in strenuously and handled his man as roughly as possible, slamming him down hard whenever the opportunity offered itself.

He put on the hardest hold of the night when he suddenly applied the hammerlock and slid Gene off the mat as the latter was working forward to avoid the effects of the hold. Gene's right shoulder tore over the floor and it was badly bruised and scraped in its rough travels. When the two came on the mat again and had wrestled for probably a couple of minutes or so, the referee disqualified Rogers and announced to the audience that he had warned him a couple of times against gouging Hurtubise, but that he had persisted in doing so and consequently declared the local man the winner. Time since first fall, 9 minutes.

Rogers objected to the referee's decision but of course the objection had no bearing on the referee's judgment. The crowd yelled lustily and appeared overjoyed at Hurtubise winning the match.

BATTER UP! PLAY BALL!

The baseball season is now on in full swing. There is every indication the game will boom in Peterborough this year. The Review has always looked after player and fan, and rapped out many a bit of encouragement to those who follow the sport. All managers, captains, secretaries and players are requested to send in details of any games played or news of any games to come, all of which will find space in our baseball column. There is a supply of score cards at this office suitable for recording a game by innings, which are at the disposal of any team manager in the city. These cards should be filled in properly at the conclusion of the game and left at this office as soon as possible so as to insure publication in the Review without delay. Properly authenticated box scores will also be gladly received and published.

Call at the Review office and secure a supply of score cards.

ACTIVITY REIGNS IN THE Y.M.C.A ATHLETIC DEPT.

FOOTBALL

There will be a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Football Club on Tuesday at 8.30 p. m. It is imperative that all the players attend this meeting as several games are being arranged for.

LACROSSE

The Y. M. C. A. Lacrosse men are diligently at work every night and should be in good shape for their game with Millbrook on Monday afternoon. A practice is being held this afternoon in Central Park and after the practice the men will be selected to form part of the team that will go to Millbrook.

HIKING CLUB.

The Y. M. C. A. Hiking Club will walk to Indian River this afternoon and return on the evening train.

TO VIEW THE CAMP GROUNDS

Several members of the local Y. M. C. A., together with Mr. H. C. Wright, the secretary, and E. A. Browde, Physical director, will visit the boys camping ground at Clear Lake on Monday. It is also expected that Mr. J. R. Reid, secretary of the Port Hope Association, and Mr. R. W. Cook, secretary at Lindsay, will also be present. The boys camp for this summer promises to be a hummer and great preparations will be made for it.

SWIMMING AND LIFE-SAVING

The swimming and life-saving class held an excellent session last evening. The various methods of breaking holds were rehearsed and also resuscitation methods. Great interest is being taken.

AT BELLEVILLE

At the Olympic games at Belleville on Monday Thorpe will enter the five mile race.

TORONTO OLYMPIC TRIALS

Fred Simpson, E. Wilson, L. Dobson left in charge of trainer D. Baker this morning for Toronto, where they will enter for the Olympic trials.

BASEBALL

MATLETS

Rogers says that last night was the first time he ever wrestled without receiving a share of the money.

The management is to be congratulated on the successful promotion of the bout.

The crowd should have given Rogers a hearing.

Hurtubise is making big money lately. He gets the purse of $200 as the result of winning last night.

The house was an extraordinary large one for a wrestling match and had every reason to be satisfied with the bill presented.

BASEBALL

The "Y" baseball team met on Thursday night and chose Mr. Peter Kerr as manager and Mr. George McDonald as captain. These two with Mr. Chris Graham will form the team committee. The suits of the team will be red and green with "YMCA" across the breasts of the shirt in red letters.

COBOURG'S HOMEBREWS

Peterborough Athletics with Quinlan and Flaherty as pitchers will be Cobourg's opponents here in the opening game of the season at Donegan Park on Monday. Flaherty is said to be in good shape as he was three years ago—and if he can only keep his elbow straight—should pitch the game of his career. Cobourg will have ten home-brews, and they are as good as most imports. Admission 25 and 15 cents.

BARRY'S RAISE

Parry, who pitched for Cobourg against Peterborough last year, has joined the Providence team, after holding out for a raise, which he didn't get. About the biggest raise that Parry ever got was in Peterborough—when he forgot to come down from his ascension.—Cobourg Sentinel-Star.

Special to the Review.

Havelock, May 23.—On July 1st of this year there will be a monstrous celebration in Havelock, which will call in all the surrounding town and make one of the largest and best celebrations ever held in Midland Ontario to celebrate that day.

This was the decision arrived at by the Park Board at their meeting held in the Council Chamber on Friday night last. Chairman Thompson and members T. Bennett, James Mark, J. V. A. Coon and Alex. Rose were present.

On motion of Messrs. Bennett and Rose, it was decided to hold a celebration on July 1st, and a big one at that. To interest everyone in the scheme and to consider ways and means of providing attractions on that day. A mass meeting of the citizens will be held in the Council Chamber.

Havelock is to have some more cement sidewalks. What has been laid was done by frontage tax but the Council decided at their last meeting to lay it by frontage tax. On Monday next, work will begin on them. The walks will be constructed by day labor and the workmen will be under the charge of Mr. Seabrook, of town.

The present walk near the station on Ottawa street will be continued to Oak street. The next section will run on the north side of George street from the English church to Philip's corner and then Philips' to Curtis' street.

Before July 1st extensive improvements will be made at the Park so that to all visitors on that day it will present a most beautiful appearance. The Board have inspected the Park grounds and decided on what will be done. All rubbish on the grounds will be cleaned up and taken elsewhere; seats will be built in the woods; the splendid booth which was partly erected last year, will be finished, and many other needed improvements made.

On the morning of July 1st there will be a trades procession, and in the afternoon football and baseball matches foot races and a balloon ascension and a parachute drop.

ANGLICANS THE WORLD OVER INTERESTED IN THE CONGRESS

Some Interesting Information About the Pan-Anglican Convention Which Rev. Canon Davidson Will Attend While in London—Many Church Dignitaries Will be in Attendance

Members of the Anglican church the world over, as well as all who are interested in religious work, are looking forward to the coming Lambeth conference, which will commence at London on July 5. An article on Pan-Anglicanism in a recent issue of the Times says:

It is hard to know how otherwise to describe the feeling that is, and for the next three months is likely to be, uppermost in the minds of those members of the Anglican communion who watch events in their church with any care. As the tariff reformer hailed from afar the advent of the colonial premiers and sent up his fervent serves animae dimitium meae to the gods of wind and ocean so in 1908 the Anglican hopes eagerly that the cause which is more than half his heart will receive an immense impetus from the visit to London of those who are to take part in two gatherings, distinct in character and therefore constantly confused in the ordinary mind, yet at the same time destined, if their respective programmes are any guide, to cover a large extent of common ground. There are already some signs of the coming assemblies in the arrival of colonial prelates, in the diligence with which some of them are urging the needs of theis respective spheres, and in the sublime altruism with which others devote themselves to the task of acting as the deputation who advocates at provincial meetings the claims of some great central society. Such activity can only be of benefit to the church in the homeland, for it is the joy of the colonial bishop to tell us how much more rationally things are managed in the distant country of his adoption or his birth. Someone said the other day of an honored English bishop: 'I liked myself better after having been with him." The Church of England's visitors know their business better than that. They make us like ourselves worse. By Pan-Anglicanism, then, we portend nothing worse, as we can portend nothing better than that it is eminently good for a communion so scattered and for all its unity so diverse, as the Anglican, to summon its chiefs from time to time to bid them look one another in the face, to pray for the peace of Jerusalem to know the time of their visitation.

THE LAMBETH CONFERENCE

It is perhaps, necessary to say as much as this by way of sympathy and of goodwill for the coming assemblies because this is eminently not the spirit in which such gatherings were at first welcomed. Most people with any knowledge of such matters are familiar with the somewhat crushing reply addressed in 1867 by Dean Stanley to Archbishop Longley to "a communication from your grace, through the Bishop of London —Tait— requesting the use of Westminster Abbey for a special service" for the bishops then attending the first Lambeth conference. The Dean declined to give, in the dark, the sanction of such a conference that would be implied by implied by granting the use of the Abbey — "a sanction," he added, "which in the case of a church so venerable and national in character, ought, I conceive, to be lent only to public objects of well defined or acknowledged beneficence." To-day the whole land lies before the coming bishops, and churches as venerable, if not as national, as the Abbey clamor for special vistis from as many of their lordships as possible on one day. The fact is, of course, that the first Lambeth conference was singularly infelix opportunitate. When Dr. Longley sent out his invitations he was rather horrified to find how many of those who accepted took it for granted that they would have a chance of making it hot for Bishop Colenso, or of resenting the action of Bishop Gray, as their respective feelings might decide.

The programme which the present Archbishop of Canterbury has recently issued for the firth Lambeth conference shows that much, if not all, of these feelings fo distrust of the institution, or of misapprehension of its real purpose, has passed away. The proceedings in London will begin on Sunday, July 5th, with a celebration of the Holy Communion in Westminster Abbey, when the sermon will be preached by the present occupant of Dean Stanley's unique office and there will also be a daily celebration in the 'venerable' and "national' shrine, from which 40 years ago the synod was officially if not actually excluded. Nor can it be anticipated that the programme will give rise to the personal acrimonies from which the debates of 1867 were not quite free. There are some burning questions set down for discussion but much of the inevitable heat will have spent itself in the meetings of the larger congress, of which more presently.

The danger which faces the Lambeth conference now is not due to mistrust of its tendencies so much as to indifference and to a lower estimate of the unimportance of its members. Mole ruit sua. The invitation is limited, we believe, to bishops who are in actual work; that is to say, to diocesans and to those who are definitely commissioned to exercise the episcopal office as suffragans or coadjutors. In 1867 the number summoned was between 140 and 150; today it is rather over 380. In 1867 the invitation was accepted by 766; at the moment of writing the number to be expended this year is for various reasons indeterminate, but it will be at least three times as many as the attendance at the first conference. This expansion of the Anglican Episcopate is a fact on which every faithful member of the communion dwells with infinite and quite reasonable satisfaction; for statistics show, in a manner which cannot be explained away, that expansion spreads quickly from the shepherds to the flocks. Candidates for confirmation, candidates for ordination, candidates for lay ministry, multiply with a multiplying episcopate. But the ordinary observer whom after all, it is as well that the Lambeth conference should endeavor to impress with a sense of its importance and who knows that the resolutions to be promulgated will have been the result of voting, asks himself whether the quality of the episcopate has kept pace with the quantity. He knows by observation that there has been a considerable addition to the personnel of the home episcopate since 1867. Apart from the creation of eight new dioceses, there is the suffragan system, which has gone through a remarkable development and the English and Welsh dioceses today can probably show considerably more than double the number of bishops that was considered to be sufficient in 1867. The ordinary observer is aware that the qualities of mental leadership that go to decide the choice of a subordinate are not of necessity the same as those which govern the selection of his chief and this is not the less true because it happens in several cases that the subordinate has proved to possess gifts of governance, which have led to a call to a step up higher. It would be only human nature if the members of the conference whose abilities entitle them to take front rank should wonder that their vote on questions requiring the exercise of front rank ability should be only equal to that of less experienced and less qualified bishops. 'Are you not tired, B—?' Archbishop Temple is rumored to have said, at the close of a long discussion in 1897, to a colonial bishop, whose intervention in debate had been more frequent than illuminating. "No, indeed, your Grace, not in the least." "Then you ought to be," was the grim president's answer. The real problem of the Anglican Episcopate today is how to serve the church in the office of a bishop and to impress the world with their power to lead thought and arrive at just judgments.

THE PAN-ANGLICAN CONGRESS

It would not for a moment be true to say that any such feeling has led to the gatherings in London this summer, from June 12th to June 24th, of a large, popular and representative assembly, where the "inferior clergy" and laymen and women may have a chance of debating and examining—we should hope of examining first and debating afterwards—a variety of ecclesiastical problems that makes the program of the Lambeth conference modest by comparison. No such rivalry is intended; indeed, the Pan-Anglican congress will largely depend for its success upon the presence and assistance of the bishops, upon the leaders' taking the lead. At the same time the project arises out of of a healthy desire on the part of the community of English churchmanship to be seen where the parables of missionary policy are spoken. Forty years ago such matters were largely at the arbitrament of the bishops on the one hand, and of the missionary societies on the other, but the congress owes its inception to an institution which implies a recognition of the fact that if the Anglican communion is to go forward it must receive its impetus from dioceses and provinces as a whole. The bishops cannot provide the requisite momentum by themselves, whatever the increase in their numbers nor is it sufficient that they suohld be supported by certain sections of their flock, whose zeal is desired by a devotion, and not always from partizanship, to the cause of some particular society. Divide et imperia may be true of the world which the Christian Army is attacking, but it is fatal to accept it as a policy to be applied to the army itself. Inherited methods die hard and therefore the boards of missions set up in Archbishop Benson's time in each diocese, and capable of being massed in the provinces for the whole of England and Wales, were greeted at first with no small suspicion on the part of the zealots. But the prudence of the chief organizer, Canon Edgar Jacob, now Bishop of St. Albans, disarmed these suspicions almost from the first, and no one has more right than he to rejoice that the long series of committees preliminary to the Pan-Anglican congress has been attended, under his chairmanship, with a complete absence of party animosity; very much as it has again and again been possible to induce high churchmen and evangelicals to join amicably in diocesan missionary festivals arranged by the local boards.

THE INVITATION AND THE ARRANGEMENTS.

But the existence of the united boards as a nexus between parties at home, and between the English Church and its daughters beyond the seas, would not have sufficed without time and management to bring together so large a company. In fact it is over five years since, as the result of a vision to which Bishop Montgomery, the secretary of the S.P.C., gave characteristic utterance, a tentative letter was addressed to "the archbishops and bishops of the church throughout the world who represent the Church of England and the churches in communion with her" suggesting the holding of such a congress at a convenient date shortly before the weeks fixed for the session of the Lambeth conference. To this some seventy answers came back from districts so placed that practically each part of the globe gave its consent and the project was confirmed by resolution of the united boards of missions at their annual meeting in May, 1903. It is necessary to bear these dates in mind, for, even if the congress fails to realize all that its originators hope from it, the preparations of the last five years have been of incalculable value to the large and representative body forming the central committee. This body has grown considerably and, as it showed at its last meeting, has become somewhat unwieldly when about fifty persons take part in the deliberations of administrative details. But no one who has attended its meetings with any regularity can have failed to be thereby better qualified to face the responsibilities of the Anglican communion. And these benefits would remain if the congress were never to meet at all. Nor have the fruits of the preparation been confined to the home church. Since the autumn of 1903 the extern dioceses have been asked to co-operate by replying to some useful interrogatories and by being taught to look forward to the congress as a means of getting answers. The programme of the deliberations has been drawn up after asking remote churchmen to say what seemed to them to be the objects of supreme importance to the church (1) in their particular sphere (2) in regions outside their sphere (3) for the whole Anglican community acting as one body with a view to the fulfilment of its duty to the world at large. Thus to the benefits already conferred on the central committee we must add these which have been given to the separate dioceses, as they set themselves to the task of dealing with questions which by their nature broaden the basis of ecclesiastical thought. Where in the face of these problems is the parochialism from which the church's work is so apt to suffer? It is excluded.

FREE GIVING AND HIGH THINKING.

The result is that attention has gradually been concentrated on two objects. The members will come prepared to give rein to their personal self-sacrifice and prepared to receive fresh intellectual stimulus. Of the thankoffering and of the subjects for discussion it is proposed to speak more at length in a subsequent article. In the meantime it is enough to note that it is to these two things that members come pledged; and if report speaks truly, they are coming in large numbers. The 6,000 cards of membership—it is a misconception to speak of them as tickets of admission—are already much more than subscribed for, and disappointment as to the great thanksgiving service of June 24th and the Albert hall meetings is believed to be the inevitable fate of some hundreds.

You have Not One Reason for Not Using

Zutoo

Some people think that all headache cures are alike—that they all undermine the health, even if not perceived at the time of taking them.

Well, we'll admit that some cures do this, those, for example, which contain opium, morphine, antipyrene or chloral.

But this is no reason why you should not use Zutoo.

Zutoo Tablets do not contain one iota of any of the drugs above mentioned. They do not contain a single ingredient that does not come from Old Mother Earth herself.

One ingredient is soda—just old-fashioned soda that our grandmothers used to take to settle the stomach when they had sick headache.

There is not one ingredient in Zutoo tablets that is not approved by both the British and American Pharmacopoeias. And the world has no higher authority in medicine than these.

Your family physician, even if a personal friend, would approve of and prescribe every ingredient.

There is absolutely no reason why you should not use Zutoo.

If you suffer from headache there is every reason why you should.

Taken in time, two tablets will ward off a headache. Taken later, they will stop it in twenty minutes, and leave you feeling bright and well in both mind and body.

It is Harmless as Soda

HOW PETERBOROUGH PEOPLE CAN SPEND VICTORIA DAY

The Different Events on the Programme—Sports are Much to the Fore—Excursions by Rail and Water—Study the Summarized List Below and Then Decide What to Do.

Monday is Victoria Day—a holiday set apart to commemorate the birthday of Britain's late lamented sovereign, Victoria the Good.

There is no reason why anyone in Peterborough should not celebrate the day right loyally. In Peterborough many special events have been arranged. A list of them will be found below.

The weather! The weather conditions for the holiday are likely to be everything that could be desired. The "probs" promise a fair and warm day. "Just give us weather like to-day and we ask nothing more," is the slogan. Numerous private picnics, trips down the river, etc., have been arranged and will no doubt result in pleasure to those participating therein.

Below will be found in summarized form the different events of interest to Peterborough people on Monday.

BASEBALL.

Baseball at Riverside Park—Peterborough vs. Port Hope, at 10.15 a.m., exhibition game. At 3 o'clock Peterborough vs. Port Hope in the opening game of the Midland League in Peterborough.

The Athletics of Peterborough will meet Cobourg at Cobourg in a Midland League game.

At 9.30 o'clock the Karenots will play the West Ends at Nicholls Oval, and at 3 o'clock at the same place the Strathconas will meet the West Ends in City League games.

HORSE RACES.

The Peterborough Turf Club will hold a matinee at the Driving Park in the afternoon, when several good races will be run off. This promises to be one of the best attractions of the day, and it is expected that a big crowd will be in attendance.

OTHER SPORTS.

A local lacrosse team will go to Millbrook, where they will play a team of that town. The Quaker football team will play at Norwood in a Midland League game.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Salvation Army excursion to Idyl Wyld. The steamer will leave the Wolfe street wharf at eight o'clock. The band will go along to provide music.

EXCURSION TO THE LAKES.

The steamer "Water Lily" will leave the Wolfe street wharf at 7.30 a.m. on Monday, May 25th, lift lock at eight o'clock for Stony Lake calling at the principal points. Dinner at Mount Julian.

The steamer "Monarch" will leave the Wolfe street wharf at nine o'clock with the Monaghan Club excursion.

The Canadian Bill Posters' Association will meet here in the City Council Chamber at 9.30 o'clock in the morning. In the evening they will hold a banquet at the Oriental Hotel.

DRINK JOHNS' TEA

BAND WILL PLAY IN CENTRAL PARK

Peterborough Band to Give Two Concerts on Monday

A band concert will be one of the features of Victoria Day in Peterborough. The Peterborough band, which is now playing exceedingly well will play in Central Park from nine to ten o'clock. If the weather is fine they will give another concert between seven and eight o'clock in the evening. The band is giving these concerts gratuitously.

When you go shopping don't simply say "a pound of tea," because you can secure better tea, more delicious tea if you only ask for "Salada."

Round trip car will run on Monday, commencing at 10 O'clock a. m.

TORONTO GIRL PREFERS STAGE TO CONVENT

Margaret Moffatt Gives Her Views on Choice of Vacation of Girls Upon Reaching Maturity

"Ambitious daughters of social families in their latter school years are often worried by the question of what to do and to be doing when they reach maturity," says Margaret Moffatt, the handsome Toronto girl of the Ralph Stuart "Strongheart" company which comes to the Grand opera house on Tuesday, May 26th.

"It is a momentous question to them, as college girls of the present day give less thought to matrimony than did the girls of a generation ago. Women in a measure have been emancipated from the idea of domesticity as the only walk in life."

"In my opinion outside of matrimony for ambitious young women, the choice lies between the convent and the stage. I think a great many mothers agree with me that the stage is to be preferred if their daughters must do something.

"For one reason mothers can always see their girls if they are upon the stage and if in the cloister cannot always do so. Of course, there is a distinct difference between the object that would impel a girl to choose the stage as a vocation rather than a convent. If she has not a distinct call to the veil she can better serve her purpose in more artistic lines even if merely for a temporal end.

"There is no comparison between the two walks of life. Entering a convent means to devote all your energies and intellect toward serving God for an ultimate object, namely the saving of your soul and the souls of others. That is noble indeed, and far removed from the sordid things of earth. Entering the theatrical profession brings merely whatever earthly results, financial or vanity-satisfying, that may come to you but it is worthy in a way, if you are not called to the higher walk.

"The strain of separation on mothers whose daughters leave the world for the convent must be keen indeed, whereas, those who have daughters on the stage are ever capable of enjoying a thrill of pride over the child's abilities."

Teas come and go, but the tea that always stays, always leads, always absolutely pure, always the best in quality is "Salada."

THURSDAY HALF HOLIDAY WILL AGAIN BE IN FORCE

Is the Thursday half holiday going to be in force in Peterborough this summer?

This is a question that is being much discussed by the employees of local stores at present but a definite answer cannot be given at present. However, it looks as if the half holiday will again be in force during July and August.

It is understood that the majority of the employers are in favor of granting the half day cessation from labor, having found that it has not interfered with business in past years. Some of them offered their employees the option of closing each night during the week except Saturday at five o'clock but they preferred the half holiday on Thursday. It will likely go into effect generally on the first Thursday in July.

CRESSMAN'S BARGAIN ANNEX IS NOW REGISTERED TITLE

The well-known bargain department of A. W. Cressman's, which is situated on and exclusively occupies the fourth floor of the establishment, has for the past two and a half years been successfully conducted under the name "Bargain Annex." This name has become so well known all over the country and the department has been such a success that others have tried to imitate it, both in name and character, however, the name was before the Minister of Agriculture for registration and Mr. Cressman received the certificate this morning, thus barring any other firm from using the name "Bargain Annex," in connection with any mercantile business.

The "Bargain Annex" is a separate department of the store and is conducted on the same basis as any of the others, having a manager who makes regular buying trips to the large centres. In the "Annex" there is nothing sold but underpriced articles and the values given are far in advance of the standard, giving this department a most popular place with the economical buyer.

Every Wednesday is a scene of activity in this store from 8.10 in the morning until 5.15 in the afternoon, throngs crowd the fourth floor gathering in the seasonable economies and many a shrewd house wife saves considerable out of her weekly allowance.

In the past two years and a half there has not been a single poor day in the "Annex," every Wednesday has been a decided success and the number of customers waited on about 537 each Wednesday.

Extra sales people are required, who are employed for that day. The usual number serving ranges from 10 to 15, according to the salable qualities of the goods advertised, as some bargains cause greater rushes than others.

One proof of the popularity of the "Bargain Annex," is the number of kicks registered against the distribution of the weekly "Annex" dodger for not having the bell at the door, through some oversight, however, when an omission of this kind occurs and information is left at the office the address is taken and a recurrance is made impossible. The "Bargain Annex" motto, "Seasonable goods at prices lower than elsewhere."

MR. THOMPSON AT WESTWOOD A VERY LARGE GATHERING

Nearly two hundred electors attended the meeting called by Mr. Thompson the Liberal-Conservative candidate at Westwood on Friday evening, May 21st. The utmost interest was manifested in the proceedings. The Whitney administration is deservedly popular and it is a foregone conclusion that it will be returned to power with at least as large a majority as at present. Mr. Frank Birdsall occupied the chari.

Mr. Thompson spoke of the good reception he had had so far throughout the riding. He had nothing but good to say of his opponent Mr. McNulty but it was Mr. Whitney and Mr. MacKay who had to be considered in this case, not the candidates. The record of the government is before the people and it has been never equalled as a record of good fair administration by any government that had ever held office in Canada, Conservative or Liberal. The objections being urged by the Liberals were so trivial as not to bear the weight of discussion. The charge, that the school books were low-priced because they were a job lot was simply an untruth. The unnumbered ballot was the beginning of a new era that of freedom. Such acts as these showed the fairness and honesty of the government. All he asked was a thorough investigation of the record of the government and he would gladly abide by the result. He hoped his supporters would not forget to get out and work on polling day. He closed a really eloquent speech of forty minutes' duration by an appeal to the patriotism of all good citizens that they should come out and vote—Applause.

Mr. Gurnham followed and gave a concise history of legislation in Ontario from 1900 to the present time. The condition of Ontario under Mr. Ross was one of bankruptcy. Enormous deficits were impoverishing the people. Grafters and speculators had a clear field. Today we have a province that stands not even second to Great Britain in the money market. The era of deficits ceased in 1906, and immediately that of surpluses succeeded. Every department of public enterprise is feeling the effects of increased aid and greater care in the public behalf. No government that ever the had read of had done so much for the people. For the first time we were getting the benefit of our own resources. He also took up the CNR. guarantee and the La Rose deal, both of which he said originated in the stupidity and crookedness of the Ross government. It was not necessary to compare the notion of the two administrations to see that the charges of the opposition were nothing less than false.

Mr. Sexsmith briefly addressed the meeting which closed with cheers.

BIG AIRSHIP WAS WRECKED BALLOON HAD AN ACCIDENT

Tilted, Burst and Dropped With its Crew to the Ground—All its Occupants, 16 in Number, Injured—The Inventor Among Those Hurt.

Oakland, Calif., May 26.—A mammoth airship on its trial trip in Berkeley Saturday, rose 300 feet from the earth in view of 10,000 spectators, tilted, burst and dropped to the ground with its crew of 16 men, every one of whom was injured.

With the possible exception of L. V. Rogers, engineer, injured internally, all will recover. Seven were severely hurt, while nine were bruised and cut.

The accident was spectacular. A great concourse gathered around a field wherein the great aircraft had been filled with illuminating gas.

After much waiting the stay ropes were cut and the airship rose slowly from the earth. The five gasoline engines, suspended beneath the long gas receptacle at intervals of about 50 feet, each attended by an engineer, were not operated until the airship was well up in the air.

Then two of the engines slowely set in motion the long propellers reaching out from each side of the ship. Before the ship could be propelled further than a few feet the forward end tilted downward until the craft stood at an angle of forty-five degrees.

The members of the crew were apparently unable to run along the canvas pathway to equalize the weight and to right the airship, and they clung desperately to the netting and superstructure.

The rush of gas to the stern of the long gas bag caused the envelope to burst with a loud, ripping noise.

The release of a great quantity of gas caused the airship to settle towards the earth. For a few moments, it looked as though it would come down slowly enough to avoid any injury to the 16 men.

Some of them, however, lost their heads before the ship could alight and jumped, suffering broken limbs, or severe bruises. Nearing the earth, the ship lost gas more rapidly and the ship was borne to the earth with great force.

Mr. Morrell, the inventor of the craft, and several of the engineers were caught in the understructure and injured by the engines.

As the ship struck the ground, hundreds of men rushed forward and with knives ripped the gas bag in a hundred places, cutting away the varnished material to get out the men buried underneath. The injured men were quickly taken to hospitals.

J. A. Morrell had for a long time been engaged in building his airship. It was more than 400 feet long and 36 feet in diameter.

He had announced that it was only a model of the one he intended to build, declaring that he would construct a ship 1,200 feet long and capable of carrying 500 passengers.

The gas bag was the shape of a torpedo with blunt ends. The five engines were suspended by means of heavy network. A canvas running board connected the gasoline engines. The airship is said to have cost $40,000.

ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION TO THE FRENCH PRESIDENT

London, May 26.—King Edward, the Prince of Wales and other members of the royal family; Foreign Secretary Sir Edward Grey, Premier Asquith and Home Secretary Gladstone, welcomed M. Fallieres, the President of France, when he arrived at the Victoria station yesterday to return the visits which King Edward and other members of the British royal family have paid to the head of the French Republic in Paris.

A procession of state carriages, with postillons, was formed and proceeded to York House, that portion of St. James Palace where M. Fallieres will reside during his stay in London.

The large crowds that had assembled gave the President of France as heary a welcome as he could have wished for.

A state banquet at Buckingham Palace brought together the public men of England and the members of the diplomatic corps.

To-day the President and King Edward visited the Franco-British exhibition; Wednesday will commence with a reception to the diplomatic corps at St. James' Palace, followed by a visit to the city and luncheon at the Guild Hall. In the evening a gala performance will be given at Convent Garden at which the King and Queen, President Fallieres and a large number of specially invited guests will be present.

The naval display at Dover was remarkable. A fleet of fifty warships was formed in a long double line to greet the President of France, and the crews of the British vessels cheered lustily as the Leon Gambetta steamed up the line.

Immediately the Leon Gambetta had come to anchor Lord Charles Beresford and the other British officers boarded the French cruiser and were presented to President Fallieres, who expressed to Lord Charles his admiration of the splendid naval spectacle.

After this exchange of greetings President Fallieres was escorted to the shore, and on landing he was welcomed by Prince Arthur of Connaught on behalf of King Edward.

The mayor and the corporation of Dover presented him with an address of welcome, after which the President and party drove to the railroad station and took a train for London.

THAW WILL NOT BE RELEASED

Declared to be Insane and Legally Committed.

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., May 26.—Harry K. Thaw, the slayer of Stanford White, will not be released from the lunatic asylum.

This is the decision reached by Justice Morschauser of the supreme court in an opinion filed yesterday in the matter of Thaw's application for release on a writ of habeas corpus.

Both points brought up by Thaw's attorneys are decided against him. The justice declares that Thaw is now insane and should not be allowed at large, and he further declares that the commitment to the lunatic asylum by Justice Dowling after the last trial of the case was entirely legal.

Thaw's lawyers will apply to the cout for permission to place Thaw is some other institution than the Matteawan Asylum, and by stipulation with the district attorney, the prisoner will be kept in the jail here until Justice Morschauser renders a decision. The justice is holding court at White Plains this week and will not be able to hear the application before next week.

Narrow Escape of Street Car.

Hamilton, May 26.—Yesterday a street car jumped the track at the James street bridge, broke the natural gas main, set fire to the gas and put the gas system out of business for some time.

If the car had not struck the gas main it is believed that it would have dashed over the bridge down into the G. T. R. tracks. There were no passengers on board. The car took fire and was completely wrecked. The firemen were called out. The street car system was tangled up nearly all day from various causes.

Priest Stabbed In Church.

Salisbury, Mo., May 26.—In the presence of 400 worshippers Father Joseph F. Lubeley, aged 33 years, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, was stabbed twice with a pocketknife and perhaps fatally injured in church on Sunday by Joseph Schuette, a farmer, who is believed to have become suddenly demented. A panic was narrowly averted among the communicants, many of them [illegible]

PRINCESS IN LOVE WITH EXPLORER

Princess Victoria Said to Have Affection for Nansen, the Norwegian.

Hamburg, May 26.—The Premdehblatt prints despatches both from London, and Christiania, to the effect that a tender attachment exists between Dr. Fridjof Nansen, the famous explorer, until recently Norwegian ambassador at the Court of St. James, and Princess Victoria, the daughter of King Edward. Her Highness is 39 years of age; Nansen is 47, and well to do.

Royalty Being Sued.

Lisbon, May 26.—The royal household of Portugal is being besieged by its creditors, and the newspapers of Lisbon are filled with notices of suits brought by tradespeople against its members.

The courts already have awarded a butcher $210 and costs, the amount of an unpaid meat bill against Dowager Queen Maria Pia and the Duke of Oporto. This situation arises from the fact that the members of the royal household have not received a single penny from the state since King Carlos and his son were assassinated, because the new civil list cannot be approved until after the financial accounting of the late King Carlos is completed.

This is held by threatened revelations from Senhor Varvalho, who was Minister of Finance under ex-Premier Franco, regarding moneys which went to members of the present Government.

Roots and Herbs For Food.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 26.—The drought is broken in some parts of Jamaica, but the people of the section on the southern side are in desperate straits over the failure of the crops. They are existing on roots and herbs. The Government is now giving relief.

Oil Tank Exploded.

New York, May 26.—One of the Standard Oil Co.'s huge oil tanks in Brooklyn, having a capacity of 35,000 gallons, exploded yesterday, shattering windows in nearby houses. The oil caught fire and was burned.

VICTORIA DAY IN PETERBOROUGH

Peterborough celebrated Victoria Day right royally. The weather conditions were ideal and not for years has a holiday been so greatly enjoyed. The fact that the holiday followed Sunday made it possible for many persons to visit their homes at various points or to spend the day with relatives outside the city. In the same manner many former Peterborough people returned home to spend Sunday and the holiday and there were many happy family re-unions. The railways report an unusually large business in fact traffic was so heavy that the passenger accommodation was not what it should have been in some cases. However, this is to be expected at a holiday.

There was plenty going on in the city for those who wished to have some amusements. The Peterborough-Port Hope ball games in the morning and afternoon drew large crowds, especially the second match. The Turf Club matinee at the Driving Park attracted a large number in the afternoon and good sport was furnished. Two City League ball games, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon, were also well attended.

The excursions down the river, and to Stony Lake were well patronized. May 24th marks the real opening of the summer season at the lakes and the number who enjoyed the invigorating Kawartha breezes during the week end was much larger than in other years.

There were scores of private picnics, boating parties, etc. the day being ideal for functions of this nature.

The day passed without any untoward event to mar the pleasure. There were no serious accidents of any kind and the fact that there were no police court cases this morning is an evidence that order and sobriety prevailed.

THREE PERSONS PERISHED IN HOLIDAY DROWNING ACCIDENT

Walkerton, May 26.—Three lives were lost on Saturday night under exceptionally pathetic circumstances. The victims were Miss Bertha Obrieght, aged 20; Miss Gertrude Obrieght, and Fred Clark, aged 21.

The girls were sisters, and Fred Clark was a brother of "Bun" Clark, the well-known lacrosse player.

Simeon Smith was almost a fourth victim of the accident, which occurred at the milldam on the Saugeen river.

The four had gone out intending to row across the mill pond. The boat was allowed to drift down the river, none thinking that the dam was so close until the boat struck a log, about five feet from the dam.

One of the young men got out on the log to steady the boat, and the girls, in their fright, commenced to scream. Their cries were not responded to, and finally the boat got to the dam. There the young men attempted to hold it, while the girls continued to scream, becoming hysterical.

At last it was decided to attempt a desperate chance, to allow the boat to go over the dam, trusting that it would remain upright, but just as the bow got over the brink, the current swung the stern around and the boat upset.

The young men made a desperate attempt to rescue their companions.

Smith is an expert swimmer, but he was so exhausted when he reached shore that he lay for an hour before he could gain strength to summon aid.

Then he staggered to a farm house and raised the alarm, fainting almost at once.

Parties were organized and the bodies recovered at 3 o'clock Sunday morning 200 feet below the dam.

WAS SHOT IN THE HEAD WHILE CROSSING BRIDGE AT AUBURN ON SATURDAY

Edward James, who resides at Auburn, had a narrow escape from being instantly killed on Saturday evening. Mr. James was crossing the railroad bridge at Auburn about six o'clock when he was suddenly shot in the head.

The bullet, which, judging from the wound, would be that of a 22 revolver, entered the side of his hat, hit his scalp, entering one side and coming out the other and out through the other side of his hat. Mr. James was so much taken by surprise that he could not for a minute, think what had happened. He was able to return to his home. Dr. Morgan was called and attended the injured man. The wound fortunately, was not a serious one, and Mr. James was able to return to his work to-day.

Where the bullet came from or who fired it, is a deep mystery. Mr. James is at a loss to know whether it was merely accidental or whether some other motive prompted the firing of it.

LITTLE FELLOW RUN OVER BY BICYCLIST ON GEORGE-ST.

Fairon Stevens, the four-year-old son of Mr. G. L. Stevens, 631 George street, was the victim of a painful accident on Saturday evening. The little fellow was coming across the road in front of his home when a local Chinaman wheeling north, knocked the youngster down, and running over the child's right leg, broke it in two places. The bicyclist states that he rung the bell, but a boy of such tender years would not know enough to get out of the way. However, no blame is attached to the Chinaman, as it was purely accidental.

Drs. McClelland and McKinnon set the fractured limb. The little fellow is doing as well as could be expected, although he is suffering considerable pain.

WILL TRY TO BRING NEXT MEETING TO PETERBOROUGH

Mr. W. H. G. Armstrong, County Master, and Mr. H. T. Everett, W.P., R.B.P. No. 261 left yesterday for Midland, to attend the meeting of the Grand Black Chapter, and the Grand Orange Lodge of British North America. The first session of the Grand Black Chapter was held last evening and is being continued to-day. To-morrow afternoon the Grand Orange Lodge will commence and the meeting will probably last until Friday afternoon.

The local delegates intend making an effort to have the next meeting held in Peterborough. As delegates would be present from Newfoundland on the east to British Columbia on the west, and would number about three hundred of the leading men of Canada and Britain's oldest Colony, Peterborough would be much benefitted as the result of the meeting being held here.

MAN HAD NARROW ESCAPE AT SMITH'S FALLS STATION

Several Peterborough people who came in on the five o'clock morning train from the east this morning, report the narrow escape from death of a man at Smith's Falls. There was a big crowd at the Smiths' Falls station as a celebration was held in the town during the day and there was a great crush when the train from Montreal pulled in. There were several hundred Perth People at the celebration and they were all anxious to get home on the Montreal train. As the express was coming into the station several people started to cross the track thinking they would be able to board the train more quickly from the other side. One man, about forty years of age, slipped while crossing the track and was just able to pick himself up and scramble out of danger when the engine passed. The on-lookers held their breath when the man fell and several ladies screamed. Considerable excitement prevailed for a few minutes.

S. A. EXCURSION TO IDYL WYLD

Steamer Otonabee Carried Nearly 300 Passengers Yesterday

The steamer "Otonabee" carried nearly three hundred to Idyl Wyld yesterday on the occasion of the annual excursion of the Salvation Army. The day was beautiful and an ideal one for such an event. This lovely spot on Rice Lake, "Idyl Wyld," is looking prettier than ever. It was reached shortly before noon. Here dinner was partaken of, after which the band gave a concert on the grounds. The steamer started on the return trip at four o'clock, reaching the city about eight o'clock.

BELL'S MACHINE WAS WRECKED

Toronto Operator Made a Mistake in the Flying Machine.

Hammondsport, N.Y., May 26.—Traveling at a rate of 34 miles an hour and at a height of 20 feet, the aeroplane White Wings was struck by a heavy squall Saturday afternoon and, turning turtle, fell, Aviator John McCurdy of Toronto being pinned under the wreckage.

The rigid construction of the aeroplane save his life, for it carried the motor over him and he crawled out unhurt before anyone could reach him.

The glide before the flight was 108 yards, and then the White Wings rose. For the first six of the 11 seconds it was flying it seemed to be absolutely under the aviator's control, but just then the squall struck the machine. Directly in front was a vineyard, and Mr. McCurdy, fearing he might land among the vine poles, steered the White Wings to the left. In doing this he either forgot his controls or they failed to operate, for the aeroplane tipped badly, and after three seconds of reeling turned over and crashed to the ground.

Whether the White Wings will be rebuilt or not is a question to be decided by Dr. Alex. Bell, who is in Washington.

Train Despatching by Telephone.

Winnipeg, May 26.—J. Kent, manager, and W. J. Camp, electrical engineer, of C. P. R. telegraphs, arrived in the city from Montreal. The latter states that the railways of the east have under advisement the adoption of a system for the purpose of despatching trains by telephone instead of by telegraph.

This will be one of the chief subjects to be discussed at the convention of the association of railway telegraph superintendents, to be held in Montreal on June 24, 25 and 26.

Shipbuilders' Strike Over.

London, May 26.—A general ballot of the men involved in the shipbuilding strike was held, and resulted in favor of accepting the terms offered by the employers. Consequently work will be resumed May 28. Fully a quarter of a million workmen were involved in this movement. The trouble began in January.

Gasoline Explodes.

Vancouver, May 26.—Dr. J. H. Smith and A. W. Ross were badly injured through the bursting of a tank of gasoline on a launch in English Bay. They were fearfully burned. Several others in the boat escaped.

Standard Oil Suit.

New York, May 26.—The Standard Oil Co., its officials and allied and subsidiary companies, began yesterday to submit their evidence in the suit brought by the United States Government to dissolve the alleged oil combine.

C. C. Steinbrenner, an official of the Galena Signal Oil Co. of Franklin, Pa., was the first witness. He said the Southern Pacific only paid an average of about one-half the invoice price for the oil it used. Figures quoted showed refunds from the Galena Co. to the Southern Pacific. Mr. Steinbrenner said they carried the Pennsylvania and the Southern Pacific roads at a loss for advertising purposes, hoping at the same time to ultimately increase the contract for oil to the full 100 per cent.

Accidentally Shot.

North Bay, May 26.—Larry Loughrin, brother of John Loughrin, Liberal candidate for Nipissing, was accidentally killed at a lumber camp 12 miles north of Cartier.

Loughrin was taking the rifle out of a box with the muzzle towards him when the trigger caught and the gun discharged, the bullet entering his breast, causing almost instant death.

He was chief fire [illegible] at Temagami for many years.

Telephone Service Paralyzed.

Rochester, May 26.—The entire system of the Rochester Telephone Co., which involves 11,000 instruments, is out of commission and will be for a week, as the result of a fire in the exchange.

Not Mrs. Guinness' Body After All.

Laporte, Ind., May 26.—That the body of Mrs. O'Reilly, who disappeared from Rochester, N.Y., last fall, was substituted by Mrs. Guinness for her own in the fire is the latest theory advanced.

TAKING COURSES IN TORONTO

Lieuts. F. A. Clarke and A. G. Carruthers are in Toronto taking courses at the Royal School of Infantry to pass their qualifying examinations. They will be there about 10 days.

A BAD TROLLEY ACCIDENT OCCURRED NEAR OTTAWA

Being Victoria Day and Fine, Cars Were Crowded—One Came to a Stop Through Failure of Trolley and the Other Crashed Into It.

Ottawa, May 26.—A bad smash-up occurred on Sunday afternoon on the line of the Ottawa Electric Railway Co. at Westboro, a few miles from this city, as a result of which eight people injured are in the General Hospital and two in the Water street Hospital.

The cars, on account of it being Victoria Day, and the weather unusually fine, were crowded. Coming into the city two cars crowded with passengers, one following the other collided. It is said the head one stopped suddenly and that before the motorman running the rear one could check his car, ran into the other. The failure of the trolley had caused the front car to stop.

The front part of the rear car was badly wrecked, the motors and entire vestibule being thrown down and the top farmework of the car forced back several inches.

Cars on the city streets were sidetracked and one big one was specially supplied with doctors and run into the city with the injured at a high rate of speed.

At the Protestant General Hospital there are:

Jay Wolfe, aged 16, son of Max Wolfe, an Ottawa furrier, leg slightly crushed.

Miss Minnie Herbert, not seriously hurt.

Mrs. Isabella Liberty.

Miss Rena Moran, compound fracture of the left leg, some cuts on the head and wrist sprained.

Mrs. Pinard, injury to eye.

Frederick Byrnes, aged 16, crushed about the legs badly.

Charles Byrnes, aged 19, also crushed about the legs. They are brothers. Both are so badly hurt that the doctors say amputation will be necessary in both cases.

Edward Breadenburg.

Miss Nellie Driscoll.

In Water street Hospital:

Miss Yvonne Rene, aged 16, injured about the hip.

Mrs. Rene, her mother, was also injured, but is not in the hospital.

All the injured were residents of Ottawa.

A later despatch says Charles Byrnes is dead.

EDITORIAL NOTES

When Ontario farm lands go down in price owing to the building of that modern monstrosity the G.T.P. do not forget that "we told you so."

We are very much inclined to think that the Kingston Standard which we understand poses as Conservative is merely a wolf in sheep's clothing.

Rev. Principal Caven, Rev. Dr. Potts, Rev. Chancellor Wallace, Rev. Dr. Warden thought and said that a three-fifths majority was a necessary requirement, but then they didn't belong to this district.

The B.C. newspapers are incensed at the Laurier Government's attempt to take the voters' lists out of provincial hands. It is a complete backdown on the Dominion Government's boast of a few years ago.

Those people who say that women can't fight are having their "eyes opened" these days at least, in England. The next generation of mothers if it has any children, will spank them as flat as a flat-headed Indian.

Ottawa, May 22—Mr. Armand Lavergne presented petitions which he said were signed by over 400,000 French speaking people in Quebec asking that public utility companies in that Province be required to use French as well as English in their notices on tickets, documents, etc. Seven page boys were required to carry these petitions from the House.—News.0000

The Examiner, in an "able" article on the culture of the Conservative party, in which it also makes patronizing remarks concerning the language of Hon. J. P. Whitney, and others, states that when addressing an audience in Smith township, Mr. J. H. Burnham made use of the expression "they had no objection to Mr. Gillespie, it was only the d——d company he kept." This statement regarding Mr. Burnham is untrue. It is hardly worth denying.

BIG OFFER FOR LOCAL FIRM

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons Asked to Decorate Quebec City for Big Demonstration

Messrs. J. J. Turner and Sons have been offered the sum of $9,600 for decorating Quebec for the demonstration to be held there in July. The firm does not consider the amount large enough, however, and will not undertake the contract unless a better offer is made.

ANNUAL SERMON TO THE SONS OF ENGLAND

Preached by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt at St. Luke's Church Sunday Evening

The annual church parade of Lansdowne Lodge, No. 25, Sons of England, took place on Sunday evening to St. Luke's church. About seventy-five were in attendance. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt. It was an eloquent and scholarly discourse on the subject of patriotism. The service, having been held on Victoria Day, was chiefly patriotic, it opening with the singing of the National Anthem. The other hymns were also appropriate for the occasion. The church sanctuary, too, bore out the patriotic aspect of the service. It was prettily arranged with flags and ensigns.

The society was marshalled by Mr. R. Rivey who has performed the duty for many years.

THE SERMON

Dr. Langfeldt did not chose any text but referred to the words of St. Paul when the apostle was face to face with King Agrippa, "I am a citizen of no mean city."

"You are citizens of no mean country," said Dr. Langfeldt, to his hearers on commencing his remarks. "You belong to the greatest Empire the world has ever seen. Her greatness depends on the manhood and womanhood of her people in maintaining it. Your sincerity and loyalty, depend on your greatest national character which is patriotism. On this Victoria Day we all rejoice and thank God for His innumerable blessings and the prosperity vouchsafed, the British Empire.

The true conception of patriotism must include the divine as well as the human aspect. Patriotism has won much and has done a great deal towards the advancement of civilization. It is love and zeal for one's country.

The speaker believed that the Anglo-Saxon race with all its component parts had tended much to the advancement of the world. The welfare of a nation depended on its moral character and the loyalty and devotion of its people. Nelson's words, "England expects every man to do his duty" should command the attention of every British subject.

The reverend doctor thought that the young people should be trained in discipline.

As sons of England, the moulding of patriotism largely depended and in these days when annexation to the land to the south is talked up, the speaker thought that the society should be on their guard and never consent to severance from the mother country.

The speaker closed his excellent address by urging the members of the society to keep alive their patriotic sentiments and be obedient to the laws of the British Empire.

During the offertory Miss Lancaster sang very sweetly, "God who madest Earth and Heaven.

The Sons of England on returning to their hall passed votes of thanks to the rector and choir of St. Luke's church.

CAUSE FOR ALARM

Epidemic Influenza, Grippe, Catarrhal Troubles, Pneumonia Increasing

A marked increase in troubles of the breathing organs is noted in many localities. If you will only have Hyomei at hand to use with the first attack of cold in the head, pneumonia, colds, bronchitis, hoarseness, sore throat, croup, in fact any respiratory affection, the trouble will be quickly overcome.

If the attack is neglected and becomes severe, speedy relief will come in most cases and a persistent use of Hyomei will cure.

The directions for using it vary, but the principal is always the same that of destroying all the germs in the air passages with dry medication from the Pine and Eucalyptus forests.

Remember that liquids or moisture is barred from the bronchial tubes and lungs. It's the dry air of Hyomei that reaches the spot. W. Madill, corner of Hunter and George streets, Peterborough, guarantees it complete outfit. $1.

AN ACT OF SACRILEGE

Despatches from Rome report an act of sacrilege committed in the Pope's private chapel that must have shocked every person that has any real grasp of sound principles. Two women and a man who had been admitted through the intervention of the Hungarian ambassador, took the sacrament from the hands of the Pope and afterwards spat the wafers out upon the floor.

Their defence or explanation of the occurrence was that they were not Roman Catholics. If that is the case, they had no business taking the sacrament. There can be no excuse for them going so far as committing themselves to the acceptance of the sacrament. But having placed themselves in that position, ordinary courtesy should have compelled them to avoid making the scene that occurred. We have, of course, no sympathy with the sacramental wafer, but it is quite as repugnant to our ideas that any person should commit such an offence in the presence of those who are sincere in their act of worship. It is not in this way that Protestantism can be advanced. It is only by showing a better and broader spirit than Roman Catholics exhibit that we can hope to make a good impression upon those who adhere to that form of worship. It may have due to ignorance, but one hardly expects to find it so highly developed among those who have the ambassadors of a great nation for their friends.—The Orange Sentinel.

REGISTRATION AND VOTING IN ENGLAND

The following interesting comparison of the election laws and customs of England and Canada is by Mr. Geo. P. Lumley, accountant, of Peterborough, late of Manchester, Eng.:—

The registration laws of England differ very much from those of Canada.

In the first place there is no manhood suffrage. Do not understand from this that the franchise in England is in the hands of the monied classes, and that the man who lives in a tenement has no vote, on the contrary the man who lives in the tenement de room and pays perhaps 50 cents per week rent, has an equal vote in the city in which he resides, with the man who is a millionaire.

Under the English system of registration for parliamentary purposes we have "Occupiers' Franchises," "Owners' Franchises," "Lodgers' Franchise" and "Service Franchise." I will give a brief outline of each.

Occupiers—For a man to become entitled to a vote as an occupier, he must reside for 12 months in the city or town in which he wishes to register, the qualifying period being from 15th July to 15th July, of the following year. Under this system it is possible for an Englishman to reside in his own county for years, and yet not be entitled to a vote. He has no succession from one city or town to any other town. He may have lived in 20 houses in one city and yet be entitled to vote providing he has lived in the city during the qualifying period, but if he removes from that city, say on the 14th July, '08, and does not occupy another house until 16th July, '08, he would not become qualified to vote in the in which he had gone to reside (or any other) until 15th July, 1910, providing of course, he resided there that length of time. If he removed again to another city he would be disqualified for a longer period still. This, of course, affects the monied as well as the working classes.

Every man who occupies from one room upwards is entitled to be placed on the occupiers' list by the overseer, providing he has the necessary residential qualifications, viz., 12 months, 15th July to 15th July, or unless he has received relief from poor Galley two registration rates or is not a British subject.

Ownership—An ownership vote entitles a man who is the owner of property, to have a vote in the division in which the property is situated, providing he does not reside in that particular division, so no man is entitled to more than one vote in any division.

Should a man own property in the same city in which he resides, he is of course, entitled to vote for a member of parliament for the city as an occupier. He is also entitled to vote in respect to his ownership for a member of parliament for the county division in which the city is in.

For example, a man owning property and residing in Newcastle-on-Tyne would be entitled to vote as an occupier for the city, he would also be entitled to vote as an owner in the Tyneside (county) division in which Newcastle is situated. If a man owns property in 20 different divisions he has an ownership vote in each division and rightly so I think. I believe that a man who has large vested interests in the county, ought to have a little more to say in the affairs of state than the man who has nothing at stake, and consequently nothing to lose.

Lodgers—All men over 21 years of age. They must occupy a separate room and pay $50 per year for use of same. The house at which he boards must also be of the rateable value of $50 per annum. He must have resided in the house for 12 months from July 15th to July 15th. A lodger has no succession claim, like the occupier. The oftener he removes the longer he is disqualified, although in the same city an occupier may remove as often as he wishes

NATURE AND A WOMAN'S WORK

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Nature and a woman's work combined have produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they relied upon the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease and mitigate suffering.

The Indians on our Western Plains to-day can produce roots and herbs for every ailment, and cure diseases that baffle the most skilled physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs.

From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham more than thirty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills, more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

Mrs. J. M. Tweedale, 12 Napanee Street, Toronto, Canada, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was a great sufferer from female troubles, had those dreadful bearing down pains, and during my monthly periods I suffered so I had to go to bed. I doctored for a long time but the doctor's treatment failed to help me. My husband saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and got a bottle for me. I commenced its use and soon felt better. I kept on taking it until I was well and an entirely different woman. I also found that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made childbirth much easier for me. I would recommend your Vegetable Compound to every woman who is afflicted with female troubles."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Tweedale, it will do for other suffering women.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS, 1908

To the Electors of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—It is my privilege to again appear before you as the Conservative candidate in the approaching election of members of the Ontario Legislature, and while on the previous occasion I was in opposition to the Government, I now have the pleasure of supporting the Administration of Hon. J. P. Whitney, whose management of the affairs of the Province, with the support of an able cabinet, has, during his short premiership, proved of such marked benefit.

Measures of a far-reaching character have been passed, and the statute books of the last three years are replete with legislation of a high order, as well for its originality as its soundness. Let me mention a few of the important acts of the past sessions. The establishment of a Railway and Municipal Board, the new act relating to mining, the creation of the Hydro-Electric Commission, the amendment of the liquor laws, amendments to the law relating to the election of members of the Legislature, particularly the alteration in the ballot, which is now absolutely secret.

The administration of the public domain, especially the mining laws of the Province, has been most profitable, adding large sums to both revenue and capital, and the different changes which have been effected in the Education Department have met with the approval of all persons, concerned in that most important branch of the public service.

One of the beneficial acts of the Government is the taking with its own hands the distribution of electric energy through the great water power of Niagara Falls, and other rivers capable of hydraulic development. Thus are the different municipalities through the Province enabled to obtain the inestimable commodity at a minimum of cost.

The Government, while endeavoring to serve the people generally have not been unmindful of the importance of this riding, and when the new normal schools were to be created one of the four was placed in this constituency, thus affording exceptional advantages to the teachers and schools of this county.

In the short time which will elapse before polling day, I shall endeavour to make my views more fully known to you both privately and publicly, and I bespeak your cordial support, not so much because of any merits of my own, as on account of the splendid record of the Government.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

T. E. BRADBURN

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

By CHARLES KLEIN.

A Story of American Life Novelized From the Play by ARTHUR HORNBLOW.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

"Good boy," said Ryder, pleased. "Now you're talking common sense." He turned to Shirley, who was getting ready to make her departure: "Well, Miss Green, we may consider the matter settled. You undertake the work at the price I named and finish it as soon as you can. Of course you will have to consult me a good deal as you go along, so I think it would be better for you to come and stay here while the work is progressing. Mrs. Ryder can give you a suit of rooms to yourself, where you will be undisturbed, and you will have all your material close at hand. What do you say?"

Shirley was silent for a moment. She looked first at Ryder and then at his son, and from them her glance went to the little drawer on the left hand side of the desk. Then she said quietly:

"As you think best, Mr. Ryder. I am quite willing to do the work here."

Ryder senior escorted her to the top of the landing and watched her as she passed down the grand staircase, ushered by the gorgeously uniformed flunkies, to the front door and the street.

CHAPTER XIII.

SHIRLEY entered upon her new duties in the Ryder household two days later. She had returned to her rooms the evening of her meeting with the financier in a state bordering upon hysteria. The day's events had been so extraordinary that it seemed to her they could not be real and that she must be in a dream. The car ride to Seventy-fourth street, the interview in the library, the discovery of her father's letters, the offer to write the biography and, what to her was still more important, the invitation to go and live in the Ryder home—all these incidents were so remarkable and unusual that it was only with difficulty that the girl persuaded herself that they were not figments of a disordered brain.

But it was all true enough. The next morning's mail brought a letter from Mrs. Ryder, who wrote to the effect that Mr. Ryder would like the work to begin at once and adding that a suit of rooms would be ready for her the following afternoon. Shirley did not hesitate. Everything was to be gained by making the Ryder residence her headquarters, her father's very life depending upon the successful outcome of her present mission, and this unhoped for opportunity practically insured success. She immediately wrote to Massapequa. One letter was to her mother, saying that she was extending her visit beyond the time originally planned. The other letter was to Stott. She told him all about the interview with Ryder, informed him of the discovery of the letters and after explaining the nature of the work offered to her said that her address for the next few weeks would be in care of John Burkett Ryder. All was going better than she had dared to hope. Everything seemed to favor their plan. Her first step, of course, while in the Ryder home would be to secure possession of her father's letters, and these she would dispatch at once to Massapequa, so they could be laid before the senate without delay.

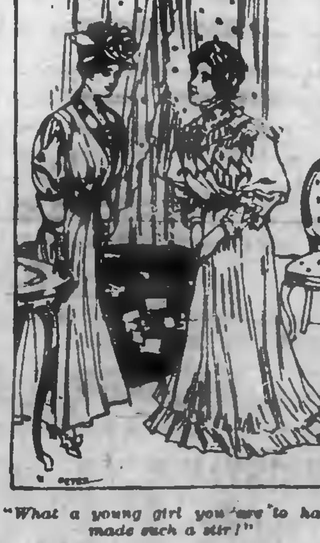
So, after settling accounts with her landlady and packing up her few belongings, Shirley lost no time in transferring herself to the more luxurious quarters provided for her in the $10,000,000 mansion uptown.

At the Ryder house she was received cordially and with every mark of consideration. The housekeeper came down to the main hall to greet her when she arrived and escorted her to the suit of rooms, comprising a small working library, a bedroom simply but daintily furnished in pink and white and a private bathroom which had been specially prepared for her convenience and comfort, and here presently she was joined by Mrs. Ryder.

"Dear me," exclaimed the financier's wife, staring curiously at Shirley, "what a young girl you are to have made such a stir with a book! How did you do it? I'm sure I couldn't. It's as much as I can do to write a letter, and half the time that's not legible."

"Oh, it wasn't so hard!" laughed Shirley. "It was the subject that appealed rather than any special skill of mine. The trusts and their misdeeds are the favorite topics of the hour. The whole country is talking about nothing else. My book came at the right time, that's all."

Although "The American Octopus" was a direct attack on her own husband, Mrs. Ryder secretly admired this young woman who had dared to speak a few blunt truths. It was a courage which, alas, she had always lacked herself, but there was a certain satisfaction in knowing there were women in the world not entirely cowed by the tyrant man.



"What a young girl you are to have made such a stir!"

"I have always wanted a daughter," went on Mrs. Ryder, becoming confidential, while Shirley removed her things and made herself at home. "Girls of your age are so companionable." Then abruptly she asked, "Do your parents live in New York?"

Shirley's face flushed, and she stooped over her trunk to hide her embarrassment.

"No—not at present," she answered evasively. "My mother and father are in the country."

She was afraid that more questions of a personal nature would follow, but apparently Mrs. Ryder was not in an inquisitive mood, for she asked nothing further. She only said:

"I have a son, but I don't see much of him. You must meet my Jefferson. He is such a nice boy."

Shirley tried to look unconcerned as she replied:

"I met him yesterday. Mr. Ryder introduced him to me."

"Poor lad! He has his troubles, too," went on Mrs. Ryder. "He's in love with a girl, but his father wants him to marry some one else. They're quarreling over it all the time."

"Parents shouldn't interfere in matters of the heart," said Shirley decisively. "What is more serious than the choosing of a life companion, and who are better entitled to make a free selection than they who are going to spend the rest of their days together? Of course it is a father's duty to give his son the benefit of his riper experience, but to insist on a marriage based only on business interests is little less than a crime. There are considerations more important if the union is to be a happy or a lasting one. The chief thing is that the man should feel real attachment for the woman he marries. Two people who are to live together as man and wife must be compatible in tastes and temper. You cannot mix oil and water. It is these selfish marriages which keep our divorce courts busy. Money alone won't buy happiness in marriage."

"No," sighed Mrs. Ryder. "No one knows that better than I."

The financier's wife was already most favorably impressed with her guest, and she chatted on as if she had known Shirley for years. It was rarely that she had heard so young a woman express such common sense views, and the more she talked with her the less surprised she was that she was the author of a much discussed book. Finally, thinking that Shirley might prefer to be alone, she rose to go, bidding her make herself thoroughly at home and to ring for anything she might wish. A maid had been assigned to look exclusively after her wants, and she could have her meals served in her room or else have them with the family, as she liked. But Shirley, not caring to encounter Mr. Ryder's cold, searching stare more often than necessary, said she would prefer to take her meals alone.

Left to herself, Shirley settled down to work in earnest. Mr. Ryder had sent to her room all the material for the biography, and soon she was completely absorbed in the task of sorting and arranging letters, making extracts from records, compiling data, etc., laying the foundations for the important book she was to write. She wondered what they would call it, and she smiled as a peculiarly appropriate title flashed through her mind—"The History of a Crime." Yet she thought they could hardly infringe on Victor Hugo. Perhaps the best title was the simplest—"The History of the Empire Trading Company." Every one would understand that it told the story of John Burkett Ryder's remarkable career from his earliest beginnings to the present time. She worked feverishly all that evening getting the material into shape, and the following day found her early at her desk. No one disturbed her, and she wrote steadily on until noon, Mrs. Ryder only once putting her head in the door to wish her good morning.

After luncheon Shirley decided that the weather was too glorious to remain indoors. Her health must not be jeopardized even to advance the interests of the Colossus, so she put on her hat and left the house to go for a walk. The air smelled sweet to her after being confined so long indoors, and she walked with a more elastic and buoyant step than she had since her return home. Turning down Fifth avenue, she entered the park at Seventy-second street, following the pathway until she came to the bend in the driveway opposite the Casino. The park was almost deserted at that hour, and there was a delightful sense of solitude and a sweet scent of new mown hay from the freshly cut lawns. She found an empty bench, well shaded by an overspreading tree, and sat down, grateful for the rest and quiet.

She wondered what Jefferson thought of her action in coming to his father's house practically in disguise and under an assumed name. She must see him at once, for in him lay her hope of obtaining possession of the letters. Certainly she felt no delicacy or compunction in asking Jefferson to do her this service. The letters belonged to her father, and they were being wrongfully withheld with the deliberate purpose of doing him an injury. She had a moral if not a legal right to recover the letters in any way that she could.

She was so deeply engrossed in her thoughts that she had not noticed a hansom cab which suddenly drew up with a jerk at the curb opposite her bench. A man jumped out. It was Jefferson.

"Hello, Shirley," he cried gayly. "Who would have expected to find you rusticating on a bench here? I pictured you grinding away at home doing literary stunts for the governor." He grinned and then added: "Come for a drive. I want to talk to you."

Shirley demurred. No; she could not spare the time. Yet, she thought to herself, why was not this a good opportunity to explain to Jefferson how he came to find her in his father's library masquerading under another name and also to ask him to secure the letters for her? While she pondered Jefferson insisted, and a few minutes later she found herself sitting beside him in the cab. They started off at a brisk pace, Shirley sitting with her head back, enjoying the strong breeze caused by the rapid motion.

"Now tell me," he said, "what does it all mean? I was so startled at seeing you in the library the other day that I almost betrayed you. How did you come to call on father?"

Briefly Shirley explained everything. She told him how Mr. Ryder had written to her asking her to call and see him and how she had eagerly seized at this last straw in the hope of helping her father. She told him about the letters, explaining how necessary they were for her father's defense and how she had discovered them. Mr. Ryder, she said, had seemed to take a fancy to her and had asked her to remain in the house as his guest while she was compiling his biography, and she had accepted the offer not so much for the amount of money involved as for the splendid opportunity it afforded her to gain possession of the letters.

"So that is the mysterious work you spoke of, to get those letters?" said Jefferson.

"Yes; that is my mission. It was a secret. I couldn't tell you. I couldn't tell any one. Only Judge Stott knows. He is aware I have found them and is hourly expecting to receive them from me. And now," she said, "I want your help."

His only answer was to grasp tighter the hand she had laid in his. She knew that she would not have to explain the nature of the service she wanted. He understood.

"Where are the letters?" he demanded.

"In the left hand drawer of your father's desk," she answered.

He was silent for a few moments, and then he said simply:

"I will get them."

The cab by this time had got as far as Claremont, and from the hill summit they had a splendid view of the broad sweep of the majestic Hudson and the towering walls of the blue palisades. The day was so beautiful and the air so invigorating that Jefferson suggested a ramble along the banks of the river. They could leave the cab at Claremont and drive back to the city later. Shirley was too grateful to him for his promise of cooperation to make any further opposition, and soon they were far away from beaten highways, down on the banks of the historic stream, picking flowers and laughing merrily like two truant children bent on a self made holiday. The place they had reached was just outside the northern boundaries of Harlem, a sylvan spot still unspoiled by the rude invasion of the flat house builder. The land, thickly wooded, sloped down sharply to the water, and the perfect quiet was broken only by the washing of the tiny surf against the river bank and the shrill notes of the birds in the trees.

Although it was late in October, the day was warm, and Shirley soon tired of climbing over bramble entangled verdure. The rich grass underfoot looked cool and inviting, and the natural slope of the ground affording an ideal resting place she sat there, with Jefferson stretched out at her feet, both watching idly the dancing waters of the broad Hudson, spangled with gleams of light, as they swept swiftly by on their journey to the sea.

"Shirley," said Jefferson suddenly, "I suppose you saw that ridiculous story about my alleged engagement to Miss Roberts. I hope you understood that it was done without my consent."

"If I did not guess it, Jeff," she answered, "your assurance would be sufficient. Besides," she added, "what right have I to object?"

"But I want you to have the right," he replied earnestly. "I'm going to stop this Roberts nonsense in a way my father hardly anticipates. I'm just waiting a chance to talk to him. I'll show him the absurdity of announcing me engaged to a girl who is about to elope with his private secretary!"

"Elope with the secretary!" exclaimed Shirley.

Jefferson told all about the letter he had found on the staircase and the Hon. Fitzroy Bagley's plans for a runaway marriage with the senator's wealthy daughter.

"It's a godsend to me," he said gleefully. "Their plan is to get married next Wednesday. I'll see my father on Tuesday. I'll put the evidence in his hands, and I don't think," he added grimly, "he'll bother me any more about Miss Roberts."

"So you're not going away now?" said Shirley, smiling down at him.

He sat up and leaned over toward her.

"I can't, Shirley, I simply can't," he replied, his voice trembling. "You are more to me than I dreamed a woman could ever be. I realize it more forcibly every day. There is no use fighting against it. Without you my work, my life, means nothing."

Shirley shook her head and averted her eyes.

"Don't let us speak of that, Jeff," she pleaded gently. "I told you I did not belong to myself while my father was in peril."

"But I must speak of it," he interrupted. "Shirley, you do yourself an injustice as well as me. You are not indifferent to me—I feel that. Then why raise this barrier between us?"

A soft light stole into the girl's eyes. Ah, it was good to feel there was some one to whom she was everything in the world!

"Don't ask me to betray my trust, Jeff," she faltered. "You know I am not indifferent to you—far from it. But I"—

He came closer until his face nearly touched hers.

"I love you—I want you," he murmured feverishly. "Give me the right to claim you before all the world as my future wife!"

Every note of his rich, manly voice, vibrating with impetuous passion, sounded in Shirley's ear like a soft caress. She closed her eyes. A strange feeling of languor was stealing over her; a mysterious thrill passed through her whole body. The eternal, inevitable sex instinct was disturbing for the first time a woman whose life had been singularly free from such influences, putting to flight all the calculations and resolves her cooler judgment had made. The sensuous charm of the place—the distant splash of the water, the singing of the birds, the fragrance of the trees and grass—all these symbols of the joy of life conspired to arouse the love hunger of the woman. Why, after all, should she not know happiness like other women? She had a sacred duty to perform, it was true, but would it be less well done because she declined to stifle the natural leanings of her womanhood? Both her soul and her body called out, "Let this man love you; give yourself to him; he is worthy of your love."

Half unconsciously she listened to his ardent wooing, her eyes shut, as he spoke quickly, passionately, his breath warm upon her cheek:

MANY KNIGHTS IN ATTENDANCE

Lindsay, May 25.—A big convention of the Knights of Columbus was in session to-day with representatives from Brockville, Kingston, Belleville, and some three hundred from Toronto. Tonight a dinner ended the proceedings. Some seventy-five candidates for initiation were admitted into membership, and many distinguished members of the clergy were present.

Up to the present there has been no council in Toronto, but the numerous candidates from that city apparently points to the establishment of one.

RAN AGROUND OWING TO THE HIGH CURRENT

Much Credit Due Those in Charge for Their Excellent Work Getting Passengers Ashore

The Water Lily made her first trip to the Kawartha Lakes yesterday. The water was very high and navigtaion difficult on account of the water being so high the buoys in many places being hidden. Just before the lock was reached at Lakefield the excessive tide caused her to swerve and run aground. This was, however, no fault of those in charge. Captain and mate, assisted by Wm Shannon and O. Doris looked after the lowering of the life boats and the safe transport to the shore of those on board. The Water Lily was uninjured and completed the return trip without any further incident.

The dispatch with which those in authority acted when the boat ran aground was the source of much favorable comment on the part of the passengers.

NO POLICE COURT AFTER HOLIDAY

An Unusual Occurrence—"Railbirds" Were Surprised and Disappointed

It was a surprise to the crowd that daily wait for the opening of the Police Court door, this morning, when they learned that there was no Police Court. It is a most unusual thing for there to be no police court on a day after a holiday. Everyone expects a large docket, but this morning there was a disappointed crowd. There was not even a drunk. The citizens of Peterborough were on their good behaviour.

TO-MORROW EVENING

The Beautiful dramatic Cantatta "Esther" will be given at Conservatory Music Hall, and also on Thursday evening. Don't fail to hear it. The most Interesting musical event of the season. Plan at McDermid and Jury's. 25c and 35c.

ANOTHER COLEMAN FOR COLEMAN BROS.

Mr. Richard J. Coleman arrived in the city on Saturday from the Old Country after a very pleasant voyage on the Empress of Ireland.

Mr. Coleman is very much impressed with the city and thinks there should be a great demand for the tasty and delicate dishes he is able to prepare.

He has had an extensive experience with some of the best firms in in London, Bristol and Edinburgh, and, no doubt, will soon work his way into the hearts and appetites of the citizens of Peterborough and neighbourhood.

TWENTY THOUSAND LOGS BREAK AWAY

A boom enclosing 20,000 logs, belonging to the Cavendish Lumber Company, located between Lakefield and Young's Point, broke yesterday afternoon and the logs are now coming down the Otonabee river. About 15,000 pieces got away and serious damage is threatened. It was feared at first that the dam at Lakefield would be swept away by the force of the logs, but it is believed that the danger is now over. It is feared, however, that damage will be done at other points along the river.

The logs are winding up their run away in Little Lake. They were intended for the Cavendish mill at Lakefield.

SIXTY FOOT NET PULLED OUT AT THE MOUTH OF CREEK

The fishery inspectors are having their work cut out for them these days. Many attempts are being made to capture bass and lunge and in some cases the inspectors are outwitted. Mr. Ricard Thirnbeck, who is employed by Fishery Inspector Dave Johnston, made a big capture when he discovered a net sixty feet long at the mouth of the creek which empties into the Otonabee river from the Otonabee side near the locks, below the city. There were no fish in the net when it was pulled out, but there is no doubt but that there would have been some in it before morning. Mr. Thirnbeck deserves credit for his capture.

Mr. Thirnbeck found the net last night.

SEVERAL MEN SEARCHING THE FORESTS FOR MR. LONG

Messrs. George Long and George Lipsett returned today from Worthington in the Algoma district, where they had spent several days searching for Mr. Samuel Long who has been lost now for twelve days. Several men are daily employed in the search but their efforts have so far proved fruitless. The woods is an immense one and very dense. It is thought that Mr. Long went out to shoot partridge and wandered so far into the forest that he became lost and was unable to find his way back to the camp. His footsteps have been traced for some distance. Every effort is being put forth to recover Mr. Long and a reward has been offered to anyone giving information leading to his discovery.

PAINS WHICH SHE DIDN'T HAVE BRING SIX THOUSAND DOLLARS

New York Beauty Found her Pet Photo in One of the Morning Papers With Some Details Which Did Not Please Her—Suit Was Entered.

If you happened to be a tolerably good looking girl with a dimple in your chin would it make you hostile if you picked up the newspaper some morning and looked right into your own picture—the one taken in that low-necked dress with the roses—and underneath read a nice letter written by yourself to some female pain killer in just the confidential tone one might expect, telling how dreadfully you had suffered from pains in the back and other things until you had taken her vegetable compound and how delighted you were with the results. Would you or wouldn't you like it!

This befell Miss Frances Wynne of New York a year ago, when the usual results — mental anguish, mortification, humiliation, loss of peace of mind and other things lawyers like to describe. Having suffered all these and the loss of her place in a store as well, Miss Wynne straightway brought suit through her lawyers, Alfred and Chas. Steckler, against the the Lydia Pinkham Company for $10,000, and so impressed a jury in the United States Circuit Court on Monday with the fact that she hadn't been a sufferer from pains in the back and that she hadn't ever taken anybody's compound for those or any other ills, that she got a verdict of $6,000 damages.

As the case was unfolded before Judge Lacomb and a jury on Monday Miss Wynne was a salesgirl in a Sixth Avenue department store and as healthy as any girl at 22ought to be. A year before the distressing occurrences related in the suit she took third prize in a newspaper beauty contest which shows that her picture is something worth having. She came to the store one morning and found the girls all gigglin and passing around a newspaper containing her picture alongside that of another girl's.

Some time before the picture appeared along with the testimonial one of the girls in the store Margaret Tieney, had told Miss Wynne that she had an admirer in the person of a Miss White who wanted Miss Wynne to go to a photographer's and have her picture taken at Miss White's expense. That was how Miss Wynne said she had come to put on her best dress and have her picture taken. She said that she had never signed her name to anything and had no idea what the purpose was in all this. The Tierney girl admitted that she had signed Miss Wynne's name to the testimonial but insisted that Miss Wynne had given her authority to do so. The testimonial she had got from a Miss White. When ex-Judge Steckler wanted to know why she had used the name Elizabeth instead of Frances, she said;—

"Well they used to call her Bessie in the store and I thought Elizabeth was her proper name."

She said that she told the Wynne girl that she might have a lot of mail after the pictures had been taken and that if she didn't want such letters coming to her they could be sent to 205 Eighth avenue, where an aunt of the Tierney girl lived. Miss Tierney said that she had known Miss White for five years and had been helping her get pictures, but hadn't received any pay for it. She said that she had sent her own picture and a testimonial to Miss White. Judge Seckler wanted to know what she had been suffering from, whereupon Miss Tierney blushed and wanted to know if she really had to tell, but Judge Lacomb decided that inquiry along that line had gone far enough.

It was Miss Clara A. White apparently who bossed the job of getting pictures and testimonials for Miss Pinkham hereabout. Miss White, who was small, graceful looking and becomingly gowned in black, gave her occupation as "literary work." From what came out in court she writes testimonials largely under a contract with an advertising concern in Boston, which, in turn has a contract with the Lydia E. Pinkham Company. The Pinkham Company pays for advertising these testimonials and the advertising firm pays Miss White, among others, for getting them.

Miss White thought, of course, that Miss Wynne had consented to pose as one of the healed. She said that she had never seen Miss Wynne, but her friend, Miss Tierney, told her that Miss Wynne was willing to accept some photographs in the usual way and that she supposed, of course, Miss Wynne had seen and approved of the testimonial Miss Whye had prepared.

The suggestion put out by the defence that having entered her picture in a beauty contest Miss Wynne could not have been damaged by such use of her photograph was indignantly repudiated by the plaintiff. She had been damaged, her lawyer said, grievously damaged, for what man in the world would want to marry a girl, no matter how good looking, after reading about all those dreadful pains she was supposed to have had? It was fiendish.

Perhaps the jury looked on it that way and perhaps they didn't. At any event they decided that the law passed in 1903 forbidding the use of any portrait for trade purposes without the written consent of the original had been violated in Miss Wynne's case and decided that $6,000 would about cover the damages done.

CITY MINISTERS EXCHANGED PULPITS ON SUNDAY MORNING

The annual exchange of pulpits in this city churches took place on Sunday morning, this feature adding new interest to the services and bringing the different preachers in close touch with one another. In some of the churches, patriotic sermons were preached and the music was appropriate for Victoria Day.

GEORGE ST. CHURCH.

At George street church on Sunday Rev. H. J. Keith, of Knox church, preached in the morning. Mr. Keith delivered a strong and eloquent sermon on the christian service.

In the evening the service was patriotic, Rev. E. A. Pearson preaching on "Lessons from the life and character of the late Queen Victoria." It was an interesting and thoughtful address. The church was prettily decorated with flags and the music was appropriate for the occasion.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

Rev. H. M. Manning, of Charlotte street church, preached at St. Paul's church on Sunday morning. In the evening Rev. R. R. Pogue continued his series of sermons on the "Christian dealing with the Christian and amusements."

CHARLOTTE ST. CHURCH.

At Charlotte street church on Sunday morning Rev. Robt. Pogue, of St. Paul's church delivered a strong sermon on "temperance." At the outset the speaker said that knowledge was a responsibility. He referred to the effect of alcohol on the system. He contrasted the ignorance and difference of people a few years ago with their knowledge at the present time on temperance matters. He thought that with increasing light there was increasing responsibility. The only way to get rid of the liquor evil was to destroy it altogether.

KNOX CHURCH.

At Knox church, Rev. E. A. Pearson, of George street church, preached in the morning and the pastor Rev. H. J Keith, in the evening.

MARK STREET CHURCH.

Rev. J. R. Bonner, of Gilmour Memorial church, preached at Mark st. church Sunday morning and Rev. C. H. Coon in the evening.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

At the services on Sunday the Rev. A. Provost Macklem paid eloquent tribute to the memory of the late Queen Victoria with special reference to greatness of character and influence on home life.

The church parade at 4.15 p.m. was well attended, the service conducted by Rev. Wm. Major and the sermon preached by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt.

The National Anthem was sung at all services; during the offertory at the military service, Mr. H. Morphet gave a fine rendering of De Koven's setting of Kipling's "Recessional," the chorus accompaniment and finale also being well sung by the chorus, who turned out strongly at all three services.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

At the morning service at St. Luke's church yesterday, the Sunday school scholars attended in a body. The service was patriotic and hymns of a national character were sung. Rev. Dr. Langfeldt preached an eloquent and forcible sermon in keeping with Victoria Day.

Conservative Candidate Greeted by Enthusiastic Gathering

An enthusiastic meeting in the interests of Warden Thompson the Conservative candidate in East Peterborough, was held in the school house at Hall's Glen last night. About a hundred were in attendance, including about a dozen ladies. Mr. Henry Moore made a capable chairman, and the speakers were the candidate, Mr. O. A. Langley, barrister, Lakefield, and Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, the Conservative candidate for the Commons. Mr. J. J. Crowe was present and allowed to speak in the Liberal interests. Forcible addresses were made by the Conservative speakers and the many points brought out were received with enthusiasm. The prospects for Mr Thompson's election grow brighter daily.

PETERBORO' MAN WAS ELECTED

Vice President of the Industrial Education Association of Ontario

Kingston, May 25.—Routine business occupied the attention of today's session of the Industrial Educational Association, at which 60 delegates attended. The report of the auditor showed the Association to be in a healthy condition financially.

On recommendation of the executive committee it was decided to have each trades council in Ontario represented on the advisory board.

Mayor Ross delivered the city's address of welcome, and Wm. Driscoll welcomed the delegates on behalf of labor unions here.

These officers were elected;—President, Charles Bird, Hamilton; first vice-president, W. H. Godwin, Kingston; second vice-president, W. Kingston; second vice-president, W. E. Brown, Ottawa; third vice-president, Thomas Robinson, Galt; fourth vice-president, S. Angus, Peterborough; fifth vice-president, W. McCarthy, Toronto; secretary-treasurer, O. Zimmermann, Berlin.

Berlin was selected as the next place of meeting.

Chicago's item in the omnibus public building bill appropriations $1,500,000 for the purchase of a site for its new post office went through the senate.

FIRST GAME BETWEEN LOCAL TEAMS WON BY THE PETES.

The exhibition game between the Peterboroughs and Athletics at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon, resulted in a win for the Johnstonians, the score being 8-1. The winners outclassed the new Midland Leaguers, did better work on the bases, had fewer errors and generally showed superior form. Hawkins and Edmunds were the Petes' battery, while Quinlan and Shea were in line for the Athletics. The match was played before three hundred spectators and they were well pleased with the contest. It was a good game to watch and the result was never certain until the last innings was over.

The opening ceremonies were of an interesting nature. Mayor Rush was on the firing line, Ald. Bradburn at bat, while Ald. Harry Phelan pulled on the big mit and did the receiving. The batter was given a dangerous looking barbers' pole with which to swat the spheroid but he was unable to locate the first two benders sent over by His Worship. A regulation bat was then brought into service and a foul tip to the right field was the result of a mighty sweep. Umpire Wareham then called the teams on the diamond and the game was on.

Both pitchers were in good form. They had perfect control as shown by the fact that not one man walked to first. Quinlan struck out eleven men and Hawkins nine, while thirteen hits were secured off Quinlan and only four off the Toronto boy. Slow fielding on the part of the Athletics resulted in several hits in the score book, which snappy work would have prevented. The hitting of the Athletics was weak although to their credit it must be said that Hawkins pitched great ball.

The Petes started to score in the third innings when two runs came in. Cheatham had fouled out to Shea. Burns singled and stole second, and third. Murphy struck out and Burns scored on Maddock's single. Maddock pilfered the second and third sacks and came home on McDermott's single.

One more run for the Petes came in in the fourth. Callaghan's fumble put Edmunds safe on first. Lawson sacrificed. Hawkins struck out and Edmunds scored on Cheatham's timely single.

Burns, Maddock and Cheatham scored in the seventh. O'Brien scored in the sixth and Burns tallied again in the ninth.

The Athletics got their only run in the seventh. Shea had been retired by a beautiful catch of a line drive by Maddock. Landry got first on Hawkins' error. Flaherty singled and Landry beat out a throw to the plate, the ball having been batted out by Callaghan. The decision was disputed but the score was allowed. Umpire Wareham retired from the job and "Buddy" Ryan and Boddy went on, one calling the strikes and balls and the other watching the bases.

Dubby Shea played great ball for the losers, having three hits out of four times up, one of them a two bagger. Only Maddock's great catch in the seventh prevented him from having a perfect batting average.

BATTER UP ! PLAY BALL !

The baseball season is now on in full swing. There is every indication the game will boom in Peterborough this year. The Review has always looked after player and fan, and rapped out many a bit of encouragement to those who follow the sport. All managers, captains, secretaries and players are requested to send in details of any games played or news of any games to come, all of which will find space in our baseball column. There is a supply of score cards at this office suitable for recording a game, by innings, which are at the disposal of any team manager in the city. These cards should be filled in properly at the conclusion of the game and left at this office as soon as possible so as to insure publication in the Review without delay. Properly authenticated box scores will also be gladly received and published.

ROGER'S MANAGER WANTS TO ARRANGE ANOTHER MATCH

W. B. Naylor Writes to Sporting Editor of Review and Says Yankee Would Like to Meet Hurtubise in Another Handicap Bout—Regrets Ending of the Match Here.

Montreal, May 23rd, 1908.

To the Sporting Editor of Review;

Dear Sir,—Would you, through the courtesy of your columns allow me to say a few words in reference to the unfortunate ending to the match between Yankee Rogers and Gene Hurtubise. Rogers is very confident that he was the victim of a deliberate attempt on the part of Charlie Conkle to give him the double cross. Conkle claimed that he repeatedly "told Rogers to quit doing something or other, and that was why he disqualified him."

We know of another reason, or think we do. We do not blame either Hurtubise or in fact, anyone in Peterborough, as we had ample evidence shown to us that both the local man and his associates are too good sports for such a thing, but there can be no doubt that we were handed a lemon by the referee. Rogers, during his career of seven years, has never been disqualified for anything. Conkle hardly ever gave Rogers the same hold after he had gone off the mat, as was clearly seen and talked about by those gentlemen who were around the ring, and the only remarks he made was in the first few minutes, when he cautioned the local man for using his elbow, when he split Rogers' lip. Rogers did not object to this himself, as wrestling is no parlor game. Then again Gene put up his fists to Rogers during the second bout, but he never said anything.

You must see, sir, we are not objecting to anything Hurtubise did, but to the referee, and nearly all the people who saw us at the hotel after the match were equally confident that the match should have gone to a conclusion one way or the other. As it is it is very unsatisfactory.

Hurtubise is a clever wrestler, better than we gave him credit for, in fact, but we would like to have a final match to see which is really the better man on the handicap. I have therefore, on behalf of Yankee Rogers, much pleasure in challenging Hurtubise to another match, and will give him the same handicap. If Mr. Chris Graham will accept the challenge we will again come down in two weeks time, and may the best man win.

Yours very truly,
WILLIAM B. NAYLOR,
Manager Yankee Rogers

JIMMY REYNOLDS CAME WITH TEAM

Odds of 2 to 1 Offered That He Can't Make Port Hope to Toronto Walk—Much Betting Looked for

Mr. Jimmy Reynolds accompanied the Port Hope ball team here yesterday and was given the glad hand all round by his friends. He thinks highly of the local nine.

Jimmy is training faithfully for his walk from Port Hope to Toronto and return and will be in great condition for the trial. He says they are betting two to one that he can't walk it, and thinks there will be a lot of money in sight, when the time for walk draws near.

THORPE HAD RACE ALL HIS OWN WAY

Local Y.M.C.A. Runner Won Five Mile Event at Belleville Yesterday—An Easy Victory

W. Thorpe, of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A., was an easy winner in the five mile run at the second annual Y.M.C.A. Olympic games at Belleville yesterday. He took the lead after the second lap and held it from then until the end of the race beating out the second man, Barrett, of Albert College, Belleville, by about 800 yards. The time was 30.16 2-5 which, while not fast for the distance was good, considering the condition of the track.

Don't forget the moonligt Excursion, Friday, 29th May, at 7.30 p.m. for a cruise down the river. 25c.

BOYS WALKED A GREAT RACE

The finish of the boys' walking match at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday was of the most exciting nature. The real race was between C. Armstrong and N. Saxby. The boys went on the track on Saturday with only one lap between them Armstrong being in the lead. Saxby made a desperate attempt to catch the winner but was unable to make any gain. Armstrong finished a lap to the good.

Two hours were walked on Saturday from 10 to 12 o'clock and the standing at the finish was as follows;

	Miles	Laps
C. Armstrong	33	8
N. Saxby	33	7
W. Saxby	32	5
P. Grant	30	4
T. Cuffe	29	1

There were nine starters and five finished. Armstrong, the winner walked 5 1-2 miles an hour for the six hours, a remarkable feat for a fourteen year old boy. T. Cuffe, made a remarkable finish. He is a very small boy but made a great gain on those ahead of him during the last two hours.

"Jimmy" Reynolds, of Port Hope, saw the finish of the race and was greatly pleased with the performance of young Cuffe. Mr. Reynolds wants to take him to Port Hope to walk an exhibition mile.

Armstrong is a member of the Boys' Club of All Saints' church.

WEST ENDS WON FROM KARNOTS

Defeated Them in City League Game Yesterday by Score of 3--2.

In a game that was very fast and clean cut, the West Ends defeated the Karnots in a City League match yesterday morning, the score being 3—2. The fielding was sharp and the work of both batteries good.

The winners got two runs in the first innings and one in the fifth. The Karnots landed a run in the first and second innings. The winning team was as follows;—

Catcher, McNern; pitcher, Butcher; 1st, Vinette; 2nd, Hogin; s.s., Rose; 3rd, Long; left field, Moore; centre field, Dunnett; right field, Richardson.

Umpire—"Denny" Hillier.

TEDDIE KESWICK AND CITY QUEEN IN THREE STRAIGHTS

Winners of Named Race and 2.30 Class at Turf Club's Victoria Day Matinee—Fast Track and Fine Weather Conditions.

An afternoon's good sport was furnished at the driving park yesterday at the Turf Club's matinee. The events were run in half mile heats and the track was in splendid condition. The weather conditions were also as favorable as they could have been had they been especially ordered by the promoters of the matinee. From a financial standpoint the affair was a success.

The horses showed good form as a result of their handling in preparation for the races and the times made were all good. Everything was conducted smoothly and to the satisfaction of the starters, no disputes whatever resulting from the decision of the judges.

THE EVENTS.

There were three events run off, the named race, the 2.30 trot or pace and the free for all. The latter class saw the prettiest stepping of the afternoon. Dr. Johnston's Owen's Baron proving that he still retains much of his form for a burst of speed by winning the last heat against two such speedy ones as Orillia Belle and Harry Direct.

NAMED RACE.

Teddy Keswick, Little Mac and Country Boy got away for a nice start in the first heat of the named race which was the opening event of the afternoon. Keswick, who travelled along evenly and in fine form for all three heats, took the lead and was never headed. Little Mac was second and Country Boy third at the breakaway but Little Mac blew up on the first turn and Country Boy stepped into second place. On the last turn, however, Little Mac regained his position and finished second with Country Boy third. It was a nice finish. Time 1.16 1-2.

In the second heat Little Mac again broke shortly after the start and it was some time before Reinsman Storey got his animal under control. When the horse got going square again the other two had such a little advantage that it was never at any time a consideration in the race. Teddy Keswick pulled under the wire first with Country Boy second. Time 1.19 1-4.

In the third heat, which was done in 1.13 the fastest of the three, Little Mac, made his regular break, and passed the stand in third place as in the previous heats. Teddy Keswick won with a good margin to spare and Country Boy was a comfortable second.

2.30 CLASS.

City Queen, Gertie and Lady Black were the trio of starters in this class which saw some pretty travelling. The horses showed nice action, but the racing was all the one way for the three heats, each of the finishes showing the starters in the first, second and third positions in the order given as follows: City Queen, Gertie and Lady Black. City Queen didn't seem to have much difficulty in holding her position at the head of the string. Gertie went along nicely and Lady Black also covered the track well when she was trotting, although she broke on several occasions and by doing so lost much ground.

FREE FOR ALL

The free for all which was put on as an extra attraction, was run off in two heats, and was quite exciting. Owen's Baron dashed away at the starter's word and kept the lead for some distance. He broke, however, and lost his place, but found his feet again and came down the stretch strong. All three horses finished in the order named, with hardly anything between them, Harry Direct, Orillia Belle and Owen's Baron. Time 1.09 1-4.

In the second heat Owen's Baron went along at a great clip and finished in the lead with Orillia Belle. Teddie Keswick (H. Gardiner, Mills) 1.10 1-4. 0

During the afternoon Lulu Chimes, a young mare owned by Chas. McKiver, of Lakefield, was driven an exhibition mile in 1.16 1-4, by Powell Jr.

THE SUMMARY

The summary of the racing is given below;

THE OFFICIALS.

The officials were judges, Charlie Nixon, Port Hope, and Dr. Trapp, of Campbellford; starter, M. Connors; timers, Dr. Johnston, president of the Turf Club, and L. G. Bennett, Port Hope; clerk of the course, C.R. Nixon, secretary of the Turf Club.

THE PETES TOOK BOTH GAMES FROM PORT HOPE ON HOLIDAY

The games on Victoria Day between Port Hope and Peterborough resulted in two victories for the home boys. In the morning game the score was 6—2 and afternoon score 4—0. The style of ball that was served up to the public yesterday will, no doubt be welcomed from now on as far as Manager Johnston's team is concerned, and was without doubt, the fastest witnessed on the Peterborough grounds in years. In the morning game there was not so much interest taken as it was an exhibition game, but nevertheless there were many features pulled off. For the Port Hope boys J. Wilson pitched a fairly good game, but was mainly responsible for the defeat of his team by heaving the ball into the river with two men on bases, which practically clinched the game for the Petes. But little can be said of the hitting of the team because Hawkins was simply invincible with men on the bases and he was called on to pull himself out of the hole with men on bases, he responded by striking out men in nearly every instance. O'Hearn the heavy hitting second base man, could never connect with his curves, he striking out twice. On the other hand their fielding was good in spots but very loose when it came to a pinch. For Peterborough the bright shining star was Hawkins of which little need be said, as the score will indicate. Their fielding was above the average, the infield being especially brilliant, McDermott and Cheatham pulling off many sensational plays which took the heart out of the visitors. Dalzell of the Alerts of Toronto, caught a nice game and will be heard from later. Maddock, short stop, made his first error of the season on a seemingly easy chance, but which did no damage in the scoring line. The outfield took everything that came their way.

The score was as follows:

AFTERNOON GAME

In the afternoon the two teams came on the field for blood, Port Hope hoping to redeem themselves for their defeat in the morning, but the Petes were all the more confident on account of their showing in the morning, and hoped to repeat the first dose. For Port Hope Surpless pitched a masterly game, holding the hard hitting Peterboro team to three lone hits, out with the inside ball the home boys were putting up, they were enough to pull out the victory. Port Hope could not hit Clements to any extent and therefore their downfall. They secured but three hits and they were

THROW AWAY LINIMENTS

Here's the Prescription to Cure Rheumatism.

Liniments only reach the skin and the muscles directly under the skin. Now, liniments can't cure Rheumatism. They simply deaden the nerves for a time. When the effect wears away, the pain returns worse than ever.

If the bowels do not move regularly—if the kidneys are strained or weak—if the skin is dry or harsh—the blood is sure to be filled with impurities or urea. This urea is changed into uric acid which is the poison that causes rheumatism.

Now, the only possible way to cure Rheumatism is to prevent uric acid from being formed. Logically, the only way to do this is to keep kidneys, bowels and skin in good working order, and prevent the stomach from being too acid. And the only way to do this is to take "Fruit-a-tives."

These marvelous tablets of fruit juices and tonics act directly on the three great eliminating organs—bowels, kidneys and skin—and put them in perfect condition. That is the only secret of their great success in curing rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago.

SPORTING

scattered. In Clements Peterborough has secured one of the best pitchers in the business. His control was perfect and his speed and slow balls were so well mixed up that the Port Hope boys were completely baffled. For Peterborough but little more could be desired as their fielding was of the gilt edge variety and they accepted everything that came their way and for base running they will certainly worry the best catchers in the league. Thorne, the new first base man is a very speedy man as is Murphy and also O'Brien. Edmunds, behind the plate caught a fine game and is surely a good one, he being one of the headiest catchers seen on the local grounds. Burns distinguished himself by two sensational catches on the outfield which to the crowd looked like sure hits.

The attendance in the afternoon was very large and the need of a grand stand was very keenly felt. It is hoped it will be ready in time for the next game here. The public should be protected from foul tips and saved much trouble in sitting in the hot sun.

The score was as follows:

LOCAL TEAM LOST IN MILLBROOK

A combined team of the Y.M.C.A. and T.A.S. were defeated in Millbrook yesterday by 7—1 in a lacrosse match with the team of that place. The game was a pretty rough one and the local boys show signs of strenuous play.

TORONTO SECTION COPPED A VICTORY

Defeated Local Section of B.A.C. Jolliffe Did the Twirling

The Toronto section of the BAC. sent a baseball team to Peterborough yesterday and defeated the representatives of the local section by 12 runs to 7. The game was played on the Central school grounds. It was well contested and characterized by many of the features that have made B.A.C. games memorable. B Nora Jolliffe and Mary Jane Hutchinson were the Toronto battery and did good work. Jolliffe's speed grew less as the game progressed but managed to keep in the lead. Max Dobbin did the twirling for the homesters with Ross Dobbin behind the bat. Bert Huston played with the Toronto team owing to them being short a man, shortage of railway fare making it impossible to bring the full complement of players. The game was played seven men a side.

RESULTS AT THE WOODBINE SEAGRAM WON KINGS' PLATE

Wins With Seismic and Also Takes Third Place—Thirteen Starters—His Thirteenth Win—Glorious Weather and Good Track—Lord Grey Was Present and Presented the Prize.

Toronto, May 26.—The spring races of the Ontario Jockey Club at the Woodbine opened on Saturday, when the King's plate was run for. The weather was everything that could be desired, the track in good order, and there was an attendance of between 15,000 and 20,000 people. His Excellency the Governor-General and his party drove in state to the park with an escort of mounted constables and Royal Canadian Dragoons. The Lieutenant-Governor and party was also present.

The contest for the King's plate, the forty-ninth annual race for that prize, was the event of the day and was won by Seagram's Seismic, in a field of thirteen, in the record time of 2.11, the distance being a mile and a quarter. This was Seagram's thirteenth win of this coveted prize.

The races for the day with winners was as follows:

Trial purse, 3-year-olds and up, 6 furlongs—A. Beck's Photographer.

Juvenile purse, 2-year-olds, 4 furlongs—Thomas' Lady Irma.

Minto stakes, 3-year-olds and up, 1 1-16 miles—Valley Farm Stables' Glimmer.

Athol steeplechase, 4-year-olds and up, 2 miles—Elmwood Stables' The Knight.

King's plate, 3-year-olds and up, 1 1-4 miles—Seagram's Seismic, 1; Valley Farm's Shimonese, 2; Seagram's Half a Crown, 3.

Carleton pure, 3-year-olds and up, 1 mile and 70 yards—S. Ross' Lady Isabel.

The second day's racing took in seven races. The weather was glorious and the holiday drew out a large crowd, but several thousand less than on opening day. The races and winners were:

Rous purse, 3-year-olds and up, 6 furlongs—Valley Farm Stables' Denham.

Victoria stakes, 2-year-olds, 5 furlongs—J. H. Madigan's Simcoe.

Queen's Hotel cup handicap, 3-year-olds and up, 1 mile and 70 yards—Wm. Shields' Reidmore.

Woodstock plate, 3-year-olds, 1 1-8 miles—E. L. Talley's Montclair.

Woodbine steeplechase, 4-year-olds and up, 2 1-2 miles—B. McLennan's The Knight.

Rideau purse, 2-year-olds and up, 6 furlongs—J. W. Pangle's Woodline.

Rideau purse, 3-year-olds and up, 6 furlongs—R. L. Thomas' Jane Swift.

FOURTH PLACE FOR SIMPSON

In 15 Mile Olympic Run Yesterday—Ernie Wilson Fell in 1 Mile Run

At the Olympic events at Toronto yesterday Fred Simpson ran fourth in the 15 mile run. As the first ten men are eligible to compete in the Dominion marathon trials on June 6th, Simpson will take part. He ran in good form yesterday and finished strong.

Ernie Wilson fell in the mile run and as a consequence, did not make a showing. He finished fourth.

Owing to the condition of the roads the time in the 15 mile run was slow the distance being made in an hour and thirty minutes. Lawson finished first, with Goldsboro second and Cotter third.

FOOTBALL

The Y.M.C.A. football club will hold a meeting in the building to-night at eight o'clock. All football men are requested to be present at this meeting.

BASEBALL

STRATHCONA PRACTICE

The Strathconas will practice at Nicholls Oval tonight at 6.30.

LINDSAY WON

Special Correspondence

Lindsay, May 26th— The Lindsay Wideawakes defeated the Royal Oaks of Toronto here yesterday, 5 runs to 4. The match was exciting and was largely attended. Bill Cinnamon was on the mound for Lindsay and pitched a good game.

TORONTO MAN BEFORE THE COMMITTEE

No Decision Yet Regarding Chiefship of Fire Brigade

A meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee was held yesterday to meet Mr. T. Sargent, of Toronto, who is an applicant for the position of chief of the fire brigade. The members of the committee talked the matter over with Mr. Sargent, but made no decision. The committee will meet again this week when a recommendation will likely be made.

A PICTURE OF MUCH INTEREST

"The Hoosier Fighter" is the name of an interesting moving picture being shown at the Crystal and is a subject which should appeal to the public generally. It tells the story of a young man's heroic contest against a champion pugilist. He is forced by stress of circumstances to enter the ring for the bout and his showing earns him enough money to pay off the mortgage on his home.

"ESTHER" ON WED. AND THURSDAY

The production of "Esther," which has been looked forward to for some time by the people of Peterborough will take place on Wednesday and Thursday, to-morrow and the night after at the Conservatory Music Hall.

The plan is now open at McDermid's and Jury's drug store.

ELEVEN CHILDREN AT THE SHELTER

Two boys from Lindsay, one nine and the other ten years of age, were brought to the Children's Aid Society's shelter yesterday afternoon. They were brought here by Mrs. Sharpe, the agent of the Society at Lindsay. There are now eleven children at the shelter.

Miss Mary Jameson, an American is in prison in Constantinople, charged with being a party to a plot to assassinate the Sultan.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, May 25.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending May 23 were 3010 cattle, 330 sheep and lambs, 2457 hogs and 1651 calves. The offerings this morning for local consumption were 1800 cattle, 150 sheep and lambs, 800 hogs and 200 calves. A weaker feeling has developed in the market for cattle since this day week, and prices are fully ¼c per lb. lower. This is attributed to the fact that supplies from the Canadian Northwest are commencing to come forward more freely, as the bulk of the offerings this morning consisted of this class of stock, and as the quality of such is not to be compared with our Ontario cattle, lower figures had to be accepted for the same. In addition to this, the warm weather of late had a tendency to check the demand some, and trade was rather slow, as local and outside buyers only bought sufficient to fill actual wants, but there was a better demand for exporters, as cables from Liverpool on Saturday reported the market for American and Canadian steers and hay-fed ranchers very firm at a further advance of ½c per lb. since this day week, quoting American steers at 13¾c to 14¼c; Canadian steers at 13½c to 14c, and hay-fed ranchers at 13¼c per lb. In this market choice steers sold at 6¼c to 6½c; good at 5¾c to 6c; fair at 5¼c to 5½c; common at 4½c to 5c, and inferior at 3½c to 4¼c per lb. There was no further change in the condition of the market for sheep or lambs since this day week, prices being steady owing to the continued small supplies coming forward, for which the demand for local consumption is good, and sales of yearling lambs were made at 6½c to 7c, and sheep at 5½c to 6c per lb. Supplies of spring lambs were also small, which met with a ready sale at prices ranging from $3 to $6 each. Owing to the high prices ruling for cattle, the demand for calves has increased considerably of late, and in consequence a stronger feeling has prevailed in the market for good to choice stock, and values have advanced, with sales of such at from $6 to $8 each, and lower grades at $1.50 to $5. The condition of the market for hogs this morning was unchanged from that of a week ago on account of the fact that supplies were smaller, and advices from all the leading foreign centres were rather stronger on Canadian bacon. The demand from local dealers and packers was good for hogs, and a fairly active trade was done, with sales of selected lots at $6.60 to $6.75 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, May 25.—Cattle—Receipts, 2200 head; choice steady; others 15c to 25c lower; prime steers, $6.90 to $7; shipping, $6 to $6.50; butchers', $5 to $6.50; heifers, $4.25 to $6; cows, $3.25 to $5.10; bulls, $3.50 to $5.25; stockers and feeders, $3.75 to $5; stock heifers, $3.25 to $3.75; fresh cows and springers, $2 to $5 lower, $20 to $53.

Veals—Receipts, 2500 head; active and steady, $5 to $6.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 15,300 head; fairly active and 15c to 25c lower; heavy, mixed and yorkers, $5.80 to $5.85; pigs, $4 to $5.25; roughs, $4.70 to $4.90; stags, $3.75 to $5.45; dairies, $5.60 to $5.80.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 14,400 head; steady; sheep and handy lambs active; heavy slow; lambs, $5 to $6.25; yearlings, $5.25 to $5.50; wethers, $5 to $5.25; ewes, $4.50 to $4.75; sheep, mixed, $3 to $5.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, May 25.—Beeves—Receipts, 3335; slow; steers, dull to 10c lower, except for choice medium beeves; bulls, steady; cows, 10c to 15c lower; steers, $5.25 to $6.65; bulls, $2.75 to $5; cows, $2.25 to $4.60; exports to-morrow, 700 cattle, 1300 sheep and 2400 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 6683; veals, active and firm to 25c higher; best grades, 25c to 50c higher; veals, $4.50 to $7; choice selected lots, $7.12 1-2 to $7.25; one small lot, $7.60; buttermilks, $4.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 9618; slow and 15c to 25c lower; sheep, $4 to $5; yearlings, $5.75 to $6.25, a few head at $6.50; southern lambs, $7.25 to $8.12 1-2.

Hogs—Receipts, 12,649; 10c lower; New York State hogs sold at $6 to $6.10 per cwt.

FORTUNE OF $2,000,000

Mr. Henry Louis Bischoffsheim, the well known financier and philanthropist, who died on March 11th, left a fortune of £1,613,388, in addition to settled property which would probably bring the value of the estate up to £2,000,000. In this case the duty payable will amount to £250,000.

The executors of the will are Mrs. Bischoffsheim, Sir Ernest Caswel, Dr. Edwin Freshfield, and Mr. Charles Alfred Goldschmidt. Provision is made for Mrs. Bischoffsheim to receive an annual income of £32,000. Mr Bischoffsheim left his residuary estate on trust for his two daughters, Ellen, Countess of Desart, and Lady FitzGerald, wife of Sir Maurice FitzGerald, the Knight of Kerry, for life, Lady Desart receives one-fourth and Lady FitzGerald three-fourths. Mr. Bischoffsheim stated that the apportionment is made not from any difference in affection, but because Lady FitzGerald had three children and Lady Desart had none. On Lady FitzGerald's death her share will be divided among her children. Should Lady Desart die childless, her one-fourth of the residuary estate will pass to Lady FitzGerald and her children.

Mr. Bischoffsheim had by his will left one per cent of his residuary estate for charitable purposes, but in a codicil he revokes the bequest, stating that he had given all he intended to give to charity. He apparently referred to charities in celebration of his golden wedding.

In the event, however, of his grandchildren or their descendants not living to attain an interest in the estate, he directed that the residue should be distributed among hospitals chosen by his executors. This sum would amount to between £1,250,000 and £1,5000,000. One-half would go to hospitals providing solely for Jewish patients the other half to London hospitals, whether providing wholly or in part for Jewish patients or not. Should these bequests ever take effect, the estate would have to pay a further £150,000 in duty.

POLLING PLACES

There will be twenty polling subdivisions in the city of Peterborough for the provincial elections on June 8th. This is a larger number than in past elections and it is a result of the growth of the city.

There will be three polling sub-divisions in Galway, two in Cavendish, three in Harvey, two in Ennismore, five in Smith and two in North Monaghan. The list will be published at an early date.

REV. DR. CREWES WILL SPEAK

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Sunday School Association, will be held in the Y.M.C.A. hall, on Monday evening, June 1st. The principal speaker at this meeting will be Rev. Dr. Crewes, teacher training secretary for the Methodist Sunday Schools. On the afternoon of Sunday, May 31st, there will be a mass meeting in George street Methodist church at which Dr. Crewes will address the Sunday School pupils and workers of the city, and as many of the general public as can make it convenient to attend.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS, 1908

To the Electors of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—As you are aware I have received the unanimous nomination in the Liberal interests to contest the Riding of West Peterborough for its representation in the Legislature of Ontario. I beg to respectfully solicit the votes and support of all those who desire good economical and efficient administration of our affairs. I am not bound down by any straight and fast lines, but will, if chosen as your representative, take the course which, in my best judgment will best promote the interests of West Peterborough, irrespective of party considerations, and of the Province generally.

The test of good representation, either by a Government or member, is good work and, in this respect, both the late member for West Peterborough and the Government he supports have fallen short of a faithful discharge of their trust and regard for the pledges upon which was founded the policy upon which they appealed to the people. Both the Conservative leader and Mr. Bradburn appealed for a cessation of the extravagant expenditure, which they condemned in the late Government. The result has been an increase of expenditure in three or four short years of sixty per cent., not a productive expenditure for the benefit of the people, but in the mere work of administration.

In this address I cannot enter into details of the manner in which the present Government has failed to live up to the policy upon which it appealed for office, but there has been a general disregard of the principles which they claimed to be guided by. They have failed in their trust and they evidently feel that they have done so, for fearing to trust to their record, they have resorted to a "gerrymander" of the constituencies, inconsistent with fair redistribution and especial unfairness has been done in the city of Toronto by doubling its representation and giving each elector two votes, thus giving the city voter double the power in the government of the province accorded to electors in the country constituencies.

The interests of the farmers have been ignored to the extent that the expenditure for agriculture has been increased only some eight per cent., while the general increase to less worthy interests has been sixty per cent.

Disregard of the rights of labour was shown by the Government reviving the contract system of prison labour abolished by a Liberal Government, and farming out to contractors Central Prison labour at 3 cents per hour to compete against free labour.

The introduction of the "spoils system" the failure to remove license administration from the sphere of political influence, the three-fifths handicap to local option, the invasion of the rights of rural trustees by depriving them of the right of saying how they shall spend their own money, the friendliness to corporation interests, the disregad of private rights and discouragement of private enterprise in the matter of mining claims, neglect of law reforms with a view of making our law courts available for securing justice within the means of a poor man, and the delay and inaction in the matter of dealing with the power problem are but items in a long list of matters in which the present Government have forfeited their claim to the support of the people.

If elected I shall devote my best efforts to the advancement of the interests of the city in every direction and shall not overlook its most important interests, the allied welfare of our workingmen and our manufacturing industries; and will also do all in my power to advance the great farming and dairying interests which are the foundation of our prosperity, giving fair play at the same time to every provincial interest and to political friend and political opponent alike.

Trusting that I may be favored with your support and influence and vote, I remain, Gentlemen,

Very sincerely yours,

G. A. GILLESPIE

BILL POSTERS CONVENTION BEING HELD IN THIS CITY

Large Number of Delegates Present From all Over the Dominion—Yesterday's Sessions—Banquet Held at the Oriental Last Evening.

The Canadian Bill Posters and Distributors' Association are holding their annual convention in Peterborough. There are in the neighborhood of one hundred delegates present, the majority of them arriving here on Saturday evening. The representatives from all over the Dominion are in attendance.

On Sunday they were welcomed by Mr. Walter Stocker, and the directors of the Association were entertained to dinner by Mr. Walter Stocker, after which they were driven around to the various places of interest in the city.

Yesterday morning, in the lot adjoining the Customs House, a demonstration of steel board building and billing was given, using a board eighty feet in length.

In the afternoon at two o'clock the visitors were officially welcomed by the Mayor of Peterborough and ex-President Walter Stocker. The president, Mr. Charles Lindsay, was in the chair. The annual report was presented by the secretary, Mr. Arthur Ware, of Montreal. The full board of directors were present. The visitors at the meeting included Messrs. Perault, General Manager American Tobacco Association; C C Moyer, special agent for Cole Bros' Show.

Among other business transacted was the reading of a letter from the World's and National W.C.T.U. Department of Purity in Literature and Art, congratulating the Association for prohibiting immoral and suggestive posters from being put up. The following resolution was also passed;—

During the past few years one of the greatest evils that has crept into trade, and now is a serious one, is that of the substitution by retail dealers and others, of articles advertised by endeavoring to force on the buying public, imitations, often very inferior ones and detrimental to health, the result being that, those placing a high-class article on the market, and advertising the same, are in competition against those who have no respect for business honor or the correct ethics of trade. From time to time portions of the press have taken up this matter in a systematic way, and warned the public to be sure and get what you ask for, and not take a substitute. Now it is high time that the Canadian Billposters and Distributors' Association should take action in this matter, and I would suggest that we endeavor to raise the funds for the printing of 8-sheet posters, warning the public against substitutes, and if this can be done, that the billposters in the Association post free of charge during the dull months or whenever they have space open, those posters without charge. Therefore, it was moved by Arthur B. Ware, Montreal, seconded by Fred Telford, Niagara Falls, that the Canadian Billposters and Distributors' Association, recognizing the fact that the substitution evil has now become a serious one, therefore to combat same, be it resolved, that all members of this Association shall post pro rata to population, 8 sheet posters on their respective locations, denouncing this evil, for a space of not less than 30 days, said posting to be free of charge. The quantity of posters for each town to be based on one per thousand population in all towns from 10 to 50 thousand, 2 per thousand population in all towns up to 9,000, and 1 per two thousand population in all towns up to 9,000, and 1 per 2 thousand population in all towns over 50 thousand population, it not being absolutely necessary that the entire posting should be done in any one month.

THE BANQUET.

In the evening a grand dinner was held at the Oriental when a most enjoyable time was spent. Splendid speeches were made, and the evening no doubt was both profitable and pleasant.

The chairman of the banquet was Mr. Herb Williams, of Montreal.

Those present were;—Messrs. Walter Stocker, James W Quilliane, Hamilton, J J Turner, sr.; P J Quilhane, Hamilton; L J Levy, J J Shea, Belleville; W W Scane, Chatham; Alex. Jacques, Ottawa; Geo. Hatton, R R Hall, Robert Allen, Kingston; Walter S Davidson, Chas. Purman, Halifax; T J Taylor, Deseronto; Melvin Howlett, E R Stocker, city; Charles Lindsay, Winnipeg; H W Williams, Montreal; Fred C Freeland, J J Gibbons, Toronto, C A Watson, General Manager Coca Cola, E L Ruddy, Toronto; Arthur B Ware, Montreal; J B Leslie, Owen Sound; J Telford, Niagara Falls; Thomas J Macey, Toronto; R McPherson, Toronto; Charles A Willison, Collingwood; J Nicksbund, Vancouver; C Moyer, E N Waters, Chicago; L E Bennett, Port Huron; T W Robbins, Orillia; J S Phillips, Arnprior; J Ashton Little, city; Herbert Mihall, Gordon Wright, W A Greenslade, city; George Bolton and Wm Jenkins, London; B T Huston, P A Orane; W W Cole, Gananoque(?); P Vance, Port Hope; W Douglas, Lindsay.

The menu provided by Mine Host G N Graham was excellent, and quite up to Mr. Graham's usual standard in this line. During the dinner Miss Kate Graham presided at the piano and rendered numerous selections to the delight of all present.

THE TOAST LIST.

The first toast was that to "The King," and was honored by the hearty singing of the National Anthem.

Mr. Fred C. Freeland then rendered a vocal solo in his usual excellent manner.

A pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation of a gold chain, watch fob and a fountain pen on behalf of the Association by Mr. J. Micks Boul, of Vancouver, B.C., to Mr. Charles Putman, of Halifax.

"The Rulers at Ottawa," was proposed by Mr. E. L. Ruddy, of Ottawa, and responded to by Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., member for West Peterborough.

"Our American Brethren" was honored, Mr. A. Ware, of Montreal, proposing it and Mr. G. L. Bennett, of Port Huron, replying to it.

"The Canadian Billposters' Association" was proposed by Mr. Chas. Lindsay, of Winnipeg, and was responded to by Messrs. W. W. Scane, of Chatham and W. Stocker.

"The City of Peterborough" was proposed by Mr. J. J. Gibbons and responded to by Mr. G. W. Hatton, was next honored.

During the evening a male quartette, consisting of Messrs. F. C. Freeland, W. Stocker, W. A. Greenslade and G. Wright gave several vocal selections which were greatly enjoyed. Mr. Walter Stocker's vocal numbers were repeatedly encored.

HAVELOCK

Special to the Review.

Havelock, May 24.—Three very valuable horses belonging to J. B. Peoples, of Belmont, were killed by a C.P.R. east freight last week. Mr. Peoples lives near Blairton Station, and the animals strayed onto the track, where they paid the penalty for their folly. Mr. Peoples valued them at over $400.

On Monday night of last week the members of the Christian Endeavor, of the Presbyterian church, were the guests of the members of the Epworth League of the Methodist church, when an excellent programme and refreshments were supplied.

Dr Holdcroft, of town, should receive great praise in his work of stocking local streams and lakes with fry, which are making the lakes and rivers in this vicinity become widely known as good fishing places. Last week Dr. Holdcroft received 20,000 speckled trout fry from the Government and distributed them in Plateau Creek, which runs south of the tracks at Havelock, Aunger's Creek at Blairton, and the creek north of the village, and running through the park. 100,000 salmon trout fry were also received and placed in Koshabogamog Lake, 25 miles north of here. Last year Dr. Holdcroft succeeded in getting a large number of fry for local waters.

Mr. Wm. Foster, of Norwood, spent Friday last in town.

Mr. John D. Paton, of the Bank of Toronto at Toronto, is visiting friends in town.

Miss E. Swan, of Warsaw, spent Sunday with friends in town.

A large number of the local anglers are being very successful this year at capturing a large number of that beauty of the finny tribe, the speckled trout.

Mr. Roy Burgess, of Belmont, who passed his matriculation examination in arts at Norwood High School last year, and who since then has been attending the School of Practical Science, in Toronto, has been successful in passing his first year examination in the department of mechanical and electrical engineering.

Father Kelly conducted services in the Catholic church on Sunday.

Mr. A. A. Fowler, of Peterborough, spent Sunday with his brother, Mr. James E. Fowler.

Miss Hilda Orplan has returned to Toronto.

A baseball nine from Norwood backed by a large number of supporters journeyed to town on Saturday to play a game with the local junior team. The game was fast and interesting, the score being 15—12 in favor of Havelock.

Mr. A. Rose has been engaged in levelling up the lot adjoining his residence on Ottawa street.

"For goodness sake," for the sake of the satisfaction you get from using it, buy "Salada" tea. It pays to pay for quality.

STUART'S BRAWNY ARMS

Ralph Stuart, who comes to the Grand Opera House Tuesday, May 26th, in "Strongheart," believes that being an Indian every night has its difficulties. In the first place, it takes the actor an hour and a half to "make up" for the part, and one-half hour after the performance to take the make-up off. Then he not only has to de-Indianize, but physical culture, and plenty of it is necessary, as a football champion must look the part. However, a glance at Stuart's brawny arms convinces one that the course was "taken." "Speaking of the strenuous life," said Mr. Stuart when chatting with a friend the other day, "I remember one season that was more than strenuous for me. I was to appear as a hero in one of those famous old dramas which live their lives in small towns. I remember it was my duty to dive into a water tank and do a rescuing 'stunt.' While on the one-night stands the local people used to forget to warm the water, and on several occasions I almost froze to death in that tank. However, I had the name of being the cleanest actor on the stage. I took 300 baths on the stage that season."

IMMENSE DAMAGE DONE BY GREAT FLOODS IN TEXAS

Many Persons Drowned—Thrilling Rescues—Thirteen Men Take Refuge on a Water Tank—Millions of Dollars Damage to Property

Dallas, Texas, May 27.—Fourteen persons dead, others missing and believed to have suffered a like fate, property valued at millions swept away, thousands homeless and being cared for by charitable organizations, train and wire service demoralized—such are the conditions prevailing in the northern and central sections of this state, the result of a record-breaking rise in the Trinity river and other streams, following a downfall of unprecedented severity.

The crest of the flood passed Dallas Monday night, but in the north rain is again falling, and another rise in Trinity river is not improbable.

Former President G. L. Belew and Secretary Dorsey of the Texas Grain Dealers' Association, estimate the damage to grain crops of Texas as a result of the floods at $3,000,000, the loss of the railroads at $1,000,000, and damage of $2,000,000 to the crops of Oklahoma.

Fort Worth, Tex., May 27.—With the waters of the Trinity river still near the summit of the banks another great volume of water began pouring from the west fork of that stream towards the city last night. The river is rising at a rate of six inches an hour, and, with such conditions as already prevail the outlook when the crest of the second rush of waters reaches this city cannot be foretold. That considerable additional property loss and suffering will result is considered certain. From Sunday night until noon Monday the river was receding but slowly. During the afternoon the water was at a standstill. By night the second rise began.

The number of dead stands at ten. Two of the bodies of those drowned Saturday night have been recovered. One was that of a man named Welsh, an employe of a saloon, and the other a farmer named Pople. The railway situation shows but slight improvement. The Rock Island is making no effort to run trains in any direction. The joint track of the Texas & Pacific, Missouri, Kansas, and Texas, and the Cotton Belt will not be opened for traffic before Thursday at least. The Missouri, Kansas, and Texas is making no effort to run trains north, and the 'Frisco is stopping all southbound trains at Carrollton and turning them back.

A conservative estimate places the loss of the railways at around $3,000,000.

A serious situation has developed here in regard to the city water supply. The mains are filled with black, muddy water, unfit for drinking even after being boiled and settled. The city authorities declare it may be a week before they can restore the normal water supply. In the meantime those who can afford it are buying water from private artesian wells, and those who cannot are drinking the water that comes from the mains.

Thrilling rescues were reported from Carrowton and Grapevine. Thirteen men, women, and children were caught in the overflow of the Denton river. Their condition became so precarious that they were forced to hold their children upon their shoulders in order to keep them from drowning. These people stood in water almost to their necks for ten hours, until rescued.

Thirteen railroad employes engaged in repairing a bridge at Grapevine were hemmed in by rising waters on Monday. They sought refuge on top of a big water tank, and at last accounts were still on the tank, surrounded by four miles of water.

THE DOMINION PARLIAMENT

Little Progress Being Made With Business at Ottawa.

Ottawa, May 27.—Nearly the entire sitting of the House yesterday was taken up with discussion on a resolution by Mr. Foster on Civil Service reform. The resolution was in the following terms:

"The civil service of Canada should be based on merit and character alone, and all the appointments thereto should be made from candidates whose competency has been established through open examinations conducted under non-partisan civil service commissioners."

The real object of the motion was to delay supply. The discussion was taken part in by Hon. G. E. Foster, Hon. W. S. Fielding, who urged withdrawal of the resolution in view of the new civil service bill, Dr. Sproule, Hon. Mr. Emmerson, Mr. Fowler, Mr. R. L. Borden, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and Mr. Lennox. It was defeated on a vote of 30 to 72.

The House then went into committee of supply, taking up the items for customs service, but the Opposition refused to let the vote go through till some arrangement was come to with respect to the obnoxious clause one of the election bill, and the House settled down for an all-night session.

STOVE WORKS DESTROYED

Fire at Morrisburg Destroys Imperial Company's Building

Morrisburg, Ont., May 27.—The main building of the Imperial Stove Works was destroyed by fire yesterday. All the machinery in the polishing room, nickling and mounting rooms and carpenter shop was completely destroyed; only the foundry office, fixtures and papers were saved. The loss is fully covered by insurance. About fifty men will be out of employment, although it is said the work of rebuilding will be commenced at once. How the fire originated is unknown, as the works had been shut down for two days on account of the holiday. Loss paced in vicinity of $25,000.

Home Rule For Scotland.

London, May 27.—Another of the pledges given by Winston Spencer Churchill during his recent electoral campaign in Dundee has borne quick fruit, and a "home rule for Scotland" bill has been introduced in the House of Commons by D. V. Pirie, member for North Aberdeen.

Mr. Pirie explained that the main object of this bill was to devolve to a legislative body in Scotland the power to make laws on matters relating exclusively to that country.

A. J. Balfour objected strongly, but the House by 257 votes to 102 voted in favor of allowing the bill to go to its first reading.

C. P. R. Crop Reports.

Winnipeg, May 27.—The C. P. R. crop report of the central division was handed out yesterday. The average height of the wheat at present throughout this vast area, which stretches from Stonewall to Lanigan in Saskatchewan, and includes the many branch lines of the division into both the south and the north, is about four and a half inches. Clearwater, in Southern Manitoba, reports a growth of ten inches, and Dominion City comes next with seven inches.

Some points report all seeding, including barley, as completed.

CABLES DAMAGED BY TRAWLERS

Attention of Foreign Office is Drawn to Injury by Ambassador Reid.

London, May 27.—The damage done to trans-Atlantic cables by trawlers on the Irish coast, which has become so aggravated during the past few days as to interfere seriously with the transmission of despatches, was brought to the attention of Foreign Secretary Sir Edward Grey by U. S. Ambassador Reid at the Foreign Office. Mr. Reid was not acting on instructions from the State Department, but he took up the matter on the urgent representations of the managers of the cable companies. Sir Edward promised his immediate attention and said he would do all in his power for the protection of the cables.

KILLED BY A FALLING TREE

Charles Hennessy, a Fire Ranger Crushed to Death

Cobalt, May 27.—Charlie Hennessy, brother of Hedley Hennessy, agent for the J. R. Booth Co., Haileybury, was killed in South Lorraine on Sunday by a burning tree falling and crushing him. Hennessy was acting as fire ranger in that district. He was 35 years of age, and single.

For the past couple of days fires have been raging there, and considerable bush has been burned.

Mrs. Thaw Discontinues Her Action.

New York, May 27.—The action brought by Mrs. Evelyn Thaw to annul her marriage to Harry K. Thaw was discontinued at the request of Mrs. Thaw's counsel.

Accompanying his request for a discontinuance of the suit of Mrs. Thaw, Daniel O'Reilly said that Mrs. Evelyn Thaw thought she had a right to some recompense for the sacrifices she had made in Thaw's behalf.

Mr. O'Reilly said that some step of that kind might be taken, but he would not indicate what form the movement would take.

Brockville Suffers From Fire.

Brockville, May 27.—Early yesterday morning the coal sheds and derrick of G. Shields & Co., and the barge Mary Lyon, owned by the Hall Coal & Towing Co., were burned, at a loss of $15,000. Vigilant efforts saved the civic pumping plant.

By the timely awakening of Capt. Abbott's baby, Mrs. Abbott was able to raise the alarm. Charles Lavier, a deck hand, was asleep in the forecastle until awakened by Abbott. His arms were burned and blistered and Abbott was badly burned about the head, face and feet.

Looking For Trouble.

Montreal, May 27.—Second Vice-President McNicoll of the Canadian Pacific was seen anent the company's troubles in the west, but all that he would say was that the men out west seemed to be looking for trouble, and it was not the company's policy to help them in the line they had taken.

Skyrocket Starts Blaze.

Fernie, B.C., May 27.—The Elk Drug & Book Co. was burned on Monday. A small boy had bought a rocket which failed to go off. He brought it back to be exchanged. As soon as he got inside the building it exploded, igniting the whole stock of fireworks.

TERRIBLE MURDER STARTLES THE TOWN OF OWEN SOUND

James Creighton Slays His Wife and Her Two Daughters and Attempts Suicide—Ghastly Sight for Neighbors—No Motive Given—Was Devoted to His Stepdaughters—Murderer Well Connected.

Owen Sound, May 27.—A terrible triple murder was perpetrated here yesterday, followed later by the attempted suicide of the murderer.

The victims are:

Mrs. James F. Creighton, formerly of Ypsilanti, Mich., married a year ago, shot and throat cut; dead.

Kathleen Chapman, her daughter, aged 18, shot and stabbed, dead.

Clair Chapman, her daughter, aged 16, shot and stabbed, dead, and

James Creighton, in a critical condition from a bullet in the head.

The crime was revealed by the cries of the would-be suicide, when about six o'clock he appeared at an upper window of his home and called to a boy to proceed to the house of his brother, George Creighton, and tell him that something of a terrible nature had happened.

Soon another shot rang out and neighbors ran to the place. Creighton again appeared at the window and called to them that a horrible murder had taken place. He asked that they force open the doors Communication was at once held with the police authorities and Policeman Anthony Shute, arriving in a few moments, the door was forced.

Upstairs, attired in his night shirt, and lying across the bed, was Creighton, blood flowing from a bullet wound near the right eye.

On seeing the men enter, he directed them to the rooms across the hall, where the most horrible sights that could be imagined met their gaze.

Lying on a coach lay the body of Mrs. Creighton, covered with blood. A terrible gash had been made in the throat and bullet wounds were visible on the unfortunate woman's head, besides several stabs with a knife on the upper part of the body, while to complete his gruesome task the murderer had tied a leather shoe string around her throat.

In another room lying on the floor was the mutilated body of her youngest daughter, Clair Chapman—Creighton's stepdaughter — aged 16 years. Her face was shattered almost beyond recognition, the result of a shot at short distance, and her throat had also been cut, besides numerous stabs on the body.

Half-way out of the bed the corpse of the elder girl, Kathleen, hung. She had escaped some of the terrible mutilations inflicted on the younger sister, death having apparently taken place from the effect of the first shot. Both girls were in their night robes, which, with the bed clothing, were covered with blood.

The position of the younger girl indicated that a desperate struggle had taken place, probably after the shooting of the mother and elder girl, and that the poor girl had been overcome by the superior strength of her assailant.

Medical aid was summoned, and Dr. Cowper was speedily on the scene. He gave his attention to the wounded man.

Amid groans Creighton told the doctor that he had risen from bed shortly before 5 o'clock in the morning and committed the awful deed.

He said the revolver would be discovered under his wife's arm, while a heavy dagger was also found through his directions.

He would give no reason for committing the deed, but it is supposed that the meditated departure of his wife on account of domestic differences had weighed heavily on his mind. The murder of his stepdaughers cannot be accounted for, as he is known to have been devoted to them.

The victims of the tragedy have been resident of Owen Sound about a year. Mrs. Creighton, prior to her second marriage, was the widow of a man named Chapman, who resided in Michigan. The daughters, children of the first marriage, were well known and respected here and attended the Collegiate Institute.

The murderer after committing the crimes apparently went down town with the probable intention of purchasing poison, as he was seen standing in front of the window of a local druggist, but probably he thought he might attract attention, so returned home, and after staying with the bodies of his victims all day, he made an attempt on his life with the revolver.

An inquest will be held to-day. Creighton is under arrest, but his condition is critical.

Creighton is well connected, his father, who is dead, was Indian agent for many years at Cape Croker; his mother is still living here, aged 81. Creighton was addicted to drinking bouts when he would be very abusive. It is not known whether he had been drinking before he committed the deed.

He was rational and had left a letter addressed to his brother, George P. Creighton, telling him of the terrible affair and explaining that he was in an awful state and liable to go insane.

Slashed Wife and Child.

Kingston, May 27.—Richard Marks, a ship carpenter, while in a drunken condition, made an attempt to kill his wife and child with a razor.

He gashed his wife in the arm, head and neck, and also cut the child severely. His wife's cries brought neighbors to the rescue, and Marks was overpowered.

500 Missionaries For the West.

London, May 27.—(C. A. P.)—Dr. Carmichael of Manitoba informed the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland that 500 missionaries will be needed as Western Canada is developing.

ROBBERS WERE DRIVEN OFF

Daring Attempt to Hold up Three Bank Messengers.

New York, May 27.—In one of the most densely populated portions of the city three thugs made a daring but unsuccessful attempt to rob a trio of bank messengers of $43,000 in cash, which the messengers were carrying from a branch of the Jefferson Bank to the main bank on Canal street. While on First street three men jumped upon them and threw pepper in their faces, at the same time trying to get hold of the money bags the messengers carried.

Mrs. Eva Javernicka, a waitress in a restaurant, saw the attack and ran to the assistance of one of the messengers, and her help caused the arrest of one of the assailants. The other two escaped.

The man arrested gave his name as Casimo Riccobono, a plasterer. Later the police arrested Riccobono's father and his two brothers, who are held as suspects.

MOVING PICTURES AT JACKSON PARK

Will be Started in About Ten Days—A New Amusement Under Consideration

"If the present fine weather continues it will only be about ten days when the Radial Railway Co. will open their summer amusement at Jackson Park," said Manager J. H. Larmouth this morning. The management intend showing moving pictures the same as in past years, and they have under consideration some new amusements, which they expect will prove a drawing card.

COURT STANLEY AT MARK STREET

Will Attend Divine Service There Next Sunday Evening

The regular meeting of Court Stanley A. O. F., was held last night. There was a good turn out of the members. C. R. Bro. T. Hendrie was in the chair. One candidate was duly initiated and two applications were received for membership. The members were pleased to welcome Bro. Harry Fagg, after spending several years in New Zealand. Bro. Fagg in a neat speech, thanked the members for the kind reception they gave him. He said he had a warm spot in his heart for the members of Court Stanley and he would not care to transfer from the old Court. He was pleased to be present again and meet the old members, and to see so many new faces.

The committee have completed arrangements for the annual church parade to be held on Sunday evening, May 31st, to the Mark St. Methodist Church, when the pastor, Rev. Mr. Coon, will deliver a special address. A cordial invitation is extended to any visiting Foresters to join in the parade.

CAMP MEETINGS TO BE HELD AT EXHIBITION GROUNDS

Free Methodists of the District of Toronto to Gather Here for Ten Days Commencing June 11th—Seven Meetings to be Held Each Day.

Commencing Thursday, June 11th, and continuing for ten days, the Free Methodists of the District of Toronto, will hold camp meetings at the Exhibition grounds. The camp meetings held last summer at Jackson Park were productive of much good. Special preachers, Rev. J. C. Davidson of Tyrone, Penn. and Rev. John O'Regan of Buffalo, NY., are to be here for the meetings.

The services each day will be as follows:

6 am—Holiness meeting.
9 am—Love Feast.
10.30 am—Preaching.
1.30 pm—Children's meeting.
2.30 pm—Preaching.
6.30 pm—Ring meeting.
7.30 pm—Preaching.

Board will be provided on the grounds on application to Mrs. Dalton, 586 Chamberlain St.

Mr. R. Burnham of Uxbridge is the District Elder and Mr. H. B. Lucke, the local pastor.

WORK ON THE NEW CATHOLIC CHURCH HAS BEEN STARTED

Contractor R. Sheehy has commenced work on the new Catholic church at the corner of Aylmer and Romaine streets. A gang of men are excavating for the foundation and work will be rushed from now on. The stone for the church will be brought from the new quarry at Stony Lake, and it is said to be of unusual fine quality. The tug "Dawn" and a scow will be utilized to bring the stone to Peterborough. The first scow load will be brought down in a few days.

The building of the church will provide employment for quite a number of men.

BILL POSTERS CONVENTION CONCLUDED

Election of Officers Yesterday Morning—Demonstration in the Afternoon

The Canadian Bill Posters and Distributors' convention, which was such a great success, was brought to a close yesterday afternoon. A meeting was held in the morning in the Council Chamber and in the afternoon another demonstration was held in the lot adjoining the Customs House.

The morning's meeting was taken up with the election of officers which resulted as follows:

President—Mr. C. Lindsay, Winnipeg.

Vice-President—Mr. T. Naylor, Deseronto.

Secretary-Treasurer—Mr. Arthur B. Ware, Montreal.

Board of Directors—Messrs. E. L. Ruddy, Toronto; H. Williams, Montreal; Fred. Trelford, Niagara Falls, and W. W. Scane, Chatham.

IN THE AFTERNOON.

In the afternoon, a demonstration of how to build a steel bill board and to bill it, was given in the lot adjoining the Customs House. The demonstration proved to be very profitable and instructive. The delegates were photographed after which those residing west of Peterborough took their trains for home. The others going east stayed over and attended "Strongheart" at the Grand Opera House, the guests of Mr. J. J. Turner, sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicks Bond, of Vancouver, who have been here attending the convention, left last night for Montreal.

THEATRICAL

"STRONGHEART."

A play that is marked with an originality all its own and with the virility of the atmosphere of college athletics is "Strongheart," which was the attraction at the Grand last night. And besides the play being an excellent one the cast that presented it were most worthy to have such a strong and well written drama as a vehicle for their talents.

The plot tells of the love story of an educated Indian, Strongheart, who falls in love with a white girl. He hears of the death of his father, chief of his tribe, and an Indian courier from the plains informs him that he is chief in succession to his father. He naturally cannot take his sweetheart to live under the conditions that a life among his subjects would necessitate, and, besides the messenger from his people objects to her strenuously, as the daughter of a white man. It is a touching moment when he tells her so, and the final curtain sees Strongheart appealing for assistance to the Great Spirit of his fathers as he fathers as he is in the "midst of a great desert."

The play is decidedly a novel one with its university environment, its great football match. Its enthusiastic college men and general air of life and manliness.

Ralph Stuart as Soangatha—Strongheart—gave a superb reading of the part and impressed and captivated his auditors by this splendid work. He has a magnetic presence and his every word was listened to with great attention.

Miss Evelyn Vaughan gave a winning portrayal of the role of Dorothy Nelson, sweetheart of Strongheart. The other members of the cast were of uniform excellence in their various characterizations.

YOUTHS FOUND GUILTY OF THE THEFT OF LARGE QUANTITY OF WHEAT

Seven Boys Arraigned in Police Court To-day—Four Found Guilty—Man Arrested for Buying the Grain Knowing it to be Stolen

Charged with stealing a quantity of wheat, valued at over forty dollars, seven youths were arraigned before His Worship, Magistrate Dumble at the police court this morning. Four were found guilty, the other two were allowed to go. His Worship reserved judgment for a week.

Ed. J. Moher, who was one of the chief witnesses against the boys, was arrested for receiving goods, knowing them to be stolen. He pleaded not guilty and was remanded until next Tuesday.

It appears from the evidence adduced that these boys during the past month have been stealing wheat from GTR cars consigned to the Central Milling Company. They sold fifty bushels of grain to Mr. Moher who paid the lads something in the neighborhood of forty dollars. Mr. Moher afterwards sold it to the Central Milling Co. Mr. Moher claimed that he did not know where the boys got the wheat. He at first refused to buy it from them. One night they came to his place and asked if they might leave a few bags of the grain in his barn. He allowed them to do so and when they urged him to buy that they might go to a show he bought the grain.

The evidence of the boys was extremely contradictory, some asserting that they took the wheat from cars of the Quaker Oats Co. on the cereal siding. However, this statement is not correct as it was proven that the grain was stolen from G.T.R. cars.

The court adjourned at 1 o'clock His Worship reserving judgment for a week.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS FROM MANY POINTS OF THE WORLD

Numerous burglaries are reported from Moncton, N. B.

Construction on the Stratford & St. Joseph Radial Railway is to be commenced.

Mrs. Mary Blackmore, suffering from melancholia, poisoned herself with carbolic acid.

Boring tests are being made on the esplanade at Toronto to see if proper foundations can be had for a viaduct.

Ambrose Gunning of Tottenham is in hospital at Toronto, having been knocked down and robbed on Yonge street.

A rock crashed through the roof of the bunk house at Pearson's camp, north of Kenora, and fatally injured a workman.

The 28th annual meeting of the Ontario Medical Association is in session at Hamilton. There are about 225 delegates in attendance.

Samuel Morrison, probably the oldest Orangeman in the Dominion, died at Tanworth, aged 97. He joined the order in Ireland 75 years ago.

John Swallow, convicted of attempted criminal assault on 7-year-old Hazel Wynn at Hamilton, was sent down by Judge Monck for a year, with 30 lashes.

Toronto City Council has decided to submit bylaws to provide $2,400,000 for a trunk sewer and sewage disposal plant and $750,000 for a water filtration plant, to the ratepayers on June 27.

William Wright of Blenheim, an Ontario Government fire ranger, was drowned at Biscotasing. A year ago a man was drowned at the same spot and two years ago a man shot himself there.

The Supreme Grand Orange Lodge of B. N. A. opens at Midland to-day. One of the questions to be discussed is whether men who are connected with the liquor trade shall be deemed ineligible for any office in the order.

RAPID GROWTH OF TORONTO CITY

Away Ahead of Other Places in Building Activity.

Ottawa, May 27.—In fifty-one towns having a population of over 8,000, the value of buildings erected in 1907 was $58,587,987. Toronto leads the list with $14,325,800. Montreal is second with $8,406,136; Winnipeg third, with $6,455,350, and Vancouver fourth with $5,596,694. The remaining cities in which the value of building during 1907 exceeded $500,000 were: Hamilton, $3,030,240; Ottawa, $2,364,950; Edmonton, $2,275,218; Calgary, $2,109,249; Victoria, $1,500,000; Regina, $1,177,840; Medicine Hat, $1,000,000; London, $875,000; Halifax, $626,603; Berlin, $770,000; Stratford, $667,038; Brandon, $557,180; Quebec, $529,820; Sherbrooke, $520,100; New Westminster, $520,000; Brantford, $510,020, and Guelph, $520,750.

The returns for forty cities in 1906 was $58,615,175, and in 1907 it was $56,305,792, or a decrease of $2,309,381.

The Indomitable's Speed.

London, May 27.—(C. A. P.)—It is widely believed that the Indomitable will endeavor to make a record for the Atlantic when conveying the Prince of Wales to Canada. Specially picked stokers and artificers are being selected, and it is now understood that the escort of battleships will precede her a few days. The Indomitable's trial speed is over 28 knots.

Lightning at Montreal.

Montreal, May 27.—The most severe thunderstorm felt here for years broke over the city yesterday. St. John's Church was struck and set on fire, but the damage was slight.

The mast on the ferry boat Longueil was snapped off.

The residence of G. B. Lucker at Beaconsfield was struck and badly damaged.

A Handsome Donation.

London, May 27.—(C. A. P.)—Lord Mount Stephen has presented 5,000 Great Northern shares, the annual income whereof is £7,000, to the King's hospital fund, making his total contribution £30,000 annually.

Textile Workers May Go Back.

Montreal, May 27.—In view of the appointment of the royal commission, it is quite probable the operatives of the Dominion Textile Co. and Montreal Co. will go to work at once.

C. P. R. Shops Close.

McAdam Junction, N. B., May 27.—The C. P. R. shops at McAdam Junction closed yesterday for an indefinite period. For some time past the shops have not been running full time.

C. P. R. Earnings.

Montreal, May 27.—C. P. R. traffic for the week ended May 21, 1908, was $1,255,000; for the same period last year, $1,547,000.

Instructions for Bryan were defeated in Pennsylvania democratic convention, and the Nebraskan called a blight on the party by an orator.

THE FISHERIES OF ONTARIO

A Valuable Provincial Asset—Woodcock is Scarcer.

Toronto, May 27.—The yield of the fisheries aggregated $1,936,024.90 last year, according to a report by Edwin Tinsley, superintendent of the Provincial Game and Fisheries Department. The amount is more than $200,000 in excess of that of 1906, the highest previous record.

Owing to the abolition of the close season for whitefish in Lake Erie and Lake Huron, it is impossible to enforce effectively the fishing laws and regulations, he reports.

As to the complaint that fishermen will not supply local dealers with all the fish they need, Mr. Tinsley says that dealers throughout the province have often to cancel orders for fish, the supply exceeding the demand.

Woodcock are becoming scarcer every year, "no doubt resulting from too many colored sportsmen and cheap pot metal guns."

Activity In Coal Mining.

Philadelphia, May 27.—Anthracite miners, numbering 140,000 men, are to be given steady employment, and not a day will be lost to them if the rapidly maturing plans of the operators are carried out.

The three-year wage agreement under which the miners are working expires on April 1, 1909, and it is the desire of the operators to store before that time not less than 10,000,000 tons of various sizes of hard coal, in anticipation of any prolonged disagreement over the terms of the next wage settlement.

Jail Delivery at Galt.

Galt, May 27.—During the visit of the 7th Fusiliers of London, on the holiday, three of the men were taken to the police station for intoxication at the request of the company's commander. They used their bayonets on the locks and walls, and not only made their escape, but freed fourteen other drunks as well.

Socialists Gained Five Seats.

Brussels, May 27.—The official returns of the elections in a number of the provinces show that the Government majority in the Chamber has been reduced from 12 to 8, but in the Senate it was increased from 14 to 18. The Socialists gained five seats.

Wants British Army Reorganized.

Paris, May 27.—The Temps openly advocates an Anglo-French offensive and defensive alliance to replace the existing entente, provided, however, that the British army be reorganized.

Australians Good Shots.

Ottawa, May 27.—No. 8 Co. of the 43rd Regiment shot a match on Saturday against the Rifle Association of Sydney, Australia. The score of the 43rd was 2,121, the Australians 2,230.

Buggy Struck by Lightning.

Mount Forest, May 27.—A buggy containing Mrs. Hawke and friends was struck by lightning, wrecking the rig and breaking Mrs. Hawke's arms.

The Daily Review

WEDNESDAY, MAY 27, 1908

THE WOOLLEN INDUSTRY

The recent visit of 300 cotton employees to Ottawa for the purpose of demanding from the Government a higher tariff recalls the history of the rise and downfall of the woollen industry. In 1900 there were in Canada 16 woollen mills 157 making woollen carpets and six making yarns. There were 6 800 workers and a capital of $11,000,000 employed. By 1903 no less than 57 mills had dropped out. Four millions of dollars capital had been lost, and the number of wage-earners had sunk to 4 667. Yet the general trade of the country had been expanding tremendously. The cause of this serious decline is shown in the following table of importations of woollen manufactures:—

1900	9 973,307
1901	9 830,402
1902	10 962,608
1903	13 612,942
1904	15 219,721
1905	15 607,070
1906	17,482,570
1908	21 213,234

The meaning of this is plain. Our tariff is arranged to protect the British manufacturer and not the Canadian. The British manufacturer's embargo on our cattle and we open our arms to their woollens. Why not put a preference on iron and steel manufactures? Then take off pulp-wood restrictions, and there you are. Canada would not last a week. But if it is the correct principle, why not carry it out? "Tak yer wull o' it," as the preacher said. The Liberal governments are no friends of a protective tariff. The cloven hoof appears constantly. The other evening the Examiner inquired why, if protection was correct, was not the U.S. prosperous. It protects them from undue competition. But the Examiner's remark serves the purpose. It wants to "knock" protection. In its heart it hates it. The Laurier Government would reduce the tariff below even that of Great Britain if it could. There is no getting divorce from free trade. It seems impossible to drive into the heads of some people the simple fact that we can have too much of a good thing. Modern conditions of trade are largely governed by governmental regulations. A fictitious supply and a fictious demand can wreck trade independently of the real state of affairs. Both must be dealt with. Protection deals with the former.

"THE PATRIOTS PRESENT DUTY" BY REV. DR. CHOWN

"The Ontario elections are upon us. The Dominion soon will be. What is the duty of a Christian and a patriot in such crises? It is admitted that this cannot be decided without careful consideration of the issues before the country in all their bearings and the fitness of the men who champion them as sponsors for the same. Of these we do not now write. We purpose to point out the need for more fundamental thinking than is usually given to the sacredness of the franchise and to the nature and guarantees of a successful democracy. We wish to emphasize the significance of the ballot as the symbol and instrument of liberty and the expression of patriotism."—Rev. S. D. Chown, D.D.

We quote this foremost champion of advanced moral legislation with pleasure. Manifestly he is commending the secret ballot, the first given to the public in provincial elections by Hon. J. P. Whitney. The old tagged ballot is not the one to which he refers. He means the ballot as it stands and we agree with him. It is a patriotic duty which we owe to our country and religion that we should not shirk our duty to the State.

THE CHRISTIAN GUARDIAN'S OPINION; THE ISSUE OF THE DAY

"With the only real issue before the people in the present election contest in this province that of men with the Opposition ranks certainly none too hopeful or enthusiastic, and the Liberal organization finding great difficulty in getting really representative and worthy men to stand for election in many of the constituencies, it seems little short of a public calamity that a man of the fine type of Mr. T. H. Preston, of Brantford, should persist in withdrawing from political life and refuse to let his name stand for re-election. Though Mr. Preston would probably be reckoned by his friends as a fairly consistent party-man, his genuine interest in the real welfare of the people, and for how little mere party advantage counts with him. Character and honesty of purpose are stronger forces even in politics than we often imagine, and because of these, as well as by reason of his ability and capacity for work Mr. Preston has been perhaps the most influential member on his side of the house, and has been able to exert a positive and helpful influence upon the legislation of the different sessions. Mr. Preston is a newspaper man by choice and long training, and it is only natural that he should desire to throw off political obligations for the sake of uninterrupted service in his chosen field, but there will be many on both sides of politics who will sincerely regret his determination."—The Christian Guardian.

The opinion which we quote above indicates two things. It plainly indicates that our Liberal friends are not yet considered equal to the task of government in this Province. It also indicates that, notwithstanding their political protestations, they have no real intention of changing the Whitney policies by one jot or tittle. There is no real issue of that sort. We agree that the withdrawal of Mr. T. H. Preston is a calamity, but why after entering the contest did he withdraw? We read his valedictory and it struck us at once that anxious as he was to retire without maiming his friends, he was firmly resolved to do so. He did not give his reasons for retiring. He made no allegations of inability to continue. Why did he retire? Because he found no comfort of prospects in his surroundings. With Smith of the "Minnie M." as possible Minister of Finance, or Mines, no honest man could pass a restful night. The time is not yet ripe for a change. The great work of provincial development has just begun. No man yet in the House would be suggested as a successor to the greatest statesman in Canada to-day, the Hon. J. P. Whitney.

COLE BROS.' CIRCUS WILL BE IN PETERBORO' ON JUNE 17TH

Mr. E. N. Waters, contracting agent for Cole Brothers circus is in the city and has closed arrangements with Mr. C. R. Nixon, secretary of the Peterborough Turf Club for holding the circus at the Driving Park on June 17th. The show will come here after a two days' appearance in Toronto. Mr. Waters has been in Peterborough for a short time and attended the Bill Posters' banquet on Monday night. He has enjoyed his visit here very much.

Next Wednesday Mr. John Carey, press agent and first advertising man for Cole Bros. will be here with the advertising car and twenty-five billers, lithographers, etc.

Cole Bros. always have a good circus and pleased the public very much when it was here in 1906. Mr. Waters says it is about twice as large now as it was then and has many special features with a first-class menagerie.

The Peterborough public are particularly partial to circuses and Cole Bros are assured of a generous welcome.

DIED

LUMSDEN—Of pneumonia, at the Western Hospital, Toronto, on Tuesday, May 19th, Ellen Lumsden, eldest daughter of the late Mr. Andrew Lumsden, of Keene, and widow of the late Alexander MacLeish, of Toronto. Interment took place to the Keene cemetery on Thursday, May 21st.

Mrs. Jane Couill of Rodney, at whose place Eliza Mowry was murdered, is dead.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS, 1908

To the Electors of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—It is my privilege to again appear before you as the Conservative candidate in the approaching election of members of the Ontario Legislature, and while on the previous occasion I was in opposition to the Government, I now have the pleasure of supporting the Administration of Hon. J. P. Whitney, whose management of the affairs of the Province, with the support of an able cabinet, has, during his short premiership, proved of such marked benefit.

Measures of a far-reaching character have been passed, and the statute books of the last three years are replete with legislation of a high order, as well for its originality as for its soundness. Let me mention a few of the important acts of the past sessions. The establishment of a Railway and Municipal Board, the new act relating to mining, the creation of the Hydro-Electric Commission, the amendment of the liquor laws, amendments to the law relating to the election of members of the Legislature, particularly the alteration in the ballot, which is now absolutely secret.

The administration of the public domain, especially the mining laws of the Province, has been most profitable, adding large sums to both revenue and capital, and the different changes which have been effected in the Education Department have met with the approval of all persons, concerned in that most important branch of the public service.

One of the beneficial acts of the Government is the taking with its own hands the distribution of electric energy through the great water power of Niagara Falls, and other rivers capable of hydraulic development. Thus are the different municipalities through the Province enabled to obtain the inestimable commodity at a minimum of cost.

The Government, while endeavoring to serve the people generally have not been unmindful of the importance of this riding, and when the new normal schools were to be created one of the four was placed in this constituency, thus affording exceptional advantages to the teachers and schools of this county.

In the short time which will elapse before polling day, I shall endeavour to make my views more fully known to you both privately and publicly, and I bespeak your cordial support, not so much because of any merits of my own, as on account of the splendid record of the Government.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

T. E. BRADBURN

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

By CHARLES KLEIN.

A Story of American Life Novelized From the Play by ARTHUR HORNBLOW.

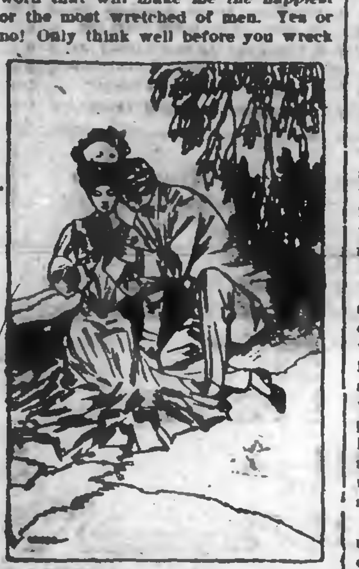
COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

"Shirley, I offer you all the devotion a man can give a woman. Say the one word that will make me the happiest or the most wretched of men. Yes or no! Only think well before you wreck my life. I love you—I love you! I will wait for you if need be until the crack of doom. Say—say you will be my wife!"



"Say you will be my wife!"

She opened her eyes. His face was bent close over hers. Their lips almost touched.

"Yes, Jefferson," she murmured, "I do love you!"

His lips met hers in a long, passionate kiss. Her eyes closed, and an ecstatic thrill seemed to convulse her entire being. The birds in the trees overhead sang in more joyful chorus in celebration of the betrothal.

CHAPTER XIV.

It was nearly 7 o'clock when Shirley got back to Seventy-fourth street. No one saw her come in, and she went direct to her room and after a hasty dinner worked until late into the night on her book to make up for lost time. The events of the afternoon caused her considerable uneasiness. She reproached herself for her weakness and for having yielded so readily to the impulse of the moment. She had said only what was the truth when she admitted she loved Jefferson, but what right had she to dispose of her future while her father's fate was still uncertain? Her conscience troubled her, and when she came to reason it out calmly the more impossible seemed their union from every point of view. How could she become the daughter-in-law of the man who had ruined her own father? The idea was preposterous, and hard as the sacrifice would be Jefferson must be made to see it in that light. Their engagement was the greatest folly. It bound each of them when nothing but unhappiness could possibly come of it. She was sure now that she loved Jefferson. It would be hard to give him up, but there are times and circumstances when duty and principle must prevail over all other considerations and this she felt was one of them.

The following morning she received a letter from Stott. He was delighted to hear the good news regarding her important discovery, and he urged her to lose no time in securing the letters and forwarding them to Massapequa, when he would immediately go to Washington and lay them before the senate. Documentary evidence of that conclusive nature, he went on to say, would prove of the very highest value in clearing her father's name. He added that the judge and her mother were as well as circumstances would permit and that they were not in the least worried about her protracted absence. Her Aunt Milly had already returned to Europe, and Eudoxia was still threatening to leave daily.

Shirley needed no urging. She quite realized the importance of acting quickly, but it was not easy to get at the letters. The library was usually kept locked when the great man was away, and on the few occasions when access to it was possible the lynx eyed Mr. Bagley was always on guard. Short as had been her stay in the Ryder household Shirley already shared Jefferson's antipathy to the English secretary, whose manner grew more supercilious and overbearing as he drew nearer the date when he expected to run off with one of the richest catches of the season. He had not sought the acquaintance of his employer's biographer since her arrival and, with the exception of a rude stare, had not deigned to notice her, which attitude of haughty indifference was all the more remarkable in view of the fact that the Hon. Fitzroy usually left nothing unturned to cultivate a flirtatious intimacy with every attractive female he met. The truth was that what with Mr. Ryder's demands upon his services and his own preparations for his coming matrimonial venture, in which he had so much at stake, he had neither time nor inclination to indulge his customary amorous diversions.

Miss Roberts had called at the house several times, ostensibly to see Mrs. Ryder, and when introduced to Shirley she had condescended to give the latter a supercilious nod. Her conversation was generally of the silly, vacuous sort, concerning chiefly new dresses or bonnets, and Shirley at once read her character—frivolous, amusement loving, empty headed, irresponsible—just the kind of girl to do something foolish without weighing the consequences. After chatting a few moments with Mrs. Ryder she would usually vanish, and one day after one of these mysterious disappearances Shirley happened to pass the library and caught sight of her and Mr. Bagley conversing in subdued and eager tones. It was very evident that the elopement scheme was fast maturing. If the scandal was to be prevented, Jefferson ought to see his father and acquaint him with the facts without delay. It was probable that at the same time he would make an effort to secure the letters. Meantime she must be patient. Too much hurry might spoil everything.

So the days passed, Shirley devoting almost all her time to the history she had undertaken. She saw nothing of Ryder senior, but a good deal of his wife, to whom she soon became much attached. She found her an amiable, good natured woman, entirely free from that offensive arrogance and patronizing condescension which usually mark the parvenu as distinct from the thoroughbred. Mrs. Ryder had no claims to distinguished lineage; on the contrary, she was the daughter of a country grocer when the then rising oil man married her, and of educational advantages she had had little or none. It was purely by accident that she was the wife of the richest man in the world, and, while she enjoyed the prestige her husband's prominence gave her, she never allowed it to turn her head. She gave away large sums for charitable purposes and, strange to say, when the gift came direct from her the money was never returned on the plea that it was "tainted." She shared her husband's dislike for entertaining and led practically the life of a recluse. The advent of Shirley, therefore, into her quiet and uneventful existence was as welcome as sunshine when it breaks through the clouds after days of gloom. Quite a friendship sprang up between the two women, and when tired of writing Shirley would go into Mrs. Ryder's room and chat until the financier's wife began to look forward to these little impromptu visits, so much she enjoyed them.

Nothing more had been said concerning Jefferson and Miss Roberts. The young man had not yet seen his father, but his mother knew he was only waiting an opportunity to demand an explanation of the engagement announcements. Her husband, on the other hand, desired the match more than ever, owing to the continued importunities of Senator Roberts. As usual, Mrs. Ryder confided these little domestic troubles to Shirley.

"Jefferson," she said, "is very angry. He is determined not to marry the girl, and when he and his father do meet there'll be another scene."

"What objection has your son to Miss Roberts?" inquired Shirley innocently.

"Oh, the usual reason," sighed the mother, "and I've no doubt he knows best. He's in love with another girl—a Miss Rossmore."

"Oh, yes," answered Shirley simply. "Mr. Ryder spoke of her."

Mrs. Ryder was silent, and presently she left the girl alone with her work.

The next afternoon Shirley was in her room busy writing when there came a tap at her door. Thinking it was another visit from Mrs. Ryder, she did not look up, but cried out pleasantly:

"Come in!"

John Ryder entered. He smiled cordially and, as if apologizing for the intrusion, said amiably:

"I thought I'd run up to see how you were getting along."

His coming was so unexpected that for a moment Shirley was startled, but she quickly regained her composure and asked him to take a seat. He seemed pleased to find her making such good progress, and he stopped to answer a number of questions she put to him. Shirley tried to be cordial, but when she looked well at him and noted the keen, hawk-like eyes, the cruel, vindictive lines about the mouth, the square set, relentless jaw—Wall street had gone wrong with the Colossus that day, and he was still wearing his war paint—she recalled the wrong this man had done her father, and she felt how bitterly she hated him. The more her mind dwelt upon it the more exasperated she was to think she should be there, a guest under his roof, and it was only with the greatest difficulty that she remained civil.

"What is the moral of your life?" she demanded bluntly.

He was quick to note the contemptuous tone in her voice, and he gave her a keen, searching look as if he were trying to read her thoughts and fathom the reason for her very evident hostility toward him.

"What do you mean?" he asked.

"I mean what can you show as your life work? Most men whose lives are big enough to call for biographies have done something useful. They have been famous statesmen, eminent scientists, celebrated authors, great inventors. What have you done?"

The question appeared to stagger him. The audacity of any one putting such a question to a man in his own house was incredible. He squared his jaws, and his clinched fist descended heavily on the table.

"What have I done?" he cried. "I have built up the greatest fortune ever accumulated by one man. My fabulous wealth has caused my name to spread to the four corners of the earth. Is that not an achievement to relate to future generations?"

Shirley gave a little shrug of her shoulders.

"Future generations will take no interest in you or your millions," she said calmly. "Our civilization will have made such progress by that time that people will merely wonder why we, in our day, tolerated men of your class so long. Now it is different. The world is money mad. You are a person of importance in the eyes of the unthinking multitude, but it only envies you your fortune; it does not admire you personally. When you die, people will count your millions, not your good deeds."

He laughed cynically and drew up a chair near her desk. As a general thing, John Ryder never wasted words on women. He had but a poor opinion of their mentality and considered it beneath the dignity of any man to enter into serious argument with a woman. In fact, it was seldom he condescended to argue with any one. He gave orders and talked to people; he had no patience to be talked to. Yet he found himself listening with interest to this young woman who expressed herself so frankly. It was a decided novelty for him to hear the truth.

"What do I care what the world says when I'm dead?" he asked with a forced laugh.

"You do care," replied Shirley gravely. "You may school yourself to believe that you are indifferent to the good opinion of your fellow man, but right down in your heart you do care—every man does, whether he be multimillionaire or a sneak thief."

"You class the two together, I notice," he said bitterly.

"It is often a distinction without a difference," she rejoined promptly.

He remained silent for a moment or two toying nervously with a paper knife. Then, arrogantly, and as if anxious to impress her with his importance, he said:

"Most men would be satisfied if they had accomplished what I have. Do you realize that my wealth is so vast that I scarcely know myself what I am worth? What my fortune will be in another fifty years staggers the imagination. Yet I started with nothing. I made it all myself. Surely I should get credit for that."

"How did you make it?" retorted Shirley.

"In America we don't ask how a man makes his money. We ask if he has got any."

"You are mistaken," replied Shirley earnestly. "America is waking up. The conscience of the nation is being aroused. We are coming to realize that the scandals of the last few years were only the fruit of public indifference to sharp business practice. The people will soon ask the dishonest rich man where he got it, and there will have to be an accounting. What account will you be able to give?"

He bit his lip and looked at her for a moment without replying. Then, with a faint suspicion of a sneer, he said:

"You are a socialist—perhaps an anarchist!"

"Only the ignorant commit the blunder of confounding the two," she retorted. "Anarchy is a disease. Socialism is a science."

"Indeed!" he exclaimed mockingly. "I thought the terms were synonymous. The world regards them both as insane."

Herself an enthusiastic convert to the new political faith that was rising like a flood tide all over the world, the contemptuous tone in which this plutocrat spoke of the coming reorganization of society which was destined to destroy him and his kind spurred her on to renewed argument.

"I imagine," she said sarcastically, "that you would hardly approve any social reform which threatened to interfere with your own business methods. But, no matter how you disapprove of socialism on general principles, as a leader of the capitalist class you should understand what socialism is and not confuse one of the most important movements in modern world history with the crazy theories of irresponsible cranks. The anarchists are the natural enemies of the entire human family and would destroy it were their dangerous doctrines permitted to prevail. The socialists, on the contrary, are seeking to save mankind from the degradation, the crime and the folly into which such men as you have driven it."

She spoke impetuously, with the inspired exaltation of a prophet delivering a message to the people. Ryder listened, concealing his impatience with uneasy little coughs.

"Yes," she went on, "I am a socialist, and I am proud of it. The whole world is slowly drifting toward socialism as the only remedy for the actual intolerable conditions. It may not come in our time, but it will come as surely as the sun will rise and set tomorrow. Has not the flag of socialism waved recently from the White House? Has not a president of the United States declared that the state must eventually curb the great fortunes? What is that but socialism?"

"True," retorted Ryder grimly, "and that little speech intended for the benefit of the gallery will cost him the nomination at the next presidential election. We don't want in the White House a president who stirs up class hatred. Our rich men have a right to what is their own. That is guaranteed them by the constitution."

"Is it their own?" interrupted Shirley.

Ryder ignored the insinuation and proceeded:

"What of our boasted free institutions if a man is to be restricted in what he may and may not do? If I am clever enough to accumulate millions, who can stop me?"

"The people will stop you," said Shirley calmly. "It is only a question of time. Their patience is about exhausted. Put your ear to the ground and listen to the distant rumbling of the tempest which, sooner or later, will be unchained in this land, provoked by the iniquitous practices of organized capital. The people have had enough of the extortions of the trusts. One day they will rise in their wrath and seize by the throat this knavish plutocracy which, confident in the power of its wealth to procure legal immunity and reckless of its danger, persists in robbing the public daily. But retribution is at hand. The growing discontent of the proletariat, the ever-increasing strikes and labor disputes of all kinds, the clamor against the railroads and the trusts, the evidence of collusion between both—all this is the writing on the wall. The capitalistic system is doomed; socialism will succeed it."

"What is socialism?" he demanded scornfully. "What will it give the public that it has not got already?"

Shirley, who never neglected an opportunity to make a convert, no matter how hardened he might be, picked up a little pamphlet printed for propaganda purposes which she had that morning received by mail.

"Here," she said, "is one of the best and clearest definitions of socialism I have ever read:

"Socialism is common ownership of natural resources and public utilities and the common operation of all industries for the general good. Socialism is opposed to monopoly, that is, to private ownership of land and the instruments of labor, which is indirect ownership of men; to the wages system, by which labor is legally robbed of a large part of the product of labor; to competition with its enormous waste of effort and its opportunities for the spoliation of the weak by the strong. Socialism is industrial democracy. It is the government of the people, by the people and for the people, not in the present restricted sense, but as regards all the common interests of men. Socialism is opposed to oligarchy and monarchy, and therefore to the tyrannies of business cliques and money kings. Socialism is for freedom, not only from the fear of force, but from the fear of want. Socialism proposes real liberty, not merely the right to vote, but the liberty to live for something more than meat and drink.

"Socialism is righteousness in the relations of men. It is based on the fundamentals of religion, the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of men. It seeks through association and equality to realize fraternity. Socialism will destroy the motives which make for cheap manufacturers, poor workmanship and adulterations; it will secure the real utility of things. Use, not exchange, will be the object of labor. Things will be made to serve, not to sell. Socialism will banish war, for private ownership is back of strife between men. Socialism will purify politics, for private capitalism is the great source of political corruption. Socialism will make for education, invention and discovery; it will stimulate the moral development of men. Crime will have lost most of its motive, and pauperism will have no excuse. That," said Shirley as she concluded, "is socialism!"

Ryder shrugged his shoulders and rose to go.

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE

Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

IRISH LINENS

IN PLAIN AND FANCY

To Be Cleared Out in
The Next Seven Days

THE greatest merchandise event of 1908—over one hundred extraordinary money saving values all piled into one big seven day's event—seven days of real live price cutting of all staple and fancy white wash goods, including household cottons and linens, women's and children's dress and underwear materials. Just the goods that the housewife is buying now for her summer sewing—goods seasonable and at prices that will naturally cause you to doubt the truth of the statements; but don't doubt them until you have good reasons for so doing. We aim at representing our goods as they are and try to uphold our past record of The Store That Never Dissapoints See the goods and compare them with your ideal, consider the values and then judge our statements with unbiased judgement, you be the judge and our statements will stand the trial with the one result; you will purchase your summer needs now at a far greater saving than you would naturall y expect.

This sale has been planned on for weeks with every detail thought out thouroughly—every facility has been utilized to make this the crowning event of the year in Peterboro's merchandising world. Our buyer has been busy securing the cream of good values andtaking advantage of the close prices offered by the wholesale trade, to lessen their surplus stocks during the past winter. We have the goods and offer them at prices that will be a great inducement to buy within the next seven days. Below are a few of the many that will be found in our staple and linen sections from Thursday, May 28th, to Thursday, June 4th.

FROM ORILLIA TO PETERBORO'

Trip Was Not Completed Owing to a Breakdown

Messrs. Judd and Cliff, two Orillia sports, started on a voyage from Orillia to Peterborough in their gasoline launch Monday. They got as far as Sturgeon Lake safely, and while in O'Leary's bay struck a water-logged plank and broke their propeller shaft. The two had a strenuous paddle to Lindsay and reached that town about midnight.

A golden key made of nuggets from Alaska and the Klondike will be presented to the Atlantic fleet on its arrival in Seattle on Saturday.

BODY RECLAIMED FROM THE WATER

Remains of Joseph Torrance, Drowned at Fenelon Falls, Interred at Lindsay

Special to the Review.

Lindsay, May 27.—The body of Joseph Torrance, the young man who was drowned at Fenelon Falls some weeks ago, and whose body was carried over the falls, was found last evening about four o'clock.

The body was floating in the Fenelon River below the first bend, and was found by the brother of the drowned man, Norman Torrance, who was walking along the river bank.

The clothes on the body were torn and the body bruised, showing it had been tossed around by the current and caught on the bottom.

The funeral was held this morning and was largely attended.

Don't forget the moonligt Excursion, Friday, 29th May, at 7.30 p.m. for a cruise down the river. 25c.

A meeting of Court Chemong No. 530, I.O.F., will be held in the Sons of England Hall, to-morrow night, when Mr. George W. Powell, delegate to the district meeting, will give his report. A large attendance is requested.

DRESSED AS NUNS.

Two women, dressed as nuns, were collecting money ostensibly for a philanthropic purpose around the town on Saturday last. They registered at the Grand Union hotel and it was some time before it was found out that they were counterfeiters. They were given notice to leave town immediately and did so.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Mr. G. H. Wilson of the Lindsay Post, had a narrow escape yesterday while yachting. The yacht became stuck on a log near the old distillery, and Mr. Wilson attempted to get off by pushing with a pike pole. The pole slipped and Mr. Wilson fell into the river. Luckily his son, who was with him, rendered speedy assistance.—Watchman-Warder.

FORTUNE TELLING CASE.

Some time ago Mrs. Goheen was charged with fortune telling in the police court and the case was sent to the High Court. This case will be settled tomorrow before Judge Harding. County Constable Thornbury is the chief witness for the prosecution and it is whispered that another main witness has disappeared. The case created a good deal of feeling in town.—Lindsay Warder.

DEATH OF A STUDENT

Mr. U. R. G. ("Ross") Murray, B.A., who was in his third year in medicine at the Medical School, University of Toronto, died in the General Hospital early yesterday morning. Though quite ill, deceased insisted on writing in his examinations, which he finished last week. He came to the hospital a few days ago suffering from pneumonia, which had a severe hold on him, and he finally succumbed yesterday. He was the son of Mr. Robert W. Murray, of 12 Maitland Place, a teacher in the Model School. Deceased was only 24 years of age, and was among the most promising as well as one of the most popular of his class.—The Globe.

KEEN ON FISH AND FROGGS

The following epistle was received in the Canadian Northern Railway offices recently. It shows that American sportsmen have an eye to the possibilities of game in New Ontario, —"Dear Sir," it begins, "having wrote to Mr. W. R. HORSE KILLED, BUGGY SMASHED

Two Persons Had Narrow Escape From Death While Driving to Lindsay

Special to the Review.

Lindsay, May 27.—Mr. D. Shine, of Emily, and Miss Callahan, daughter of Mr. Michael Callahan, of Downeyville, had a very narrow escape from death yesterday evening while driving to Lindsay. They were in a covered buggy and the outfit was struck by the C.P.R. train at Mutcha's crossing, near Lindsay. The horse was instantly killed and the buggy smashed to kindling wood. How the occupants escaped sudden death is a mystery.

It is surmised that the young man tried to cross the track before the train and the horse balked. Neither of the two occupants were injured, but both were badly frightened.

Mr. Shine is the son of the well-known cheese man, Eugene Shine, of Emily.

OPERATION PREVENTED

Bad Case of Piles Cured by Zam-Buk.

Sufferers from Piles will be interested in the following testimony of Mr. Garfield Logan, 149 Welland Ave., St. Catharines, Ont. He says; "For years I was a great sufferer from protruding, bleeding piles. They got so bad that it was impossible for me to walk or sit down without a great deal of suffering. The pain I endured was dreadful. I tried everything and the doctors told me I would have to be operated upon before I could be cured. I do not think there was one remedy that I did not try, but they failed to cure me. One day I received a sample of Zam-Buk and tried that. I got some relief and decided to give it a good trial. I bought three boxes and before I had finished the third box I was completely cured. Zam-Buk salve has saved me hundreds of dollars because I had decided to have the operation if Zam-Buk did not cure me. I have recommended Zam-Buk to a number of my friends, and am always praising Zam-Buk."

Zam-Buk succeeds because it goes right to the root of the trouble. Healing, soothing and antiseptic, it is Nature's remedy for all skin diseases. All stores and druggists sell at 50c., or from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

FRED SIMPSON'S FINE SHOWING

Toronto Papers Comment Favorably on His Good Work—Ran a Great Race

Simpson made a fine impression by his showing at the Olympic trials in Toronto on Victoria Day and his name is featured in the headings of the Toronto evening papers. The Star says:

"The features outside of Lawson's win and Goldsboro's exhibition of grit was the showing of Cotter the Burlington kid, who finished third and strong, and Simpson, the Hiawatha Indian, who finished like a race horse and will be very dangerous in 25 miles."

The following is from The News:

"Lawson finished fresh after having run a remarkable race. Cotter, of Burlington, was the third man to finish, closely followed by Fred Simpson, the Indian from Peterboro, who finished like a lion and who would probably have given Lawson a great race if he had settled down to work a little earlier."

SPORTING COMMENT

Johnston's Petts are certainly delivering the gilt-edged article this year. They look pretty safe from present indications to pick as winners of the Midland League, although as yet it's pretty premature to make such a forecast.

Another match between Hurtubise and Rogers would be the cause of much speculation as to who is the better man. From the showing made by both men in their bout last Friday, it's just a toss-up concerning who would be the winner in a three times an hour handicap.

Simpson certainly ran in splendid style at the 15 mile Olympic trial on Victoria Day. He finished very strong and was not in trouble at any time. He should be heard from in the 25 mile event.

The feat of walking five and a half miles an hour, that was accomplished by Cecil Armstrong, the 14-year-old winner of the Y.M.C.A. boys' walk, is worthy of recording. Jim Harrison was referee and he kept the boys at it square heel and toe.

It is up to the Y.M.C.A. and T.A.S. lacrosse teams to get as much practice as possible if they hope to have any chance of landing the Trent Valley League trophy. The defeat of the twelve at Millbrook, picked from the combined ranks of both, would go to show the need of all the rehearsals possible.

The local bowlers have started the season in the right way and there are good prospects for a successful season.

WOODBINE RACES ATTRACT MANY

Seagram Wins First and Third in Three Events

Toronto, May 27.—Tuesday was Seagram day at the Woodbine. Mr. Seagram, the winner of the King's Plate on the opening day, having won first and third in three races, that were all features.

Regardless of expert opinion Seismic, the plate winner, made a show of Hendrie's Shimonese, alleged to have been beaten on opening day by a fluke, and the latter had a five-pound advantage by the scale. The Governor-General warmly congratulated the president on his victory. Two of Mr. Seagram's winners, Seismic and Jubilee Juggins, had the humiliation of starting second choices to Shimonese and Harcourt, while Lady Milner was a split choice with Merry Shore, each of this beaten trio getting the place money.

An unfortunate accident occurred in the stake event when Violent dropped dead after going a furlong. Jockey Foley miraculously escaped without a scratch. The horse was apparently dead before he dropped and had to be dragged from the track to let the horses finish.

The weather and the attendance were both good.

The following are the races for the day, with the winners:

Bend Or purse, 4-year-olds and up, 1 mile and 70 yards—Shields' Holscher.

Coronation stakes, 2-year-olds, 4 furlongs—Seagram's Lady Milner.

Breeders' stakes, 3-year-olds, 1 1-16 miles—Seagram's Seismic.

Royal Canadian steeplechase, 4-year-olds and up, 2 miles—Chetland's Medicine Man.

Prince of Wales' handicap, 3-year-olds and up, 6 furlongs—Seagram's Jubilee Juggins.

Ottawa purse, 3-year-olds and up, 1 1-16 miles—Civill's Goldway.

The Two Leaders.

Toronto, May 27.—The two provincial leaders spoke last night, Premier Whitney at Lindsay and Hon. A. G. MacKay at Hamilton.

CHANGES IN METHODIST CHURCHES OF THE DISTRICT

It is understood that at the Methodist conference at Lindsay next week the transfer will be ratified of Rev. J. P. Wilson, from Belleville to Cambridge street Methodist church, Lindsay. Rev. Dr. Bishop, who is now pastor of Cambridge street church, will assume Rev. Mr. Wilson's charge at Belleville. Mr. Wilson is a former pastor of George street Methodist church, Peterborough.

The only change in the Methodist ministry in Peterborough will be in connection with the Charlotte street Methodist church. Rev. Mr. Henderson, of Port Hope, will become pastor there, but it is not yet known whether Rev. Mr. Manning will go to Port Hope or be appointed to the new Methodist circuit to be formed in the south end of Peterborough. The latter action will be recommended to the conference by the Methodist district of Peterborough.

DAMAGE TO ROOF AND THE ATTIC

A defective chimney was the cause of a fire this afternoon at the residence of Mr. R. G. Kingan, corner of Dalhousie and Aylmer Sts. The blaze broke out about 3 o'clock and the attic and roof were damaged to some extent.

The brigade extinguished the fire in about three-quarters of an hour.

THE STRENUOUS LIFE

Pulls so Hard on the Stomach it Must Have Help

The stress and strain of the strenuous life in both city and country makes stomach troubles Five people suffer to-day where one did ten years ago, with sick headache, dizziness, flatulence, distress after eating, specks before the eyes, bloating, nervousness, sleeplessness, and the many other symptoms of indigestion.

All who are suffering with stomach troubles, and that means at least two out of every three in Peterborough and other towns, should use Mi-o-na stomach tablets. Nothing else is as safe, yet as effective; nothing else can be so thoroughly relied upon to relieve all troubles from indigestion as Mi-o-na.

So reliable is Mi-o-na that M. Madill, druggist, corner George and Hunter Sts., Peterborough, with every 50 cent box he sells, gives a guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy cures.

MANY WOMEN IN SESSION IN THE CITY

District Meeting of W.F.M.S. Being Held at St. Andrew's Church---Mrs. Burns Re-elected President

The annual meeting of the W. F. M. S. for Peterboro Presbytery is in session to-day at St. Andrew's church with the president, Mrs. S. S. Burns, of Lakefield, in the chair. About 50 delegates are in attendance. Those from outside points are billeted in the city.

Reports from the various Mission bands and societies of the churches in Peterboro are being presented A meeting open to the public will be held to-night and the session closes to-morrow at noon.

TO-NIGHT'S MEETING

At to-night's meeting to which the public is invited, an address which should be of much interest, will be given by Rev. R. P. McKay, of Toronto, Foreign Mission Secretary for the Presbyterian Church in Canada. Dr. McKay is thoroughly conversant with every phase of the work and has just completed a tour of all the foreign mission stations in connection with the Presbyterian church in Canada, in India, China and Formosa. An address will also be given by Rev. Robt. Pogue, pastor of St. Paul's church.

The election of officers took place this morning, Mrs. Burns being re-elected president by acclamation. The feature of this afternoon's meeting was an address by Dr. Oliver, Missionary for India.

The delegates from outside points are:

Mrs. Burns, Lakefield; Miss Ruby Chandler, Norwood; Mrs. Harry Harper, Norwood; Mrs. J M Walton, Havelock; Miss Beatrice Mathison, Havelock; Mrs. Breckenridge, Westwood; Mrs. T. POLICE WERE GIVEN CHASE

On McDonnel St. Last Evening---A Lively Time

Word was 'phoned to the police station last night about nine o'clock that two suspicious characters had attempted to enter a McDonnell St. residence. P. C. Newhall went after them and after a lively chase through Hicks' wood, yard and other places in the vicinity it was found that there was nothing in the attempt, only some young fellows in the neighborhood were acting smart.

CREW OF THE BEAVER SAW DEAD BODY IN WATER

Lindsay, May 26.—A gruesome sight was witnessed by the crew of the steamer Beaver as it came down Fenelon River on Saturday last. The boat had locked through with a tow of logs and was proceeding down the river. Some distance from the Falls one of the river drivers perceived something unusual in the water close to one of the town and investigated. What was his surprise to find the head and shoulders of a body protruding from the water.

The men notified others and the boat's whistle was blown. Assistance arrived from Fenelon Falls in boats but before the body was reached it sunk. Efforts to bring it to the surface were in vain.

It is believed that the body was that of the young man Terrance, who was drowned a few weeks ago at the Falls and has never been recovered.

The captain of the Beaver, whose men first saw the body, is Edward Smith, of Bobcaygeon.

The water in the river at the place where the body was seen is of considerable depth.

NOTICE OF THE COMPOSITE REGIMENT IN THE ORDERS

There was a good turnout at the weekly drill of the 57th regiment last night. The total strength numbered 147. The following orders for the week were read;

Headquarters, Peterborough, May 26th, 1908;

Orders by the officer commanding the 57th regiment, Peterborough Rangers.

No 1—Detail of duty for the week ending June 2nd, 1908, Captain for the week, Capt. Mills. Next for duty, Capt. Cluxton. Subaltern for the week, Lieut. Best; next for duty Lieut. Jas D Clarke.

No. 2—Leave of absence from parade is hereby granted to Capt. Cluxton, Capt. McWilliams, and Lieuts. Carruthers, Comstock, F A Clarke, and J D Clarke.

No. 3—Regimental order No 4, of May 5th, 1908, referring to the Tercentenary celebration at Quebec, and the proposed retention of the efficiency pay in the regimental fund in connection therewith, is hereby cancelled.

In accordance with command order No. 4, of the 16th of May, 1908, a composite regiment under the command of Lieut. Col. Miller, R.O., consisting of eight companies, of which the 57th regiment is expected to supply at least four companies, will proceed to camp for training at Kingston on Tuesday, the 23rd day of June and continue until the 27th, 1908.

It is noted for the information of all concerned that the ordinary rates of pay both for drill and efficiency will be given to all who attend this camp.

MARRIAGE HAS BEEN ANNULLED

Ceremony Between W. A. Agnew and Miss Gober Set Aside at Montreal

Montreal, May 25.—In the Court of King's Bench, the appeal side, today, the marriage of W. A. Agnew, a son of Wm. Agnew, of Montreal, to Miss Gober, former principal of the Ladies' School in Kingston, Ont., was set aside as null and void. At the time of the marriage Agnew was a cadet in attendance at the Royal Military College, Kingston. The superior court held that though he he had been under age at the time of the marriage, the fact that he had, after becoming of age, not taken steps to end the relations existing, made the union binding. His parents however, brought action, and the appeal court holds that this action was sufficient to still secure the annulment of the union. The English-speaking judges, Justices Trenholme and Cross, however, were in favor of maintaining the judgment of the lower court and allowing the marriage to stand.

BIRTHDAY PARTY ON VICTORIA DAY

Enjoyable Time at Home of Mr. Geo. Dredge, Downie St.

George Dredge of 654 Downie St. had the pleasure of seeing another anniversary of his birthday on the 23rd of May and Mr J Cox of Codford, Saint Mary, Wiltshire, England, who is staying with Mr. Dredge, also had the pleasure of spending his first birthday in Canada, on Victoria Day They gave a birthday party to their friends on Monday, among those present were Mr and Mrs D Hillier, 161 Park street; Mr and Mrs Cillayne, of Pine Grove, Smith, township and others. Both gentlemen received many congratulations and presents. The party in the afternoon was photographed on the lawn. A very enjoyable evening was spent in music and songs, the party breaking up at midnight.

THE ROYAL VISIT TO CANADA

The visit of the Prince of Wales to Canada will be followed with the keenest possible interest by all in England and the Empire. The Pageant and the other tercentenary celebrations at Quebec are to be carried out on a magnificent scale. Comparatively few persons will be able to see even a portion of these; but both they and the far greater number not so privileged will welcome the pictorial record which is to appear in our illustrated contemporary, The Graphic, London, sixpence weekly. The special artist and photographers of The Graphic will furnish a complete pictorial record of the celebrations, and there can be no doubt that the illustrations in our contemporary will form a valuable historical record of a noteworthy event in British history.

HAS DISCOVERED NEW EXPLOSIVE

Haliburton Man is Believed to Have a Good Thing

Lindsay, May 27—Mr. E J Holmes, of Haliburton claims to have discovered a new explosive that is not very powerful but absolutely safe for transportation as well as inexpensive.

Mr. Holmes and his friends have every confidence in the discovery and do not hesitate to place a quantity of the powder—for a powder it is —upon a rock, floor, ground and set fire to it with a match where it will slowly burn. They also will pound it with a maul or cut it and say it is perfectly harmless until excluded from the air and reached by an electric spark or fire from a fuse. The climate has no effect upon it, neither has the lapse of time, and it is evidently destined to become the best known and most used explosive for heavy firing guns throughout the world.

A company was formed to promote the new enterprise consisting of the discoverer and Messrs. Robt. Cain, Henry Brohm and Wm Hudgins of Haliburton, R. E. Southby of Port Hope, and a Mr. Cowan of Toronto, all of whom were present and saw the demonstration on Tuesday evening of last week.

The new explosive is covered by patent for all Canada and patents are being applied for covering all other countries.

SUMMER SCHOOL AT CHEMONG PARK

Rev. Mr. Cragg of Foxboro in the City Making Arrangements

Rev. Mr. Cragg, of Foxboro, was in the city today making arrangements for the summer school which will be held at Chemong Park from July 6th to the 13th. The school was very successful last year, there being over one hundred and twenty-five young people in attendance. It is expected that the number this year will far exceed that of last summer. The summer school affords one a grand opportunity to have a pleasant holiday and at the same time study the Word of God.

HYDRANT RATES OF ONTARIO CITIES

What is Paid at Different Places in the Province—An Interesting Comparison

The following is from the Kingston Whig:—The waterworks department has tables of statistics showing the amounts nearly all of the cities and towns in Ontario and the United States pay for hydrant service. Only $750 a year is credited to the Kingston waterworks for water for all civic purposes. In all other places a hydrant rate is paid. For instance, the waterworks' financial statement of the town of Berlin in Western Ontario shows a revenue of $6,000 from hydrants, and brings the gross revenue up to its proper mark. The Water and Gas Review, in a recent article, points out that in order to show the correct revenue a municipal waterworks should be credited with a proper amount of hydrants, service. Kingston has 237 hydrants, and allowing the low price of $20 a hydrant the revenue would be $4,740. Then the city would have to charge taxes on the waterworks plant, which would amount to about $4,000. The hydrant rate could be fixed to equalize the tax total.

The following are what some Ontario places charge a year for hydrant service:—Aylmer, $50; Belleville, $50; Berlin, $35; Brockville, $45; Chatham, $30; Collingwood, $40; Cobourg, $23; Fort William, $20; Guelph, $20; Goderich, $40; Kenora, $45; Lindsay, $45; Listowel, $35; Napanee, $50; Niagara Falls, $30; North Bay, $25; Peterborough, $35; Picton, $46; Petrolea, $40; Strathroy, $30; St. Thomas, $20; Sault Ste Marie, $50; Windsor, $30; Walkerville, $40; St. Catharines, $20.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS, 1908

To the Electors of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—As you are aware I have received the unanimous nomination in the Liberal interests to contest the Riding of West Peterborough for its representation in the Legislature of Ontario. I beg to respectfully solicit the votes and support of all those who desire good economical and efficient administration of our affairs. I am not bound down by any straight and fast lines, but will, if chosen as your representative, take the course which, in my best judgment will best promote the interests of West Peterborough, irrespective of party considerations, and of the Province generally.

The test of good representation, either by a Government or member, is good work and, in this respect, both the late member for West Peterborough and the Government he supports have fallen short of a faithful discharge of their trust and regard for the pledges upon which was founded the policy upon which they appealed to the people. Both the Conservative leader and Mr. Bradburn appealed for a cessation of the extravagant expenditure, which they condemned in the late Government. The result has been an increase of expenditure in three or four short years of sixty per cent., not a productive expenditure for the benefit of the people, but in the mere work of administration.

In this address I cannot enter into details of the manner in which the present Government has failed to live up to the policy upon which it appealed for office, but there has been a general disregard of the principles which they claimed to be guided by. They have failed in their trust and they evidently feel that they have done so, for fearing to trust to their record, they have resorted to a "gerrymander" of the constituencies, inconsistent with fair redistribution and especial unfairness has been done in the city of Toronto by doubling its representation and giving each elector two votes, thus giving the city voter double the power in the government of the province accorded to electors in the country constituencies.

The interests of the farmers have been ignored to the extent that the expenditure for agriculture has been increased only some eight per cent, while the general increase to less worthy interests has been sixty per cent.

Disregard of the rights of labour was shown by the Government reviving the contract system of prison labour abolished by a Liberal Government, and farming out to contractors Central Prison labour at 3 cents per hour to compete against free labour.

The introduction of the "spoils system" the failure to remove license administration from the sphere of political influence, the three-fifths handicap to local option, the invasion of the rights of rural trustees by depriving them of the right of saying how they shall spend their own money, the friendliness to corporation interests, the disregard of private rights and discouragement of private enterprise in the matter of mining claims, neglect of law reforms with a view of making our law courts available for securing justice within the means of a poor man, and the delay and inaction in the matter of dealing with the power problem are but items in a long list of matters in which the present Government have forfeited their claim to the support of the people.

If elected I shall devote my best efforts to the advancement of the interests of the city in every direction and shall not overlook its most important interests, the allied welfare of our workingmen and our manufacturing industries; and will also do all in my power to advance the great farming and dairying interests which are the foundation of our prosperity, giving fair play at the same time to every provincial interest, and to political friend and political opponent alike.

Trusting that I may be favored with your support and influence and vote, I remain, Gentlemen,

Very sincerely yours,

G. A. GILLESPIE

BUILDING PERMITS FOR FIVE MONTHS OF 1908

The amounts of the building permits issued at the City Hall from the first of January, 1908, up to the present have been totalled showing the aggregate for the period to be $55,140. This is much below the amount for the same period as last year but the difference is really not as large as the figures would show. The permits for the new armoury, Normal School, Collegiate Institute, Queen Alexandra school and the new Catholic church were all taken out during the early months of 1907, whereas this year the permits are practically all for dwelling houses or smaller buildings.

A large number of permits are being taken out at present and it is expected that the total for the year will be very creditable.

SWEPT OVER THE DAM AND DROWNED AT LAKEFIELD

John Meehan, 22 Years of Age, the Victim—Body Has Not Yet Been Recovered

Special to the Review

Lakefield, May 27—A very sad accident happened in the village Tuesday afternoon when Mr. John Meehan, formerly of Toronto was engaged in working with logs above the dam. He fell off a pier and before assistance could reach him he was swept over the dam. He was a young man in the employ of the Cavendish Lumber Company and has only been in the village a short time. A search party was formed to look for the body but at five o'clock were unsuccessful in locating it. The deceased was a brother of Mrs. Larkin of the village. He was 22 years of age.

Word was received from Lakefield this afternoon stating that the body had not yet been found.

Mr and Mrs. M. Callandar and daughter, Miss Mildred, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. D. McLean, of Lindsay, formerly of Norwood.

Mrs. Irving and Miss Maude Irving, of Peterborough, spent Sunday in town.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Watson and sons, city and Cecil, spent Sunday in Havelock.

Miss Young, of Toronto, spent Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Young, Belmont street.

Mr. Fred Buck, of Toronto, is visiting friends in town.

Mr Ed. Houson and daughter, of Peterborough, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Buck, town.

Mr. Duncan Anderson, of Toronto is visiting his mother, Mrs. A. Anderson, Queen street.

On Friday evening last while the family of Mr. Ed. Patterson, of Asphodel, about one and a half miles east of here, were away, fire started in their house, caused by over-heated stovepipes, falling on the floor upstairs. Before any assistance could be procured the flames had made such progress that it was impossible for the willing, yet powerless rescuers (powerless on account of the intense heat from the devouring flames) were unable to do but little towards saving the property. Only a few articles were saved from the house. Only one person was in the house at the commencement of the fire and she a young girl, fled in terror to the nearest neighbors to give the alarm, but before help could arrive it was too late. Mr. Patterson's loss will be heavy, for it is only a short time since he spent considerable money in repairing and completing his comfortable home.

While attending to his usual duties in the box factory last Wednesday morning, Mr. F. Stewart, of town, was the victim of a very painful accident. Mr. Stewart was standing under a large knife when it dropped and fell on his foot amputating all his toes. Mr. Stewart walked to Dr. Wilson's office from the factory, which is a distance of about 100 yds. We are glad to say Mr. Stewart is doing as well as can be expected.

Mrs. A. B. Greenbank, spent Tuesday in Havelock, the guest of Mrs. Relieghem.

Mr Charlie Hendren, of town, is leaving for Winnipeg tomorrow morning.

BRADBURN GREETED BY ENTHUSIASTIC AUDIENCES

North Country Strong for Bradburn, Whitney and Good Government—Big Meeting at Lakehurst and Buckhorn

Victoria Day was celebrated at Lakehurst, Harvey, by a patriotic celebration in the afternoon and a well-attended meeting in the interests of the Whitney administration and good government in the evening. The weather being warm, those who could not gain admittance to the hall listened through open windows. Between twenty and thirty ladies graced the assemblage by their presence and took a deep interest in the proceedings. The "oldest inhabitant" Mr. Adams was present. Mr. David Weir made a very efficient chairman.

Mr. Peck, in opening, expressed the sympathy of the Liberal Conservatives of West Peterborough with the sorrowing relatives of the late Mr. William Anderson, M. P. P., who for so long represented East Peterboro in the Legislature. Mr. Anderson was a man of gentle disposition and upright character who had left behind a reputation such as all [illegible] envy. It was men such as these who preserved the good name and well being of a community. Law reform, the speaker said, had been arranged for, although carried out only in part. It was impossible to proceed with complicated questions hastily as more harm would result than good. The Whitney administration had the sympathy and co-operation of the legal profession. The Ross Government had made serious mistakes in their innovation with respect to county councils but this had been remedied by the present Government to the general satisfaction. But the great achievement of Mr. Whitney was the rescue of the Province from bankruptcy. Where Mr. Ross had to confess to yearly deficits of a million there had succeeded surpluses and a generous system of aid and development throughout the Province.

Mr. Bradburn, who was received with applause, expressed his obligations to the ladies for coming out in such large numbers. Mr. Peck had told the audience of our rescue from financial bankruptcy. He wished to point out to them circumstances of no less importance. The removal of the number from the ballot had made the elector free. The ballot could no longer be held over the heads of the electors as an instrument of torture. Surpluses had enabled the enabled the Government to do a vast deal for the people. There had been an enormous increase in the amounts set apart for colonization roads and education. Monies appropriated for the former were no longer expended by merchants, undertakers, and others who knew nothing of the requirements of the roads. Education had become, even in so short a time as three years, something of real benefit to the people. Modern requirements had been built up to. Vacant schools and unqualified teachers were a thing of the past. This most important branch of popular government had been made to serve the best interests of the people. It had been taken out of politics. No one doubted that the Whitney Government would be returned by an immense majority. (Applause.)

Mr. Burnham observed that the state of decline into which the Province had fallen under Mr. Ross was necessarily the direct consequence of continued deficits. The whole Ross cabinet had displayed almost extraordinary inaptitude for administration. Provincial affairs had got into such a tangle that they had become mere guesswork and the spectacle was furnished of the richest province in the world appearing poverty stricken and out-at-the-elbows. The change under Mr. Whitney had been instantaneous. No other government had ever achieved so much in so short a time. With the system of equalization of the burden of taxation and the participation in the development of our own resources, the future of this province was bright as it was assured. The power policy and the mining policy were two bright and shining examples of good administration. The meeting closed with the usual cheers.

AT BUCKHORN

Last night a largely attended meeting in the interests of Mr. Bradburn and the Whitney administration was held at Buckhorn. Much enthusiasm prevailed and the member for West Peterborough was given a hearty reception. Mr. Pearson, a well known resident of the district was chairman, and the speakers were Mr. E. A. Peck and Mr. Bradburn.

Mr. Peck referred to the beauty of Buckhorn and the pleasure it gave him to be present at a meeting there. He alluded to Mr. Bradburn's devotion to his parliamentary duties and the good work he had done as member for West Peterborough. The two candidates, Mr. Bradburn and Mr. Gillespie were both good men, but the question was whether the people wanted an administration like like that of the Ross regime or of good government like that Mr. Whitney was giving them. Mr. Peck referred to the good move of repealing the Ross County Councils Act. The new act was a much fairer one. Deficits had been the rule under the Ross Government. Surpluses were now the order. The Whitney Government had greatly increased the grants to rural schools in Peterborough county, and much good had resulted from the changes in the educational system.

Mr. Bradburn was greeted by loud applause on arising to speak and it was some time before he was able to make himself heard. He extended a hearty welcome to the ladies and was glad to see that they took such an interest in public matters. He had endeavored to serve his constituency faithfully. He pointed out that the colonization is wholly handled by the councils, not by the inspecors. Mr. Bradburn reviewed the administration of the Whitney Government and was listened to with the deepest interest.

BODY CLEANING EVERY SPRING MORE URGENT THAN HOUSE CLEANING.

Many Women Have Discovered That a Course of Treatment With Pe-ru-na Cleanses the System of the Accumulations of Winter.

MRS. ALICE BRADLEY.

Health and Complexion, Strength and Beauty Depend Upon Clean Blood and Good Digestion.

Mrs. Daniel Passmore, Welland, Ontario, Can., writes: "For three years I was severely afflicted with stomach trouble, and for days at a time I could not eat anything. I grew thin in flesh, had headaches and was the picture of despair.

"I was attended by three doctors, but got no good results.

"Finally I began the use of Peruna. I soon noticed an improvement and after using three bottles, I was able to relish a meal, in fact, could eat anything.

"To-day I feel well and strong. I consider that Peruna has saved my life and I shall always praise it."

MRS. DANIEL PASSMORE.

Mrs. Alice Bradley, Thorold, Ont., Can., writes:

"Two years ago I became weak and rundown and as time passed I gradually failed until a year ago, when I experienced a stroke of paralysis, which affected one side and I was helpless.

"I called in professional medical treatment, but steadily grew worse.

"I had decided I never would rise again from my bed, but, when Peruna was brought to me and after having taken four bottles of it, I was able to be out and a wonder to myself and friends.

"I consider Peruna a great blessing to the afflicted. I may add that my daughter has also used Peruna and has been blessed with renewed health. I believe Peruna saved our lives."

Clean Up Once a Year.

CLEANING up the body in the spring is a duty everyone owes to himself. Face powders may hide a rough skin, but Peruna helps to produce a skin that need not be hidden.

The source of good blood is good digestion. Peruna aids digestion.

Those people who have regular bodily functions have a clear and delicate skin. Peruna helps to restore these functions.

Most skin deformities depend upon systemic derangements which cannot be corrected by local treatments.

Peruna is a systemic remedy, reorganizing and regulating the whole body.

Mrs. N. P. Lawler, 423½N. Broadway, Pittsburg, Kas., writes:

"Last spring I caught a severe cold which developed into a serious case of catarrh. I felt weak and sick and could neither eat nor sleep well.

"A member of our club, who had been cured of catarrh through the use of Peruna, advised me to try it and I did so at once.

"I expected help, but nothing like the wonderful change for the better I observed almost as soon as I started taking it.

"In three days I felt much better, and within a week I was well.

"I continued taking the entire bottle and within two weeks I was in fine health."

"Peruna is a wonderful medicine."

Mr. Lee King, R. F. D. No. 4, Farmersville, Tex., writes:

"My health has been better generally this spring and summer than it has been for four years and I have worked nearly every day.

"I suffered with dysentery and bowel trouble.

"Your remedy also cured my wife of constipation.

"I wish you continued success with your great medicine, Peruna."

DISEASED CATTLE ALARM HAMILTON TWP. FARMERS

Quite a serious state of affairs exist in the township of Hamilton and one which calls loudly for investigation.

On Friday last Mr. Herb Rosevear killed a heifer for the Beef Ring of the township and when he was dressing it he felt sure that the animal was diseased. Dr. J. N. Johnston, veterinary surgeon, was called upon examination found that the liver, lungs and kidneys were literally full of tuberculosis. The slaughter house in which the heifer was killed was immediately fired not even a knife being removed.

This heifer had pastured with the other cattle for some time and by all means the Government should use the tuberlin test upon the remainder of the herd as the milk is being sent to the factory.

THE JUNE BRIDE WILL BE MUCH IN EVIDENCE HERE

From rumors that are going the rounds, there is going to be a plentiful crop of June brides this summer. Of course some persons without soul or sentiment, will say that leap year is responsible for it, but their opinion is not to be taken seriously.

A number of weddings will take place in the city on Wednesday of next week — the first Wednesday of the month of roses. They will increase in number every Wednesday until the end of the month. The clergymen, jewellers and florists have inside information as to the large number of happy events that are scheduled to take place. They say the June bride will be much in evidence in Peterborough.

THE ORANGE GRAND LODGE IN SESSION AT MIDLAND

Rome is in the Ascendant Says the Grand Master—Seventy-Ninth Annual Meeting of the Grand Lodge at Midland—Dr. Sproule, M.P., Says Harsh Things About Rome.

Midland, May 28.—The seventy-ninth annual meeting of the L. O. L. Grand Lodge of British North America is now in session here, with Dr. Sproule, M. P., Sovereign Grand Master, presiding.

In his address, the grand master, after referring to the prosperity of the order with three organizers constantly employed, said:

"Rome, the great disturbing factor in national life, has been steadily losing ground and losing control over the powers that be in her ancient strongholds—Italy, France, Spain, Portugal and Germany, where for centuries she held sway and dictated terms. Her tyranny and encroachments upon the rights of the state and the liberties of the people made it necessary to curtail her power and restrict her operations. But while she has been steadily losing in the east, she has been correspondingly gaining in the west. In the British Isles and on the Continent of America she has been distinctly adding to her strength and displaying her arrogance. Her attacks upon the safeguards enacted centuries ago to ensure in perpetuity the occupancy of the British throne by Protestant kings and queens are persistent and vigorous. Her constant assaults upon the educational system of the country, which she is gradually but surely breaking down, her obstruction of the administration of justice in Ireland., and the agrarian crimes of her people make both life and property insecure in that country.

"Coming nearer home, we have many instances which indicate the inroads she is constantly making on the rights of the people. The arrogance she displays in her disregard of law and authority is evidenced in the refusal of the clergy to obey the command of the courts to appear and give evidence as witnesses in civil and criminal suits. This shows the high-handed authority that she exercises. Her justification for such refusal, viz., that belonging to a higher and ecclesiastical court, she is under no obligation to obey the mandate of the lower one, seems to be arrogant in the extreme.

"The regrettable feature of it is that even the judges on the bench, under such circumstances, seem to be afraid or reluctant to compel obedience to the law, or punish for contempt of court."

As cases in point, mention was made of the fining of Salvation Army workers soliciting alms in Quebec, although Rome's representatives pestered members in the Parliament buildings for donations, and to the proclamation forbidding Orangemen to parade in Buckingham, Que.

It was recommended that Orangemen of Canada give financial aid in helping the Irish Unionists circulate Grievances From Ireland, the monthly brochure issued from Britain setting forth the ills from which Irish Protestants are alleged to suffer.

The need for more uniformity in the matter of regalia was also emphasized.

William Lee, grand secretary, reports 60 new primary lodges, 6 county lodges, 16 scarlet chapters, 7 ladies' lodges and 8 Orange Young Briton lodges organized during the year. The total increase of members is 5,008, made up as follows: Newfoundland 719, Prince Edward Island 17, Nova Scotia 62, Ontario East 460, Ontario West 1,102, New Brunswick 237, Manitoba 122; Alberta 75, Saskatchewan 133, British Columbia 188, and Quebec a decrease of 33. The total membership is 71,382. The total value of the real estate held by the order is $769,891, and other property $165,030.

The report of Treasurer Parkhill shows an income of $8,156.96, which includes a balance from last year of $3,187. The total expenditure was $3,709.03, leaving a balance on hand of $4,447.93.

At the annual meeting of the Grand Black Chapter of B. N. A. James T. Harper, grand master, condemned the alleged political ascendancy of Rome in Canada and suggested a more general observation of the anniversary of Derry. Ten new chapters have been instituted, reports the grand registrar, J. S. Williams, Toronto, and the total membership is about 5,000, an increase of over 300 on last year.

THE VISIT IS POPULAR ONE

Rumored Outcomes of the President's Visit.

London, May 28.—The visit of the President of France, M. Fallieres, to London, is proving so vastly attractive and popular to Londoners that much attention is being devoted to the comments of the French and Austrian newspapers on the probability of advantage being taken of the occasion to develop the entente into a formal treaty of alliance.

Pours parlers already have commenced for a commercial treaty and should they be successful no doubt the idea of a stronger tie would be warmly welcomed. The newspapers here are discussing the question with lively interest.

Beware of Trustee Securites.

London, May 28.—In a letter to the Prince of Wales, notifying him of his latest gift to the King Edward hospital, Lord Mount Stephen expresses the hope that should the finance committee decide to change any of the securities in which his contributions already are invested, it would not be tempted to reinvest the money in what is called "trustee securities."

Chinamen Boxed Up.

New York, May 28.—Under orders from Immigration Commissioner Sargent, agents of the immigration bureau investigated a report that twelve Chinamen who were smuggled into this country over the Mexican border nailed tightly in boxes and shipped from El Paso, Texas, to New York, were dead when they reached this city.

MARINE DISASTER MANY DROWNED

Eighteen Men go Down to Death in Bay of Fundy.

Halifax, May 28.—Eighteen men went to their death in the Bay of Fundy on Tuesday, when the Dominion Atlantic Railway's liner, Boston, crashed into the Boston schooner Fame, and sent her to the bottom, only two of the schooner's crew being rescued. A thick fog, which enveloped the schooner's lights as if in a shroud, was the cause of the accident.

The schooner was cut in two. Lifeboats were swung out from the steamer, but the wreck of the schooner went down within two minutes.

The Fame had been out from Boston on a fishing trip for four weeks. It was their intention to start for home that day, as they had a catch of 100,000 pounds. Two men drifted away in a dory several days ago, and had been given up for lost.

Train on Fire In Tunnel.

Etreux, France, May 28.—Two empty first-class passenger cars, attached to the White Star line special train bound from Paris to Cherbourg, with passengers for the steamer Teutonic, took fire while the train was passing through a tunnel near Etreux. All the passengers for the steamer, numbering 24, were seated in the third car, which did not take fire. None were injured.

No Change In Textile Strike.

Montreal, May 28.—The textile strike is still in an unsettled condition. The officials of the Dominion Textile Co. are waiting for an official notice from the Dominion Government of the appointment of W. L. Mackenzie King, Deputy Minister of Labor, as a royal commissioner to enquire into the state of trade in the textile industry.

Revolver Match by Cable.

Kingston, May 28.—The cadets of the Military College of Kingston, Ont., and Sandhurst, Eng., had a revolver competition on Empire Day, and cable exchanges show that the English college won by a score of 240 to 143.

IS IT A CASE OF MURDER? WHERE IS ROBERT BAILEY?

Fowler's Corners Man Came to Peterborough Last Thursday and Has Not Been Seen Since Afternoon of the Following Day---Has There Been Foul Play?

Left House of His Sister on Aylmer Street to Go to the Grand Trunk Station and Has Not Been Seen Since Then—Is Believed to Have Had Money With Him—Searching Party to Set Out Tomorrow

Did Robert Bailey, aged 43 years, whose home is at Fowler's Corners, meet with foul play?

He has disappeared as completely as if the earth had opened and swallowed him up and his relatives are filled with anxiety.

Robert Bailey came to Peterborough on Thursday, May 21st, and spent that day and Friday in the city. He was last seen as far as is known, on Friday afternoon, May 22nd. At that time he left the home of his sister, Mrs. Alfred Dundas, 155 Aylmer street, to go to the Grand Trunk station, to take the 5.30 train for Best's station, on his way home. Whether he reached the station or not is not known but it has been ascertained definitely that he did not get off the train at Best's station.

POLICE NOTIFIED

Mr. Sidney Bailey, brother of the missing man and who also lives at Fowler's Corners is in the city today and reported the matter to the police. He is of the opinion that his brother has met with foul play. Robert Bailey is thought to have had considerable money with him when he came to Peterborough and it is feared some one has done away with him in order to secure the money.

MISSING MAN

The man who has disappeared is forty-three years of age and unmarried. He owns a farm beside that of his brother Sidney at Fowler's Corners and worked it until last March. About the first of that month he had an auction sale and disposed of most of his stock and implements. He rented the farm and since that time has resided principally with his brother Sidney. He was working around his own farm last week, putting it in shape for the tenant and among other things had torn down all the fences in order to replace them with wire ones. The material for the new fences did not arrive as soon as expected and Mr. Bailey had not much to do on Thursday so he came to Peterborough on a business trip. He was to return home on the 5.30 Grand Trunk train Friday evening. He left the house of his sister, Mrs. Alfred Dundas, 155 Aylmer street, shortly after five o'clock on Friday afternoon to go to the station and since then nothing has been heard of him. As stated above, he is forty-three years of age, of short, stocky build and has a light colored moustache and fair hair.

HAD MONEY

It is believed that Bailey carried considerable money with him. His brother is of the opinion that he may have reached the station too late to catch the train for home and started to walk the distance on the track. He had done that before after visiting at his sister's in Peterborough. Apparently something happened him if he started to walk home for he never reached there.

WAS TEMPERATE

Robert Bailey was strictly temperate, of quiet disposition, and as all his affairs were in good condition his relatives and friends are at a loss to account for his disappearance.

TO MAKE SEARCH

A party is being organized by the missing man's brother to make a thorough search of the territory along the railway track between Best's station and Peterborough. This will be done tomorrow and the developments will be awaited with interest. The local police are now working on the case which gives promsie of being a hard one to solve

The Bailey farms are located about a mile north of Best's station. The man who has disappeared is well known throughout the county, and also in the city.

MURDERER CREIGHTON HAD AN UNGOVERNABLE TEMPER

Inquest Opened—Creighton Likely to Recover From His Self Inflicted Wound—The Knife Used in the Butchery—Mrs. Creighton's Relations Prostrated—Facts and Incidents in Connection With Family.

Owen Sound, May 28.—An inquest was opened yesterday into the Creighton tragedy, and after taking the evidence of Mr. Hays, a gardener, who lived next door, and of Dr. Cooper, was adjourned until this evening.

Creighton will likely recover. The bullet penetrated the right cheekbone and lodged in the neck.

The knife used in the murder was a bread knife which had been ground sharp and to a very fine point. It was found in Creighton's room beside the wreck of a small stand, which he had evidently knocked over. Creighton directed the searchers to where they found the knife, and told them they would find the revolver under his wife's right arm. It was found under her pillow.

James Farish Creighton is about 55 years of age. His father was one of the earliest settlers, running a general store, which was continued after his death by his four sons. Creighton has three brothers and one sister, all of whom reside in Owen Sound.

About 12 years ago Creighton disposed of his book and stationery business to enter his brother's office as assistant tax collector, which position he has filled ever since. He was married about 30 years ago to Miss Bessie Seldon, but they did not live together for a number of years. For this he was largely responsible as he was a man of irregular habits and ungovernable temper. Many times in fits of rage, it is now said, he threatened his wife's life. She died a little over a year ago.

A few months ago, after the death of his first wife, he married Mrs. Chapman of Ypsilanti, Mich., who had been a frequent visitor with friends in Owen Sound. Their married life appeared to be happy, Creighton being apparently devoted to her two daughters.

His drunken habits, however, had caused a rupture and she was preparing to go back to her home in the States. This seems to have affected Creighton, who has frequently been seen intoxicated recently, in spite of the fact that Owen Sound is under local option. Once a hotelman was remonstrated with for giving him liquor and replied that when refused his language was so blasphemous that it was thought better to let him have it.

The revolver he borrowed from the hardware store of Christie & Co., on Monday evening, Victoria Day.

A Port Huron, Mich., despatch says that Mrs. Creighton's parents, Judge Edward Harris and Mrs. Harris, are prostrated by the tragedy and are under a physician's care.

In her youth Mrs. Creighton was one of the leading society girls of Port Huron, and her family stands high in social, business and professional circles in Michigan.

Mrs. Creighton while still Mrs. Chapman and living in Ypsilanti met Creighton while traveling with her husband in the south. After Chapman's death Creighton went to Ypsilanti and pressed his suit hard to win Mrs. Chapman. Creighton was somewhat odd in appearance and was not very well educated. Mrs. Chapman did not favor him for some time, but finally married him, though the marriage was not known for several weeks later.

An incident is being discussed here which, though apparently trivial, shows that there were frequent jangles in the Creighton family. The women were Americans and Creighton was a Canadian by birth.

The whole family went to the Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning. God Save the King was sung at the close of the service, and the women refused to join in the singing. On the way home Creighton asked them why they didn't sing. They replied that they did not propose to sing the British National Anthem, as the United States was their native land.

Whereupon, it is said, Creighton informed them, with much profanity, that he would have no one around his house who would not be loyal to the British flag.

If Creighton has any remorse it is expressed in a statement he made that he wished that instead of using the weapon on the others he had emptied it into himself.

A touching incident in connection with the death of Clare, the younger sister, is that on Sunday she flung her arms around the neck of her Sunday school teacher and imprinted a good-bye kiss just as the school was dismissed. She appeared to be strangely affected, and on being asked why she had done so said that she did not know and repeated the act. Had the victim of tender years a premonition of impending fate?

ROYAL SOCIETY OF DOMINION

Wants the Year Divided into Months of Four Weeks

Ottawa, May 28.—The Royal Society of Canada, at its session passed a resolution in favor of dividing the year into months of four weeks each.

Officers were elected as follows: Visitor, Earl Grey; hon. president, Sir Wilfrid Laurier; president, Col. Wood, Quebec; vice-presidents, Dr. Casgrain, Quebec, Dr. James Hannay, St John; Dr. Bryce, Winnipeg; Barlow Cumberland, Toronto; secretaries, Col. Cruikshank, Niagara Falls; Benj. Sulte, Ottawa.

Guelph After G. T. R.

Guelph, May 28.—The City Council passed a resolution to instruct the city solicitor to issue an indictment to bring the Grand Trunk to the Police Court for not having at Guelph passenger station accommodation for their passengers as the charter provides.

Pickets In the Brantford Strike.

Brantford, May 28.—At the Police Court it was agreed that the men should be allowed to continue picket duty, the names of pickets and hours to be given the police. They will preserve peace and are willing to be sworn in as special constables.

Hon G. W. Ross has given notice of a resolution looking to Senate reform.

Regrets Canada's Treaty With France.

London, May 28.—Premier Ward of New Zealand, speaking yesterday, adverted to the idea of a white New Zealand. Mr. Ward said New Zealand did not intend to interfere in British politics, but he thought the colonies were within their rights in asking for a preference. He was sorry that Canada had concluded a commercial treaty with France. When other colonies made such arrangements with foreign countries it would be the beginning of the overthrow of the commercial supremacy of the Empire.

Canada and the Indies.

London, May 28.—In the Commons Mr. Seeley stated he had received communications from the West Indies re resolutions passed at the conference in Barbados for the mutual reduction of tariffs with Canada, but nothing had been heard from the Dominion Government as to encouraging commercial intercourse between Canada and the West Indies. Mr. Cox asked that care be taken that Canada didn't give more favorable treatment to the West Indies than to Britain.

Carrie Nation Again Causes Trouble.

Pittsburg, May 28.—Mrs. Carrie Nation of Kansas, who was arrested, charged with disorderly conduct for scolding and embarrassing four men in public, was fined $25 and costs or 30 days in the workhouse. She refused to pay the fine but members of the W. C. T. U. collected it and saved her from the workhouse. Her offence was that she strenuously objected to three men smoking cigarettes and a fourth wearing a Masonic emblem on a street car.

EXTRA

MISSING MAN TURNED UP

Word Received From Fowler's Corners That Robert Bailey Arrived There To-day

Late this afternoon a telephone message was received from Fowler's Corners stating that Robert Bailey, the man who has been lost to his friends since last Friday, had showed up, at his home there today in good health. His brother who is in the city could secure no information to where he had been or why he had not notified his friends.

THE DOMINION PARLIAMENT BUSINESS AT A STANDSTILL

A Long Sitting Resulted in No Progress—Another Sitting Occupied With a Cold Storage Scandal—Mr. Foster Points Out That Sir Frederick Borden and His Son-In-Law Are Interested.

Ottawa, May 28.—The House sat till 4.25 yesterday morning without making any progress. The Opposition refused to allow any estimates to be passed until clauses Nos. 1 and 17 of the election bill were withdrawn. Hon Mr. Paterson tried to get the customs estimates through in order that the employes might be paid, but did not succeed. Opposition members discussed the election bill and not the estimates.

On the opening of the House yesterday, Speaker Sutherland announced that he had received the resignation of Armand Lavergne (Montmagny) and had given instructions for the issue of a writ for a new election. Lavergne has entered Quebec politics.

E. N. Lewis appealed to the Government to take over the bills standing on the order paper in his name, to amend the Immigration Act, respecting the carrying of offensive weapons, respecting injuries to persons due to motor vehicles. The Prime Minister said the Government had enough legislation to put through.

Replying to Mr. Boyce, the Minister of Railways said that on Nov. 25, 1907, the N. T. R. Commission ordered from the Algoma Steel Co. 21,271 tons of steel rails, but owing to the failure of the Government to get supply the commission had been unable to place further orders.

Mr. Porter was told that the Government had assisted the New Brunswick Cold Storage Co. of St. John to the extent of $37,000 and that $15,000 had been paid to the company.

Claude Macdonell asked if it was the intention of the Government to proceed with the insurance bill this session. Mr. Fielding said it was, as soon as progress has been made in more important work.

The rest of the sitting till the House rose at 6 o'clock was taken up with a discussion on a cold storage matter and it was not concluded when the time for adjournment came.

The speech of Mr. Foster, who introduced the subject, consisted almost wholly of excerpts from the Government return. It was intended to show that Sir Frederick Borden, his son-in-law, and some others were interested in the formation of a company which secured the subsidy from the Government for the construction of the cold storage warehouse at St. John, N. B. He read some correspondence referring to the subject.

Summarizing, Mr. Foster said that he found that in 1906, the Minister of the crown had interested himself in the formation of a company and during that time, the Minister was sitting at council board formulating a scheme to grant aid to the cold storage companies. The company was to be floated in England, and the promoters were able to say that one of the parties interested in securing the subsidy from the Government is a Cabinet Minister.

"This is a thing that would be unheard of in the annals of the British Government," said Mr. Foster.

It was only when money could not be got in England that the company joined hands with the New Brunswick Cold Storage Co.

It would be a graceful act, even at this late date, for the Minister of Militia to cease to compromise the Government and to resign, said Mr. Foster in conclusion.

Sir Frederick Borden after a reference to the revelations before the Insurance Commission, pointed out that Mr. Foster should be the last man to appear as censor of the morals of others. He claimed that in the transaction Mr. Foster had brought up everything had been done openly. There was nothing to conceal. His only interest in the establishment of a cold storage warehouse was to give fruit growers direct means of keeping their fruit in good condition for market. He did not own a dollar of stock in the company and did not expect to receive one dollar of benefit.

Dr. Daniel of St. John and Hon. Mr. Fisher had something to say and were followed by Mr. Fowler who had the floor at adjournment.

A new so-called scandal is promised every day to occupy the time of the House while the deadlock continues.

COMPENSATION FOR WORKMEN

Manufacturers Alarmed Over New Brunswick Bill.

St. John, N. B., May 28.—Manufacturers are up in arms over the Workmen's Compensation Bill, introduced by some Socialistic-minded members.

The provisions make the employer responsible for all accidents to his employes, whether caused by defective machinery, carelessness or inexperience of other workmen, or any cause whatever.

The limit of liability in case of death is three years' full wages, while for injuries not resulting in death the limit is ten dollars per week for one hundred weeks. There is no reference to arbitration and such as there is do not interfere with the verdict of the jury.

Accused of Attempted Murder.

Kingston, May 28.—Edna Suddard, a young woman of Cataraqui, has been charged by Walter Cook with attempted murder. On Sunday in the Methodist Church it is charged the young woman, slipped into a pew behind Cook and, drawing a revolver from the folds of her dress, pointed it at Cook and pulled the trigger. The cartridge did not explode and the weapon was speedily taken from Miss Suddard's hands. She left the church. Jealous insanity is the alleged cause.

Three Killed In Tornado.

Wichita, Kansas, May 28.—Three persons were killed and one child is missing at Ingersoll, Okla., as the result of a tornado.

Tornado In Nebraska.

Fremont, Neb., May 28.—A tornado a mile from Fremont did damage to the extent of $10,000.

The Missing Election Records.

Ottawa, May 28.—The privileges and election committee, investigating the mystery surrounding the disappearance of all records in the Stanstead bye-election in February last, made an inspection of the premises of the clerk of the crown in chancery, where the election records are kept, and decided to subpoena Mr. Foley, clerk of the crown in chancery; Mr. Chadwick, his assistant, and Mr. L'Heureux, an Ottawa junk dealer, who is employed to destroy old ballot papers, etc., when the clerk of the crown in chancery is finished with them.

Medical Deciprocity.

London, May 28.—(C. A. P.)—Dr. MacAlisten, president, stated that the general medical council has agreed to recognise the degrees of McGill and Laval Universities and that the War Office is prepared to give the same facilities to Quebec students registered here as to Nova Scotia graduates. It is hoped this will induce other provinces to regard the question of reciprocity from a national point of view.

Enough Railways Now.

London, May 28.—(C. A. P.)—Referring to the proposed Central Railway, The Morning Post thinks Canada already possesses as many lines as it can profitably use for many years.

FINEST SHOPS IN DOMINION

This is Said of the New Intercolonial Shops at Moncton

Moncton, May 28.—By the first of September the new Intercolonial shops at Moncton, the finest in Canada and in certain respects the best equipped in America, will be completed and ready for use. The buildings will afford space for all the work necessary on the I. C. R. for many years to come. Two shops have been completed, one for the repair of freight cars, the other to be used as a planing mill. Those still to be completed are stores and office building, two passenger car shops and an immense locomotive shop.

A Naval Militia For Canada.

Ottawa, May 28.—Rear Admiral Kingsmill of the Royal Navy, who has been appointed to the command of the marine service in Canada, will sail for this country to-day.

It is understood that the Government will make provision for the appointment of cadets on board cruisers, in which way boys desirous of following a naval career may be taken into the marine service of Canada at an early age.

Two Hundred Dollars Stolen.

Brantford, May 28.—The police are investigating the loss of $200 from the local branch of the Trusts & Guarantee Co. On two mornings lately the police found the outer doors of the premises unlocked. The money was in the cash box, and the whole outfit is said to have been taken.

Public Control In New York State.

Albany, N. Y., May 28.—By a practically unanimous vote, the Senate judiciary committee has reported to the Senate the bill of Senator Page, placing telephone and telegraph companies under the jurisdiction of the public service commissions.

Out After Ocean Records.

New York, May 28.—New ocean records will be tried for by the giant liners, Mauretania and Lusita[illegible] which set out yesterday from opp[illegible] sides of the Atlantic.

Ex-President Cleveland Dying.

New York, May 28.—A despatch from Lakewood says that ex-President Grover Cleveland's death is expected at any moment. He had another sinking spell at midnight.

Long Trip With Leper.

Winnipeg, May 28.—Dr. Watt of [illegible] city left for China, taking with him the Chinese leper from Austin, Man., who will be put in an institution [illegible] lepers at Canton, China.

Double Drowning.

Cobalt, May 28.—Erick [illegible] and Otto Pyyliko, Swedes, [illegible] for Archie Gillies, were [illegible] Bay Lake by the upsetting of a [illegible] in a squall.

Century and Half Old.

New York, May 28.—Colu[illegible] versity celebrated its one [illegible] and fifty-fourth [illegible] terday. [illegible]

THE LIBERAL LEADER

The Globe, as in duty bound, has hailed Mr. MacKay as a heaven-born leader, but the fact remains that it was not until Hon. G. W. Ross, Hon. Richard Harcourt and Hon. George P. Graham were removed from the scene of Hon. J. P. Whitney's triumph that Mr. MacKay's celestial qualities became apparent. Fourth choice after the chieftain of the Clan Stratton and the Sullivan sept, survivor of a political wreck and leader by default, it is not strange that Liberals have hesitated in enthusiasm. As leader of a disorganized opposition he may pass, but as the head of a responsible government, not even the Globe takes him seriously.—Toronto World.

TIMBER SALES

Nothing could be more wasteful of the public domain than the Ross government plan of holding large timber sales. In fact this was the custom of all the Liberal premiers. An immense block of timber could be bought by wealthy men and as it required expensive and extensive investigation and examination there was a strong probability at times that the price realized would be much below the real value. Such was uniformly the case. The sums returned to the Ontario government in the past although increasing year by year were far below the real value of the timber sold. Mr. Whitney devised an entirely new plan that worked scientifically and without possibility of being evaded. The dues were exacted from the output Board Measure. There could be no mistake about the output, [illegible] there cannot be about the intake. The consequence is that the sums realized are out of all proportion to those realizable by the other plan. Big timber lots are no longer offered. One instance of the folly of the old way will illustrate our object. A [illegible] was sold for $20,000 to Mr. Mc-[illegible] & Co. The area was not observed strictly. The government allowed much freedom. The government looked into the matter and demanded $[illegible] more, which was paid. It was worth a million more but the government could not obtain more than the Company would pay, since the contract sheltered the original buyers behind its absurd "conditions." In pulpwood also, the Whitney government has saved the province on sales so far in the last three years not less than $500,000. We have heard before that we were rich but we never knew it until Whitney came in. Besides a fine contract was included that was new and has saved us probably millions more.

MACKAY AND TEMPERANCE

Thus it was that the much-debated resolution was eliminated with the approval and under the leadership of Mr. McKay and Mr. Graham, Mr. Ross rising later to remark "I was delighted with your decision upon the temperance question." It was some weeks afterward that Mr. Hossack, in his open letter to Mr. Ross wrote: "You waited a long time; you made a most deliberate selection. Mr. A. G. McKay and Mr. Geo. P. Graham were chosen. The great convention met, the temperance question was introduced. Mr. A. G. McKay and Mr. Geo. P. Graham wrecked the temperance question while you looked placidly on." — Toronto News.

Here we have in the terse and forceful language of Mr. Hossack the present Independent Liberal candidate in North Toronto, what must be assumed to be a fair presentation of the "highly moral" attitude of Mr. MacKay. Mr. Ross captained the band of squirmers. This Liberal convention was the undoing of Mr. Ross. It gave him his quietus. It regarded him and his cabinet with scorn. Mr. Hossack will be the next leader of the Opposition if he is elected in Toronto. He is unquestionably all he appears to be. Liberal or Conservative, this Province must have honest, straightforward men and no others. The day of the political shyster is one with "Nineveh and Tyre." How childish this contention for the loaves and fishes of office when great principles are at stake! Mr. Whitney did not promise extreme measures and was able to do what he promised. His idea is to "control" the liquor traffic and in any case to allow the people to say what they want done with it. "Control" he succeeded in establishing and maintaining. He is moderate, strong and candid, a great contrast to the shifting, vacillating and hypocritical Mr. Ross. The Ross record was one of financial and moral bankruptcy for the Province. Nothing is surer than that. "But what a change is here, my countrymen."

EDITORIAL NOTES

Rev. Mr. Hossack proposes to abolish the bar. How can he follow a leader who makes no such promise?

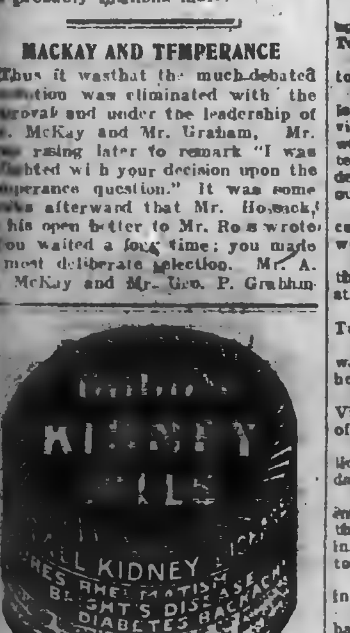
From Miss Quinn's account of religious progress in China, we would recommend that some of our Liberal friends be sent there in hope their conversion.



LAKEFIELD

Special to the Review.

Lakefield, May 27th.—The concert held in the town hall under the auspices of the W.F.M.S. of Lakefield Presbyterian church, on Wednesday evening, May 25th, was a decided treat, Miss Irons' several selections being well received.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS, 1908

To the Electors of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—It is my privilege to again appear before you as the Conservative candidate in the approaching election of members of the Ontario Legislature, and while on the previous occasion I was in opposition to the Government, I now have the pleasure of supporting the Administration of Hon. J. P. Whitney, whose management of the affairs of the Province, with the support of an able cabinet, has, during his short premiership, proved of such marked benefit.

Measures of a far-reaching character have been passed, and the statute books of the last three years are replete with legislation of a high order, as well for its originality as its soundness. Let me mention a few of the important acts of the past sessions. The establishment of a Railway and Municipal Board, the new act relating to mining, the creation of the Hydro-Electric Commission, the amendment of the liquor laws, amendments to the law relating to the election of members of the Legislature, particularly the alteration in the ballot, which is now absolutely secret.

The administration of the public domain, especially the mining laws of the Province, has been most profitable, adding large sums to both revenue and capital, and the different changes which have been effected in the Education Department have met with the approval of all persons, concerned in that most important branch of the public service.

One of the beneficial acts of the Government is the taking with its own hands the distribution of electric energy through the great water power of Niagara Falls, and other rivers capable of hydraulic development. Thus are the different municipalities through the Province enabled to obtain the inestimable commodity at a minimum of cost.

The Government, while endeavoring to serve the people generally have not been unmindful of the importance of this riding, and when the new normal schools were to be created one of the four was placed in this constituency, thus affording exceptional advantages to the teachers and schools of this counyt.

In the short time which will elapse before polling day, I shall endeavour to make my views more fully known to you both privately and publicly, and I bespeak your cordial support, not so much becausee of any merits of my own, as on account of the splendid record of the Government.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,

T. E. BRADBURN

DR. TUPPER AND CONSTITUENTS

Story of the Famous Old War Horse of Cumberland.

Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., the famous old War Horse of Cumberland, and the hero of many a hard fought political campaign, was a medical doctor in his younger days, and practiced at Amherst, Nova Scotia. In those days he traveled pretty well all over Cumberland county and on horseback. When he entered politics he knew practically every man, woman and child in his riding. Of course, in his campaigning he met with many cases of real or more often imaginary ailments on the part of his constituents, and a great part of his prescriptions and practice when campaigning was such that he received no remuneration for it. He was one of the "great unpaid." As was natural, and as it occurs in every part in every country, there were a number of elderly persons, mostly ladies, who called upon the "good doctor" to relieve them of their physical troubles.

In such cases as these, where he saw that the trouble was one of the imagination, Dr. Tupper had one universal panacea. He listened very carefully to the "history of the case," and after reviewing all the symptoms he always prescribed the use of dandelion bitters. He would give particular instructions as to how to gather the roots and flower of the herb and of the best method of brewing the drink. So good an impression did he make by his prescription and so serious was he all the while, that upon his next visit the patient was sure to be "feelin' much better, sir."

The kindly treatment cost the doctor little, but repaid him with the love of the people and reaped for him such majorities on election day as are seldom heard of nowadays.

Zulus Are Loyal.

Whatever grievances or troubles, real or imaginary, individual natives or groups of natives may have, the Zulu race cherishes no ill-will against white rule as such.

Cattle disease, locusts, drought, and the consequent distress — these principally made up the tale of lament at the indabas.

Against the white man's government as a system, however, not a syllable or a hint was uttered or suggested.

On the contrary, many chiefs, while reciting their troubles, candidly confessed the diseases, drought and locusts were not of human making, and that but for the white authorities they no doubt would be much worse. Often speakers at the indabas acknowledged the benefits of white rule, and on this ground alone they condemned rebellion.

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

By CHARLES KLEIN.

A Story of American Life Novelized From the Play by ARTHUR HORNBLOW.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

"Delightful," he said ironically, "but in my judgment wholly utopian and impracticable. It's nothing but a gigantic pipe dream. It won't come in this generation, nor in ten generations, if, indeed, it is ever taken seriously by a majority big enough to put its theories to the test. Socialism does not take into account two great factors that move the world—men's passions and human ambition. If you eliminate ambition you remove the strongest incentive to individual effort. From your own account a socialistic world would be a dreadfully tame place to live in—everybody depressingly good, without any of the feverish turmoil of life as we know it. Such a world would not appeal to me at all. I love the fray, the daily battle of gain and loss, the excitement of making or losing millions. That is my life!"

"Yet what good is your money to you?" insisted Shirley. "You are able to spend only an infinitesimal part of it. You cannot even give it away, for nobody will have any of it."

"Money!" he hissed rather than spoke. "I hate money. It means nothing to me. I have so much that I have lost all idea of its value. I go on accumulating it for only one purpose. It buys power. I love power—that is my passion, my ambition, to rule the world with my gold. Do you know," he went on, leaning over the desk in a dramatic attitude, "that if I chose I could start a panic in Wall street tomorrow that would shake to their foundations every financial institution in the country? Do you know that I practically control the congress of the United States and that no legislative measure becomes law unless it has my approval?"

"The public has long suspected as much," replied Shirley. "That is why you are looked upon as a menace to the stability and honesty of our political and commercial life."

An angry answer rose to his lips, when the door opened and Mrs. Ryder entered.

"I've been looking for you, John," she said peevishly. "Mr. Bagley told me you were somewhere in the house. Senator Roberts is downstairs."

"He's come about Jefferson and his daughter, I suppose," muttered Ryder. "Well, I'll see him. Where is he?"

"In the library. Kate came with him. She's in my room."

They left Shirley to her writing, and when he had closed the door the financier turned to his wife and said impatiently:

"Now, what are we going to do about Jefferson and Kate? The senator insists on the matter of their marriage being settled one way or another. Where is Jefferson?"

"He came in about half an hour ago. He was upstairs to see me, and I thought he was looking for you," answered the wife.

"Well," replied Ryder determinedly, "he and I have got to understand each other. This can't go on. It shan't."

Mrs. Ryder put her hand on his arm and said pleadingly:

"Don't be impatient with the boy, John. Remember he is all we have. He is so unhappy. He wants to please us, but"—

"But he insists on pleasing himself," said Ryder completing the sentence.

"I'm afraid, John, that his liking for that Miss Rossmore is more serious than you realize"—

The financier stamped his foot and replied angrily:

"Rossmore! That name seems to confront me at every turn—for years the father, now the daughter! I'm sorry, my dear," he went on more calmly, "that you seem inclined to listen to Jefferson. It only encourages him in his attitude toward me. Kate would make him an excellent wife, while what do we know about the other woman? Are you willing to sacrifice your son's future to a mere boyish whim?"

Mrs. Ryder sighed.

"It's very hard," she said, "for a [illegible] Miss Green says"—

"What!" exclaimed her husband, "you have consulted Miss Green on the subject?"

"Yes," answered his wife, "I don't know how I came to tell her, but I did. I seem to tell her everything. I find her such a comfort, John. I haven't had an attack of nerves since that girl has been in the house."

"She is certainly a superior woman," admitted Ryder. "I wish she'd ward that Rossmore girl off. I wish she"—He stopped abruptly as if not venturing to give expression to his thoughts, even to his wife. Then he said: "If she were Kate Roberts she wouldn't let Jeff slip through her fingers."

"I have often wished," went on Mrs. Ryder, "that Kate were more like Shirley Green. I don't think we would have any difficulty with Jeff then."

"Kate is the daughter of Senator Roberts, and if this marriage is broken off in any way without the senator's consent, he is in a position to injure my interests materially. If you see Jefferson, send him to me in the library. I'll go and keep Roberts in good humor until he comes."

He went downstairs, and Mrs. Ryder proceeded to her apartments, where she found Jefferson chatting with Kate. She at once delivered Ryder senior's message.

"Jeff, your father wants to see you in the library."

"Yes; I want to see him," answered the young man grimly, and after a few moments' more badinage with Kate he left the room.

It was not a mere coincidence that had brought Senator Roberts and his daughter and the financier's son all together under the Ryder roof at the same time. It was part of Jefferson's well prepared plan to expose the rascality of his father's secretary and at the same time rid himself of the embarrassing entanglement with Kate Roberts. If the senator were confronted publicly with the fact that his daughter, while keeping up the fiction of being engaged to Ryder junior, was really preparing to run off with the Hon. Fitzroy Bagley, he would have no alternative but to retire gracefully under fire and relinquish all idea of a marriage alliance with the house of Ryder. The critical moment had arrived. Tomorrow, Wednesday, was the day fixed for the elopement. The secretary's little game had gone far enough. The time had come for action. So Jefferson had written to Senator Roberts, who was in Washington, asking him if it would be convenient for him to come at once to New York and meet himself and his father on a matter of importance. The senator naturally jumped to the conclusion that Jefferson and Ryder had reached an amicable understanding, and he immediately hurried to New York and, with his daughter, came round to Seventy-fourth street.

When Ryder senior entered the library, Senator Roberts was striding nervously up and down the room. This, he felt, was an important day. The ambition of his life seemed on the point of being attained.

"Hello, Roberts," was Ryder's cheerful greeting. "What's brought you from Washington at a critical time like this? The Rossmore impeachment needs every friend we have."

"Just as if you didn't know," smiled the senator uneasily, "that I am here by appointment to meet you and your son!"

"To meet me and my son?" echoed Ryder, astonished.

The senator, perplexed and beginning to feel real alarm, showed the financier Jefferson's letter. Ryder read it, and he looked pleased.

"That's all right," he said. "If the lad asked you to meet us here it can mean only one thing—that at last he has made up his mind to this marriage."

"That's what I thought," replied the senator, breathing more freely. "I was sorry to leave Washington at such a time, but I'm a father, and Kate is more to me than the Rossmore impeachment. Besides, to see her married to your son Jefferson is one of the dearest wishes of my life."

"You can rest easy," said Ryder. "That is practically settled. Jefferson's sending for you proves that he is now ready to meet my wishes. He'll be here any minute. How is the Rossmore case progressing?"

"Not so well as it might," growled the senator. "There's a lot of maudlin sympathy for the judge. He's a pretty sick man by all accounts, and the newspapers seem to be taking his part. One or two of the western senators are talking corporate influence and trust legislation, but when it comes to a vote the matter will be settled on party lines."

"That means that Judge Rossmore will be removed?" demanded Ryder sternly.

"Yes, with five votes to spare," answered the senator.

"That's not enough," insisted Ryder. "There must be at least twenty. Let there be no blunders, Roberts. The man is a menace to all the big commercial interests. This thing must go through."

The door opened, and Jefferson appeared. On seeing the senator talking with his father, he hesitated on the threshold.

"Come in, Jeff," said his father pleasantly. "You expected to see Senator Roberts, didn't you?"

"Yes, sir. How do you do, senator?" said the young man, advancing into the room.

"I got your letter, my boy, and here I am," said the senator, smiling affably. "I suppose we can guess what the business is, eh?"

"That he's going to marry Kate, of course," chimed in Ryder senior. "Jeff, my lad, I'm glad you are beginning to see my way of looking at things. You're doing more to please me lately, and I appreciate it. You stayed at home when I asked you to, and now you've made up your mind regarding this marriage."

Jefferson let his father finish his speech, and then he said calmly:

"I think there must be some misapprehension as to the reason for my summoning Senator Roberts to New York. It had nothing to do with my marrying Miss Roberts, but to prevent her marriage with some one else."

"What!" exclaimed Ryder senior.

"Marriage with some one else?" echoed the senator. He thought he had not heard aright, yet at the same time he had grave misgivings. "What do you mean, sir?"

Taking from his pocket a copy of the letter he had picked up on the staircase, Jefferson held it out to the girl's father.

"Your daughter is preparing to run away with my father's secretary. Tomorrow would have been too late. That is why I summoned you. Read this."

The senator took the letter and as he read his face grew ashen and his hand trembled violently. At one blow all his ambitious projects for his daughter had been swept away. The inconsiderate act of a silly, thoughtless girl had spoiled the carefully laid plans of a lifetime. The only consolation which remained was that the calamity might have been still more serious. This timely warning had saved his family from perhaps an even greater scandal. He passed the letter in silence to Ryder senior.

The financier was a man of few words when the situation called for prompt action. After he had read the letter through there was an ominous silence. Then he rang a bell. The butler appeared.

"Tell Mr. Bagley I want him."

The man bowed and disappeared.

"Who the devil is this Bagley?" demanded the senator.

"English—blue blood—no money," was Ryder's laconic answer.

"That's the only kind we seem to get over here," growled the senator. "We furnish the money; they furnish the blood. Hang his blue blood! I don't want any in mine." Turning to Jefferson, he said: "Jefferson, whatever the motives that actuated you, I can only thank you for this warning. I think it would have broken my heart if my girl had gone away with that scoundrel. Of course, under the circumstances I must abandon all idea of your becoming my son-in-law. I release you from all obligations you may have felt yourself bound by."

Jefferson bowed and remained silent.

Ryder senior eyed his son closely, an amused expression hovering on his face. After all, it was not so much he who had desired this match as Roberts, and as long as the senator was willing to withdraw he could make no objection. He wondered what part, if any, his son had played in bringing about this sensational denouement to a match which had been so distasteful to him, and it gratified his paternal vanity to think that Jefferson after all might be smarter than he had given him credit for.

At this juncture Mr. Bagley entered the room. He was a little taken aback on seeing the senator; but, like most men of his class, his self conceit made him confident of his ability to handle any emergency which might arise, and he had no reason to suspect that this hasty summons to the library had anything to do with his matrimonial plans.

"Did you ask for me, sir?" he demanded, addressing his employer.

"Yes, Mr. Bagley," replied Ryder, fixing the secretary with a look that filled the latter with misgivings. "What steamers leave tomorrow for England?"

"Tomorrow?" echoed Mr. Bagley.

"I said tomorrow," repeated Ryder, slightly raising his voice.

"Let me see," stammered the secretary. "There is the White Star, the North German Lloyd, the Atlantic Transport"—

"Have you any preference?" inquired the financier.

"No, sir, none at all."

"Then you'll go on board one of the ships tonight," said Ryder. "Your things will be packed and sent to you before the steamer sails tomorrow."

The Hon. Fitzroy Bagley, third son of a British peer, did not understand even yet that he was discharged as one dismisses a housemaid caught kissing the policeman. He could not think what Mr. Ryder wanted him to go abroad for unless it were on some matter of business, and it was decidedly inconvenient for him to sail at this time.

"But, sir," he stammered, "I'm afraid—I'm afraid"—

"Yes," rejoined Ryder promptly, "I notice that—your hand is shaking."

"I mean that I"—

"You mean that you have other engagements!" said Ryder sternly.

"Oh, no—no, but"—

"No engagement at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning?" insisted Ryder.

"With my daughter?" chimed in the senator.

Mr. Bagley now understood. He broke out in a cold perspiration, and he paled visibly. In the hope that the full extent of his plans were not known, he attempted to brazen it out.

"No, certainly not, under no circumstances," he said.

Ryder senior rang a bell.

"Perhaps she has an engagement with you. We'll ask her." To the butler, who entered, he said, "Tell Miss Roberts that her father would like to see her here."

The man disappeared, and the senator took a hand in cross examining the now thoroughly uncomfortable secretary.

"So you thought my daughter looked pale and that a little excursion to Buffalo would be a good thing for her? Well, it won't be a good thing for you, young man, I can assure you of that!"

The English aristocrat began to wilt. His assurance of manner quite deserted him, and he stammered painfully as he floundered about in excuses.

"Not with me—oh, dear, no," he said.

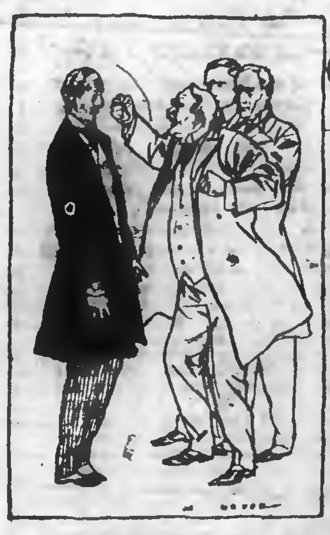
"You never proposed to run away with my daughter?" cried the irate father.

"Run away with her?" stammered Bagley.

"And marry her?" shouted the senator, shaking his fist at him.

"Oh, say, this is hardly fair, three against one, really, I'm awfully sorry, eh, what?"

The door opened, and Kate Roberts bounced in. She was smiling and full of animal spirits, but on seeing the stern face of her father and the pitiable picture presented by her faithful Fitz she was intelligent enough to immediately scent danger.



"You never proposed to run away with my daughter?"

"Did you want to see me, father?" she inquired boldly.

"Yes, Kate," answered the senator gravely, "we have just been having a talk with Mr. Bagley, in which you were one of the subjects of conversation. Can you guess what it was?"

The girl looked from her father to Bagley and from him to the Ryders. Her aristocratic lover made a movement forward as if to exculpate himself, but he caught Ryder's eye and remained where he was.

"Well?" she said, with a nervous laugh.

"Is it true?" asked the senator, "that you were about to marry this man secretly?"

She cast down her eyes and answered:

"I suppose you know everything."

"Have you anything to add?" asked her father sternly.

"No," said Kate, shaking her head. "It's true. We intended to run away, didn't we, Fitz?"

"Never mind about Mr. Bagley," thundered her father. "Haven't you a word of shame for this disgrace you have brought upon me?"

"Oh, papa, don't be so cross. Jefferson did not care for me. I couldn't be an old maid. Mr. Bagley has a lovely castle in England, and one day he'll sit in the house of lords. He'll explain everything to you."

"He'll explain nothing," rejoined the senator grimly. "Mr. Bagley returns to England tonight. He won't have time to explain anything."

"Returns to England?" echoed Kate, dismayed.

"Yes, and you go with me to Washington at once."

The senator turned to Ryder.

"Goodby, Ryder. The little domestic comedy is ended. I'm grateful it didn't turn out a drama. The next time I pick out a son-in-law I hope I'll have better luck."

He shook hands with Jefferson and left the room, followed by his crestfallen daughter.

Ryder, who had gone to write something at his desk, strode over to where Mr. Bagley was standing and handed him a check.

"Here, sir. This settles everything to date. Good day."

"But I—I"—stammered the secretary helplessly.

"Good day, sir."

Ryder turned his back on him and conversed with his son, while Mr. Bagley slowly and as if regretfully made his exit.

NOW I AM WELL

THANKS TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Eli, Manitoba.

I wish to state, for the sake of others who may be sufferers like I was, that I suffered from severe indigestion and constipation for years and that there was also womb trouble with unpleasant pains in my back which made me miserable, constantly. I tried physicians and took many remedies but I got no relief. I was induced to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I can truly say this was the first medicine that ever did me any good. "Fruit-a-tives" quickly relieved the constipation and indigestion and completely cured me of all symptoms of womb trouble. I cannot express too strongly my great gratitude to this medicine as I am as well now in every way as ever I was, thanks to "Fruit-a-tives". I can strongly recommend "Fruit-a-tives", it is easy to take and the effect is always mild like fruit.

TO BE INSTALLED ON 17th OF JUNE

Date on Which Archbishop McEvay Will Take Charge at Toronto

A meeting of a number of local Roman Catholic clergy was to be held to-day to arrange for the installation of Right Rev. Dr. McEvay, Archbishop elect of Toronto diocese, but as some of them were unable to attend the meeting was held over for a while.

It is certain the installation will take place at St. Michael's Cathedral before the end of June, and June 17th is fixed as the probable date.

Bishop Dowling, of Hamilton, as senior bishop will preside and all of the Ontario and some of the Quebec hierarchy will be present. At the inauguration the Papal Bull appointing the Archbishop will be read, and the final ceremonies will take place some weeks later.—Toronto Star.

ESTHER THE BEAUTIFUL QUEEN EXCELLENTLY PRESENTED

At the Conservatory Music Hall—Splendid Singing of Those Taking Part—Will be Given Again To-night

Most creditable was the production of "Esther the Beautiful Queen," at the Conservatory Music Hall last night. The cantata is a heavy one and involved considerable exacting work both on the part of the soloists and the chorus.

The principals gave a most intelligent and satisfactory delineation of their respective parts. The chorus also sang with a splendid conception of what was required of them and aided to a very large extent in the success of the presentation.

Perhaps the most pleasing feature of the entertainment was the excellent singing. The vocalists excelled themselves, both in the matter of solos and chorus work and the audience was thoroughly appreciative.

The costumes were elaborate and rich and yet in the best of taste. The stage setting was also very pleasing. The orchestra for "Esther" is a large and well-balanced one and played the accompaniments in a faultless manner. They gave a fine rendition of the overture previous to the first scene of the piece and during the intervals contributed several numbers.

Taken altogether Esther proved a production of much merit and shows that Mr. Rupert Gliddon its energetic organizer and musical director, has a splendid sense of management and musical direction. It will be given to-night at the Conservatory Hall and should be honored with a capacity house.

OUTLINE OF PLOT.

Esther was born in Persia 500 years before Christ. Being an orphan from infancy she was adopted by her uncle, Mordecai, who, recognizing her great natural beauty, trained her in the accomplishments of highest womanhood. She was chosen by the King of the Realm to be his wife and Queen. She did not disclose her nationality. Haman was Premier and favorite of the King. Haman hated Mordecai because he would not worship him as the King had commanded. He did not know Mordecai's relation to the Queen. To be revenged he obtained a decree for destroying Jews in the provinces. Mordecai discovers the plot and charges the Queen to petition the King for the safety of her people, which she does at the peril of her life, on account of the law that no one shall go unto the King unbidden. The King hears her petition, and Haman is defeated. Haman has prepared a gallows for Mordecai. An attendant informs the King of the fact. The King orders Haman to be hanged from it and proclaims Mordecai Premier in his stead. After this the people rejoice.

The following are the parts the principals so ably presented and the names of those interpreting the roles:

CAST OF CHARACTER.

Esther, the Queen, Pearl Lundy.
Queen's attendants, Effie McWhinnie, Helen Morrow, Rose Mulholland, Mary Edwards, Carrie White, Isabel Marphet.
Ahasuerus, the King, Nathaniel Greenhalgh.
Haman, the King's Counsellor, and Overseer of the Realm, Mortimer Johnston.
Mordecai, a Jew, Herbert W. Morphet.
Zeresh Haman's Wife, Francis Manning.
Zeresh's Attendant, Helen Rush.
Mordecai's Sister, Mabel McCaw.
Prophetess, Florence Lancaster.
Median Princess, Ruth Dawson.
Persian Princess, Ida Sanderson.

REV. DR. MCKAY'S FINE ADDRESS ON "THE AWAKENING OF CHINA"

Spoke at Last Night's Meeting of W.F.M.S.—Next Session at Port Hope—The Officers for the Ensuing Year

The special feature of last night's session of the annual meeting of the Peterborough Presbyterial Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, was an address on the "Awakening of Corea," by Rev. R. P. MacKay, D.D., Toronto, Foreign Mission Secretary for the Presbyterian church in Canada. Rev. J. G. Potter presided at the meeting and gave the address of welcome to the delegates.

The scripture lessons were read by Rev. S. S. Burns, of Lakefield, and Rev. H. J. Keith led in prayer.

Rev. Robert Pogue, who was appointed to represent the Presbytery of Peterborough gave the Presbyterial greetings. He spoke about fifteen minutes and his address was a most enthusiastic one. The speaker dealt with the different phases of missionary effort and referred to its great importance and its care for personal sacrifice. His remarks were of an interesting and instructive character. The choir followed with an anthem, "Praise Ye the Lord," after which Rev. Dr. MacKay gave his address, which was most descriptive and eloquent.

DR. MACKAY'S ADDRESS.

He pictured the glories and beauties of Corea and remarked there was no land on the face of the earth so beautiful.

He spoke of the excuse people had for not going to church by saying that they worship God by viewing nature. But in spite of the fact that Corea nature was seen in all its glory, yet for centuries it had done nothing to awaken any religious sense in the people. Dr. MacKay during his impressive discourse, made made a special appeal for personal devotion and a deep interest in the missionary cause.

TO-DAY'S MEETING.

The annual meeting of the W.F.M.S. came to a close to-day at noon when the discussion on Mission Bands which was taken up last night, was concluded and considerable business was transacted.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting in Port Hope, the date for doing so to be left in the hands of the executive. Mrs. Wm. Roger gave the closing words and based her remarks on the great opportunity for service in the mission field, and urged her hearers to take an active interest in the work.

Mrs. Isaacs, of Bethesda, read the Bible lesson, and Mrs. M. Dickson, of Campbellford, led in prayer. Mrs. Marsh, of Springville, closed the meeting with prayer.

GIRL NEARLY DROWNED AT INVERLEA PARK YESTERDAY

While wading in the river at Inverlea Park yesterday afternoon, a little girl about six years old had a narrow escape from being drowned. A number of children went down to the river on returning from school. They took off their boots and stockings and were wading in the water along the shore. One of their number waded out too far and got beyond her depth. Realizing their little friend's terrible danger the schoolmates screamed vigorously for help, attracting the attention of Mr. Chas. Tailles of Auburn who was passing at the time. He immediately ran to the river and wading in rescued the little one.

She was carried to the shore and afterwards taken to her home.

BACK COUNTRY IS CONSERVATIVE

Many Turning Out to Attend Mr. Bradburn's Meeting

A largely attended meeting in the interests of Mr. T. E. Bradburn, the Conservative candidate, was held in the schoolhouse at Nogie's Creek last night. Over a hundred were present and the speeches of Mr. J. H. Burnham, and Mr. Bradburn were received with great enthusiasm. Mr. Parker was chairman and the meeting closed with cheers for the King, Mr. Bradburn and Mr. Whitney.

TENDERS WERE NOT AWARDED

A meeting of the Property Committee was held yesterday afternoon, at which there were present Ald. Bradburn, chairman; Mayor Rush and Ald. Johnston. The contract of the ice for the water fountains was discussed but no action was taken.

REPORT WITHOUT ANY FOUNDATION

A Rumour That Mr. Sam Long Had Been Found---No Word Yet Received

A report is being circulated about the city to the effect that Mr. Sam Long, who has been lost for two weeks in the forests of Algoma, had been found. It was said that he had been found lying unconscious between two logs in the woods. This report is totally without foundation and the rumor has been spread around the city by some one who had not the slightest provocation for doing so. The relatives of the lost man have not received any word of this discovery.

RIVER NOTES

The steamer Monarch came up yesterday and returned with a cargo of lumber, fence posts and shingles. The Rainbow came up yesterday with a carload of logs for the Matthews Company.

CEMENT MERGER IS REPORTED

Toronto Hears Report of a $25,000,000 Combine

Toronto, May 27—It is reported that a $25,000,000 Portland Cement merger is being formed in Canada. There are today 18 to 20 companies producing 10,000,000 barrels a year, worth $15,000,000 wholesale. Local men are not impressed with the story of a merger though some think that a holding company, or a company which would purchase the entire output would be feasible. J. H Haney, who is president of the Canadian Portland Cement Company is out of the city as is also the mangaer, Mr. F. G. B. Allan and other officials were unable to give any information. There are three companies at Owen Sound two at Lakefield, two at Port Colborne, two at Belleville, the Lehigh and another, the Vulcan, the Hull works, the National Durham, the International and several others.

SOME REMINISCENCES OF NORTHWEST REBELLION

BY JOS. CROWE, PETERBOROUGH

We assured him that we would be good to him if he were to come over to our camp by giving him a quantity of oats and hay. He was aware that we had immense quantities of it over there. So it was not hard by making promises to get him to let us stay another night and get him in fairly good humor. We stayed until we practically ate all that was better than what we had, drank all the milk and in general ran the whole place. The next day the fellows put the climax on our visit. They took the collie dog and tied a large tin can to its bushy tail and let it go. Unnecessary to say, that dog started over the prairie, passing the farmer in the field. We could just see a small speck this side of the Arctic circle somewhat. The farmer started for the house and we started for the camp amid a shower o foats. We arrived at the camp and were at once arrested as deserters and put in aguard tent. Next day we were summoned once more to apper before the Colonel, who reminded us o fhow serious a charge it was to go outside the lines and was the same as desertion. But Col. Deacon was in the best of humor and discharged us with a warning.

A little pilfering was done besides the taking of the keg from that pile of goods before mentioned. I remembe rone dark night my sleeping partne rrushed into the tent, tumbled over everybody, lifted the curtain at my head and threw something out which rolled down the bank. The guard saw him and gave the alarm, calling, "Guard turn out." The Col. was out in an instant, calling, "Bugler, bugler, why don't you blow the fall in? Blow th efall-in at once." The bugle rcould not find his bugle, and the few who mustered at the call disgusted the Colonel. However, h emade all hands get out and ordered adiligent search to be made, with the usual result that they could find nothing. He was very antry, and Capt. Burke always had to take his medicine for all that went wrong.

The Colonel and Captain Burke would fight on sight, having had several arguments which generally ended in Capt. Burke's submission.

On one occasion while on the barge going down the river, it was stated that while in a state of excitement in an argument over the charge of the Light Brigade at Balaclava the Colonel grabbed the Captain's plate knife and fork, and deliberately threw them overboard. It was while in such a state that he called Captain Burke and his men, Alababa and his 40 thieves.

The North Saskatchewan is a larger river than the south branch and takes its rise away in the Rocky mountains. We saw it rise nine feet in a very short time.

We stayed at this place a couple of weeks, before the boat hove in sight to carry us west to Battleford. She had been engaged bringing up troops to Fort Pitt. The boat was a large flat bottomed sternwheeler with boilers in the bow, engines in the stern. We were soon busy loading up our transport or what was left, for we had sent over half of it over-land to Battleford, by farmers' teams to supply the regiments there. This left us with just what belonged to the six companies of the Midland regiment who were at Fort Pitt, a place 100 miles west of Battleford.

Arriving at the latter place we disembarked for a few hours, received orders to proceed on our journey to Fort Pitt, all the regiments having concentrated there. B. Battery, General Middleton and staff also.

When we hove in sight the troops were all on the bank of the river to greet us. But when within speaking distance to our surprise some one yelled out;

"Here is Colonel and his forty thieves." It was really too bad that such a remark had been made, as those troops had already had their feelings aroused against us, which the foregoing will go to give the reason for such.

It appears that when those regiments got their supplies that many of their boxes had been tampered with.

Their men all knew long before what had been sent them as they had received their mail from home and instead of what they expected found stones, sods and clay in them; some had only half what was sent. It was one of the meanest transactions that we had to contend with. Of course these men thought we were the guilty parties and this remark coming from men of our own party did not make matters any better. However, an investigation was held with the result that we were exonerated of all blame, for it was proven that the farmers who portaged those goods along the route actually at night buried them in spots so that on their return trip home they could recover it.

This gave rise to many heated arguments and was very poor encouragement for us who labored hard, handling and guarding and practically losing nothing while under our charge. Then to "get" served with abuse for our pains.

Fort Pitt was a Hudson Bay post. It was here that several mounted policemen were shot by "Big Bear's" braves. They were of the Blackfeet tribe. It appears that a posse of police were away on duty, but on returning came innocently upon Indians lying in ambush, who opened fire on them, killing several whose remains the Indians mutilated horribly. We saw their newly made graves with a rough board cross erected to their memory.

This is as far as the Toronto regiments went. The Midland Regiment once again were formed together, with Col. Williams at its head. The regiment presented a great change in appearance from what they looked two months previous. One would scarcely recognize each other. We had caps made from the bags which held the oats. Our boots were in bad shape. The hair on our faces were sunburnt and our hair cutting parlors were lacking of tonserial artists. We were a hard looking lot, roughing it.

.showing that we had done some

We soon got orders to embark for Frog Lake, forty miles farther on, and inland about 60 miles. We arrived to find what was a missionary settlement consisting of a church a couple of stores, and several houses, were now in ruins, having been burned by the Indians who murdered some of the inhabitants, leaving desolation in their wake. The Indians after their depredations had been accomplished withdrew, taking the war path for it going east.

We stayed here a week, and amused ourselves fishing in a very unique way. Some genius arranged a plan to catch the finny tribe by building a dam across a small creek running out of one lake into another. He left a space of four or five feet in the centre where were laid a number of small poles horizontally so as the water would strain through them then laid bows of trees and stones all around the four sides, except the space where the water ran on the slide. It worked like a charm for to our surprise, in the mornings this would be found loaded down with splendid fish called pike and pickerel more than we could use from day to day for the time that we were here.

Now, this was the turning back part of our journey, as orders were issued to prepare to go back as Big Bear had been captured by the Mounted Police a few miles north of Battleford and the war or uprising was over.

We made no delay to get out of this part, as it was full of muskegs or marshes, also well wooded with small timber. The flies and mosquitoes were very troublesome, and seemed not to hesitate to take hold. They would simply go at one like a bee, whether it was because they were used to doing so on the Indians and took us for the same.

We were soon back to Fort Pitt and went into camp for a few days. The sun was getting pretty hot and we took shelter during the hottest part of the day. But frequently quite a few were not feeling well owing to its influence. Here also our gallant Colonel Williams took sick, and was taken on board the boat. Everything was done for him that the surgeon of the regiment could do, but he died, only being sick a few days. Sunstroke was the primary cause, along with anxiety. All our enjoyment after this sad sudden event was at an end, for, I might say, the rest of the journey.

It was surprising to see how all went about in a serious, thoughtful manner, as if looking for something. The men felt the loss of their leader very keenly. He was a man we all felt proud of, being a soldier, every inch of him. Canada producing few his equal. That is a tribute that all the men he came in contact with while in the field on this occasion pay to him.

This sad occurrence changed matters considerably. Next orders were issued to embark for Battleford.

Here the Midland, Queen's Own, 10th Royal Grenadiers, A. and B. Batteries, and Mounted Police, all formed up in funeral order and marched from the boat to he police barracks with the remains of our leader on a gun carriage. The Queen's Own Bugle Band played the "Dead March in Saul." It was very impressive. Orders were issued for the regiment to prepare to leave for home on the shortest notice.

Col. Williams' body was sent overland by trail to the nearest C. P. R. station.

We were soon on board a flat bottomed boat and rushed with all possible speed going a different route altogether to what we had traversed before, taking an all-water route to Selkirk. It proved to be the best for us as we had no guard to mount, no work to do but take in the beautiful scenery about us.

It is quite a distance from Battleford to Prince Albert. Here we got off to get a glance at that ferocious monster Big Bear.

But we were much disappointed in him as he sat on a box inside a log hut.

He was no taller than five feet six inches, very slight and about fifty years of age.

He did not like to see us looking at him and turned his head to one side.

Concluded To-morrow.

FIRED A GUN WITHIN THE CITY LIMITS

Young Man Fined in Court To-day---Other Cases

For discharging a firearm within the city limits during the month of May, Peter Simmons was fined two dollars at the police court this morning. Simmons stated that he fired because the birds were eating up the vegetables in the garden. The gun was not loaded with a bullet, but with a little powder.

"What were you firing at?" asked His Worship.

"Nothing," replied the young man.

"Well, did you hit it?" was the Magistrate's next question.

His Worship said that he was not going to allow any such practices. Only a few days ago a man had a narrow escape from being instantly killed at Auburn, and daily reports were being read of persons being accidentally shot.

HIS DOG WAS POISONED.

Russell Watkin was charged with having a dog without a tag. Watkin pleaded not guilty. He said that his dog was poisoned on April 19th. The case was dismissed.

REMOVED SOD.

Jas. Whiteman pleaded guilty to removing sod from the city streets. He said that he had got permission to do so from Mr. Alex. Fitzgerald, the Street Inspector. The case was enlarged until next Thursday.

Peterborough, Ont., May 6th, 1908

W. H. HILL, Esq., Manager Central Ontario, Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada, Peterborough, Ont.

DEAR SIR:

In connection with policy No. 18253, taken out by me twenty years ago for $2000, on the 20 year endowment plan, I would like to say to you that I am well pleased with the results. I paid $91.40 a year for twenty years and had my insurance for $2,000, and the cheque you have handed me to day is for $2653.10, which is $123.15 in excess of what I would have received had I deposited the same amount in the Bank during the last twenty years at current rates. In one case I had my insurance carried and in the other case I would have had none. I can only say that I have never made an investment that has given me greater satisfaction. I believe if I had not taken out the insurance I would not have been worth one dollar more to-day and now I find myself in possession of $2653.10, which will enable me to make a profitable investment. I am now pretty well up in years but if I had my life to live over again I would ensure for as large an amount as I could possibly pay for. During the twenty years, I found it difficult on many occasions to meet the payments, but I met them in every case by practising a little economy in other directions, and I can assure you that I feel I have been well repaid for the pains I took in providing for the money to pay the premium. You have paid me more considerably than I expected to receive and for this I am grateful.

Respectfully yours,

NELSON SAGE

LOCAL KIDS' GREAT SHOWING AT HAVELOCK'S HOLIDAY SPORTS

Two local lads, Harold Lees, aged 14, and Bruce, aged 13, made quite a clean-up in a prize winning way at Havelock on Victoria Day. Although much younger than the other competitors they were most successful in the athletic events at the railway town and made a great showing.

In the five mile run Harold was the winner with Bruce second. In this event they had to compete against such amateurs as [illegible] of [illegible] road race fame and Fred Doherty of the [illegible] M.V.L. hockey team. The boys won the three-legged race and Harold got first place in the boot and shoe race. Bruce came second in the 100 yards dash. Out of $50 in prizes they succeeded in getting $29 worth which, considering the youth of the local lads represents a surprisingly good showing.

For the past three years they have taken part in the annual 24th of May sports in Havelock and have been very successful. They certainly are a pair of clever juvenile athletes and should develop into fast men in both short and long distance running.

BATTER UP! PLAY BALL!

The baseball season is now on in full swing. There is every indication the game will boom in Peterborough this year. The Review has always looked after player and fan, and rapped out many a bit of encouragement to those who follow the sport. All managers, captains, secretaries and players are requested to send in details of any games played or news of any games to come, all of which will find space in our baseball column. There is a supply of score cards at this office suitable for recording a game by innings which are at the disposal of any team manager in the city. These cards should be filled in properly at the conclusion of the game and left at this office as soon as possible so as to insure publication in the Review without delay. Properly authenticated box scores will also be gladly received and published.

Call at the Review office and secure a supply of score cards.

ROGERS AND HURTUBISE WILL VERY LIKELY MEET AGAIN

It is expected that arrangements will be completed in the course of a day or two to have Yankee Rogers and Hurtubuise come together at the Brock street rink in a handicap wrestling match, Rogers to throw Gene three times in an hour. The contest if pulled off will probably be held in the second week in June. Several persons have spoken to Mr. Chris Graham, Hurtubuise's manager, since the challenge from Roger's manager for the latter to throw Gene three times in an hour appeared in the local papers.

The match should be a strong attraction as there is a great difference of opinion among Peterborough fans as to who is the better man.

The walk, if held, will take place in the rink at Belleville.

T.A.S. TEAM HAS A SMALL LEAD

Finish of City League Game To-night at Nicholls Oval Will be Interesting

Nine to eight was the score when Umpire Maddock called the game between the TAS and YMCA teams at Nicholls Oval last night. It was a city league contest and it could not be finished owing to darkness. The remaining innings will be played to-night. The YMCA nine went to bat first last night and had completed five innings when the time was called. The Total Abstainers were up for the fifth time with a man on third and no one gone when the darkness became so pronounced that it was impossible to proceed. The game was late in starting and was not up to city league standard. Errors were frequent and the play was loose generally. "Ted" Maddock of the Peterboroughs made a most satisfactory umpire. He will be on hand again to-night.

The officers of the league have decided that the team which has not all its players ready to begin sharp at seven o'clock tonight will lose the game by default. The umpire has been instructed to this effect. The teams last night were as follows;

TAS—Cahill p; McFadden c; Lacombe b2; O'Brien 1b; Flaherty 3b; Corkery ss; Derocher lf; Hayes cf; Quinlan rf;

YMCA—McDonald c; Pickard p; Graham 1b; Porter 2b and ss; Westbrook 3b; Squires ss and 2b; Daley lf; Waram rf; Harmer cf.

PRACTICE OF THE CRICKET CLUB

Will be Held on the Oval To-night at 6.42---First Game With Orillia on June 11th.

The Cricket Club will practice to-night on Nicholls Oval at 6.45. All cricketers are requested to turn out.

This is the first practice of the club for some time and the crease is in splendid shape. It is imperative that all the players should be on hand for the practice owing to the fact that the first game will be held on June 11th, against Orillia in Orillia, and the team will be required to be in the best shape possible for the match.

The tennis courts are in fine condition and the club members are asked to make use of them as much as possible.

FUTURE OF THE GREAT WEST.

Filling Up Rapidly With Immigrants and Room For Many More.

A despatch from Winnipeg, dealing with the future of the West, contains this prophesy:

Immigration into Western Canada has advanced by leaps and bounds. In 1902, 67,379 persons came into the Western provinces from all sources. The next year 123,364 came, and in 1907 252,038 immigrants betook themselves from other countries of the earth to the Canadian Northwest, with the avowed intention of taking up their residence here. Taking the average of increase in the population of the three provinces, from immigration and all other sources, for the period of five years just preceding this year of 1908, as a working basis, the resultant figures show that in ten years, in 1918, the same country that now has less than two millions of population will have more than 30,000,000 people by that time; figuring from the average increase in land under cultivation of the past seven years, there will be as much as 50,000,000 acres cultivated of that great block of land which extends for 1,000 miles east and west between the Rocky Mountains and the Great Lakes, and north 400 miles from the United States boundary.

The present grain crop from the land already under cultivation, gives a reasonable accurate line of expectations from the crop of that time when the land under cultivation shall be increased to 50,000,000 acres, or less than one-third of the available farming land of this country, and the needs of the farmers in the way of tools and labor can also be arrived at with accuracy. Fifteen bushels of wheat to the acre is considerably less than the average crop produced by the rich prairie soil of this Western Canadian country, and oats and barley produce enormous crops, with flax reliable, reasonably productive.

Figured upon the basis of wheat alone the product of 50,000,000 acres of land would be the vast amount of 750,000,000 bushels of wheat. To harvest this crop, absolutely certain to be raised on the wheat fields of Western Canada within the next twenty years at the outside, will take no less than 650,000 harvest hands, whose pay for the gathering of one crop will count up the tidy sum of $31,000,000; 312,000 self-binding machines and 36,000 threshing separators, with the same number of engines, will be required to deliver the crop to elevators, nearly all of which must be built for the reception of this future wheat crop of Western Canada.

A STORY OF STEEL.

Toronto Has the Tallest and Largest Structure In British Empire.

Toronto has the honor of having the tallest structure — the Traders' Bank building—in the British Empire. In the new building of the Robert Simpson Co. fresh honors come to Toronto, for this structure is the largest block of steel building construction in the British Empire.

Six of the seven floors are steel, representing in all 3,000 tons of manufactured steel—at least twice as much as is in the Traders' Bank building. It is interesting to know that every one of the steel beams and posts will be "wrapped" (cased) in concrete and to learn the reason why.

Concrete is a poor conductor of heat. If at any time a fire should occur, the concrete will keep the heat from the steel and thus prevent its expanding, and twisting or wrecking the building.

But this is only one of the several means the Robert Simpson Co. are taking to make their new store absolutely fire-proof. When completed it will be in this respect as perfect as human ingenuity and mechanical skill can make it; there will be no structure in New York or elsewhere better in fire-proof qualities. In addition, for this purpose, the Robert Simpson Co. will have no "light well" in their new store.

The company has sacrificed 2,500 square feet of space in order to start the movement towards widening Queen street. Their giving up the light well is another sacrifice in the interest of the public. There is nothing so precious in a store as floods of sunlight. But the Robert Simpson Co. are magnanimous enough to sacrifice beauty to public safety. For the light well would be a source of danger in two respects.

If a fire broke out in the store it would cause a draft which would aid the conflagration — and thus a small fire might become a large one. Further, suppose an insignificant fire occurred in one part of the building, the light well would cause the smoke to be distributed to all parts of the store, and the result would be a panic, perhaps ending in a loss of life. The doing away with the light well will aid in making the new Simpson store fireproof.

How many of the hundreds of people who are daily to be seen watching this magnificent steel structure grow know that when completed it will be the largest block of steel in any building of the British Empire and also that it will be the most perfect in fireproof qualities.

INSURANCE IN CANADA.

Interesting Figures of Last Year's Business In That Line.

The Minister of Finance at Ottawa has presented to Parliament an abstract of statements of insurance companies in Canada for 1907.

It shows that the total amount of life insurance effected in Canada during the year was $90,854,482, a decrease of $4,158,723 as compared with 1896, but a falling off of nearly ten millions as compared with 1905.

To the decrease for 1907 as compared with the preceding year Canadian companies contributed $179,937; British companies $970,683, and American companies $4,158,723.

The premium income of the life insurance companies shows, however, an increase of $782,586, the total being $23,147,042, as against $22,364,456 in 1906.

The increase of premium income of the Canadian companies was $873,804, while the income of British companies from their Canadian business decreased $13,910, and that of American companies decreased $75,298.

The net amount of life insurance in force at the end of the year was $689,324,506, an increase of $33,063,606 as compared with 1906. To this net increase Canadian companies contributed $29,708,877 and British companies $686,242, while the insurance in force in American companies shows a falling off during the year of $1,252,659.

Canadian companies paid during 1907 in death claims $4,690,000, and in matured endorsements $1,158,035. British companies paid $769,330 in death claims and $527,425 in endorsements. American companies paid $2,520,589 in death claims and $1,116,862 in endorsements.

The fire insurance companies received $8,595,041 for premiums, and paid for losses $5,894,959.

ALL RUN DOWN

Weak---Nervous---Unstrung.

Thousands get run down and become invalids before they realize anything is wrong. By permitting low vitality to develop, the way is paved for fevers, pneumonia and diphtheria. To put off makes it all the harder to get well. The time to repair the system is right now, before the damage gets any worse. The remedy is Ferrozone; it revitalizes, renews, builds up vitality that outlasts old age.

FERROZONE is a genuine invigorator that banishes weakness, and instils surplus force and vigor into every organ of the body. Ferrozone sharpens the appetite, produces rich nutritious blood, and thereby contributes that sense of buoyancy that adds so enormously to one's pleasure and usefulness in life.

For all forms of debility, weakness, lack of blood or nerve tone, sleeplessness, tiredness and exhaustion, there is no medicine so vitalizing and potent as Ferrozone. Even one trial demonstrates its rapidly and certainty of action.

To restore the energy of youth, to get back your vital stamina and reserve force, there is positively no treatment so certain as Ferrozone. You have only to try Ferrozone to know the enormous benefit it invariably brings to all in poor health.

FERROZONE

Miss Dorothy E. Leduc of Chester gives the following convincing evidence of Ferrozone's power: "My work compels me to rise early in the morning and work ten hours daily as a saleslady. Last Spring I was run down, lost my color, and fell off in weight. I seemed to lack ambition and the life was out of me. A friend recommended Ferrozone, and I took one tablet after meals with wonderful results. Ferrozone brought back my complexion, and has given me new strength and abundance of energy and spirits. I would advise all young ladies to use Ferrozone."

Mrs. H. G. Wilder of Dexter says:—"My daughter was not very well last Winter, and lost her strength completely when the Spring came. I gave her Ferrozone, and am glad to say it did wonders. After six boxes were used my daughter was strong, and looked the picture of health."

Gave New Strength

FERROZONE

It makes the weak strong, the sick well, and assures lasting good health.

WARNING—Beware of any substitute for Ferrozone; it alone can cure you. Sold by all druggists and dealers in medicine, only in 50c boxes containing 50 chocolate-coated tablets. By mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

IN THE QUEEN'S PARK

SOME UNVISITED PLACES IN THE PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS.

Where Ontario's State Secrets Are Kept—Places Not Shown to Visitors—Interesting Spots Below the Surface—Much to Be Seen In Garret and Cellar—Musty Records on All Sides.

It's real ghostly up among the rafters of the Legislative Buildings in Queen's Park.

That gleaning red star in the tower, which announces by its twinkling that the provincial law makers are working overtime, is the centre of a carnival of lusty phantoms and strange spirits.

Take a lantern and commence an exploration through these unfrequented apartments on a dark night. Your experiences are more than natural and your feeling more than fanciful. There are all sorts of creepy things to be seen, felt, and heard. There are a thousand secrets corked up in that big brown stone bottle in the park, and a goodly proportion of them are right under the room.

Sheltered in this apartment are many of the things a casual visitor to the buildings is not shown; they are not mentioned in the guide book, and not dilated on by the voluble constable who shows you around on an ordinary visit. If you want to go up in the "unsurveyed" and "unorganized" territory you can't have any constable or guide with you. Moreover, you must go the trip quietly and alone, for "trespassing is prohibited" and it is considered sacred ground.

The entrance to this unused flat is through a narrow door off the east third floor. It opens on to a passage way, at the end of which is a rough wooden bridge over an enormous pipe. One's confidence is not strengthened when this bridge trembles underfoot like the crazy-stairs in a House of Folly, but with the aid of the lantern you sight your way through a great tin-covered sliding door at the further end of the corridor.

This door opens easily. Within there is nothing but inky blackness, which your lantern helps little to expel. It looks like a great big room, but a ladder with a broken rung at the farther end of the apartment gives an invitation to explore further. It leads to an opening in the great thick wall, and another careful climb over creaky steps takes you up to it.

A gentle shove and the door moves aside with a squeak that seems to protest against intrusion. You clamor up into the great dome in the centre of the building.

In the day time light streams in from the little round windows and the inches in the towers. It is a cold breezy place, suggestive of the interior of an Arctic iceberg. The centre of the floor is raised three or four feet above the ordinary level, and from this centrepiece comes a peculiar vibrating sound akin to the whistling of the fall wind through a leafless forest.

Peering through the tiny holes in the centre you find you are roosting over the ceiling of the Legislative Chamber. Sixty feet below is a sea of grey hairs and bald heads, which the twinkling lights of the huge electrolier show off in all their glory. You discover that the murmurings of the winds and the voices of the legislators in warm debate below are one and the same thing. This takes some of the romance out of it, also some of the supernatural. If you were to drop through that ceiling you would land square on the shining pate of the Honorable Member for—

But you turn away from the commonplace of Parliamentary debate to look for something further new and startling. There is still another ladder to scale—still another secret and airy apartment to look into.

Listen—there's a roar like a distant Niagara Falls, coming from the direction of that tower on the left. Right alongside of you there is a big galvanized iron pipe big enough to drive a team of ponies through. From within there comes a tapping and rapping like the rushing of some very lively spirits.

There's just one more ladder, and like Jacob's, it ends somewhere up near the clouds. It takes one up to the tower where the zephyrs blow through on to an electric fan. Here is the origin of the Niagara Falls chorus. The cold breeze fans on a circular wheel and is whirled down the great tube into the Legislative Chamber far below. Through this is drawn the antidote for the hot air which "springeth up" from behind the desks of the Legislative Chamber.

This is the summit of the visitors' climb, and the dissipation of the supernatural element of the great expanse under the roof. There are other things secreted in that great attic, but they are all sternly practical. Big trunks full of returns from the magistrates, of convictions under the Liquor License Act, huge stacks of blue papers and "informations" from Crown Attorneys all over the province. They tell of the crimes and the punishments of half a century. There are tens of thousands of them stacked up in the east end of the great dusty attic. What tales of murder and expiation at the end of the hangman's rope could these yellow papers unfold!

Separated by a thick brick wall from these scenes of things fantastic and archaic is the telephone exchange. This is another spot not usually visited by people who come to "do" the Parliament Buildings. It is not because there are any particular secrets about the switchboard, but it is too high up for the guide's tired feet. The ladies of the telephone exchange have too much to do to think about the ghostly conditions in the adjacent apartments. There is a continual humming and buzzing in the Parliament Buildings telephone exchange.

When the visitor strolls along the corridors, glances at the oil paintings of former Prime Ministers, and pokes his head into the front offices of Departments, he thinks he has seen all there is to be seen. As a matter of fact he has only glanced at the surface. There are chambers within chambers, rooms within rooms, vaults within vaults, wheels within wheels—all mixed up in that great legislative and administrative machine in Queen's Park.

Each of the Ministers have private offices, and public offices, and the former are not entered once in a year by anyone except the Minister himself and the cleaners. They do say that in days of old, when the knights of Opposition were bold, the Ministers of the Crown were obliged to snatch their forty or more winks at the buildings, between sittings, and bedrooms were provided within the Legislative Building for them. As late as last session Mr. Allan Studholme, the leader of the Labor Party of One, presented a very pertinent reference on this very subject—a reference to which the Prime Minister did not deign to make any very definite reply.

At any rate, the Ministers have their own private dining-room at the west end of the building, where they can discuss the weighty affairs of state and refresh the inner man at the same time. Just as radical Government measure, are concocted in this room as in the apartment known as the Cabinet Room. Into the latter the deputations sometimes go to get a peep. But the Ministers' dining-room is the real modern Star Chamber. Sooner would the Jew sit down to a dinner of "unkoshered" meat than would the Ontario Cabinet Ministers sup in their private dining-room with one not of the Elect!

There is also a "private" dining-room for the rank and file of the members of the House. It is private in name only, for the caterer is quite willing to feed there any and all who have the purchase price of a meal.

On the main floors of the buildings there are hundreds of little cubby holes and corners, which the M.P.P. doesn't take his constituent to see, when the latter calls to pay his respects. Some of these wouldn't interest the constituent. Others would. The red and gold and tinkling glass of Mr. Speaker's quarters might open his eyes; the luxurious furnishings of some of the subordinate officials' offices might please or displease him; the tiers and tiers of maps and plans in the Surveyors' Department would be instructive to him.

Down in the basement, with its vaulted ceiling, and dark passages, there are further secrets concealed. Locked up in sundry steel vaults are thousands of ballot boxes, which could undoubtedly tell tales. There's much more responsibility on those big basement pillars than what lies above them. The boiler-room, with its capacity for eating up coal to the extent of 175 tons per winter month, is another spot worth seeing—if you can get a permit from the householder to do it.

PREPARATIONS AT QUEBEC.

Notables Coming Who Will Be Guests of the Commission.

It is understood that Col. J. Hanbury Williams, C. M. G., and Joseph Pope, C. M. G., have been appointed to make all the necessary arrangements for the proper reception and entertainment at Quebec of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales and suite, during the Champlain tercentenary, as well as to look after the comfort of the other invited guests of the national commission, including the representatives of France, the United States and the sister colonies of Australia and South Africa.

The French Government has decided to send an official representative to the fetes in accordance with the invitation from the commission, and one is also expected from Brouage, the birthplace of Champlain. The Marquis de Montcalm and the Marquis DeLevis, the closest living connections to the former generals, have been invited. It is feared that ill-health may prevent the attendance of the Marquis de Montcalm but the Marquis DeLevis, is confidentially expected.

Lord Strathcona, Canadian High Commissioner in London, has been invited, and an acceptance to the invitation sent him has been received from Ireland from Mr. George Wolfe, the nearest living representative of the family of the famous general.

A HOLIDAY IN ALBERTA.

Expedition Across the Prairie on Hay Wagons.

It's haying time out upon Etsi-Kom Coulee! Our blue bend is forty-five miles from everything but life and love and skies and winds! There's a richness and a rareness in feeling free to revel in such intoxicating things for a whole fortnight—it's a big, wild, luxurious sensation, that would smother one if he weren't on that blessed wide prairie.

There are to be three hay wagons go, and the cavalcade forms in front of the village grocery, where we pack our last supplies. Before we cross the railway track, and while we are still tamely in sight of home, there is time for you to be introduced to my companions-in-arms (the "arms" being hayforks). The two leading wagons carry jolly enough and lovable characters, but they're scarcely within shouting distance, so at present you will meet only those of our division. Of primary rank is Short Sarensen, who herds along the four harnessed horses, the two saddle-horses and a straggling, erratic, little horsikin. The leaders, Blaze and Nig, inclining to playfulness over the prospect of hay-hauling, and the heelers, Grace and Beauty, resenting this playfulness on the part of the horses in front, Short has during these first miles only occasional opportunities of chipping in.

Sweet Clark, his boon cow-punching comrade (I may state neither Short nor Sweet sign those names to court documents), is a carolling, rollicking man who will never recover from his chronic malady, boyishness forever with a snatch of a love song or a coon melody on his tongue, or else a chocolate or cigarette between his teeth, just a roguish, curly-headed, sparkling sort of fellow.

Miss Clark is a bewitching, blue-sunbonneted, demure thing to which you would entrust your purse or your friend or your soul. She has heavy, soft, clove-colored hair; great, serious, cornflower-blue eyes, and gentle, love-speaking fingers, which can prepare delectable dinners for ravenous haymakers withal.

That fluffy, petite maiden seated gipsy-fashion at the side of the rack is Kit Clark dancer, rider, fiddler, singer, coquette, anything that is delightful. She has joined this expedition because it spells mid-afternoon tete-a-tetes with the haymakers while they eat the lunches she carries, and moonlight flirtations as they return to camp from the couleeside. Wealthy companions, all, you will admit, with whom to amble along for hours over the serpentining trail, under the magic blue of skies so dazzlingly clear and endlessly wide.

We establish ourselves in easy, lounging positions on the rolls of tent-canvas, bedding and clothing. Before fairly losing sight of the town we discover that it is noon (forty-one things had happened to delay our setting-out) and candy, pop-corn, currant cakes and the water jug are produced and stacked in the centre of the crowd. We munch away as deliberately and meditatively as so many lazy squirrels. Kit has been tenderly guarding a banjo and now she picks away upon it lovingly. One of the other men having come back to offer to drive our horses, Short and Sweet make a nest for themselves on the bed springs at the end of the wagon, and, frantically hugging each other, allow themselves to be strummed to sleep to the tunes of "Kerry Dances" and "Twickenham Ferry."

When the boys waken they mount their saddle-horses and lope off across the prairie in search of fresh water. We lazily watch the long, graceful bounds of the horses through the flank-reaching grass. The motion hints hauntingly of beautiful, pleasing, solemn pipe organ strains, or of strong, swinging lines from the grander poets. These horses of the prairie seem altogether to belong to the age of Homer and heroes and gods—they are so full of life and grace and strength. For a moment the riders halt outlined against the sunlight on the brow of a distant butte, then they vanish. The sun is an hour lower when they return. They announce that they have descried a sheep-camp some miles ahead at Horse Ranch lake, where the teams may be outspanned while we prepare a meal. Then they ride off again to warn the shepherd that ladies are to be entertained by him.

The herder, who had seen no human face for three weeks, received us with a sheepish, scared sort of welcome. He produced generous quantities of "sour dough" bread and choice lamb, and the men prepared supper upon the grass while we girls rearranged our hair and bathed our burnt faces. What a merry, informal meal we had! The sun was low down, the horses were cooling themselves standing in the lake, while away beyond on the hillside the sheep were peacefully grazing.

When the horses had again been hooked up we left the shepherd and his dog standing lonelily at the camp door and we pulled on still eastward. Behind us was all brightness as of the open portals of heaven before us the curtains of night had already drooped. In the darkening blue-black sky the silent stars came out, and then lower down at the horizon's verge there flamed up the weird, ghastly lights of prairie fires. We huddled closed to each other for companionship and quoted snatches of all the poems we could recall which fitted into such an eerie setting. Riding ever eastward, we watched a pale, hay-colored moon break her way through the clouds, bleaching the prairie grass and throwing a mystical softness, not to be called light, over all the evening. Then we sang, first rag-time, then college-time, then church-time. The restfulness was broken all too soon by cries from the leading wagons: "Here we are! Hurrah for the canyon! Prepare for the perpendicular. You behind, don't leave any gates open!"

After singing a serenade at the shack window, we girls were invited by the rancher's pretty wife to come in and spread our bedding. The men unhooked and turned loose the horses, then lay down on their blankets under the open sky—and the day had passed, if such days of delight may be said to pass.

Armand Lavergne will leave Dominion politics and run for the Legislature in Montmagny.

SHIPPING OF GREEN CHEESE

To Whom it may concern;—

The Writer has lost no opportunity during the past two years of calling attention to the danger of injuring the Canadian cheese trade by the practice of shipping the cheese in a green condition. The question is treated at some length in my last annual report where I was able to quote the opinions of leading merchants in Great Britain, all opposed to the practice.

I am now able to quote from communications on the subject recently addressed to the Honourable Mr Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, by The Home and Foreign Produce Exchange of London, England, and the Bristol Provision Trade Association in words which would indicate that harm has already been done to the cheese trade by this "penny wise, pound foolish" practice.

The first mentioned association, writes in part, as follows:

London, May 2, '08

Importers of Canadian cheese into London met in conference to consider what steps should be taken to bring into prominence the damage which is being occasioned to the reputation of Canadian cheese owing to the persistent practice on the part of factorymen of sending out their makes before the goods have had time to mature, and I have been instructed to lay the matter before you in the hope that prompt and efficient steps may be taken to effect a remedy.

It is unquestionable that there is an increasing tendency for makers to get quit of their cheese as quickly as possible. In a great many instances goods are moved out much too soon, in some cases even within two or three days of manufacture. The result has sbeen that the natural process of maturing has been arrested and such cheese arrive here insipid in flavor and in a condition which reflects anything but credit upon the product. In addition to this the excessive moisture migitates severely against the sale. In no circumstance should cheese be allowed to leave the factory until ten days after manufacture. That is the minimum of time which should elapse before the goods are moved, and unless stringent measures are adopted to prevent the factorymen sending their cheese our earlier, the position of the Canadian article on the London market will become depreciated."

The foregoing is from a body of merchants who handle nearly one-half of the cheese exported to Canada.

The Bristol Provision Trade Association's letter contains the following sentence:

"This means the forcing into consumption of immature, or in other words, inferior cheese, resulting in widespread dissatisfaction. Needless to say, these tendency of this is to bring Canadian Cheese into disfavor and, it persisted in, it is bound to greatly curtail consumption."

It would seem to be unnecessary to add anything to these statements made by those who are in the best position to speak with authority on the question.

I would only say that while I was in Great Britain last fall, I found plenty of evidence to prove that the trade has already been injured by the unbusinesslike policy of shipping the cheese before they are fit to eat. Whenever this question is brought up among dairymen there seems to as an inclination to put the blame on the buyer and let it go at that. The buyers are certainly responsible for encouraging the movement of green cheese, but the dairymen who have been the losers and who will be the losers again, should not allow their business to be injured in this way.

IN A BREATH THERE'S REST

Breathe Hyomei and be Cured of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma

Nature has a remedy for catarrh, epidemic colds and bronchitis that is far better than dosing the stomach with medicine and drugs.

It is the healing oils and balsams of Hyomei which medicate the air you breathe, reaching the most remote air cells in the nose, throat and lungs, killing all catarrhal germs and restoring health to the mucous membrane.

Hyomei acts like a curative internal air bath and has the same healing and antiseptic effect as he air where pine and Eucalyptic forests give off their fragrrant and healing balsams.

Breathe healing Hyomei and see how quickly you will get relief from catarrh and head colds. If it does not help you there will not be a penny's expense, as W. Madill, druggist, corner Hunter and George Sts., agrees to refund the money. The complete Hyomei outfit costs only $1.00.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS, 1908

To the Electors of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—As you are aware I have received the unanimous nomination in the Liberal interests to contest the Riding of West Peterborough for its representation in the Legislature of Ontario. I beg to respectfully solicit the votes and support of all those who desire good economical and efficient administration of our affairs. I am not bound down by any straight and fast lines, but will, if chosen as your representative, take the course which, in my best judgment will best promote the interests of West Peterborough, irrespective of party considerations, and of the Province generally.

The test of good representation, either by a Government or member, is good work and, in this respect, both the late member for West Peterborough and the Government he supports have fallen short of a faithful discharge of their tust and regard for the pledges upon which was founded the policy upon which they appealed to the people. Both the Conservative leader and Mr. Bradburn appealed for a cessation of the extravagant expenditure, which they condemned in the late Government. The result has been an increase of expenditure in three or four short years of sixty per cent., not a productive expenditure for the benefit of the people, but in the mere work of administration.

In this address I cannot enter into details of the manner in which the present Government has failed to live up to the policy upon which it appealed for office, but there has been a general disregard of the principles which they claimed to be guided by. They have failed in their trust and they evidently feel that they have done so, for fearing to trust to their record, they have resorted to a "gerrymander" of the constituencies, inconsistent with fair redistribution and especial unfairness has been done in the city of Toronto by doubling its representation and giving each elector two votes, thus giving the city voter double the power in the government of the province accorded to electors in the country constituencies.

The interests of the farmers have been ignored to the extent that the expenditure for agriculture has been increased only some eight per cent, while the general increase to less worthy interests has been sixty per cent.

Disregard of the rights of labour was shown by the Government reviving the contract system of prison labour abolished by a Liberal Government, and farming out to contractors Central Prison labour at 3c cents per hour to compete against free labour.

The introduction of the "spoils system" the failure to remove license administration from the sphere of political influence, the three-fifths handicap to local option, the invasion of the rights of rural trustees by depriving them of the right of saying how they shall spend their own money, the friendliness-to-corporation interests, the disregad of private rights and discouragement of private enterprise in the matter of mining claims, neglect of law reforms with a view of making our law courts available for securing justice within the means of a poor man, and the delay and inaction in the matter of dealing with the power problem are but items in a long list of matters in which the present Government have forfeited their claim to the support of the people.

If elected I shall devote my best efforts to the advancement of the interests of the city in every direction and shall not overlook its most important interests, the allied welfare of our workingmen and our manufacturing industries; and will also do all in my power to advance the great farming and dairying interests which are the foundation of our prosperity, giving fair play at the same time to every provincial interest and to political friend and political opponent alike.

Trusting that I may be favored with your support and influence and vote, I remain, Gentlemen,

Very sincerely yours,

A. GILLESPIE

ALBERTA POSSESSSES GOLD IN LARGE QUANTITIES

Special to the Review.

Winnipeg, May 28.—When the people of Alberta heard that a rich coal seam had been found in their province, they were congratulating themselves upon the discovery of a probable new industry. Hardly had the find been announced than a gold find was made at Vermillion. W. J. McNab was digging a well on his premises, and seeing a glittering substance in the ground, picked it up. It was a large nugget well formed, and with it were two smaller ones. The nuggets weighed sixteen grains. The morning following the discovery, the ground in the vicinity of the well was taken up with men who were striking off stakes. There are a score of men now at work, and the country in the vicinity is being surveyed. One of those interested in the matter is Alexander Fason, one of the best-known prospectors in Canada, and the fact that he is taking up his time in surveying the country, shows that he has much faith in the theory that there is gold in large quantities in the vicinity of Vermillion.

BOOST FOR STRATHCONA.

The Public Works Department of the Alberta Government have purchased lots in Strathcona for the erection of a local telephone exchange. The building will cost over $10,000. Another illustration of the good times in western towns.

TOWN SITES SELLING RAPIDLY.

The G. T. P. town sites in all the towns west of Edmonton are now on sale. The sites take in from 40 to 150 acres and are being taken up rapidly. They are situated on the north side of the track and run into lanes, which in time to come, and a short time at that, will be streets. Although the sale of the townsites has only been on a short time, the lots are bringing from $40 to $400.

YORKTON PROGRESSES FURTHER

Yorkton, Saskatchewan, took another step on May 19th, towards its ultimate destiny as one of the leading cities of Canada. A water system was installed at a cost of $59,000, and the residents of that flourishing town have now a splendid water system and a perfect fire protection. The fact that this latest move has taken place speaks for the prosperity of Yorkton, and the people of that place are so optimistic that they hope to have their town recognized as one of the leading western cities inside of five years.

TO DISCUSS IMPORTANT QUESTION

Meeting at Gospel Hall Tomorrow Night Will be of Unusual Interest

To-morrow night at Gospel Hall Bible Study, the subject will be "Why do we keep the first day of the week?" or an answer to Seventh Day Aventism. Mr. John Murdock will open with a number of reasons from Scripture, after which the meeting will be given up to questions and general discussion. This is a question of vital importance and should be thoroughly understood by Christians. In a day like the present, when so much pernicious literature (regarding the Sabbath day) is flooding our city, it is well that some solid ground of doctrine be maintained. All are cordially invited, and any questions will be gladly considered in a Christian spirit. The meeting begins at eight o'clock.—Com.

Woman Charged With Witchcraft Let Off on Suspended Sentence

Lindsay, May 27.—Before Judge Harding to-day Mrs. Goheen, who has been held for sentence on a charge of witch craft, or fortune telling, was allowed to go on suspended sentence. Mrs. Goheen had, however, to enter into a bond of $400 not to repeat the offence. The evidence as adduced developed no feature other than that brought out at the preliminary hearing before Magistrate Jackson.

HOW THE RICE IS GATHERED

Interesting Article in Busy Man's Magazine for June

The Busy Man's Magazine for June contains an interesting article on "How Indians Gather the Wild Rice Crop," written by Mr. T. J. Wallace, of Toronto, formerly of this city. The article is illustrated by a number of excellent views from photographs by Mr. D. E. Eason, of Peterborough.

The magazine also contains an article on "Automobiling in Canada," by Mr. G. C. Keith, a brother of Rev. H. J. Keith, of this city.

WARSAW

Special to the Review.

Warsaw, May 26. — The country is now looking fine. The forest has put on its summer foliage and the fields are looking green. The wild fruit trees are in full bloom and the lilacs are just now showing flowers and the air is perfumed with the sweet odor. Now is the time for city and town people to visit the rural districts.

The water in Indian River is now going down. There is no danger to bridges or dams.

The steam whistle is now often heard from the new steam saw mill erected just north of Warsaw. It has quite a quantity of logs and shingles to cut as soon as the buildings can be put up.

Mr. Frederick Payne had an auction sale, the farm having been sold to Mr. Robert Tedford. Mr. Stapleton being the auctioneer, the stock sold well.

A political meeting was held here on Friday last in the interests of Mr. McNulty, the Reform Candidate. It was fairly well attended. Mr. J. C. Carling, reeve of Dummer, occupied the chair and addresses were delivered by the candidate, Mr. McWilliams and Mr. Kerr, of Peterboro. Several Conservatives were in attendance. It is expected that a change will be made in favor of the Whitney Government in the Township of Dummer at this election.

Mr. Clark is advertised to preach next Sunday in several of the Methodist churches in this township and lecture during the week. A large attendance is expected. The Methodist minister here is expecting to move at the coming conference.

Fine, warm weather has prevailed here now for several days. It was badly needed after so much wet weather.

PROTECTION OF FISH AND GAME

The Platform of Geo. H. Gooderham in South Toronto—Mr. Kelly Evans Retires

The World of 21st March gave the platform upon which Kelly Evans, on the solicitation of many citizens announced his intention of running for South Toronto as an Independent Conservative candidate. He stated at that time one of his main objects was to draw to the attention of the government and of the public to some important assets of the province, which had been in the past shamefully neglected.

For some time back the Government has been taking a greater interest in the Department of Fisheries and Game, and now that other important matters which have engrossed its attention are well in hand, Premier Whitney has assured Mr. Evans that the whole question of the depletion of the fisheries of the Great Lakes and measures to rectify the same will receive his earnest and immediate attention and that a practical recognition will be given the asset to the province of fish and game as an attraction to tourists. He also assured Mr Evans that his whole platform will have the earnest consideration of the department and the government.

Mr. George H. Gooderham, the new Conservative candidate for South Toronto, adopts this platform in its entirety and pledges himself to do all he can in the House to have it included in the government programme for the coming sessi

In view of these two facts Mr Evans has asked the Mail and Empire to state that he will not contest South Toronto as an Independent Conservative candidate but he will do all in his power to assist in the return of Mr. Geo. H. Gooderham.

The following are the principal points in the platform referred to;

That the inspectors, wardens, overseers and officers appointed under the Act respecting game, fur bearing animals and fisheries of Ontario, be men possessing the knowledge and physical requirements necessary for the proper performance of their duties, and that the salaries paid to such officials be sufficient in amount to enable them to devote their whole time to their work, and that they be supplied with the necessary appliances, such as power boats, row boats or canoes;

That the province build and maintain hatcheries capable of an output of at least 300,000,000 of fry annually in order to assist nature in the replenishing of our depleted waters;

That greater care be observed in enforcing the laws as to the pollution of waters and that all pulp concessions should contain rigid clause on this point:

That a more effectual supervision be provided for carrying out the objects for which the provincial parks were set apart;

And that to provide the necessary funds for these several purposes, at least all moneys received by the department of game and fisheries from license fees, etc., shall be expended for the above purposes.

The prohibition of the export of fish from the province as far as the province is able to effect the same for a term of years, with a threefold object.

First, to break up the machinery in the province of what might be termed the American Fish Trust and which now practically controls both fisheries and fishermen.

Second to provide our own citizens with legally caught fish at reasonable prices.

Third, to ensure a complete stoppage of our valuable game fish being illegally caught in nets and shipped across the border owing to the insufficient inspection provided.—Mail and Empire.

PROTECTION OF FISH IN DISTRICT OF PETERBOROUGH

What the Inspectors Are Doing to Prevent Illegal Capture of Fish—Reports Appear in Annual Report of Game and Fisheries of Ontario

The annual report of the Game and Fisheries of Ontario for 1907 contains some interesting information regarding the work of the inspectors on the Trent waters. Their reports will be found below:

Overseer John Watt, Peterborough, reports that he has a very difficult task, and a never ending one, watching his territory, it being in and around the city. Nevertheless, the law is being better observed now than any time in his recollection. The catch of bass, maskinonge and catfish has been very good as to numbers but small in size. The waters there are being overfished. It is quite common to see twenty canoes trawling at one time in a radius of half a mile, and this is kept up all summer. There are great numbers of suckers caught at the dams in the early spring when running. There have been a few good specimens of pickerel caught this year and last—the result of fry deposited about five years ago. No noticeable damage from sawdust or mill refuse, and no fishways in his territory, but considerable injury is done by the lowering and raising water levels in the spawning season. There has been some illegal fishing, but less than in past years. He imposed a fine on six persons for violation of the law, and seized three gill nets. He sold six game dealers' and seven hotel keepers' licenses, and deposited of eight angling permits to tourists passing through the city, all of which were cheerfully paid. There have been complaints of fish being sold in the city, brought in by the squaws, Indians and settlers from Rice and Chemong Lakes principally, but no one is brave enough to give the information necessary for a conviction. He spent a great deal of fruitless time on this affair. They have so many spotters and sympathizers who keep them posted on the movements of the officer, that it makes it very difficult to catch them red-handed. It would require an overseer to go around in disguise. If a small fee were levied, say fifty cents a rod or line, he believes all would most willingly pay to have the fishing better looked after, and and he thinks they would take more interest in the preservation of our fish and game.

Overseer J. R. McAllister, Gore's Landing, reports there were more maskinonge taken in 1907 than for years, one weighing 32 1-2 lbs., and a great many over 20 lbs. But there were fewer small-mouthed black bass taken in 1907 than he can remember since 1895. There was very little illegal fishing in his division. He found two farmers trying to kill fish on the marsh behind Jubilee Point, but he got them before they got any fish and took the spear from them. He also got a gill net in Ken't creek about two miles up the Otonabee River. It had killed three maskinonge; the net was 100 feet long.

Ducks are quite plentiful, but there were not many killed. What few were killed were got out of blinds built in the water some 150 yards from shore. He wishes that blind building in the open water in Rice Lake was stopped, as it drives a great many ducks to Lake Ontario in the day time.

Overseer A. W. McIntyre, Keene, reports that there was a good catch of fish in his division—an increase, he thinks, over the previous year. They were all consumed in the neighborhood. There were no infractions to report. The close seasons were strictly observed.

Overseer Enoch Merriam, Harwood, reports that the fish were as plentiful last spring as ever he knew them to be, and the water was in their favor. The law was very well observed with few exceptions, and after the fishing started the catch was good. He saw several, and heard of more, maskinonge that weighed twenty pounds each. There were about as many Americans there as usual, and they were all well pleased.

Ducks were not as plentiful as usual. A good many were under the impression that as the spring was so late and cold, the young ducks did not have time to become well fledged and come south with the older ones.

Overseer F. J. Moore, Lakefield, reports that the laws have been fairly well observed on Stoney Lake waters during the year by the settlers. The catch of bass and maskinonge was not quite so large the latter part of the season as in other years.

He issued about 173 fishery permits, and would suggest that the guides be asked to take out a license, and that they be compelled to see that the fishermen observe the laws while they are in their employ.

He would also recommend that the Stony Lake waters be restocked with parent bass this year, as it is of great importance that the supply of bass be kept in these waters in order to encourage tourists who come there to fish.

Overseer Garner Nichols, Bobcaygeon, reports that the catch of fish was about the same as 1906, but there were smaller maskinonge caught this year which had to be put back into the water.

Deer in his locality were very plentiful there having been somewhere in the neighborhood of 112 killed round Bass Lake, Long Lake, Black Duck Lake and Round Lake, and he is glad to say the law was well kept. There was no muskrat trapping done there in the fall.

Overseer C. St. Charles, reports that he has given careful supervision during the close season of 1907, and has had no instance of illegal fishing brought to his notice. He sold one angler's license during 1907. In former years there was considerable fishing done during the close season but this has been stopped and the laws have been very well observed. The fishing in Moira Lake during the past season has been very good, the principal fish caught being pickerel, black bass and maskinonge. Large quantities of the spawn of those fish are destroyed annually by eels, cat-fish, and suckers that abound in those waters.

Overseer J. H. Hess, Hastings, reports that he finds a great improvement in the bass and maskinonge fishing since the removing of the hoop-nets, especially maskinonge. The small bass is particularly plentiful, and the law regarding the taking of small bass and maskinonge has been well adhered to by all anglers. The catch of bass was somewhat smaller than other years but judging from the quantity of small bass that there seem to be in the water, in the course of a short time the bass fishing will be again up to the standard. The law regarding fishing has been well observed.

Overseer W. H. Johnson, Harwood, reports that this has been a remarkably good year for fish and the protection of spawn, as the water stayed about the same all through the close season. The law has been fairly well observed. Two violations came to his notice. He found the parties with spears and rifles, took their outfit, imposed a fine, and returned the outfit after close season under warning. Quite a number of Americans visited Rice Lake. Fish were plentiful, and they as well as others, were well satisfied with the catch.

Overseer T. C. Caskey, Blairton, reports that he visited all the inland lakes, and found the law observed fairly well. There were not so many tourists during the past season, and all of them had permits procured in Toronto, Port Hope or Cobourg. He has been all through the district at different times, and could not find any violation of the Fisheries Act. Fish are plentiful in Round Lake, Belmont and Crow Lake. At Sandy Lake and Irwin Lake the bass are numerous but much smaller than in other lakes.

He found only one man who had broken the game law whom he fined.

Overseer O. H. Cassan, Campbellford, reports that during the summer of 1907, the fishing in his district from Campbellford to Trent Bridge and Crow River was as good as in any of the late years. The bass were a little smaller, and not so numerous as formerly while the lunge were a little smaller but much more numerous. He would recommend that these waters be re-stocked with bass. This could be easily done as a suitable place along these waters could be found for establishing a hatchery at very small expense. The district was visited by a considerable number of American anglers, as well as by a number from other parts of Ontario. He would also recommend that guides be required to have a license at a very small fee.

Overseer William Clarkson, Lakehurst, reports that the catch of bass and maskinonge in his division was up to the average there, being some very large fish caught. The tourist trade is increasing, the two dollar angling permit giving good satisfaction. The fishermen report that the catch of salmon trout in Catchacoma Lake, and those other lakes north, was below the average due to cold weather. The fishery regulations, and close seasons were well observed. The mill owners observe the law fairly well as to dumping refuse in the waters. There are no fishways in his district.

PERU HAS BRAND NEW PRESIDENT

Senor Don Augusto B. Leguia Elected to Succeed Dr. Pardo.

Lima, Peru, May 29.—Senor Don Augusto B. Leguia has been elected to succeed Dr. Pardo as President of Peru.

Senor Leguia is 45 years old, and for a long time was engaged in the life insurance business. Later he became managing director of the British Sugar Estates, Limited, a corporation which has many million dollars invested in Peru. He has served as Minister of Finance and as Premier.

Supervised Playgrounds.

Toronto, May 29.—The initial step towards the organizing of an association for the promotion of supervised playgrounds was taken at a meeting held here. The following resolution was passed:

"That this meeting heartily approve of the organization of a Toronto Playgrounds' Association to advocate and secure supervised and equipped playgrounds for the children of Toronto and that the following be appointed a committee to select officers, draft a constitution and otherwise carry on the details of the movement."

A committee was appointed.

THAT CREIGHTON IS INSANE WILL BE PLEA OF DEFENCE

Creighton Talks of the Murder—Mrs. Creighton Had Sent For a Doctor to See Him—He Had Threatened Suicide—Whiskey Easy to be Had in Local Option Town—Bodies at Port Huron—Verdict of Murder.

Owen Sound, May 29.—H. G. Tucker has been retained to act as counsel for James Creighton, who killed his wife and two step-daughters and then attempted suicide. The defence will be insanity.

"There can be no doubt but that this mild gentleman, who feared the sight of blood, was oppressed by a terrible mental aberration," said Mr. Tucker. "The circumstances all prove it. I will appear at the inquest Thursday night and will have medical testimony to the effect that his mind had gone."

Creighton himself told Chief McAuley that he had intended that morning to kill himself.

"I went to the woodshed and got the pistol, loaded it with six cartridges and I went in to where my wife slept. I was determined to tell her why I wanted to die," said Creighton. "I was going to kiss her. Then when I looked at her asleep I thought it would be better that we should all go together. So I took aim and shot her through the heart. She never moved." He followed this up with the madman-like slashes of the bread-knife, sharpened to a fine point. Then he drew the leather thong tight about her neck. He has told no one connectedly of this.

"Then I left the room and made a job of the other two. I shot Kathleen through the heart and then went to kill Clare. Clare was wakened by the last shot, and she put up a hard fight. As I stood over her with the pistol she came at me like a tiger, but I did not spare her."

Creighton says he shot himself immediately after, or about 5.30 a.m. He denies that he was down town during the day, although there are a dozen people who say they saw her on the street after 7.30 a.m.

Chief McAuley says the rooms almost ran with blood, that Creighton's feet walked and re-walked through it, that his finger nails bore the red stains between nail and finger, that his face was blackened like polished ebony by the burned powder from his self-inflicted wound and that he never could have left the house at all Tuesday morning.

It seems now that on Monday evening Mrs. Creighton sent for Dr. Hershey. He had been in a terrible rage and had threatened suicide and he told the physician "it would be all over by morning." Dr. Hershey warned Mrs. Creighton later to remove any poisons or weapons with which he might end his life. A murderous attack was not thought of.

Residents declare that in spite of the local option law, "the back of some of our shops are just little barrooms" and to get whiskey is "the easiest thing in the world."

Port Huron, May 29.—The bodies of Mrs. James Creighton and her two children, Katherine and Clare Chapman, who were murdered in Owen Sound, Ont., arrived yesterday and were conveyed to the home of Judge Harris, father of the dead woman. The remains were accompanied by William P. Creighton.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon, and the services will be conducted by Rev. A. S. Beach of Ypsilanti, the same minister who a year ago last Easter, married Mr. and Mrs. Creighton. Mrs. Harris, the mother and grandmother of the victims, is in a serious condition.

Jury Says Murder.

Owen Sound, May 29.—The verdict of the coroner's jury last night in the case of the death of Mrs. Lillie Eliza Creighton, Katherine Belle Chapman and Clare Louise Chapman was that it was wilful murder, and that James Faris Creighton was responsible for the act.

The autopsy on the bodies only served to reveal a more atrocious attack than was thought when the bodies were first discovered.

In each instance there were bullet wounds that would have caused instant death, and the infuriated perpetrator had emptied the six chambers of the revolver into his helpless victims and then committed the most fiendish cutting and stabbing with the knife after he had despatched the three with the revolver shots.

There was little new in the evidence except to show the atrociousness of the work and that the deed was the outcome of jealousy and hatred because his wife would not restore him to her affections.

Dr. Dow read the statement of the post-mortem. The extra bullet in the body of the wife it was found had gone into the right side of the head above the ear and penetrated the ear. Either bullet wounds in the head and the horrible gash in the throat would have caused death. The bullet wound in the case of the elder girl entered the eye and extended into the brain and it would have caused death. Another bullet wound in the body entered the side, passed through the body and was found in the muscles of the back. The third entered the side and passed downward through the abdominal section. The gash in the neck would have caused death also. In the instance of the daughter Clare the bullet wound entered the right side and in its course would have caused death, while a stab over the heart severed all the blood vessels around the heart.

MUST NOT SIT ON FRONT SEAT

New Rule at Ottawa as Result of Recent Accident.

Toronto, May 29.—A letter has been sent to every electric railway under the jurisdiction of the Ontario Railway Board pointing out that the practice of allowing passengers to occupy the space allotted to motormen on open cars is of a dangerous character, and led recently to a very serious accident.

The engineer of the board has recommended that it should be discontinued, and the board will on June 5 pass a regulation to that effect, unless good cause be shown to the contrary.

Engineer J. F. H. Wyse, in reporting on the accident at Ottawa, finds that the equipment was in good condition and the cause of the accident was that the front of the car was occupied by passengers sitting on the front seat.

"In the face of the imminent danger the passengers on the front seat hampered and disconcerted the motorman; he failed to keep his presence of mind and lost control of his car."

The municipalities of the province have also been notified by the board as to the proposed regulation.

NO SITTING OF THE HOUSE AT THE CAPITAL YESTERDAY

Rumors as to What is to Come—Expected That Supply Will be Moved—Cold Storage Debate Will be Resumed—Lime Light on Mr. Pugsley.

Ottawa, May 29.—Yesterday being Ascension Day there was no sitting of the House of Commons.

This afternoon it is expected the Government will again make an attempt to get supplies voted, and on the motion to go into committee the debate will be resumed on the cold storage enterprise of Sir Frederick Borden's son-in-law, George F. Fowler having the floor.

A statement has been given out from the Conservative headquarters regarding the negotiations between Mr. Borden and Premier Roblin, on the one side, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier on the other, with regard to the Aylesworth election bill. While it was not given as Mr. Borden's statement, it is understood that it carries with it the endorsation of the Conservative leader. It gives the dates of events to show that Premier Laurier is responsible for the delay.

Whether the Government intends to force an all-night and all-day sitting Saturday when the House resumes is not announced, but it is not thought that Sir Wilfrid will test the endurance of his opponents just yet. Probably the real fight will not be begun till next week.

Some day next week the Conservatives propose to deal with Mr. Pugsley's connection with New Brunswick politics. They have the official records and a resolution will be framed to open up the question in a sensational manner.

NEXT MEETING OF GRAND LODGE AT PETERBOROUGH

Decision to This Effect Reached at Midland—Officers Are Elected for Ensuing Year.

Midland, May 29.—An address of welcome from the mayor and council of Midland district, True Blue lodge, the Royal Templars of Temperance, and also from all the lodges, took most of the morning's proceedings of the Supreme Grand Orange Lodge.

Special grants were made to the True Blue Orphanage at Picton, also to the Imperial Protestant Federation League.

The salary of the grand secretary was raised from $500 to $1,000.

Ex-Mayor E. T. Essery of London brought in a resolution in reference to Canada sharing in the maintenance of the British navy. The resolution favored Canada paying part of navy which protects the coasts of Canada. It was carried unanimously.

James Mayor gave notice that at the next grand lodge he would move that the two degrees which were taken out last year at Vancouver be re-inserted.

Peterboro gets the next meeting.

The officers elected are: M. W. grand master, Dr. T. Sproule, Markdale; deputy grand master, Col. J. P. Scott, Walkerson; grand chaplain, Rev. Wm. Walsh, Brampton; grand treasurer, W. J. Parkhill, Midland; grand secretary, William Lee, Toronto; grand lecturer, A. A. Gray; grand G. of C., Capt. T. G. Wallace, Woodbridge; deputy grand chaplains, Rev. Charles Lench, Newfoundland; Rev. B. F. Fulton, Nova Scotia; Rev. J. Reid, Prince Albert; ex-Mayor Sharp, Winnipeg; grand auditors, C. H. Delamere, Minden; Joseph E. Thompson, Toronto.

The mayor of Penetang, Alphonse Tessier, a French-Canadian, has denied a rumor that he intended to prohibit the next 12th parade.

SOME STUDENTS WERE ATTACKED

Were on Their Way to Pay Homage to the King.

Lisbon, May 29.—A procession of students of Combra University to present homage to the King was attacked while passing through certain quarters of the city. Five of the students were injured. The police arrested 28 of their assailants and a vigorous investigation has been ordered.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Hon. S. Blake has written a letter approving of the Whitney Government.

Two persons died and many were prostrated by the heat at Pittsburg yesterday. The mercury reached 88 at noon.

Chevalier A. M. F. Gravelle, at one time Italian consul, died at Toronto. He shipped the first cargo of sawn pine sent from Canada to Italy.

A. C. Babcock, alias Portamere, has been arrested in Chicago on a charge of defrauding Ryrie Bros. of Toronto by passing worthless checks. He bought expensive jewelry. He also paid his board bill at the Queen's hotel with a worthless check.

Rumored Political Changes.

Halifax, N. S., May 29.—It is rumored on excellent authority that Premier Murray will resign to contest North Cape Breton and Victoria in the Liberal interests, and will enter the Dominion Cabinet as either Minister of Marine or Minister of Militia. County Court Judge McKenzie will also resign to contest the same riding as Murray's successor to the Premiership of Nova Scotia.

Pleased With Reception.

London, May 29.—M. Pichon, Minister of Foreign Affairs of the French Republic, who is in London with President Fallieres, in an interview said that the President of France had been profoundly impressed with the magnificent greeting accorded him in London.

"It is, in my eyes, a most cheering justification to those of us who have all their lives supported the policy of an understanding with Great Britain," M. Pichon said, "to see that policy triumph to-day in the form of a close, and, to adopt King Edward's phrase, 'permanent' entente.

Goldwin Smith Endorses Labor.

Toronto, May 29.—At a meeting last night on behalf of the Labor candidates in Toronto a letter of regret for inability to attend was read from Prof Goldwin Smith, which said:

"I believe I have never failed either in England or here to cast my vote for a worthy and hopeful labor candidate. Amidst our differences, political or industrial, let us ever remember that we are not a set of classes arrayed against each other, but a community and that our prosperity, and happiness depends upon our being a community indeed."

Cobalt Jeweler Acquitted.

Cobalt, May 29.—In the Police Court Crown Attorney Browning withdrew the charge against J. J. Hall, jeweler, charged with stealing ore from some of the mines here. He was called as the main witness in the case of James O'Reilley, who was also acquitted.

Italian to Hang.

Greenwood, B. C., May 29.—Francesco Cedio, an Italian, who wrecked the Niagara Hotel with a bomb 18 months ago, killing the daughter of the proprietor, Louise King, was sentenced to hang at Kamloops on July 31.

THE SOCIALISTS ARE OBJECTING

They do Not Wish King Edward to Visit Russia.

London, May 29.—The Socialist members of the House of Commons are displaying a marked interest in the approaching visit of King Edward to the Russian court, from the viewpoint of the possibility of closer relations between the two countries resulting from His Majesty's trip.

Early this week a Socialist member asked Premier Asquith to secure the abandonment of the visit on the ground that it was not fitting that Great Britain should seem to support those persons in Russia who were responsible for sending into exile the "Patriots of the Douma."

Yesterday Foreign Secretary Grey informed a questioner that no new convention or treaty was under discussion between the two Governments, nor was it intended to incite negotiations for one during King Edward's visit.

The Secretary said he trusted, however, that this visit would contribute to the good relations existing between the Governments and the people of both countries.

LATE OPENING OF NAVIGATION

First Steamer on Yukon Will Leave About June 4th.

Ottawa, May 29.—The Postoffice Department has been advised that navigation is on the point of opening on the Yukon. It is expected that the first steamer will leave White Horse on or about June 4. Postmasters are being instructed to accept all classes of mail matter at the ordinary rates for all places in the Yukon on and after June 1.

British Hospitality Fund.

London, May 29.—In replying to the deputation which came to ask the Government for financial support for the peace congress, which will assemble in London in July, Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd-George announced that at his suggestion and in view of the importance of promoting international friendliness, the Government has sanctioned the setting apart of a sum from the exchequer each year, the amount being as yet not decided, to organize the country's international hospitality on a more regular basis. He further intimated that this new fund might cover objects such as the deputation advocated.

The Chancellor's novel proposal is warmly supported by the London papers.

Long Flight of Aeroplane.

Ghent, May 29.—Henry Farman, the British aeronaut, made two flights of 1.600 metres in his aeroplane. This is the greatest distance yet accomplished in a straight line.

Unable to Secure Cargo.

Superior, Wis., May 29.—Unable to secure a cargo because of the dullness of the present shipping season, the new steamer Truesdale sailed for Buffalo without cargo.

Battleship on the Rocks.

St. Petersburg, May 29.—The Russian battleship, Peter the Great, struck the rocks in the Gulf of Finland at a point near Reval. Her bow was pierced.

AN AMBITIOUS SWINDLER DID NOT FARE VERY WELL

Port Hope, May 28—What was apparently a neat swindle the profits of which only amounted to a silver watch and a sweat pad, was perpetrated here last week.

On Monday morning soon after 7 o'clock a democrat containing a man, woman and three children and drawn by a horse bearing signs of better days, drew up in front of Mr. John Jordan's butcher shop on Walton street. The man, a stranger, asked Mr. Jordan if he would buy a couple of pigs. Mr. Jordan said that he would take the pigs, which the stranger was to kill and dress.

The man then went across the street to Mr. Wm. Shaw's second hand shop. His fancy turned to a silver watch, valued at $3.00. He told Mr. Shaw that he would buy the watch but could not pay for it until he had received his money for the pigs, which had been sold to Mr. Jordan. On the strength of this story Mr. Shaw let him have the watch.

After buncoing Mr Shaw the stranger went next to Mr Geo Hancock's harness shop on Ontario street. He secured a sweat pad valued at 15 cents, after relating the same story, that he had told Mr. Shaw. The man also told Mr. Hancock that the pad was hardly good enough for his purpose and instructed him to make a better one which he would call for in about two days' time.

The strange party who appeared to be members of a gang of gypsies left town soon afterwards and have not been seen since.

Chief Bond was told of the matter but has been unable to locate the swindler.

DIED ON WAY TO HOSPITAL

Young Man Received Fatal Injuries in Toronto Factory This Morning--Another One Hurt

Toronto, May 29—George Andrews aged 21 years was almost instantly killed shortly before eight o'clock this morning in the Firstbrook's box factory on King street. He was employed in feeding a machine which cuts light strips of wood into kindling when attempting to put on a belt the shafting of which the pulley revolves, to drive the machine, fell down.

Andrews was struck by the whirling mass in the stomach, face and back of the head. The blow on the head rendered him unconscious and he remained so.

He expired in an ambulance while on his way to the General Hospital.

George Ostrom, a foreman, was also struck by the pulley but escaped with a few bruises.

C.P.R. TRAIN WAS WRECKED AS RESULT OF BAD WASHOUT

Civic Dam on Current River Bursts—Half a Mile of Track Washed Away—Freight Train Plunges Into Gap —Three Train Hands Killed.

North Bay, May 29.—The dam on the Current river, at Port Arthur, burst on Wednesday as a result of the prevailing high water, and much damage resulted, including a washout of half a mile of C. P. R. track. A freight train of sixteen cars was engulfed in the chasm made by the rushing waters, and three trainmen went down to a horrible death—Engineer Savard, Fireman McBride and an unknown brakeman. All traffic is held up, and the wires are down, making a very serious condition of affairs for the railway.

For those in the locomotive cab there was not time even to realize the form in which the death summons came, but only a sudden awful change from the steady motion on a level track to the plunging, crashing bedlam of twisting steel and breaking timber amid a torrent of hissing steam when the flood waters covered the locomotive.

Since 5 o'clock yesterday morning the waters have receded ten feet, but the bodies of the trainmen are still in the wreck. Part of the cab is now visible, and one hand and foot of the dead engineer. Passengers are being transferred across the flooded track in gasoline launches. Passenger trains are held up, including a special with steamship passengers which will miss the sailing.

Engineer Savard is a married man residing in Schreiber. Fireman McBride, also of Schreiber, is unmarried.

Communication with the West by telegraph has been cut off, presumably by the washout referred to, and messages are being sent by Chicago.

The buildings in the city park were all washed away. The street cars and the water, light and power service have been crippled. Temporary power has been obtained from Fort William. The loss is estimated at $200,000.

In addition to the train crew it is feared two tramps were drowned.

Later—The bodies of the train men have been recovered.

MR. WRIGHT HAS SPRUNG HIS MINE

Says MacPherson is a Traitor to His Party.

Toronto, May 29.—At a meeting last night, A. W Wright, the Conservative public ownership candidate in West Toronto, stated his charges against W. D. Macpherson, one of the Conservative nominees, which has been looked forward to with much interest. The charges is that when Mr. Gamey went to Buffalo during the investigation he did so on the advice of Mr. Macpherson, who knew where he was. It will be recollected that Hon. Mr. Blake stated that in consequence of Gamey's action he and his fellow counsel, Mr. Ritchie, felt like withdrawing from the case. Mr. Macpherson, though employed in the case, never told Mr. Blake where Gamey was or that he had advised him to go.

Mr. Macpherson was not at the meeting when Mr. Wright made his charge.

Revolt In Samos.

Constantinople, May 29.—The inhabitants of the Island of Samos, off the west coast of Asia Minor, are in revolt against the Prince of Samos and the governor of the island. Fighting has been going on at Vathy, the capital, for the past three days, and there are numerous victims of the trouble. The revolting islanders are being aided by the gendarmere.

Many women and children have fled to Smyrna. It is feared that the Turkish reinforcements now on their way to the island will start a general massacre. A proposal that the powers despatch warships to Samos is being urged.

The principality of Samos exists under the guarantee of France, Great Britain and Russia.

Praying For a Settlement.

Chester, Pa., May 29.—Following a suggestion of the local Women's Christian Temperance Union, prayers were offered in many homes in this city for a settlement of the differences between the Chester Traction Co. and its striking employes. Cars are running, but are carrying no passengers.

Skull Fractured by Power Switch.

Toronto, May 29.—Fred White employed in the power house at the corner of Davenport road and Dupont street, had his skull fractured by being struck with a switch. He was taken to St. Michael's Hospital, and is in a very serious condition.

Woman Perjurer Sent to Prison.

London, May 29.—Mrs. Margaret Hamilton, who was one of the principal witnesses to the alleged identity of the Duke of Portland, with T. C. Druce, was sentenced to 18 months' penal servitude for perjury, her appeal having been disallowed.

WANT A BRIDGE ACROSS OTTAWA

Deputation From Prescott County Wait on the Government.

Toronto, May 29.—A deputation waited on Premier Whitney yesterday to request provincial aid in the construction of a bridge across the Ottawa at Hawkesbury. The Quebec Government have already promised to contribute $15,000 towards the total cost of $100,000, and if the Ontario Government will make a substantial contribution—$25,000 was suggested—the Dominion will pay the balance.

It was represented that there was no bridge for foot passengers across the river between Ottawa and Montreal, a distance of 120 miles, and during the fall and spring the ferry service was frequently interrupted. Premier Whitney said that no doubt such a bridge would be a great convenience to the locality. The Government would consider whether the granting of aid in this case would not form a precedent for numerous similar applications. They would, when the Cabinet got together, also have to consider whether the proposal was not contrary to the policy of the Government.

Ring Rule In Presbyterian Assembly.

Kansas City, Mo., May 29.—That the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States of America does not intend that a few men shall dominate the executive power of the church, was shown when that body, after 35 minutes of lively debate, adopted a resolution providing that no paid agents of the church boards of the general assembly shall be members of the executive committee which will direct the administration of church affairs.

Some of the disgruntled ones have insinuated that a "ring" directed all the proceedings of the general assembly.

Engineer Dead In Cab.

Chicago, May 29.—The Overland Limited, the fastest train of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad system, ran at full speed of nearly 60 miles an hour over interlocking switches and past signals near Byron, Ill., with Engineer Albert Gauvins lying dead on the cab floor. The train, with a hundred passengers aboard, narrowly missed a smash-up. The fireman discovered the dead man and stopped the train.

Prison Farms.

Barrie, May 29.—It is the purpose of the Ontario Government to establish large prison farms where the inmates of the Central prison can be employed in clearing the ground and at the same time taught scientific farming.

It is said on good authority that the site of one of these farms will be along the Valley of the Nottawasaga river in Flos, Vespra or Sunnidale.

CAPITAL ACCOUNT

Whitney is living on the Province's capital now. Of the revenue of the year $1,185,000 is the purchase price of Kerr and Cobalt Lakes. If a farmer sold his farm, he could have a fly time blowing in the proceeds. But after it was spent, what? —Hamilton Times.

Mr. Whitney is not using this money for current expenses, and the Times knows it. He is using it for permanent improvements on capital account in other ways. He is transforming mining rights and privileges not into private property at $3.00 an acre as Ross did but at a lrge royacre as Ross did but at a large royalty per acre or at a large sum for complete sale into Normal Schools, improved rural schools, permanent improvement of colonization and trunk roads, etc. Mr. Ross sold timber to help square his current account for maintenance, etc. Whitney uses none of this money for maintenance. He used $671,000 towards paying off the Ross debt, a debt which papers like the Times said did not exist. It is very odd that Mr. Whitney should sink so much money for which he has only a receipt to show, if there is really no need for it. But it would be wrong to exclude private enterprise from public domains provided it pays the public decently for it. The transformation of one sort of capital into another the Times does not seem to know about not having been accustomed to it in the past.

IN ENGLAND

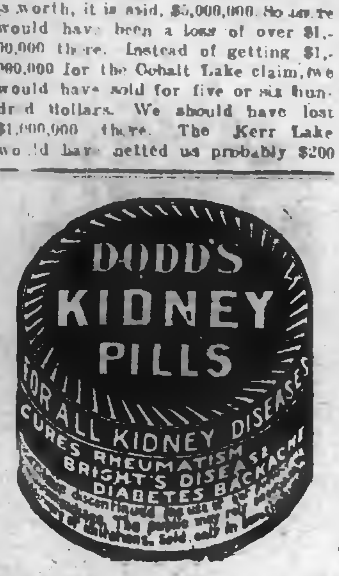
"In the cable despatches which seldom fail to give a Unionist color to their comments, it has been treated as a little noteworthy that a Shropshire constituency, purely rural, should have reverted to its old love, the Tory party, in spite of the introduction by the Liberals of the old age pension system, which is regarded as specially a boon to the country folk. Those who so speak ignore the fact that "a great issue over hanging the country is protection, that the only concrete form in which that principle has so much as dared to present itself to the country is in the protection of farm stuffs and that the rural interest has at all times been protectionist." —Montreal Witness.

This makes it look as if the old free-traders were beginning to come to their senses. They remind one, however, of the old timer who always maintained that "the sun do move." He maintained it up to his last breath and died waving his hand in the direction of the sun.

COBALT

What would have been by this time the net loss to Ontraio if the "concessions" of the Ross Government had been continued by Whitney? First of all, there would have been the O'Brien mine which Ross gave away for $700. Whitney sold it for $240,000 and a 25 per cent royalty. The mine is worth, it is said, $5,000,000. So there would have been a loss of over $1,-00,000 there. Instead of getting $1,-000,000 for the Cobalt Lake claim, we would have sold for five or six hundred dollars. We should have lost $1,000,000 there. The Kerr Lake would have netted us probably $200 instead of $285,000, a loss of $284,800. The Gillie's limit instead of bringing us $100,000 the first year and being entirely ours, would have been sold for probably $500. Favorites, or as they would have been called, "enterprising concessionaries," would have got the reward of their enterprise (selah !) In 1904, the total collections from mining privileges were $46,083,-91, (note the cent.)

The reader does not need to note the derminal in this item. There is enough beside. But making all allowances, it is only fair to state that whereas now we as a province are rich with plenty of roads, agricultural societies and education, formerly we were as poor as Job's turkey, without the turkey. "Hooray ! for Ross !" (See Mr. Stratton's address.)



MONUMENTS

"When we read that at some tercentenary a grandiose memorial is contemplated which shall do honour to Shakespeare, we are reminded that they best reverence the poet who read him aright," says the writer of the "Musings without Method" in Blackwood's Magazine for April. "How shall bronze or marble celebrate the wonder and beauty of Shakespeare's work? No poet that ever lived has stood less in need of a monument. His fame is universal and unassailed. Three centuries ago Milton asked and answered the question with an indisputable authority:

"'What needs my Shakespeare for his honoured bones
The labour of an age in piled stones?
Or that his hallowed reliques should be hid
Under a starry-pointing pyramid?
Dear son of memory, great heir of fame,
What need'st thou such weak witness of thy name?
Thou in our wonder and astonishment
Hast built thyself a livelong monument.'

In every word of these incomparable lines is conveyed a reproach to those who would honour him, most splendidly honoured in his own verse. To set up a sculptured memorial, to Shakespeare is as indelicate as it were to build a new and vast monument to Sophocles."

Let monuments be erected to those who need them. The very great names cannot perish. Who would be so banal as to erect a monument to Homer? As marks of identification for the dead they serve a purpose, but as marks of honour they indicate that the department's name is in danger of perishing. The same idea applies to the Plains of Abraham. They live in the memory and the imagination and cannot be perpetuated by cairns or slabs of stone. As milestones on the way of time these may serve their purpose, too, but if so they will pass away and soon be forgotten. What needs a forcible reminder is not worth the reminding.

MR. MACKAY

What is it that Mr. Mackay and his followers now ask of the people of Ontario. They ask that the men who have given the province honest government, overflowing revenues, and business methods in the departments and in the management of the public properties should be turned out and that the party which gave the province deficits instead of surpluses, which squandered the public properties, starved the schools and robbed the people through the school book ring, and which still maintains that in doing all these things it did right, should be returned to power. They ask the province to dismiss the Whitney Government, which has given the people a secret ballot, an efficient election law and clean elections and to put in their place the party under which, when they were in power, we had the shocking scandals of the West Elgin election, the Minnie M. cruise, the Four Norths, and the "faint crosses" which elected Hon A. G. Mackay; and which still maintains that the government under which and for whose benefit all these villainies were perpetrated, was a government that was doing right and should have been continued in power.

That is what Mr. Mackay and his followers are asking the electors of this province to do. Does anybody in his senses think that the electors will do it?—Sarnia Canadian.

The attempt of the Dominion Government to foist a marked ballot on Manitoba, Northern Ontario and British Columbia in Dominion elections was ominous. No wonder the Conservatives fought it. It was designed to hold the G. T. P. employees.

CONSERVATIVES TO HOLD RALLY

Rousing Time at Committee Rooms on Saturday Night

There will be a grand rally of Mr. Bradburn's supporters at the committee rooms on George street on Saturday night. There will be several good speakers and a rousing time is expected. All are invited.

TH CURE-ALL

Are you fat? Walk.
Are you thin? Walk.
Have you an appetite? Walk.
Or do you gormandize? Walk.
Have you lost interest in life? Walk.
Maybe you poor stomach won't work. Walk.
Or perhaps your liver has gone on a strike. Walk.
Cupid may have put a kink in your suffering heart. Walk.
In short, walking seems to be the remedy for all ills, save, perhaps, broken legs.

The big tapir which arrived at the Central park menagerie last Tuesday died two days [illegible] of homesickness.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS, 1908

To the Electors of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—It is my privilege to again appear before you as the Conservative candidate in the approaching election of members of the Ontario Legislature, and while on the previous occasion I was in opposition to the Government, I now have the pleasure of supporting the Administration of Hon. J. P. Whitney, whose management of the affairs of the Province, with the support of an able cabinet, has, during his short premiership, proved of such marked benefit.

Measures of a far-reaching character have been passed, and the statute books of the last three years are replete with legislation of a high order, as well for its originality as its soundness. Let me mention a few of the important acts of the past sessions. The establishment of a Railway and Municipal Board, the new act relating to mining, the creation of the Hydro-Electric Commission, the amendment of the liquor laws, amendments to the law relating to the election of members of the Legislature, particularly the alteration in the ballot, which is now absolutely secret.

The administration of the public domain, especially the mining laws of the Province, has been most profitable, adding large sums to both revenue and capital, and the different changes which have been effected in the Education Department have met with the approval of all persons concerned in that most important branch of the public service.

One of the beneficial acts of the Government is the taking with its own hands the distribution of electric energy through the great water power of Niagara Falls, and other rivers capable of hydraulic development. Thus are the different municipalities through the Province enabled to obtain the inestimable commodity at a minimum of cost.

The Government, while endeavoring to serve the people generally have not been unmindful of the importance of this riding, and when the new normal schools were to be created one of the four was placed in this constituency, thus affording exceptional advantages to the teachers and schools of this counyt.

In the short time which will elapse before polling day, I shall endeavour to make my views more fully known to you both privately and publicly, and I bespeak your cordial support, not so much because of any merits of my own, as on account of the splendid record of the Government.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

T. E. BRADBURN

Jumped From Train and Was Killed.

Port Arthur, May 29.—A man named Hanna, employed here as a teamster, was fatally injured by being thrown heavily to the ground while alighting from a moving train, his back being broken. He had boarded the train to bid some friends good-bye and waited too long. The train had got up considerable speed, when he finally jumped, with such terrible result.

Fined Over Half a Million.

Salem, Ore., May 29.—Judge Burnett in the Circuit Court sentenced J. Thornburn Ross, the Portland banker, to five years imprisonment and to pay a fine of $576,094.

Ross was convicted of wrongful conversion of state school funds in his capacity as president of the Title Guarantee and Trust Co.

Work at Prince Rupert.

Prince Rupert, the Pacific coast terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific, is now being laid out by landscape artists, and wharves and other facilities are being erected for handling the railway material which will be required to construct the part of the Grand Trunk Pacific built eastward from the coast. At present the number of men rushing to Prince Rupert to be on the ground exceeds the demand, and there is considerable trouble and some suffering.

W. H. HILL, Esq., Manager Central Ontario, Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada, Peterborough, Ont.

DEAR SIR:

In connection with policy No. 18253, taken out by me twenty years ago for $2000, on the 20 year endowment plan, I would like to say to you that I am well pleased with the results. I paid $91.40 a year for twenty years and had my insurance for $2,000, and the cheque you have handed me to day is for $2653.10, which is $123.15 in excess of what I would have received had I deposited the same amount in the Bank during the last twenty years at current rates. In one case I had my insurance carried and in the other case I would have had none. I can only say that I have never made an investment that has given me greater satisfaction. I believe if I had not taken out the insurance I would not have been worth one dollar more to-day and now I find myself in possession of $2653.10, which will enable me to make a profitable investment. I am now pretty well up in years but if I had my life to live over again I would ensure for as large an amount as I could possibly pay for. During the twenty years, I found it difficult on many occasions to meet the payments, but I met them in every case by practising a little economy in other directions, and I can assure you that I feel I have been well repaid for the pains I took in providing for the money to pay the premium. You have paid me more considerably than I expected to receive and for this I am grateful.

Respectfully yours,

CHAPTER XV.

It was now December, and the senate had been in session for over a week. Jefferson had not forgotten his promise, and one day, about two weeks after Mr. Bagley's spectacular dismissal from the Ryder residence, he had brought Shirley the two letters. She did not ask him how he got them, if he forced the drawer or procured the key. It sufficed for her that the precious letters, the absolute proof of her father's innocence, were at last in her possession. She at once sent them off by registered mail to Stott, who immediately acknowledged receipt and at the same time announced his departure for Washington that night. He promised to keep her constantly informed of what he was doing and how her father's case was going. It could, he thought, be only a matter of a few days now before the result of the proceedings would be known.

The approach of the crisis made Shirley exceedingly nervous, and it was only by the exercise of the greatest self control that she did not betray the terrible anxiety she felt. The Ryder biography was nearly finished, and her stay in Seventy-fourth street would soon come to an end. She had a serious talk with Jefferson, who contrived to see a good deal of her, entirely unsuspected by his parents, for Mr. and Mrs. Ryder had no reason to believe that their son had any more than a mere bowing acquaintance with the clever young authoress. Now that Mr. Bagley was no longer there to spy upon their actions these clandestine interviews had been comparatively easy. Shirley brought to bear all the arguments she could think of to convince Jefferson of the hopelessness of their engagement. She insisted that she could never be his wife; circumstances over which they had no control made that dream impossible. It were better, she said, to part now rather than incur the risk of being unhappy later. But Jefferson refused to be convinced. He argued and pleaded, and he even swore—strange, desperate words that Shirley had never heard before and which alarmed her not a little—and the discussion ended usually by a kiss which put Shirley completely hors de combat.

Meantime, John Ryder had not ceased worrying about his son. The removal of Kate Roberts as a factor in his future had not eliminated the danger of Jefferson taking the bit between his teeth one day and contracting a secret marriage with the daughter of his enemy, and when he thought of the mere possibility of such a thing happening he stormed and raved until his wife, accustomed as she was to his choleric outbursts, was thoroughly frightened. For some time after Bagley's departure, father and son got along together fairly amicably, but Ryder senior was quick to see that Jefferson had something on his mind which was worrying him, and he rightly attributed it to his infatuation for Miss Rossmore. He was convinced that his son knew where the judge's daughter was, although his own efforts to discover her whereabouts had been unsuccessful.

Sergeant Ellison had confessed absolute failure. Miss Rossmore, he reported, had disappeared as completely as if the earth had swallowed her, and further search was futile. Knowing well his son's impulsive, headstrong disposition, Ryder senior believed him quite capable of marrying the girl secretly any time. The only thing that John Ryder did not know was that Shirley Rossmore was not the kind of a girl to allow any man to inveigle her into a secret marriage. The Colossus, who judged the world's morals by his own, was not, of course, aware of this, and he worried night and day thinking what he could do to prevent his son from marrying the daughter of the man he had wronged.

The more he pondered over it the more he regretted that there was not some other girl with whom Jefferson could fall in love and marry. He need not seek a rich girl—there was certainly enough money in the Ryder family to provide for both. He wished they knew a girl, for example, as attractive and clever as Miss Green. Ah, he thought, there was a girl who would make a man of Jefferson—brainy, ambitious, active! And the more he thought of it the more the idea grew on him that Miss Green would be an ideal daughter-in-law and at the same time snatch his son from the clutches of the Rossmore woman.

Jefferson during all these weeks was growing more and more impatient. He knew that any day now Shirley might take her departure from their house and return to Massapequa. If the impeachment proceedings went against her father it was more than likely that he would lose her forever, and if, on the contrary, the judge were acquitted Shirley never would be willing to marry him without his father's consent, and this, he felt, he would never obtain. He resolved therefore to have a final interview with his father and declare boldly his intention of making Miss Rossmore his wife regardless of the consequences.

The opportunity came one evening after dinner. Ryder senior was sitting alone in the library reading; Mrs. Ryder had gone to the theater with a friend; Shirley, as usual, was writing in her room, giving the final touches to her now completed "History of the Empire Trading Company." Jefferson took the bull by the horns and boldly accosted his redoubtable parent.

"May I have a few minutes of your time, father?"

Ryder senior laid aside the paper he was reading and looked up. It was unusual for his son to come to him on any errand, and he liked to encourage it.

"Certainly, Jefferson. What is it?"

"I want to appeal to you, sir. I want you to use your influence before it is too late to save Judge Rossmore. A word from you at this time would do wonders in Washington."

The financier swung half round in his chair, the smile of greeting faded out of his face, and his voice was hard as he replied coldly:

"Again? I thought we had agreed not to discuss Judge Rossmore any further?"

"I can't help it, sir," rejoined Jefferson, undeterred by his sire's hostile attitude. "That poor old man is practically on trial for his life. He is as innocent of wrongdoing as a child unborn, and you know it. You could save him if you would."

"Jefferson," answered Ryder senior, biting his lip to restrain his impatience, "I told you before that I could not interfere even if I would, and I won't, because that man is my enemy. Important business interests which you cannot possibly know anything about, demand his dismissal from the bench."

"Surely your business interests don't demand the sacrifice of a man's life!" retorted Jefferson. "I know modern business methods are none too squeamish, but I should think you'd draw the line at deliberate murder!"

Ryder sprang to his feet and for a moment stood glaring at the young man. His lips moved, but no sound came from them. Suppressed wrath rendered him speechless. What was the world coming to when a son could talk to his father in this manner?

"How dare you presume to judge my actions or to criticise my methods?" he burst out finally.

"You force me to do so," answered Jefferson hotly. "I want to tell you that I am heartily ashamed of this whole affair and your connection with it, and since you refuse to make reparation in the only way possible for the wrong you and your associates have done Judge Rossmore—that is, by saving him in the senate—I think it only fair to warn you that I take back my word in regard to not marrying without your consent. I want you to know that I intend to marry Miss Rossmore as soon as she will consent to become my wife—that is," he added, with bitterness, "if I can succeed in overcoming her prejudices against my family"—

Ryder senior laughed contemptuously.

"Prejudices against a thousand million dollars?" he exclaimed skeptically.

"Yes," replied Jefferson decisively, "prejudices against our family, against you and your business practices. Money is not everything. One day you will find that out. I tell you definitely that I intend to make Miss Rossmore my wife."

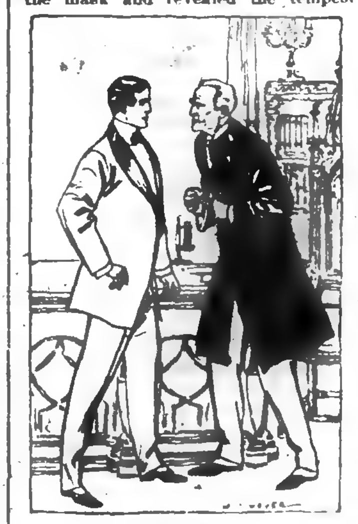
Ryder senior made no reply, and as Jefferson had expected an explosion, this unnatural calm rather startled him. He was sorry he had spoken so harshly. It was his father, after all.

"You've forced me to defy you, father," he added. "I'm sorry"—

Ryder senior shrugged his shoulders and resumed his seat. He lit another cigar and with affected carelessness he said:

"All right, Jeff, my boy, we'll let it go at that. You're sorry—so am I. You've shown me your cards—I'll show you mine."

His composed, unruffled manner vanished. He suddenly threw off the mask and revealed the tempest that was raging within. He leaned across the desk, his face convulsed with uncontrollable passion, a terrifying picture of human wrath. Shaking his fist at his son he shouted:



"How dare you presume to judge my actions?"

"When I get through with Judge Rossmore at Washington, I'll start after his daughter. This time tomorrow he'll be a disgraced man. A week later she will be a notorious woman. Then we'll see if you'll be so eager to marry her!"

"Father!" cried Jefferson.

"There is sure to be something in her life that won't bear inspection," sneered Ryder. "There is in everybody's life. I'll find out what it is. Where is she today? She can't be found. No one knows where she is—not even her own mother. Something is wrong—the girl's no good!"

Jefferson started forward as if to resent these insults to the woman he loved, but, realizing that it was his own father, he stopped short and his hands fell powerless at his side.

"Well, is that all?" inquired Ryder senior, with a sneer.

"That's all," replied Jefferson, "I'm going. Goodby."

"Goodby," answered his father indifferently. "Leave your address with your mother."

Jefferson left the room and Ryder senior, as if exhausted by the violence of his own outburst, sank back limp in his chair. The crisis he dreaded had come at last. His son had openly defied his authority and was going to marry the daughter of his enemy. He must do something to prevent it; the marriage must not take place, but what could he do? The boy was of age and legally his own master. He could do nothing to restrain his actions unless they put him in an insane asylum. He would rather see his son there, he mused, than married to the Rossmore woman.

Presently there was a timid knock at the library door. Ryder rose from his seat and went to see who was there. To his surprise it was Miss Green.

"May I come in?" asked Shirley.

"Certainly, by all means. Sit down."

He drew up a chair for her, and his manner was so cordial that it was easy to see she was a welcome visitor.

"Mr. Ryder," she began in a low, tremulous voice, "I have come to see you on a very important matter. I've been waiting to see you all evening, and as I shall be here only a short time longer I want to ask you a great favor, perhaps the greatest you were ever asked. I want to ask you for mercy—for mercy to"—

She stopped and glanced nervously at him, but she saw he was paying no attention to what she was saying. He was puffing heavily at his cigar, entirely preoccupied with his own thoughts. Her sudden silence aroused him. He apologized:

"Oh, excuse me! I didn't quite catch what you were saying."

She said nothing, wondering what had happened to render him so absentminded. He read the question in her face, for, turning toward her, he exclaimed:

"For the first time in my life I am face to face with defeat—defeat of the most ignominious kind—incapacity—inability to regulate my own internal affairs. I can rule a government, but I can't manage my own family—my own son. I'm a failure. Tell me," he added, appealing to her, "why can't I rule my own household, why can't I govern my own child?"

"Why can't you govern yourself?" said Shirley quietly.

Ryder looked keenly at her for a moment without answering her question; then, as if prompted by a sudden inspiration, he said:

"You can help me, but not by preaching at me. This is the first time in my life I ever called on a living soul for help. I'm only accustomed to deal with men. This time there's a woman in the case, and I need your woman's wit"—

"How can I help you?" asked Shirley.

"I don't know," he answered with suppressed excitement. "As I told you, I am up against a blank wall. I can't see my way." He gave a nervous little laugh and went on: "I'm ashamed of myself—ashamed! Did you ever read the fable of the Lion and the Mouse? Well, I want you to gnaw with your sharp woman's teeth at the cord which bind the son of John Burkett Ryder to this Rossmore woman. I want you to be the mouse—to set me free of this disgraceful entanglement."

"How?" asked Shirley calmly.

"Ah, that's just it—how?" he replied. "Can't you think—you're a woman—you have youth, beauty—brains." He stopped and eyed her closely until she reddened from the embarrassing scrutiny. Then he blurted out: "By George! Marry him yourself—force him to let go of this other woman! Why not? Come, what do you say?"

This unexpected suggestion came upon Shirley with all the force of a violent shock. She immediately saw the falseness of her position. This man was asking for her hand for his son under the impression that she was another woman. It would be dishonorable of her to keep up the deception any longer. She passed her hand over her face to conceal her confusion.

"You—you must give me time to think," she stammered. "Suppose I don't love your son. I should want something—something to compensate."

"Something to compensate?" echoed Ryder, surprised and a little disconcerted. "Why, the boy will inherit millions—I don't know how many."

"No—no, not money," rejoined Shirley. "Money only compensates those who love money. It's something else—a man's honor, a man's life! It means nothing to you."

He gazed at her, not understanding. Full of his own project, he had mind for nothing else. Ignoring therefore the question of compensation, whatever she might mean by that, he continued:

"You can win him if you make up your mind to. A woman with your resources can blind him to any other woman."

"But if he loves Judge Rossmore's daughter?" objected Shirley.

"It's for you to make him forget her, and you can," replied the financier confidently. "My desire is to separate him from this Rossmore woman at any cost. You must help me." His sternness relaxed somewhat, and his eyes rested on her kindly. "Do you know, I should be glad to think you won't have to leave us. Mrs. Ryder has taken a fancy to you, and I myself shall miss you when you go."

"You ask me to be your son's wife and you know nothing of my family," said Shirley.

"I know you. That is sufficient," he replied.

"No, no, you don't," returned Shirley, "nor do you know your son. He has more constancy, more strength of character, than you think and far more principle than you have."

"So much the greater the victory for you," he answered good humoredly.

"Ah," she said reproachfully, "you do not love your son."

"I do love him," replied Ryder warmly. "It's because I love him that I'm such a fool in this matter. Don't you see that if he marries this girl it would separate us and I should lose him? I don't want to lose him. If I welcomed her to my house, it would make me the laughing stock of all my friends and business associates. Come, will you join forces with me?"

Shirley shook her head and was about to reply when the telephone bell rang. Ryder took up the receiver and spoke to the butler downstairs:

"Who's that? Judge Stott? Tell him I'm too busy to see any one. What's that? A man's life at stake? What's that to do with me? Tell him"—

On hearing Stott's name, Shirley nearly betrayed herself. She turned pale and half started up from her chair. Something serious must have happened to bring her father's legal adviser to the Ryder residence at such an hour! She thought he was in Washington. Could it be that the proceedings in the senate were ended and the result known? She could hardly conceal her anxiety and instinctively she placed her hand on Ryder's arm.

"No, Mr. Ryder, do see Judge Stott! You must see him. I know who he is. Your son has told me. Judge Stott is one of Judge Rossmore's advisers. See him. You may find out something about the girl. You may find out where she is. If Jefferson finds out you have refused to see her father's friend at such a critical time, it will only make him sympathize more deeply with the Rossmores, and you know sympathy is akin to love. That's what you want to avoid, isn't it?"

Ryder still held the telephone, hesitating what to do. What she said sounded like good sense.

"Upon my word"— he said. "You may be right and yet"—

"Am I to help you or not?" demanded Shirley. "You said you wanted a woman's wit."

"Yes," said Ryder, "but still"—

"Then you had better see him," she said emphatically.

Ryder turned to the telephone.

"Hello, Jorkins, are you there? Show Judge Stott up here." He laid the receiver down and turned again to Shirley. "That's one thing I don't like about you," he said. "I allow you to decide against me, and then I agree with you." She said nothing, and he went on looking at her admiringly. "I predict that you'll bring that boy to your feet within a month. I don't know why, but I seem to feel that he is attracted to you already. Thank heaven! You haven't a lot of troublesome relations. I think you said you were almost alone in the world. Don't look so serious," he added laughing. "Jeff is a fine fellow and, believe me, an excellent catch as the world goes."

Shirley raised her hand as if entreating him to desist.

"Oh, don't—don't—please! My position is so false! You don't know how false it is!" she cried.

At that instant the library door was thrown open and the butler appeared, ushering in Stott. The lawyer looked anxious, and his disheveled appearance indicated that he had come direct from the train. Shirley scanned his face narrowly in the hope that she might read there what had happened. He walked right past her, giving no sign of recognition, and advanced direct toward Ryder, who had risen and remained standing at his desk.

"Perhaps I had better go?" ventured Shirley, although tortured by anxiety to hear the news from Washington.

"No," said Ryder quickly, "Judge Stott will detain me but a very few moments."

Having delivered himself of this delicate hint, he looked toward his visitor as if inviting him to come to the point as rapidly as possible.

"I must apologize for intruding at this unseemly hour, sir," said Stott, "but time is precious. The senate meets tomorrow to vote. If anything is to be done for Judge Rossmore it must be done tonight."

"I fail to see why you address yourself to me in this matter, sir," replied Ryder, with asperity.

"As Judge Rossmore's friend and counsel," answered Stott, "I am impelled to ask your help at this critical moment."

MR. SAM LONG FOUND NEAR WINDSOR LAKE AFTER MANY DAYS' SEARCHING

The gladsome news that Mr. Samuel Long, of Driscoll Terrace street, Ashburnham, who was thought to have been lost in the woods of Algoma, had been found, reached the city last night. A telegram was sent Mr. Geo. Lipsett, brother-in-law of Mr. Geo. Long, by Mr. R. J. Baker, from a place near Windsor Lake up in New Ontario. The message stated that Mr. Long was alive and well. Windsor Lake is about six miles from Worthington, near which place Mr. Long was stationed. It is two weeks ago since Mr. Long caused great alarm to his friends by his mysterious disappearance from the camp of the Turner Lumber Co. A search was instituted and after several days constantly on the watch he was found yesterday. Great relief was felt last night when the news reached the city that the lost man had been found.

APPOINTMENT OF FIRE CHIEF NOT APPROVED OF BY COUNCIL

Lively Time at Session of City Council Last Night—Fire, Water and Light Committee Recommended Leslie G. Finch, of Brantford, for the Position—Reports Not Adopted—Two Amendments Were Made But Neither Passed—Matter Will Again be Discussed To-night

After nearly two hours lively discussion over the appointment of a chief for the fire brigade the City Council adjourned until to-night at eight o'clock, when the matter will be again threshed out and it is hoped a satisfactory decision reached.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee brought in a report recommending the appointment of Mr. Leslie G. Finch, of Brantford, at a salary of $1,000 per year. However, the report was not adopted, several amendments being made to it, but none of them were carried.

Those present were Mayor Bush, Aldermen Phelan, McIntyre, Neill, Bradburn, Morgan, Turner, Buller, Elliott and Johnston.

Ald. Johnston, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, in presenting his report recommended the appointment of Mr. Leslie G. Finch, of Brantford, at a salary of $1,000, and in doing so asked that different members express themselves on the matter. They had considered seven applications, six from outside places and one local. Ald. Johnston said that Mr. Finch considered that ten men would be a good paid brigade to start off with. He thought that it would be all right to have a few volunteers.

Ald. Morgan asked if it would be possible to get ten men out of the present volunteers or would it be necessary to take on new ones.

Ald. Buller stated that out of the several applicants there was just one local man. The committee did not think the local man had sufficient experience. They had carefully considered the applications of Mr. Sargeant, of Toronto, and Mr. Finch, of Brantford. He was sober, intelligent and industrious and had been with the chief at every fire.

Ald. Turner stated that they were greatly helped in their choice by the salaries asked by some of the applicants. The committee had talked the matter over carefully with Mr. Finch and they came to the conclusion that he was the best. His knowledge of the alarm system also recommended him. He has been chief for the Massey Harris Co. for nine years.

Ald. Bradburn asked how many fires had the Massey Harris Co. in that time. Ald. Turner could not say.

Ald. Neill said that a personal friend of his had recommended Mr. Finch very highly.

Ald. Elliott considered that Mr. Sargeant was the better man. Mr. Finch had had three years of fire fighting experience and nine years as an electrician. He thought that it was a fire fighter the city wanted. He would suggest that tenders be asked for again.

Ald. Phelan said that he understood that the city was getting a chief and an electrician. He did not think that the people would want to pay a chief $1,000 and an electrician $800.

Ald. Neill moved that Mr. Finch be appointed.

Ald. Morgan said that he had yet to find the man who wanted a paid fire brigade.

Ald. Phelan said that if a man in Peterborough could be found who had the qualifications of Mr. Finch he would like to see him appointed.

Ald. Elliot thought that the present brigade should have been consulted about this matter and it was not too late yet to reopen the question and ask the men to apply.

Ald. Morgan wanted to know who were going to be the firemen after the 30th of June.

Ald. McIntyre moved in amendment, that the matter be reconsidered and tenders again asked.

Ald. Bradburn asked if the committee were going to retain Mr. Bakerham.

Ald. Johnston—"We never had any other intention."

Ald. Bradburn—Then why should we appoint Mr. Finch because he is an electrician? Ald. Bradburn here went on to offer that Mr. Finch is not qualified with only three years' experience to assume the duties of chief of our brigade. He considered Mr. Davis with many years experience as foreman of a Toronto hall, should have been the choice of the committee. Of course, he asked $1,500 a year, but the committee might invite him to accept the offer at say $1,200. The city must be prepared to raise the salary of a chief from time to time any way. He further pointed out that the foreman of a Toronto fire hall has to assume the duties of a chief until the latter arrives, he is in fact, practically on the same footing as the chief of a fire brigade like ours.

Ald. McIntyre moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. Morgan,—That the city advertise again for applications.

Ald. Phelan moved an amendment to the amendment, seconded by Ald. Elliott—That this matter be left over till Monday night, to give local people a chance to apply. This would not interfere with the committees' report.

Ald. Buller thought there had been enough dilly-dallying on the subject already. A postponement would give opportunity for hole-and-corner consultations between aldermen and citizens, resulting in a worse state of things than even on Monday night. He liked to see a man stand by his convictions anyway, and vote accordingly. The committee had submitted their report, which should be acted upon without any further delay.

One effort had been made to vote on the report of the committee, and Ald. Johnston would not vote. However, the effort was out of order, and he subsequently urged Ald. Johnston to vote for his report, but that gentleman declined on the grounds that he had always to shoulder blame when the Fire, Water and Light Committee's report did not meet with the approval of certain aldermen.

Ald. Morgan stood by his position that the present fire brigade is highly efficient and he could see no reason for a change.

The Mayor eulogized the past work of the brigade, and offered that any applications from them would be welcome.

Ald. Bradburn moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott,—That if Mr. Joseph Metherel will accept the position of chief of the fire brigade, at a salary of $1,000 a year, he receives the appointment.

Ald. Turner contended that this would mean $1,000 a year for a chief and $800 for an assistant chief in Mr. Clark whom as an electrical expert, when he could get the same knowledge and experience combined in the person of Mr. Finch, the committee's nominee, at a salary of $1,000. He would oppose the appointment of two men when one could be engaged to do the work, and at a saving of $800 a year.

Ald. Johnston here remarked to the surprise of all, that he would favor the appointment of Mr. Joseph Metherel.

No satisfactory conclusion could be reached so an adjournment was made until to-night at eight o'clock.

FIREMENS' TOURNAMENT IS PROPOSED FOR THIS CITY

A gentleman who is now a resident of this city now but who originally comes from Brantford suggests a firemen's tournament for the city on the occasion of the establishment of a paid brigade in Peterborough. He says the tournaments held in Brantford have always been attended with great success and sees no reason why a good one could not be held here. He thinks the time suggested above would be particularly appropriate.

He states that a large number of Canadian and some American brigades would undoubtedly be glad to come here. Each brigade would be required to bring its band with them and a big athletic programme could be run off in connection with the visit of the out of town fireman. A fireman's tournament is quite a big affair and the city would be well advertised should one be held here, on account of the many visitors who would be present from different cities.

NOTES OF INTEREST FROM THE CHILDREN'S SHELTER

The fame of the Peterborough Children's Aid Society is becoming widespread. Nowhere in the province are neglected children so well looked after as at the local shelter—a fact that has been emphasized by the many youngsters who have been improved morally and physically and placed in good homes. They have been given a good start on the road to useful and successful lives. If they had not been looked after by the Children's Aid Society it is hard to say what they would have become.

It is interesting to note that at the present time there is a little boy from Toronto in the shelter. It seems strange that a child should be sent all the way from Toronto to the shelter at Peterborough, but such is the case. The little fellow is attending school here.

An interesting case of another little boy is reported from the shelter. He is eight years old and was brought to the home a few days ago. It was said that he was not altogether right in his mind, but it has turned out that such was not the case. It has turned out that the child has never been allowed to play with other children, in fact had been kept practically shut up. The first day he was at the shelter he sat on a chair all day and refused to speak or play with the other children. The caretaker, Mr. Henry, took charge of the little fellow, got him interested in the garden, dealt with him kindly and now he plays with the other children and is as bright and happy as the rest of them.

CHARGE WAS NOT PROVEN

Young Man Did Not Fire the Shot That Struck Ed. James

Jos. Pullman was charged at the police court this morning with discharging a firearm within the city limits. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for the defendant and pleaded not guilty. The information was laid in connection with the accident to Mr. Edward James at Auburn last Saturday. However it was not proven that Mr. Pullman was the man who fired the shot although he admitted firing a gun outside the city.

The case was dismissed.

FIRST EXCURSION OF THE SEASON

Monarch Brought About Eighty Merry Makers From Bewdley to the City

The first excursion of the season from down the river to Peterborough is being held today. It is under the auspices of the Baptist church at Bewdley and the excursion came to the city on the steamer Monarch and landed at the street railway wharf. From there they took the street cars to Inverlea Park, where a picnic was held. The excursionists left for home about four o'clock. They had a most enjoyable time.

The police force participated in the garrison church parade at Brantford on Sunday.

NEW DYNAMO WAS SECURED FROM C.G.E.

Port Hope, May 29.—The work of removing the new dynamo from the railroad siding near Barrett's terrace to the Electric Light plant necessitated the use of a special truck weighing two and a half tons and four teams of horses. The truck was obtained from the General Electric Co. Peterborough. The dynamo weighs 15,000 pounds.

DISTURBANCE IS VISIBLE

SOME REMINISCENCES OF NORTHWEST REBELLION

BY JOS. CROWE, PETERBOROUGH

Just below here the North and South Saskatchewan join and make one of the largest rivers on the continent.

Sometimes we would encounter sand bars on the widest part, but we had pilots on board who taught us something that would have stood to us on those barges.

Those pilots would stand at each side of the boat at the bow and call the depth of the water so that the man at the wheel would hear them. Those men were half breeds, and seemed to talk backwards. For instance, they would call out, "six foot water, three foot water," which was sufficient for the vessel to float on, but when he called out "one feet" the boys would laugh Then again we would hear, "bottom water no." These soundings were taken with a long pole which they shoved into the water.

Prince Albert was barely on the map those days, but today it has its railway and a most progressive place

By the way, I have learned that one of our company, a Peterborough man, had the honor of being its Mayor I refer to William Cook, a son of John Cook, who for years was employed by the Dickson lumber company of this city.

We made several stops on our way down to Selkirk, but they were of short duration, and all of Hudson Bay posts At the one at the head of lake Winnipegagosis we tried our hand at fishing, securing some large hooks here on which we tied red flannel throwing into the lake from shore, in which manner we were successful in landing some very nice fish. Some may say that that is a fish story, but however I will vouch for the truth of it. At this stop on our journey we were transferred to a better boat, as the one we had come so far on was not safe on a large lake. This boat could not carry us all but towed a large barge in its wake down to Selkirk It took us quite a number of days to reach there. We were received by the best citizens of that place also quite a number came over from Winnipeg, by special trains, the distance being sixteen miles.

Long rows of tables were made for the occasion in a nice shady park. Every table had its waiters and it certainly kept them busy for an hour at least. Kegs of lager ornamented the tables every few yards, and as everyone seemed to be working freely they were soon empty.

The result was we had to have many special policemen appointed to round up the town and bring the men back to the boat as all of the soldiers were in a more or less demoralized state, this being the first opportunity that afforded itself in four months to get all we could to eat and drink, and as the saying is, we didn't do a thing with especially the kegs.

Trains were soon got ready and we were on our way to Port Arthur here to take the steamboat down to Owen Sound.

This trip was fully enjoyed by us, the tables being supplied with the very best.

When we came to the American Soo we were told to stay down in the hold of the ship where we were told to remain out of sight until we were locked through, as the authorities could not pass men with rifles who were not citizens, through their country. So we passed through without delay.

We arrived at Owen Sound on Sunday morning in time for breakfast at the different hotels. The Grand Trunk had two trains with two engines on each train, to carry us to Toronto. The first train proceeded but a short distance when one of the engines blew out a cylinder head, which delayed us a couple of hours, but those trains lost no time once they got started.

Every city, town, or hamlet was gathered at the stations along the route, and in many instances, it was amusing to see the people running across the fields with the country band following up in the rear only to see us fly past when they would recognize that they were late and we would not wait. Then they would start and cheer We made no stops except for the locomotive to be supplied with water. It was too bad to disappoint the citizens as they had made preparations for us, expecting us to stop. But we just flew past, arriving in Toronto at three o'clock pm

It was there we recognized what it meant to be soldiers who tried to do their duty. Toronto is without doubt the most patriotic, enthusiastic, sympathetic and generous city that we have in Canada and she proved herself such on our arrival

They expected us much earlier in the day. It was a beautiful day. All the city appeared to be out in their best The mass of people that gathered to give us a reception would be hard to estimate. Many came in from the surrounding towns and cities the day before so as to be on hand to swell the numbers. Every window, verandah, house top shed, car and lumber pile had its capacity. The streets were roped at all crossings along the entire route. We marched from the union station to the Albion hotel on George street, a distance of a mile or so, led by the bands of the city. Toronto has had many large crowds of people but never had one with more enthusiam and where it was shown with such expression the cause was apparent.

We were the first home direct from active service, clothed in the uniforms that were issued to us on the start with the exception of the caps which we discarded. We made ourselves the caps from bags which contained the oats, and they looked so neat that even the officers wore them and they became regulation. Many had purchased themselves boots We also had a belt made which hung across the breast for putting our ammunition in which was capable of carrying thirty rounds. We were a husky lot, all sunburnt, with our faded red coats. We received expressions of sympathy from many on account of losing our Colonel whom the whole of Toronto respected.

It was difficult for us to ward off even the ladies who persisted in gathering amongst and around us pulling the buttons off our tunics, or anything in the shape of what would do as a souvenir. They would exchange their jewellery for any simple relic.

We were marched to the Albion hotel for dinner, then entrained for Port Hope, arriving that night. We immediately fell in and marched to the park which is on a hill. Many of us did not put up a tent that night, but lay down on the grass, without any covering, and were soon fast asleep. It rained some during the night but strange to say we did not know of it until morning. Our clothes were quite wet but they soon dried on us. We were reinforced by the arrival of several regiments or battalions from the surrounding counties for the funeral of our leader. It was quite a contrast between the bright new uniforms of the incoming regiments and our own and just as much in the appearance of the regiments. They looked quite pale and delicate, while we looked the opposite.

The funeral march was very tiresome, tedious and long, we being under arms five hours or more, and was the largest that did honors and conveyed a citizen of that place, many shedding tears along the route. Each man of the Midland carried mourning test on his arm, while the different bands played the funeral dirge. It was very impressive.

Many of the raw recruits succumbed to the trying ordeal and fell out. The heat of the day being very oppressive, but not a man of the Midland showed any signs of fatigue. So much for roughing it and the experience gained during the past four months.

It was in Port Hope we performed our last duty as a regiment. Here we disbanded and took our different routes home.

It was a great pity that the regiment was not photographed, as each man would have been proud to take a look at one of the finest regiments that ever was formed in Canada.

We were soon on our way to Peterboro and arrived in due time. The old familiar town went fairly wild, being up to the mark in doing herself justice with regard to giving us a reception. We will always feel grateful to our city and her citizens for their kindness and welcome accorded to us.

The mayor gave us the freedom of the town; the citizens or council (I don't know which) gave each a ten dollar gold piece as a souvenir which most of us found hard to keep.

The pace was too hard to keep up so we soon quieted down.

Only four remained in the West Privates Alfred Rogers Tytler, Tanner and Cook. the Government giving each man who served west of Winnipeg a grant of land of 160 acres on condition that he remain or pay for the settlement duties to be done. This along with the free grant given to any intending settlers would make the amount 320 acres, and only four of our number accepted.

The rest of us applied for scrip Its face value to the Government was eighty dollars But we not owing the Government sold for what we could realize About the highest price paid for such was $66 but many sold as low as $25.

We travelled further and saw more country and active service along with hardship than any other regiment (and all in just four months) who left for the West on this occasion.

With all due honor to those who traversed this trip and have taken their departure from this busy scene of life, I hereby record their names, as far as I know, from the County of Peterborough up to the present.

SPORTING NEWS

ATHLETICS HAVE BRACED UP FOR TO-MORROW'S BIG GAME

There will be a loud noise at Riverside Park tomorrow when the Peterboroughs and Athletics meet for the first time in a Midland League game. The Petes will have on their regular line-up and are confident of victory while the Athletics have strengthened their team fully one hundred per cent and should make the Johnstonites go to the limit. Manager Geo. Lynch will line up his team as follows:

Rattray c.
Quinlan p.
C. Graham, 1b.
Heaslip 2b.
Shea, ss.
Landry, 3b.
Pilling, lf.
Connors, cf.
Callihan, rf.

The new faces on the team are: Rattery, Heaslip, Graham and Pilling. Rattery has a good record both as a back stop and a hitter, and should prove a valuable acquisition for the Midland Leaguers. He has played ball in Peterborough before, and the older fans will no doubt remember him. Chris. Graham, who replaces Flaherty at first is too well known to the baseball public to need any comment for his work on the diamond has been the subject of much favorable comment.

Heaslip who will cover the second sack is a new one on us, but his playing abilities are said to be of the best and he should greatly strengthen the infield.

Pilling will work out in the sun garden and he should be a tower of strength to the outfield.

The Petes will line-up as follows:

Edmunds, c.
Clements, p
Thorne, 1b.
McDermott 2b.
Maddock, ss.
Cheatham, 3b.
Murphy, lf.
O'Brien, cf.
Burns, rf.

The diamond is in fine shape and there should be something doing all the time. Quinlan has been working out all week and promises a fine line of benders tomorrow. Clements is in great shape and it will be a great struggle all the way.

T.A.S. NINE DEFEATED THE "Y" TEAM BY NARROW MARGIN

The T.A.S. nine succeeded in obtaining a victory over the Y.M.C.A. boys at Nicholls Oval last night. In the last two innings each team scored six runs, and as the Total Abstainers had a lead of one run from the previous night, when the score was 9—8, they were one to the good at the end of the seventh innings, the final tally being 15—14.

The Y.M.C.A. team had been four times at bat on Wednesday night, while Leo Derocher's team were having the fourth innings when the game was called. They started off last night with Cahill on third base, Doris at bat and nobody gone. Cahill scored on a passed ball, but there was no more tallying before the side retired. The Y.M.C.A. team had a batting streak in the fifth, and four runs crossed the plate before three men were gone. The T.A.S. got one run in the fifth. Neither team scored in the sixth. The Y.M.C.A. annexed two runs in their share of the seventh, but their opponents came back with four runs and the game ended with the score 15—14, amid considerable excitement.

There were several changes in the team from the previous night. Robertson replaced Daley on the Y.M.C.A. team. Westbrook, the catcher, was struck on the knee by a pitched ball in the fifth and was unable to do the receiving. He was replaced by Graham Squires going to first and Westbrook to second. Porter played short-stop. Doris replaced M. O'Brien on the T.A.S. nine; L. Giroux was on instead of Corkery and Cyril Giroux took the place of Lacombe.

Ted Maddock made a satisfactory umpire. The fielding was somewhat loose owing to the darkness but the see-sawing in the scoring made the game interesting. A three-base hit by Derocher was one of the features of the last two innings.

A GREAT SEASON OF SUMMER SPORT FOR PETERBOROUGH

Unusual Activity in all Lines of Out Door Athletics—The Busiest Summer of Sport in Years is Looked Forward to.

The summer sports are now in full swing. The fine warm weather and favorable conditions generally are welcomed by those fond of athletics and more recreative sports.

In all circles of out door sports much activity is manifest and one of the best seasons of summer sport ever held in Peterborough is anticipated.

The curriculum seems complete now that the good old game of cricket has been renewed and there should be a creditable eleven to represent the city.

The games in which the greatest public interest is taken are probably baseball and lacrosse. The Peterborough ball team is apparently the best aggregation that has worn local colors and the fans are pleased with the sharp and speedy article they are putting up this season.

In the city league there are many interesting games being played and an abundance of enthusiasm is shown by the players and their supporters.

Two Peterborough lacrosse teams are busy, the Y.M.C.A. and T.A.S. twelves and both are entered in the Trent Valley League.

Lawn bowling has commenced and the membership of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club will probably be larger this year than ever and a larger number of outside games are being arranged than have heretofore been played.

Golf retains its favored place among its several devotees.

Tennis is also being played.

In the strenuous sport of wrestling there has been quite an interest created by the recent bouts although it is altogether too hard a game for the warm months.

The walking fever has caught on with a contagion against which for which there is no cure and to which those effected have willingly succumbed.

Running is also being gone into to a large extent.

Wheeling is somewhat more in vogue than for the past few seasons although the bicycle is being used more as a quick transport than for exercise or athletic reasons.

Acquatic sports were never gone in for much here owing to the limited possibilities for holding a regatta on Little Lake and the close proximity of the Kawartha Lakes, where they are held on a most pretensious scale. However, there will be much pleasure paddling, sailing and rowing on the Otonabee and Little Lake and many of the racers will have their crafts out nightly in preparation for the events at the back lakes.

Motor boating which has become so popular in the past few seasons will be more so locally than ever.

MANY CHALLENGES FOR EDMUNDS

Has Received Five of Them all in a Bunch—Is Ready for Them

Since Art Edmunds, the pocket Hercules, has decided to give Charlie La Rush, the city lightweight champion, a crack at him Saturday night, at the Star theatre, the strong man has been overwhelmed with challenges. Harry Gatenby, the welter; Hockey Jones, the ex-lightweight city champion; Billy Munro, of St. Kitts, the Scotchman who wrestles at 133 pounds and Bob McIntyre, of Toronto who was beaten Saturday night all want to meet him here, best two in three falls.

"I'll meet any man in the outfit, no matter what his weight is, for a side bet, and sufficient proportion to make it worth while for me to postpone my return to New York," said Edmunds to-day.

ART BURN WAS ONLY ENTRY

Alberta Marathon Trials Have Been Abandoned — Western Runner Coming East Sooner

Calgary, May 27.—Owing to the small number of entries, the Albertan Olympic trials have been abandoned. Arthur Burn, winner of the Northwest road race, will be the only "Albertan" representative. Burn will leave for Toronto early next week, and will complete his training over the final trial Marathon course.

THE RING

Sydney N.S.W., May 28.—The syndicate which is arranging for the visit to Australia of "Tommy" Burns, the heavyweight pugilist, has deposited $10,000 to bind the match between "Tommy" Burns and Lang the Australian boxer.

The fight is to take place at Sydney in August. The syndicate also has the option of arranging two additional fights for $7,500 each.

WILL HAVE TO WAIT

London, May 28.—On being asked to-day whether his Australian visit would interfere with the negotiations for a fight with "Jack" Johnson, the colored heavyweight, "Tommy" Burns replied that Johnson would have to wait until his Australian engagements were concluded.

"Y" CHIEFTAINS TO PLAY ST. LUKE'S

The Y.M.C.A. chieftains will play St. Luke's baseball team tonight at Central Park in the Junior Church League. The players are asked to be on hand at 6.45 o'clock sharp. Both have strong line-ups and an interesting game is assured.

TENNIS

TEA TO-NIGHT

The members of the Nicholls Oval Tennis Club are reminded of the tea to be held at Nicholls Oval tonight at six o'clock. All are requested to be present as nearly on time as possible. An enjoyable time is assured.

RUNNING

Four fast runners in Monday's Olympic trials: Lawson, Cotter, Caffery, Simpson, Toronto Star.

Chandler, the British Columbia entry in the 25-mile final, has always been beaten by Burn, the Albertan road runner, up to 15 miles, but Burn would not run the Pacific coast man any further.

BASEBALL

GAME AT PORT HOPE

The great game of the season will be pulled off on Saturday when Cobourg and Port Hope meets here in the first battle for 1908. Cobourg is gathering a strong nine together and the spectators may look for a lively time. The locals will line up the same as in last Monday's game against Peterborough.—Port Hope Guide.

GOOD TIME AT DRIVING PARK

City Queen, Harry Direct and Orillia Belle Have Fast Work-out—Mile in 2,18 1-2.

The fine weather and splendid condition of the track at the Driving Park form great attractions for the horsemen and the steppers are having some great workouts these days.

City Queen, Orillia Belle and Harry Direct tore off the miles in fine style yesterday. The horses went three miles in the fast times of 2.30 for the first mile, 2.25 for the second and 2.18 1-2 for the third.

CITY LEAGUE GAMES ON SATURDAY

Two Contests Scheduled for Nicholls Oval To morrow

Two City League games will be played to-morrow at Nicholls Oval. Wellingtons will meet the Hornets at two o'clock and the Lakeviews will clash with the West Ends at four o'clock. Both games should be fast ones. The players are requested to be on hand in good time.

THE RESULTS AT THE WOODBINE

Another Good Day Adam Beck Wins the Liverpool Cup

Toronto, May 29.—The Woodbine race course was again favored with fine weather. Interest centered in the Liverpool cup, which was won by Hon. Adam Beck. The following were the winners in the day's races:

Queen City purse, 3-year-olds and up, 6 furlongs. De C. Forbes' Santal.

Doncaster purse, 2-year-olds, 5 furlongs. J. D. Hoy's Ragman.

STOCK MARKET QUOTATIONS

Furnished by J. N. Barber.

New York, May 29—The leaders of point of strength were Northern Pacific and Mo. Pacific. The former continued strong and scored a sharp advance as the morning wore on. The strength in this stock had a favorable effect on the balance of the list but towards the end of the first hour offerings became rather liberal and the market at the close presented a very irregular appearance.

The steel stocks were influenced favorably by development of a good demand for pig iron and these stocks have been strong all day. On the announcement of the regular dividend on Northern Pacific the whole market eased off, but good buying turned it strong and it appears as if the bulls were in good control of the situation.

In the late trading the market was somewhat irregular but there was good buying on all the dips and we think that purchases on the dips will show good profits the first of next week. There is a quiet but strong demand for Amalgamated Copper and some people predict a sharp rise in this issue.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless: Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food: Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ills., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr Wm. J. McCrann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

THE C.N.R. GUARANTEE HISTORY OF THE CASE

A History of the Negotiations—Why the Bill Came Down Late—A Complete Justification of the Government's Action—Province Stood to Lose All Advantage.

The Act authorizing the guarantee was passed on the 26th April, 1904.

The Ross Government in pursuance of this on the 30th June, 1904, entered into an agreement with the Canadian Northern Ontario Railway Co. This bound the Crown, and on the strength of it the company raised their money.

What the present government did was to have the terms of that agreement put into formal shape by the mortgage of July, 1906. This mortgage was taken in July 1906, in pursuance of the Act and of an agreement entered into between the Government through Mr. Ross and the Canadian Northern on the 16th of June, 1904. It covers all the lands and railway between Toronto and Sudbury now under the name of the Canadian Northern Railway recited in the Act and agreement.

At that time it was not contemplated having any terminals at Toronto as they proposed to lease the terminals, trackage, etc., from the Grand Trunk into the Union station. Subsequently it was found that the Grand Trunk had no room for them, and not being able to obtain the money in any other way a separate corporation was formed which advanced a large amount of money for the purchase of terminals and a still further large amount will be required to put shops and other buildings on it. These were not contemplated at the time Mr. Ross signed the agreement and are not now held in the name of the Canadian Northern, and that Company has not put a dollar into them, but the money to purchase these terminals over $700,000, was raised by a separate corporation the Canadian Northern having no money for the purpose, and over $2,000,000 will be expended on terminals alone, which will be included in the new mortgage, and we hold today all the security mentioned under the mortgage, of July 1906, all the security that the Act of 1904 and Mr. Ross' agreement contemplated.

The building of the Canadian Pacific to Sudbury took away almost the entire traffic which the road hoped for until their line was completed from Sudbury to Port Arthur, with the result seen for some time, that it was quite possible that the Government would have on its hands a railway guarantee for $5,360,000 which would be unable to pay its running expenses, much less interest on the bonds. The CNO seeing this found it absolutely necessary to construct extensions with a view to getting an ore traffic from the Sutton and Garson mines with the lakeport terminals at Key Inlet, and they have made a contract with the mine owners to carry 500,000 tons of ore to Key Inlet yearly the profit on which will more than pay the interest on both the old and new guarantee.

The Company came to the Government stating that they must have $2,500,000—they asked for much more at first—to construct these branches and terminals at Toronto and Key Inlet the cost of the latter being estimated at $800,000 and said to the Government if you guarantee this money we can obtain it at 3 1-2 per cent otherwise we will have to borrow at 5 or 6 per cent. from other parties and give a separate mortgage on them. The result of this would be continual disputes between the Government as mortgagees of the main line and the other mortgagees as to division of earnings, the bulk of which would go to the branch lines, and terminals, which will cost at least $3,500,000, could easily be sold for more than the new guarantee as the Canadian Pacific could connect them with their own lines without building a mile of track and could also make good use of the terminals, and it would be a splendid investment for them while the Government would be left with a road from Toronto to Sudbury not earning its running expenses, and would have to pay annually the interest on $5,360,000 even if there were no further loss.

The Government of the Province is a continuing government no matter which party is in power, and no government foreseeing this possibly disastrous result should take the position, that it was not their fault but that of their predecessors, and are bound to do their best that can be done in the interest of the Province. This and this only, was the inducement for the Government to give this additional guarantee. Mr. MacKay saw it and made no opposition to the renewed guarantee, his only question being whether the total amount was $2,500,000 and he was told "yes." Now because he thinks there is something that he can make capital out of it, but in an unworthy manner, ignores what he knows to be facts. What would the Opposition have done if they had been in the position of the Government. This they never say. They would have acted exactly as the Government has done.

As to the error of the papers in stating the amount at first, a copy of the bill was sent to the Press Gallery at the time it was introduced and it was entirely an accident their assuming that the whole matter was for $1,500,000 it having been distinctly stated by the Treasurer that $1,000,000 of the guarantee was on the branches and $1,500,000 on the terminals.

The whole cause of delay in bringing down the bill was occasioned by the negotiations, the company wanting a much larger guarantee and objecting to the main line as well as the branches being included in the mortgage, which the Government insisted on. The branch to Orillia was for the purpose of obtaining traffic for local trains at the south end of the line. The security now obtained on the whole line, branches and terminals both at Toronto and at Key Inlet is in an infinitely better shape, and the result, it is believed, will be that the Province will not have to pay one dollar, whereas in the original position they would have a liability of $5,360,000 and security worth possibly not half that amount.

The part reserved in the mortgage was in connection with six lots at Barnsdale in Muskoka where only the right of way and station grounds were included in the mortgage. The balance of the property is used for hotel grounds, and the CPR right of way, which also crosses these lots. The object of putting the whole of the lands in the name of the Canadian Northern was an attempt to prevent the CPR from crossing them, but all the necessary right of way and station grounds are included in the mortgage.

MI-O-NA MEANS STOMACH COMFORT

Its of Special Value to Many Here in Peterborough

A notable discovery and one that appeals especially to many people in Peterborough, is the combination of stomach help in the Mi-o-na treatment. This preparation works wonders in case of indigestion or weak stomach.

It acts directly upon the walls of the stomach and bowels strengthening and stimulating them so that they readily take care of the food that is eaten without distress or suffering.

So positive are the good effects following the use of Mi-o-na that the remedy is sold by W. Madill druggist, corner George and Hunter streets, Peterborough, under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it fails to cure. A 50 cent box of Mi-o-na will do the good the stomach needs, which is simply to make it do its own good work.

London is offering $160,250 in debentures, bearing interest at 4 and 41-2 per cent.

ANOTHER GOLD DISCOVERY.

Wonderful Richness of the Mackenzie River Region.

An old Seattle prospector named T. O. Oliver, who recently returned from four years of prospecting on the Mackenzie, Peace and Le Lard rivers, during which time he crossed the Barren Lands to the first cache of the Franklin expedition brings news of gold discoveries which he says surpass the early finds in the Klondike. He will head a party that will leave Seattle to return to these discoveries.

When seen by reporters Mr. Oliver said: "The greatest gold diggings in the world are in the Mackenzie river country. The strike at Herschel island is one of the biggest discoveries of recent years, but the richest fields will be found in the Barren Lands near Great Slave Lake. I have prospected for gold since I was fifteen years old and I have been in all of the best known mining camps during that time, including two years spent in the Klondike, but the Mackenzie river country surpasses all of the places that have ever been discovered.

"The wonders of this wild region will astound the world when it becomes known. This year there will be a big rush into this country, but it will be larger next year and the year following.

"The country is extremely difficult to prospect, and this is all that has prevented the great gold discoveries before. I went into this country in 1907, by way of Peace river, striking that stream at Peace river crossing. We went down the Peace river in boats about 700 miles to Vermilion falls, and from there on to Fort Smith, an old Hudson Bay trading post. The only difficult part of the river to navigate was sixteen miles before reaching Fort Smith, which we were forced to portage on account of the rapids. From this point it is 200 miles to Great Slave lake. On Great Slave lake, thirty miles from Peace river, is Salt river. We prospected up this stream thirty miles and found salt beds where we were able to dig out sufficient salt to cure a winter's supply of fish.

"We went up the Great Slave lake in a 24-foot birch bark canoe, a three weeks' journey to a stream the Indians call Copper river, and then struck across the Barren Lands, which the Indians call Little Sticks, because there is no timber. We went across this country until we reached what we believed to be the first cache of the Fanklin expedition, about 1,000 miles from the nearest Hudson Bay trading post. This trip we made with dog teams. In crossing to the old cache we were forced to carry what fuel we needed for cooking purposes, only using enough to boil a pot of tea and to cook a little meat. Sometimes we would find a little wood and replenish the stock, but there is very little that can be used for fuel after leaving the Copper river until the Franklin cache is reached."

The Future of Canada.

In his address at the annual dinner of the Canada Club at New York, Chief Justice Longley of Nova Scotia expressed the view that Canada was not destined to remain a portion of the British Empire. He also flung defiance at the United States. His closing sentences, which did not get in the press reports, were as follows:

"Aggression from our big neighbor, I dismiss as unworthy of consideration, but if, by any such mischance, power became vested in the United States in any body of men so as to attempt to infringe Canada's rights and liberties, I can only say that there is some good stuff on the other side of the line, and when Canada has 15,000,000 people she will not be averse to challenging the issue with all the spirit of a proud and independent race."

Right Hon. James Bryce, British ambassador at Washington, who followed, without alluding to Judge Longley by name, administered a rebuke to the opinion expressed by Judge Longley.

No Love For the Colonies.

Mr. Thomas Price, the South Australian Premier, visited his native city of Liverpool recently, and, speaking at the Produce Market, remarked:

"There isn't much love for your colonies about you after all. If you can get butter a shilling a keg cheaper from the prisons of Siberia, you will do so and leave Australia to take care of itself."

He dwelt on the prospects of his country, which was seven and a half times as large as the British Isles, yet populated by only 400,000 people, considerably less than the population of Liverpool.

Some people, he remarked with a smile, would regard it as a little "infra dig. for a Premier to come here with a pound of butter in one pocket, a bushel of wheat nearby, and a bottle of wine sticking out of the back, but he didn't mind, for he was advertising South Australia.

Want Canada's Weather Reports.

W. A. McKinnon, Canadian trade commissioner at Bristol, has forwarded to the Department of Trade and Commerce at Ottawa a suggestion from the Provision Trade Association of England that the Canadian Government be induced to supply business men of Great Britain with regular weather reports during the spring, summer and autumn seasons.

It is pointed out that periodic reports from various Canadian provinces would aid British business men to form their own opinions as to the effect of the weather on the crops, fruit and dairy and hog produce of the Dominion.

Life Convicts In the Penitentiary.

There are thirty-one convicts in the Kingston penitentiary who are serving life sentences. Twenty-three years is the longest time any of them has served so far. One of the lifers is a man who is over ninety years of age. There are twelve women under the care of the matron, several of whom are under life sentences.

Nova Scotia is grieved to learn that Bermuda holds the record of the earliest British colonial Legislature, established in 1620.

Armand Lavergne will leave Dominion politics and run for the Legislature in Montmagny.

LARGE HATS RETAIN FAVOR

"Merry Widow" Styles are Not Affected by Jokes of Comic Papers

Florence Fairbanks, a New York fashionable authority, says; This is a season of large hats, for really the majority of them tend toward the enormous shapes. There are always exaggerations in these large hats that are only cheap imitations of some Paris hats and so the fastidious woman, if she chooses one of the large shapes will have it made by an expert milliner. The sailors of the enormous type are not becoming to every woman, but these are the very hats that are going to be "common." It is fairly safe to say that the well-dressed woman will avoid them and will choose the large hat with the drooping and upturned brim and high crown crown or the small close hat. The dominant characteristic of this season's millinery is the height of the crown and also of the trimming. The crowns are not exactly peaked, but they certainly are very high and most of them are very high and not very large around. Hats trimmed all over the crown are not so popular as those with it placed solidly around the crown with high standing flowers, bows, or plumes at the left side. Some plumes have been seen on the right side. There are some very attractive sailors of medium size that are trimmed in front with a mass of flowers and velvet or ribbon. Turbans are extremely fashionable, and there are several different styles this season. The somewhat heavy turban is usually draped with straw or other material and another shows a rich crown, sharply defined, with a close curling brim. The heavier turban is trimmed with sweeping plumes or certain kinds of flowers. This is a very smart hat to wear with a tailored suit, but it needs a rather large face and pretty puffed hair to make it look smart and striking.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surface. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS, 1908

To the Electors of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—As you are aware I have received the unanimous nomination in the Liberal interests to contest the Riding of West Peterborough for its representation in the Legislature of Ontario. I beg to respectfully solicit the votes and support of all those who desire good economical and efficient administration of our affairs. I am not bound down by any straight and fast lines, but will, if chosen as your representative, take the course which, in my best judgment will best promote the interests of West Peterborough, irrespective of party, considerations, and of the Province generally.

The test of good representation, either by a Government or member, is good work and, in this respect, both the late member for West Peterborough and the Government he supports have fallen short of a faithful discharge of their tust and regard for the pledges upon which was founded the policy upon which they appealed to the people. Both the Conservative leader and Mr. Bradburn appealed for a cessation of the extravagant expenditure, which they condemned in the late Government. The result has been an increase of expenditure in three or four short years of sixty per cent., not a productive expenditure for the benefit of the people, but in the mere work of administration.

In this address I cannot enter into details of the manner in which the present Government has failed to live up to the policy upon which it appealed for office, but there has been a general disregard of the principles which they claimed to be guided by. They have failed in their trust and they evidently feel that they have done so, for fearing to trust to their record, they have resorted to a "gerrymander" of the constituencies, inconsistent with fair redistribution and especial unfairness has been done in the city of Toronto by doubling its representation and giving each elector two votes, thus giving the city voter double the power in the government of the province accorded to electors in the country constituencies.

The interests of the farmers have been ignored to the extent that the expenditure for agriculture has been increased only some eight per cent, while the general increase to less worthy interests has been sixty per cent.

Disregard of the rights of labour was shown by the Government reviving the contract system of prison labour abolished by a Liberal Government, and farming out to contractors Central Prison labour at 3 cents per hour to compete against free labour.

The introduction of the "spoils system" the failure to remove license administration from the sphere of political influence, the three-fifths handicap to local option, the invasion of the rights of rural trustees by depriving them of the right of saying how they shall spend their own money, the friendliness to corporation interests, the disregard of private rights and discouragement of private enterprise in the matter of mining claims, neglect of law reforms with a view of making our law courts available for securing justice within the means of a poor man, and the delay and inaction in the matter of dealing with the power problem are but items in a long list of matters in which the present Government have forfeited their claim to the support of the people.

If elected I shall devote my best efforts to the advancement of the interests of the city in every direction and shall not overlook its most important interests, the allied welfare of our workingmen and our manufacturing industries; and will also do all in my power to advance the great farming and dairying interests which are the foundation of our prosperity, giving fair play at the same time to every provincial interest and to political friend and political opponent alike.

Trusting that I may be favored with your support and influence and vote, I remain, Gentlemen,

Very sincerely yours,

A. GILLESPIE

COPPER MINE IN DUMMER MAY BE RE-OPENED SOON

Men are at Work Pumping it Out—Man Reported to Have Drowned in the North River.

Stony Lake, May 28—After some years of idleness there is some prospect of what is known as the Leaman copper mine on lot 30, in the 10th concession of Dummer starting up again. There are some three or four men at work pumping it out, and making ready to commence work. We have not heard definitely who is at the head of the work but we are assured that it will be operated.

The old shaft was sunk 33 feet and the prospects were getting better as they went, but for the want of funds it was shut down—not because the ore was not of a paying quality. It was rich in copper and carried a certain quantity of silver.

It was an American from Rochester who was at the head at that time, but there came a stringency of money in the States at that time and he shut down, but he paid all hands that worked for him.

Wm. Dwyre, who was working on Eel's creek, near Apsley last winter, for the Lillicrap & Tate Co. Lakefield has his drive of logs down to the lake and all boomed up. He has gone up Jack's creek to bring down some logs that he landed there. He takes them all through to Lakefield. Mr. Dwyer is a first-class river-driver.

It has been learned that there was a man drowned on Mr. Chase's drive on the North River. Mr. Chase is driving the logs that he cut last year in Methuen township for the Gilmour's.

The Peterborough Lumber Company are bringing down a drive on Jack's Creek too. We thought all the timber was out of that country long ago.

TWO SUSPICIOUS FELLOWS SLEEPING IN C. P. R. CARS

Two suspicious looking characters have been seen loafing around the CPR station for several days and last evening Mr. Wm. Buyers, baggageman at the depot informed the police that the fellows were making themselves a nuisance around there. It is said that they have been sleeping at night in cars on the Matthews Company siding and during the day go about the city begging. The police are on the lookout for these sufferers and intend to take them into custody at night.

"For goodness sake," for the sake of the satisfaction you get from using it, buy "Salada" tea. It pays to pay for quality.

WILL FIGHT CONSTRUCTION OF SPUR LINE TO MATTHEWS

Resolution Passed Last Night by City Council Requesting Board of Railway Commissioners to Refuse the Application of G.T.R.—Will be Forwarded to Ottawa.

At a meeting of the City Council last evening the following resolution was passed, Ald. Phelan making the motion and Ald. Elliott seconding it:

That the Council of the City of Peterborough, having considered the application of the Grand Trunk Railway Co., for authority to construct a spur line or siding to the establishment of the George Matthews Co. in the city of Peterborough, hereby request the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada to refuse the said application on the following grounds:

1. The said company has at present a siding from the Canadian Pacific Railway to its manufacturing establishment, which can be reached from the transfer siding and over which siding cars from the Grand Trunk Railway can be taken.

2. That the granting of such application would necessitate another crossing over Aylmer street at a point close to where there are already three tracks of the Canadian Pacific Railway crossing said street, that the said crossing is at present an extremely dangerous one and is at present unprotected, and the Board of Railway Commissioners having refused to direct gates to be placed at said crossing, it will continue to be dangerous and a fourth crossing used by another railway will increase such danger very materially.

3. That the crossing asked for by the Grand Trunk Railway will not cross the said Aylmer street at right angles or where parallel with the present tracks across said street and there will be a considerable distance between the proposed crossing to the most northerly track of the Canadian Pacific Railway, almost entirely taken up with tracks to the great detriment of the street.

4. That the proposed crossing will prejudically affect the prosperity of the owners of land in the neighborhood who will have no claim for compensation and will destroy the premises occupied by the Peterborough Feed and Cartage Co. and injure the business of the said company.

5. That in the opinion of this Council, arrangement might be made and should be made between the said railways for the use by the Grand Trunk Railway of the existing spur line to the Geo. Matthews Co's premises and thus avoid further incumbering and making more dangerous a much used street of the city by another track.

That a copy hereof be sent to the Board of Railway Commissioners.

Ald. Buller will represent the City Council at Ottawa when the resolution will be presented.

PETERBOROUGH TRAVELLER VICTIM OF AN ACCIDENT

Mr. J. E. Firth, of this city, traveller for the W. B. Hamilton Shoe Co., was the victim of a painful accident yesterday afternoon. He was driving from Bexley to Corson's Siding in East Victoria County with a team and was accompanied by a driver. Going down a steep hill one of the small whiffle trees came off and allowed the pole to drop from the neck-yoke. The vehicle rushed up on the horses and frightened them. They turned off the road and ran into the fence with great force. Mr. Firth and the driver were thrown from the carriage and landed forcibly on the hard road. Both were badly shaken up and received a number of severe bruises. The horses knocked down the fence, but were not badly injured.

Mr. Firth arrived home last night and considers he was lucky to escape so lightly. He will be unable to attend to his duties for several days.

DIED WHILE UNDER INFLUENCE OF ANAESTHETIC TO-DAY

While under the influence of an anaesthetic Harry Lenton who was about to undergo an operation at St. Joseph's Hospital this morning, passed away. His death was attributed to paralysis of the heart. Coroner Dr. Gray was called but decided that death was due to natural causes and an inquest was not necessary.

The late Mr. Fenton was born at Abbotsville, England forty-three years ago. He came to this country several years ago but until two months ago resided in Vancouver, B.C.

The deceased was unmarried. He was a brother of Mr. George Lenton of this city. Two sisters survive him in the Old Country.

The funeral will take place tomorrow and will be private.

THIS SUMMER'S TIME TABLE FOR THE BUS TO CHEMONG

The time table for the Chemong 'bus that will run from the city will be of interest to those who will be at the park this summer. The first trip will be made when the boats at the lake commence running on June 15th. The bus will make four trips a day. It will leave Peterborough in the morning at 7 o'clock arriving at Chemong at 7.45, the object of this trip being to bring back to the city those who went out the night before simply to stay over night. It will return to the city at 8.30 and will remain here only a short time going back to Chemong to make connections for the boat from Bobcaygeon. It will return to Peterborough after the arrival of the boat and leave again for the park at 3.45 to connect with the boat from Buckhorn. It will leave Peterborough again at 6 o'clock and return about 7.

There will probably be a trip made at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoons although this has not been definitely decided upon by the management.

LIGHTNING DID DAMAGE TO NORTH OF PETERBORO

It is reported that considerable damage was done in the district north of Peterborough by the electric storm last night. Bright flashes of lightning lit up the northern sky but no rain fell at Peterborough. There was a bright reflection on the sky to the north as if some large building was on fire, but no information could be secured to-day as to where the conflagration was. Many persons in the city saw the brightness on the sky about eight o'clock. Apparently the fire was somewhere in Smith township.

WORK COMMENCED ON GRANDSTAND

The work on the construction of the grandstand at Riverside Park started today when the digging of the post holes commenced.

It is expected that the stand will be erected in time for the game between the Athletics and Port Hope a week from tomorrow.

OBITUARY

BENJAMIN MOORE

The death occurred yesterday of Benjamin Moore at his late residence Murray street. He had been ill hardly a week with pneumonia. He was 82 years of age and was born in Carleton. He was an Anglican in religion.

The funeral will take place tomorrow at 2.30 o'clock from the residence of his son, 63 Aylmer street to the Little Lake cemetery.

BIBLE CLASS EXCURSION

A meeting of Ald. J. J. Turner's Bible class of St. Luke's church was held last night at 8 o'clock at his residence, Water street. It was decided to hold the annual excursion on July 1st to Stony Lake per steamer "Empress." The opera house orchestra has been secured and will render music during the day. A good time is assured for all who attend.

PERSONAL

Miss Mary Sewers, Superintendent of the Orthopedic Hospital, Toronto, is on a visit to her parents, Brock street.

Mrs. Smith, President and Mrs. Pierce, Secretary of Rebekah Assembly, Toronto, are the guests of Mrs. W. Gibbs, 846 Mark street, Ashburnham.

The Hamilton Radial line to Brantford was opened Saturday and four radials now enter Hamilton.

CORNER OF KING AND BETHUNE TO BE LIGHTED

Fire Water and Light Com. Recommend That One Arc be Placed There

At a meeting of the City Council the Fire, Water and Light Committee recommended the placing of a street lamp at the north-east corner of King and Bethune streets, instructing the Peterborough Light and Power Co. do so. This is a dark corner and a light will be much appreciated by citizens who travel in this direction.

PRESENTATION TO MR. A. E. POE

St. John's Sunday School Honors Superintendent Who Has Just Resigned

The St. John's Sunday school teachers assembled in the Guild room last night to bid farewell to Mr. A. E. Poe, who leaves the city today to take up his business in the United States.

Mr. Poe has been superintendent of the Sunday school for over a year, and during that time has performed the duties of that important office so faithfully and wisely that his leaving is felt to be a severe loss to teachers and scholars alike.

Mr. R. J. Devey voiced the regret of the school at the loss of their chief officer, and wished Mr. and Mrs. Poe and family all prosperity in their new home. The presentation was gracefully made by Mrs. Boucher to Mr. Poe, of a splendid picture of St. John's church, beautifully mounted and framed by Mr. Roy.

Mr. Poe, in thanking the teachers for their kind gift and good wishes, said that he carried away with him many happy thoughts of friends and work in connection with St. John's church, and assured them that the beautiful picture would occupy a very prominent position in his new home. In a brief sketch of his work in the school Mr. Poe heartily thanked the Sunday school staff for their valuable services and said that the hard work was really done by them and not by him.

Mr. Joseph Mills, Rector's Warden, on behalf of the congregation, expressed the very general regret at Mr. Poe's departure, and the singing of "Blest be the Tie that Binds," closed another episode in the church work in St. John's.

TEMPTATIONS OF THE FISHERMAN

Hard to Put 'Lunge Back in the Water—A Case in Point

Many temptations come in the way of the fishermen. A concrete example of this was reported yesterday afternoon. A man was fishing for suckers at the Peterborough locks yesterday morning and pulled out a six pound 'lunge. Of course he knew it would be against the law to keep it, but it was a hard deal to place it back in the river again. Some men were looking at him however so he did the right thing and replaced the lunge in the water.

Several instances of the above nature have been reported.

MR. SODEN GETS THE CONTRACT

For Furnishing Supplies to Local Schools for Coming School Year

Mr. R. J. Soden has been awarded the contract for furnishing the supplies for the schools of Peterborough for the coming school year. The contract was awarded at a recent meeting of the committee of the Board of Education that looks after the supplies. This is the third year that Mr. Soden's tender has been accepted.

BIG RALLY HAS BEEN ARRANGED

Conservatives Will Have Rousing Time To-morrow Night

Everybody is invited to the big Conservative rally in Mr. Bradburn's committee rooms on George street tomorrow night. It will commence about eight o'clock and something good in the line of speeches, etc., has been provided for. Great enthusiasm prevails among the Conservatives of the city. They are solid for Mr. Mr. Bradburn and intend giving him a big majority on June 8th. Everybody is asked to be out tomorrow night.

The speakers will include Messrs. Jas Kendry, ex-MPP, J H Burnham, DH Moore, EA Peck, Ald Phelan W H Hill, Col Miller, H LeBrun and Harry Winch.

HAVE NOT MADE ARRANGEMENTS

Concerning the Playing of the S. A. Band in Victoria Park This Summer

No arrangements concerning the engagement of the Salvation Army band for concerts in Victoria Park this summer have been arrived at yet.

Bandmaster Greene informed the Review to-day that the matter had not yet been decided upon by the officials and the Property Committee of the Council.

WILL BE NO BAND AT JACKSON PARK

It was the intention of the Peterborough Radial Railway Company to have the band of the 57th Regiment at Jackson Park tonight but owing to the wet weather the engagement has been cancelled.

The band meets tonight for practice at eight o'clock sharp when the programme for the opening concert at Victoria Park on Friday night will be rehearsed. The programme will be published tomorrow.

Mrs Susana Corse Fisher, of Montreal mother of Hon. Sydney Fisher, is dead, aged 86.

EAT ORANGES

IF YOU WANT TO KEEP WELL

Careful tests have proved beyond question that orange juice has clearly defined medicinal virtues. Those who suffer with Indigestion are compelled "to diet"—find that after eating oranges regularly for breakfast there is no distress, no palpitation.

Where there was a tendency towards constipation, the eating of oranges regulated the bowels.

In skin troubles, those who began the morning meal with an orange were noticeably improved.

There is, however, a quicker way to get better results. This is to take one of two "Fruit-a-tives" tablets at bedtime in addition to the juice of an orange before breakfast the next morning. "Fruit-a-tives" are the juices of oranges, apples, figs and prunes, in which the medicinal action is many times intensified by the special way of combining them. Valuable tonics are then added.

Take the juice of an orange before breakfast—take "Fruit-a-tives" at night—and you will quickly be rid of Indigestion, Stomach Troubles, Constipation and Biliousness. "Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box—6 for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price by "Fruit-a-tives," Limited, Ottawa.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

By CHARLES KLEIN.

A Story of American Life Novelized From the Play by ARTHUR HORNBLOW.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

"The matter is in the hands of the United States senate, sir," replied Ryder coldly.

"They are against him!" cried Stott. "Not one senator I've spoken to holds out any hope for him. If he is convicted it will mean his death. Inch by inch his life is leaving him. The only thing that can save him is the good news of the senate's refusal to find him guilty."

Stott was talking so excitedly and loudly that neither he nor Ryder heard the low moan that came from the corner of the room where Shirley was standing listening.

"I can do nothing," repeated Ryder coldly, and he turned his back and began to examine some papers lying on his desk as if to notify the caller that the interview was ended. But Stott was not so easily discouraged. He went on:

"As I understand it, they will vote on strictly party lines, and the party in power is against him. He's a marked man. You have the power to help him." Heedless of Ryder's gesture of impatience, he continued: "When I left his bedside tonight, sir, I promised to return to him with good news. I have told him that the senate ridiculed the charges against him. I must return to him with good news. He is very ill tonight, sir." He halted for a moment and glanced in Shirley's direction, and, slightly raising his voice so she might hear, he added, "If he gets worse, we shall send for his daughter."

"Where is his daughter?" demanded Ryder, suddenly interested.

"She is working in her father's interests," replied Stott, and he added significantly, "I believe with some hope of success."

He gave Shirley a quick, questioning look. She nodded affirmatively. Ryder, who had seen nothing of this byplay, said with a sneer:

"Surely you didn't come here tonight to tell me this?"

"No, sir, I did not." He took from his pocket two letters—the two which Shirley had sent him—and held them out for Ryder's inspection. "These letters from Judge Rossmore to you," he said, "show you to be acquainted with the fact that he bought those shares as an investment and did not receive them as a bribe."

When he caught sight of the letters and he realized what they were, Ryder changed color. Instinctively his eyes sought the drawer on the left hand side of his desk. In a voice that was unnaturally calm he asked:

"Why don't you produce them before the senate?"

"It was too late," explained Stott, handing them to the financier. "I received them only two days ago. But if you come forward and declare"—

Ryder made an effort to control himself.

"I'll do nothing of the kind. I refuse to move in the matter. That is final. And now, sir," he added, raising his voice and pointing to the letters, "I wish to know how comes it that you had in your possession private correspondence addressed to me?"

"That I cannot answer," replied Stott promptly.

"From whom did you receive these letters?" demanded Ryder.

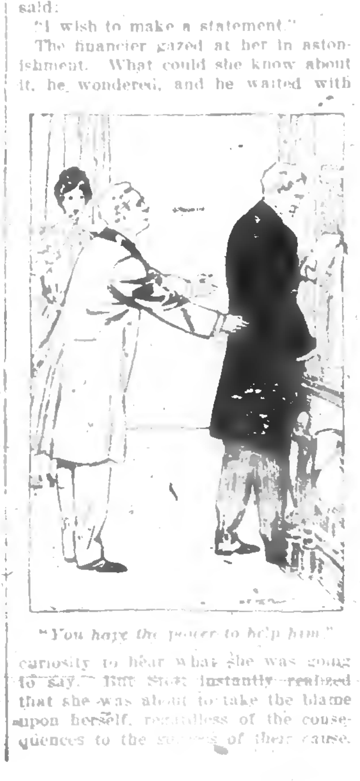
Stott was dumb, while Shirley clutched at her chair as if she would fall. The financier repeated the question.

"I must decline to answer," replied Stott finally.

Shirley left her place and came slowly forward. Addressing Ryder, she said:

"I wish to make a statement."

The financier gazed at her in astonishment. What could she know about it, he wondered, and he waited with



"You have the power to help him."

curiosity to hear what she was going to say. But Stott instantly realized that she was about to take the blame upon herself, regardless of the consequences to the success of their cause. This must be prevented at all hazards, even if another must be sacrificed; so, interrupting her, he said hastily to Ryder:

"Judge Rossmore's life and honor are at stake, and no false sense of delicacy must cause the failure of my object to save him. These letters were sent to me by—your son."

"From my son!" exclaimed Ryder, starting. For a moment he staggered as if he had received a blow. He was too much overcome to speak or act. Then, recovering himself, he rang a bell and turned to Stott with renewed fury.

"So," he cried, "this man, this judge whose honor is at stake and his daughter, who most likely has no honor at stake, between them have made a thief and a liar of my son! False to his father, false to his party! And you, sir, have the presumption to come here and ask me to intercede for him!" To the butler, who entered, he said: "See if Mr. Jefferson is still in the house. If he is, tell him I would like to see him here at once."

The man disappeared and Ryder strode angrily up and down the room with the letters in his hand. Then turning abruptly on Stott, he said:

"And now, sir, I think nothing more remains to be said. I shall keep these letters, as they are my property."

"As you please. Good night, sir."

"Good night," replied Ryder, not looking up.

With a significant glance at Shirley, who motioned to him that she might yet succeed where he had failed, Stott left the room. Ryder turned to Shirley. His fierceness of manner softened down as he addressed the girl:

"You see what they have done to my son"—

"Yes," replied Shirley, "it's the girl's fault. If Jefferson hadn't loved her you would have helped the judge. Ah, why did they ever meet! She has worked on his sympathy and he—he took these letters for her sake, not to injure you. Oh, you must make some allowance for him. One's sympathy gets aroused in spite of oneself. Even I feel sorry for these people."

"Don't," replied Ryder grimly, "sympathy is often weakness. Ah, there you are!" turning to Jefferson, who entered the room at that moment.

"You sent for me, father?"

"Yes," said Ryder senior, holding up the letters. "Have you ever seen these letters before?"

Jefferson took the letters and examined them. Then he passed them back to his father and said frankly:

"Yes, I took them out of your desk and sent them to Mr. Stott in the hope they would help Judge Rossmore's case."

Ryder restrained himself from proceeding to actual violence only with the greatest difficulty. His face grew white as death; his lips were compressed, his hands twitched convulsively, his eyes flashed dangerously. He took another cigar to give the impression that he had himself well under control, but the violent trembling of his hands as he lit it betrayed the terrific strain he was under.

"So!" he said, "you deliberately sacrificed my interests to save this woman's father—you hear him, Miss Green? Jefferson, my boy, I think it's time you and I had a final accounting."

Shirley made a motion as if about to withdraw. He stopped her with a gesture.

"Please don't go, Miss Green. As the writer of my biography you are sufficiently well acquainted with my family affairs to warrant your being present at the epilogue. Besides, I want an excuse for keeping my temper. Sit down, Miss Green."

Turning to Jefferson, he went on:

"For your mother's sake, my boy, I have overlooked your little eccentricities of character. But now we have arrived at the parting of the ways. You have gone too far. The one aspect of this business I cannot overlook is your willingness to sell your own father for the sake of a woman."

"My own father," interrupted Jefferson bitterly, "would not hesitate to sell me if his business and political interests warranted the sacrifice."

Shirley attempted the role of peacemaker. Appealing to the younger man she said:

"Please don't talk like that, Mr. Jefferson." Then she turned to Ryder senior. "I don't think your son quite understands you, Mr. Ryder, and, if you will pardon me, I don't think you quite understand him. Do you realize that there is a man's life at stake—that Judge Rossmore is almost at the point of death and that favorable news from the senate tomorrow is perhaps the only thing that can save him?"

"Ah, I see," sneered Ryder senior. "Judge Stott's story has aroused your sympathy."

"Yes, I—I confess my sympathy is aroused. I do feel for this father whose life is slowly ebbing away—whose strength is being sapped hourly by the thought of the disgrace—the injustice that is being done him! I do feel for the wife of this suffering man!"

"Ah, it's a complete picture!" cried Ryder mockingly. "The dying father, the sorrowing mother and the daughter, what is she supposed to be doing?"

"She is fighting for her father's life," cried Shirley, "and you, Mr. Jefferson, should have pleaded—pleaded, not demanded. It's no use trying to combat your father's will."

"She is quite right, father. I should have implored you. I do so now. I ask you for God's sake to help us!"

Ryder was grim and silent. He rose from his seat and paced the room, puffing savagely at his cigar. Then he turned and said:

"His removal is a political necessity. If he goes back on the bench every paltry justice of the peace, every petty official will think he has a special mission to tear down the structure that hard work and capital have erected. No, this man has been especially conspicuous in his efforts to block the progress of amalgamated interests."

"And so he must be sacrificed?" cried Shirley indignantly.

"He is a meddlesome man," insisted Ryder, "and"—

"He is innocent of the charges brought against him," urged Jefferson.

"Mr. Ryder is not considering that point," said Shirley bitterly. "All he can see is that it is necessary to put this poor old man in the public pillory, to set him up as a warning to others of his class not to act in accordance with the principles of truth and justice—not to dare to obstruct the car of Juggernaut set in motion by the money gods of the country!"

"It's the survival of the fittest, my dear," said Ryder coldly.

"Go," cried Shirley, making a last appeal to the financier's heart of stone, "use your great influence with the governing body for good. Urge them to vote not in accordance with party policy and personal interest, but in accordance with their consciences, in accordance with truth and justice! Ah, for God's sake, Mr. Ryder, don't permit this foul injustice to blot the name of the highest tribunal in the western world!"

Ryder laughed cynically.

"By Jove! Jefferson, I give you credit for having secured an eloquent advocate!"

"Suppose," went on Shirley, ignoring his taunting comments, "suppose this daughter promises that she will never—never see your son again—that she will go away to some foreign country?"

"No!" burst in Jefferson. "Why should she? If my father is not man enough to do a simple act of justice without bartering a woman's happiness and his son's happiness, let him find comfort in his self-justification!"

Shirley, completely unnerved, made a move toward the door, unable longer to bear the strain she was under. She tottered as though she would fall. Ryder made a quick movement toward his son and took him by the arm. Pointing to Shirley, he said in a low tone:

"You see how the girl pleads your cause for you! She loves you, my boy!" Jefferson started. "Yes, she does," pursued Ryder senior. "She's worth a thousand of the Rossmore woman. Make her your wife, and I'll"—

"Make her my wife!" cried Jefferson joyously. He stared at his parent as if he thought he had suddenly been bereft of his senses.

"Make her my wife?" he repeated incredulously.

"Well, what do you say?" demanded Ryder senior.

The young man advanced toward Shirley hands outstretched.

"Yes, yes, Shir—Miss Green, will you?" Seeing that Shirley made no sign, he said: "Not now, father. I will speak to her later."

"No; no; tonight—at once!" insisted Ryder. Addressing Shirley, he went on: "Miss Green, my son is much affected by your disinterested appeal in his behalf. He—he—you can save him from himself. My son wishes you—he asks you to become his wife! Is it not so, Jefferson?"

"Yes, yes, my wife!" advancing again toward Shirley.

The girl shrank back in alarm.

"No, no, no, Mr. Ryder, I cannot; I cannot!" she cried.

"Why not?" demanded Ryder senior appealingly. "Ah, don't—don't decide hastily."

Shirley, her face set and drawn and keen mental distress showing in every line of it, faced the two men, pale and determined. The time had come to reveal the truth. This masquerade could go on no longer. It was not honorable either to her father or to herself. Her self respect demanded that she inform the financier of her true identity.

"I cannot marry your son with these lies upon my lips!" she cried. "I cannot go on with this deception. I told you you did not know who I was, who my people were. My story about them, my name, everything about me is false, every word I have uttered is a lie, a fraud, a cheat! I would not tell you now, but you trusted me and are willing to entrust your son's future, your family honor in my keeping, and I can't keep back the truth from you, Mr. Ryder. I am the daughter of the man you hate. I am the woman your son loves. I am Shirley Rossmore!"

Ryder took his cigar from his lips and rose slowly to his feet.

"You? You?" he stammered.

"Yes, yes, I am the Rossmore woman! Listen, Mr. Ryder. Don't turn away from me. Go to Washington on behalf of my father, and I promise you I will never see your son again—never, never!"

"Ah, Shirley!" cried Jefferson, "you don't love me."

"Yes, Jeff, I do. God knows I do! But if I must break my own heart to save my father I will do it."

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

For proof of this statement read the following letter.

Mrs. Letitia Blair, Cannifton, Ont., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was sick for five years. One doctor told me it was ulceration, and another told me it was a fibroid tumor, and advised an operation. No one knows what I suffered, and the bearing down pains were terrible.

"I wrote to my sister about it, and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"It has cured me of all my troubles, and I did not have to have the operation after all. The Compound also helped me to pass safely through Change of Life."

SIXTEEN DAYS WITHOUT FOOD, LOST IN THE FORESTS OF ALGOMA

Awful Experience of Mr. Sam Long, Ashburnham---Found by an Indian

Went Out on Fishing Expedition and Lost the Trail---Shoes Gave Out and He Wrapped Pieces of His Shirt and Trousers Around His Feet.

The following letter was received to-day by Mr George Lipsett, regarding the finding of his brother-in-law, Mr Sam Long, who was lost in the woods for sixteen days:

Worthington, Ont., May 29, '08.
Mr Geo. Lipsett, Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir,—We wired you last night as follows:—"Sam Long found alive and well, sixteen days without food."

Sam was found about eleven or twelve miles north-east of Camp 6, on the shore of Windy Lake, by an Indian. He stayed at the camp Friday evening, May 8th, and on Saturday after doing up some work around the camp, he thought he would go up to Mosquito Lake. Isaac McDonald had told him the road and that there was good fishing in the lake. He was going up this evening to see what it was like and then go up again on Sunday for a fish. Thinking he knew the road he struck out, but soon found that he was not on the right trail. It began to get dark and he was hurrying up. When darkness overtook him he knew that he was lost. In the morning he did not know what direction to go to get back to the camp. Taking the way he thought would bring him out alright, he started, and for days he saw neither camp, road or lake. At the end of ten days his shoes gave out and he took pieces of his trousers and shirt to wrap around his feet so he could walk. The same day he heard a train whistle and it only seemed about three miles distant. He thought he could make out easily now, but never heard the train afterwards. On the 16th night, Monday, May 25th, he came to an old camp on the shore of Windy Lake. He saw signs of what he thought had been men getting water from a spring near this old camp. He decided to stay in this place for the night and until some one would chance that way. He was pretty well worn out and his feet were very sore and badly swollen. He had not a bite to eat for sixteen days. He was making his bed for the night out of some brush when he heard a noise and looking out on the lake he saw a canoe. At first he could not tell which way the canoe was going and began yelling. It was an Indian in the canoe and as soon as he heard the yell he came in to where he was. Sam told him he was lost and where he was from and the Indian knew the way back to Camp 6. The Indian took him to his camp and kept him there Tuesday and Wednesday. On Thursday morning they started back for Camp 6 and arrived there about half-past four in the afternoon. We have had word from the camp again to-day. Sam is [illegible] and is able to get round [illegible]. He is sending a letter to Mrs Long to-day. His brother Alex is staying with him. He will [illegible] alright [illegible].

Yours truly,

PIONEER RESIDENT OF CITY PASSED AWAY THIS MORNING

Death of Mr. H. T. Strictland, Burnham St., Ashburnham, at Nicholls Hospital---Funeral on Monday Afternoon at 2.30 O'clock

In the death of Mr. Henry Thomas Strickland, which occurred at Nicholls Hospital this morning, Peterborough has lost one of its oldest and most highly respected citizens. For some time past, Mr. Strickland had been in failing health, gradually sinking, and the end came to-day.

Born near Lakefield in 1835, the deceased resided all his life in the County of Peterborough. He was the [illegible] son of the late Col. [illegible] Strickland, of Lakefield. He was in his 73rd year. A man of sterling [illegible] upright, he was held in the highest esteem. He was widely known and his death will be deeply regretted.

At the age of fourteen years Mr Strickland entered the store of the late R. D. Rogers in Ashburnham, where he served for a number of years. In 1858 he went into the [illegible] lumbering and milling business with Col. H. C. Rogers [illegible] postmaster. In 1866 he [illegible] interests with Mr Rogers [illegible] his brothers in the lumber business. In [illegible] year he succeeded [illegible] as agent for the Canada Land Co., [illegible] position he held until the time of his death.

The late Mr Strickland was lieutenant in the first Infantry Company of Ashburnham. He was a veteran of '66, [illegible] Fenian Raiders.

At the opening of St. [illegible] church in 1876 the deceased was appointed warden, which office he filled for twenty-five consecutive years. He was [illegible].

He was married [illegible] being Miss Rogers, [illegible] of Col. H. C. Rogers. His second wife was Miss Moffat of Toronto. She predeceased him [illegible] years ago. He leaves [illegible] daughters, Mrs. [illegible] of Grand Forks, B.C., and Miss [illegible] at home.

The funeral will [illegible] from Nicholls Hospital [illegible] St. Luke's church [illegible] Little Lake cemetery.

ARRANGING FOR RECEPTION OF THE PETERBOROUGH BAND

Ensign and Mrs Calvert have decided to remain in Lindsay until the 23rd of June, and therefore will not leave for Cobalt on Thursday next, as was first arranged. The local officers have been asked to remain in town until after the visit of the Salvation Army band of Peterborough, which comes here on June 20 and 21st.

A musical festival will be given in the Army barracks on Saturday, June 20th, by the visiting band, for which an admission will be charged.

On Sunday afternoon the band will play in Victoria Park, and in the evening at the Academy of Music. Colonel Sharp, of London, Ont., Ensign Bebee, of Toronto, Staff Captain Goodwin and Captain Moses, of Peterborough, will be here with the band and will speak at the different meetings.

Great interest is being taken in the coming visit of the Peterborough band, and good audiences will be all [illegible] received [illegible] of the [illegible].—Lindsay Free Press.

WATCHMAN TO BE STATIONED AT REID STREET CROSSING

At a meeting of the Board of Works last night it was decided to accept the offer of the Grand Trunk to place a watchman at the crossing on Reid street, the city to pay one-third of the cost. It was also decided to build a board walk on Wolfe Street.

There were present: Ald. Phelan, chairman, Mayor Rush, Ald. [illegible]burn, Buller, Tovey, Elliott, McIntyre and Morgan.

A petition was received asking for a sewer as a local improvement on Reid street between McDonnell and London streets. The request was granted on motion of Ald. Elliott and Tovey.

A petition was also received for a sidewalk on the west side of Stewart street from [illegible] street to 157 feet north of London street. This was granted on motion of Ald. Morgan and Elliott.

A letter was received from Mr. R. Cowan of the Grand Trunk in connection with the proposed protection at the crossing on Reid street. The letter stated that the company would provide gates if the city would pay half of the cost of installation and maintenance.

It was moved by Ald. McIntyre, seconded by Ald. [illegible], that the city solicitor be instructed to accept the proposition to pay one-third of the cost of a watchman at the Reid street crossing, [illegible] not to commit the city to any responsibility for any neglect on the part of the watchman and others, so that he withdraw the application for protection at that crossing.

Mr W. H. Robertson addressed the board and asked that a sidewalk be built on Wolfe street between George street and the wharf and also that Wolfe street be watered.

Mr Robertson's request was granted on motion of Ald. Tovey and Morgan.

OBITUARY

MRS HAMMOND, LINDSAY.

The unexpected demise of the wife of our former Waterworks Superintendent, Mr. W. H. Hammond, which occurred on Sunday last, is deeply regretted by a wide circle of friends by whom the deceased was greatly beloved for her many estimable qualities. The bereaved husband and little daughter have the sympathy of all in their affliction.

Mrs. Hammond's maiden name was Araminta Disty, daughter of Mr. Charles Disty, a former well-known citizen of Uxbridge. Coming here twelve years ago, she quickly made friends, whose esteem she retained until the end. Her love for her little daughter, Alma Victoria, born two years after coming here, was absorbing, and when her health gave way about two years ago, necessitating a long stay in [illegible] hospital, her solicitude for the child is believed to have lessened her chances of final recovery. Up until a week previous to her death the family physician, Dr. Wood, had strong hopes that the coming of summer weather would mean an increase of strength and restored health.

Interment took place [illegible] cemetery on Tuesday. Among the relatives and friends present from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Elwell, of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Ben. Elwell, Mrs. Roundtree and Mr. Joseph Reeves, of Uxbridge, Mrs. M. B. Williams and Mrs. Hammond, of Cobourg.—Lindsay Free Press.

Decisive Clearance of Remnants, Odds and Ends

On Monday, June 1st, we inaugurate our Annual Sale of Remnants, Odds and Ends and Broken Lines—a sale which means much to every woman who reads this.

We have gone through our Home-furnishing Departments with critical eyes—wherever we have found a short piece of goods, "slap" it has joined the other remnants.

And the Case is the Same With Odds and Ends and Broken Lines

But not until the Price Cutter has done his "best" or his "worst" for prices have been pruned and clipped until not a vestage of the original profit is visible, and in many cases we cut away into the original cost.

The Remnants and Odd articles are ready. It's a great opportunity to buy splendidly worthy goods, to buy an abundance and pay so little that you hardly miss the trifling sums.

You'd better come early. We say this in earnestness, for careful customers of this store will take care that the goods won't stay here long.

THE OWEN SOUND WRECK TWO OF THE INJURED DIE

Engineer W. H. Brouskill and Mail Clerk Robert E. Curran Succumb—The Latter Leaves a Young Wife—An Inquest Will be Held.

Owen Sound, June 1.—On Sunday occurred the second death in connection with the railway wreck in the Canadian Pacific yards on Friday night, the victim being Robert E. Curran, the railway mail clerk.

The wreck occurred at midnight, when a freight engine suddenly started of its own accord from the roundhouse and collided with a passenger train running at 60 miles an hour.

Engineer Brouskill of Toronto was so badly hurt that he died in a short time, and Curran and eight others were injured.

When Curran was taken to the hospital on Friday night, it was thought that beyond a fractured collar-bone his injuries were unimportant, but he had evidently received a blow on the head, as a hemorrhage, resulting in compression of the brain, is given as the cause of death.

On Saturday an inquest was opened on the remains of Engineer Brouskill and adjourned until Friday evening. The body was taken to Toronto by the 3.10 express by Conductor John Anderson and A. J. Veale of the Toronto Carpet Co., brothers-in-law, and Norman Craig, undertaker of Toronto.

Superintendent C. E. Murphy, Engineer Hertsberg and Traveling Locomotive Engineer J. R. Spragge and Dr. Beatty, chief physician, came up on the morning express.

Had there not been a slight up-grade for the runaway engine to climb before it reached the point where the accident occurred, the disaster must have been much more serious. Half-a-mile farther up the track is Murray's Curve, with its steep embankments, and the consequences had the meeting taken place there can only be imagined.

Engineer Griffith and Fireman Poe say that when they left the engine, after bringing in the freight train, it was in perfect control, Griffiths stating that he crawled under and made the usual inspection before booking in. Nightturner Williams says that the first intimation that anything was moving was when he heard the escaping steam. He saw no one around the engine, and he was working on another a few feet away. When it started he ran to the telephone to get the despatcher to hold the train at Chatsworth. The collision occurred shortly after he was at the telephone.

Thousands visited the yards on Sunday.

Curran resided here with his young wife, a bride of scarcely six months, whom he married at Teeswater, which was his home. He had been on this run about a year and one-half, and was about 25 years of age. The body will be taken to Teeswater for interment.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN AT THE CAPITAL DURING THE WEEK

French-Canadian Member Expresses His Opinion—Will There be a Dissolution—Predicts a New Parliament Before July 20.

Ottawa, June 1.—A French-Canadian Ministerialist member talking on the situation thinks that the Government would like to ask the Governor-General for a dissolution almost immediately, but is waiting till after June 8 before making a definite decision. There are two reasons, he says, for this belief, and he predicts that the new Parliament will be elected before July 20.

What he says is that the Government will dawdle along this week making effort to get supply. This will undoubtedly be refused, but if the provincial elections of Ontario and Quebec should result in the weakening of Whitney and the strengthening of Gouin, Sir Wilfrid would regard early in July as an opportune time to appeal.

If the provincial contests show the Ontario Conservatives to be as powerful as ever and the Quebec Ministry less popular, the Federal Conservatives will continue the obstruction and force the Prime Minister to go to the country. So that, no matter which way the elections go, there should be a dissolution.

It is the general opinion that very little business will be done this week. To-day Sir Wilfrid will submit his resolution to begin morning sittings on Tuesday. This will be contested, but the Government, it is said, will not attempt to bear down the Opposition with the weight of its majority.

The Prime Minister will be satisfied to place his party on record as desiring morning sittings and, according to the same informant, he will not keep the House up all night discussing the question and so during the week the House will mark time, waiting for the word from Ontario and Quebec.

Nearly all the members from these two provinces are in the thick of the fight and will be away till after June 8. Much, therefore, depends on the outcome of the provincial elections.

If Mr. Whitney goes back as strong as he was, or nearly so, the Federal Oppositionists will be encouraged to keep up the fight here.

GETTING AFTER POLES AGAIN

Expeditions Planned to Reach the North and South Poles

Brussels, June 1.—At Saturday's session of the International Polar Congress, Herbert L. Bridgman, representing the United States, submitted the scheme for reaching the North Pole prepared by the Peary Arctic Club of New York.

The plan involves the use of Peary's old ship, the Roosevelt, which will leave in the fall, winter on the north shore of Grant Land, and thence make a dash for the pole in 1909. The coast of Grant Land will be followed westward to Cape Columbia, over a route which will shorten the distance 100 miles and counteract the effects of the eastern currents.

One of the features of the new scheme is the more rigid massing of sledge division in order to keep the men together. On the return voyage, Lieut. Peary proposes to explore Crocker Land, a section of the unknown Arctic, the exploration of which he thinks may revolutionize the existing ideas regarding the heretofore traversed regions.

Mr. Bridgman moved that the committee place Lieut. Peary's scheme on record, with a vote of congratulations to the lieutenant.

At the afternoon session of the congress, the fact was disclosed that an American is preparing to undertake an expedition to the South Pole in 1910, upon plans worked out by Lieut. Peary. The latter, however, is not to take part in the expedition.

President Roosevelt, to whom Lieut. Peary disclosed the idea, is said to have endorsed it enthusiastically. The identity of the American has not been revealed.

Trains Move Again.

Port Arthur, June 1.—C.P.R. trains that have been delayed here on account of the washout, caused by the breaking away of one of the city storage dams, are running through again. Men had been engaged continuously in the building of cribs, and on Saturday night the track was completed.

Atlanta, Ga., June 1.—State Entomologist E. L. Worsham, who has been gathering information from peach-growing sections, announces that from present indications there will be an output of more than 5,000 cars.

Aeronaut's Fatal Drop.

New York, June 1.—Frederick L. Woods, an 18-year-old aeronaut, who was giving an exhibition at Hillside Park, near Passaic, N.J., on Sunday, dropped 2,000 feet into the Passaic river, where he was drowned.

Shot Sweetheart and Self.

Watertown, N. Y., June 1.—Miss Orthe Huppen of Oxbow shot herself and her sweetheart, Banre Laidlaw, on Sunday. Laidlaw's injury will not prove fatal, but Miss Huppen will probably die as the result of the self-inflicted wound. The scene of the shooting was a Jefferson County farm. Miss Huppen is 25 years old and Laidlow is five years her junior. The shooting was caused by a quarrel.

To Exploit Bermuda.

Ottawa, June 1.—A Montreal company, in which the Allans are interested, has been incorporated to develop the resources of Bermuda, to establish public works and conveniences, including tramways, etc., and to carry on a shipping and importing business.

Threat of Chicago Union Men.

Chicago, June 1.—"Every union carpenter on all building operations affected by the sweeping injunction of Judge Carpenter's court will lay down his tools the instant one of their number is arrested, and remain on strike every day of the prisoner's incarceration." This is a "secret" agreement affecting 10,000 union carpenters and which will be invoked if sentences on three labor leaders for contempt of court is carried out. It is said that habeas corpus writs may be issued by another court saving from imprisonment the men sentenced by Judge Carpenter. There is a strong probability, however, that Daniel Gavin, secretary-treasurer of the carpenters' district council, alone will be punished.

$50,000 FIRE AT THE PLANT OF PETERBORO' CEREAL CO.

Blaze Started in Canada Flakes Mill and Swept the Entire Premises of the Peterboro Cereal Co.—Loss of Between $30,000 and $35,000 to Canada Flakes Co.—It Was Partially Covered by Insurance

Firemen Were Fighting the Flames From 5 O'clock Last Night Until 7.30 This Morning—Fortunate Escape of Nearby Dwelling Houses—Grain Elevator and Office Were Saved—A Most Disasterous Conflagration

A most disastrous fire took place yesterday at the mill of the Peterborough Cereal Company. The blaze originated in the Canada Flakes mill at the south of the building and when it once got started in the other buildings spread with great rapidity. The alarm was sounded from box 22 at about 5 o'clock and the brigade returned from totally extinguishing the conflagration about 7.30 this morning. One hose is still attached to a hydrant, however, in case of emergency. The fire is practically out now and no further difficulty is anticipated.

Two streams were turned on at first but these were found inadequate to fight the flames and the hose wagon was sent after more hose. A third stream was turned on and eventually seven streams were brought into play.

Between five and six o'clock the roof took fire and the flames shot upward in huge tongues. It seemed at this time that the building or a large section of it was doomed and fears were expressed for the nearby dwellings. The fire ate up the roof rapidly and shortly before six o'clock it fell in with a deafening crash.

The roof of the office, which had hitherto been uninjured by the flames caught fire and the firemen played the hose on it and the office property of value was removed, the spectators lending a helping hand. The fire in the office roof was quickly extinguished however and it was fortunately saved.

Considerable alarm was occasioned by the flames getting at the elevator and the attention of the firemen was turned to saving it. The men smashed in the door and played the hose on the interior, soaking the eight or ten thousand bushels of grain which were stored there. The walls of the elevator were also thoroughly drenched.

The second floor of the building fell in and the larger mass of machinery on it was hurled to the ground and was literally smashed.

The cause of the fire is unknown and it is only a matter of speculation as to what its source was.

Mr. W. H. Meldrum the manager of the Peterboro Cereal Company, when seen by the Review this morning, stated that while it was impossible to state the exact damage, it was approximated at about $50,000, the amount representing about $25,000 over and above the amount of insurance.

The directors are this morning consulting with local insurance companies with which the buildings and contents are insured. No definite arrangements concerning the reconstruction of the plant have yet been arrived at.

As a result of the fire about 25 or 30 employees will be without work.

The mill in which the fire originated is owned by the Peterborough Cereal Company, and the machinery in it by the Canada Flakes Company. The damage to the property of the Canada Flakes Company is estimated at between $30 000 and $35,000, with insurance of $21,000. The machinery was destroyed and about 500 cases of Canada Flakes. $600 worth of china was also lost. The china was to be used for giving away with packages of Canada Flakes. $600 worth were also at the station ready to be removed to the mill.

Two cars that were standing on the track alongside the mill, one of flour and one of wheat, were ready to be taken into the Cereal Company's mill. The contents of each was valued at about $1,000. Mr. Meldrum requested Mr. W. S. Dodds, the C.P.R. station agent, to have the cars removed out of danger, and he secured an engine from Havelock, and they were shunted down the siding.

It is fortunate that the sparks from the fire did not start a blaze in any of the nearby dwellings houses. The wind was from the north and big flake-like sparks lit on the top and in the rear of the big terrace on Water street, opposite the market. The rain had fallen heavily previous to the fire, and had this not been the case a serious fire would probably have also resulted there. The lawn all along the Otonabee at the back of the dwellings was literally covered with charred bits of wood and burnt out embers from the fire that had been blown there last night.

COUNTERFEITERS ARE CAPTURED

Two Green Goods Men in the Toils at Winnipeg

Winnipeg, June 1.—Wolff Cohen and Solomon Salamowics, two green goods men from Philadelphia, captured by Winnipeg police, are in reality two counterfeiters with national reputation, according to statement of one of the police officials, and a charge of counterfeiting will be laid against them when they come up for trial next Friday.

When the two men first appeared in Winnipeg, they showed partially completed American bills to N. Segal, their intended victim. These bills were printed on only one side, and according to Segal, had every appearance of being genuine.

Detectives are still searching for the house in which the two men stayed whilst in Winnipeg, but so far without success. It is believed when these lodgings are located dies and other paraphernalia for manufacturing spurious money will be discovered. Incidentally, counterfeit money frequently appears in circulation here, and the police have been unable to trace its source.

Before the arrest Cohen boasted that if the police attempted to arrest him he would kill both himself and them, exhibiting a small vial which he claimed contained nitro glycerine.

Mr. Ross on Senate Reform.

Ottawa, June 1.—Hon. George W. Ross has given notice of an important resolution looking to Senate reform. When the Senate reassembles he will move "that a committee of seven members of the Senate to be named by Mr. Speaker be appointed to divide the Province of Ontario into as many Senatorial divisions as there are members of the Senate from the said province; to designate said divisions by appropriate titles; to allot the Senators from the said province to such divisions, having regard as far as possible to the wishes and preference of the Senators concerned."

Arrested For Bigamy.

Renfrew, June 1.—John Anderson, inspector of schools, Brockville, and for two years principal of the public school here, was arrested Saturday by Inspector Rogers of Toronto on a charge of bigamy. When brought before the police magistrate he pleaded guilty, and was remanded for sentence. He is 54 years of age and is said to have a wife and nine children living.

Physician Sentenced.

Vancouver, B.C., June 1.—Dr. B. H. Carter was sentenced to two years and six months in the penitentiary for performing an abortion upon Kate McIntosh. Before being sentenced he made a statement and reiterated his innocence. In sentencing the prisoner Judge Lampman stated that he had evidently been the tool of someone else. Who that was the evidence did not show, so that the prisoner had to bear the blame. Garesche, who was tried jointly with Carter, on a charge of procuring the abortion, was set at liberty.

Special to the Review

Greystock, May 30.—Seeding in this part of Otonabee is a thing of the past. The crops at present are promising.

Mr. Walter Dickson who has been confined to the house for some time is able to be around again.

Mr. Wm. Metherall of Ottawa, has returned after a few days' visit to friends at Zion.

Mr. Wallace Dickson was a guest at his father's on Victoria Day.

Mrs R. Kindred and Mrs Jos. Londen and family of Peterborough, were guests of Mr John Kindred last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kindred are at present visiting friends at Westwood this week.

A runaway accident occurred on the farm of Mr. Jos. Manley when his young team took fright and made a dash for liberty, which they succeeded in doing. They ran from a back field, cleared one or two fences, left the machine behind and made for the road. John gave chase on his wheel and Mr Manley in the buggy. Finally the team was brought to a standstill by a Mrs Downer, at Downer's Corners. Fortunately no one was hurt.

WILL ASSIST IN MEETINGS

Mr. Gilchrist, of Bancroft, Will Speak at Gospel Hall

Mr. John Gilchrist, of Bancroft, arrived in the city Saturday night and assisted Mr. Murdoch in the meetings at Gospel Hall yesterday. Mr. Gilchrist will be here all week and will assist Mr. Murdock and Mr. McMurdo in meetings on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday nights at 8 o'clock.

Mr. McMurdo spoke at a temperance meeting at the "Crystal" last night at 8.30 o'clock. A large number were present.

TO DISCONTINUE SUNDAY TRAINS

This Decision Has Been Reached by Grand Trunk Railway

There were no trains run on the G.T.R. yesterday and it is said that in the future the company intend to discontinue the practice of running them on the Sabbath. Mr. Chas. Noyes, the Charlotte street gateman had nothing to do yesterday as there was not a train passed through or went out of Peterborough. The Review was also informed that there was not a wheel turned on the G.T.R. in Lindsay yesterday.

The GTR. is the first company to stop Sunday trains and their good example will no doubt be followed by other railway concerns.

THE HEALTH OF PRINCE OF WALES

Said Not to be Robust at the Present Time

New York, June 1.—A London cable to The American says:

The Prince of Wales is not in very robust health just now, and the royal physicians have insisted upon his getting as much sea air as possible. It is hope that the prince's trip to Quebec in July will prove an aid to his recovery.

The prince has never worked harder than he has of late, and he conscientiously performs all sorts of duties in the place of his father.

Sometimes of late he has been so thoroughly tired out after a long day that he has been compelled to retire as early at 9 o'clock.

Fire Among Cereals.

Peterboro, June 1.—The plant of the Peterboro Cereal Co. was badly gutted by fire, which broke out about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The loss is estimated at about $50,000, and the insurance amounts to $35,000. The part of the plant containing the machinery was completely ruined, but the firemen prevented the fire from spreading to the elevator. A large amount of flour and breakfast foods was destroyed. The part of the building destroyed was insured for $5,000, and the contents for $30,000.

Observed Memorial Day.

Washington, June 1.—President Roosevelt and thousands of Washingtonians participated in the observance of Memorial day.

All Government departments and the principal business houses were closed, appropriate services were held at Arlington and all the other cemeteries in the vicinity of this city. A boat laden with flowers was set adrift on the Potomac river in tribute to the head of the navy, and there was a parade of military organizations and patriotic bodies.

Steamer Sinks at Her Wharf.

Fredericton, N. B., June 1.—The steamer Hampstead, one of the finest boats on the St. John river, sank at her wharf here on Saturday night. The steamer struck a sunken object near this city on the trip from St. John and was evidently damaged much worse than was first supposed, for late in the evening water began to rush in and she rapidly filled.

Rockefeller's Liberality.

New York, June 1.—The gift of an additional $500,000 to the Rockefeller Institute by J. D. Rockefeller, is announced. The money is to be used for the erection of a new building near the present institute. The gift makes a total of $4,500,000 given to the institute by Mr. Rockefeller.

Killed by Lightning.

Lethbridge, Alta., June 1.—The electrical storm east of the city had serious consequences. James Whitford, a well-known rider, was instantly killed. Abe Heesop, who was with him, had a narrow escape, and both horses they were riding were killed.

LORD TWEEDMOUTH ILL AN INTERESTING STORY

Correspondence With the Kaiser as to British Navy Recalled—Overtaken by a Series of Misfortunes—Has Become Melancholy.

New York, June 1.—A London cable to The World says:

Lord Tweedmouth, whose correspondence with the Kaiser created such a hubbub and eventuated in his being removed from the naval Ministership when Asquith reconstituted the Campbell-Bannerman Cabinet, is now suffering a much severer misfortune.

Premier Asquith transferred his lordship to a post called Lord President, which involves charge of educational questions for the Government in the House of Lords. Recently Tweedmouth's speeches have been noticeably peculiar. The other day he said in the Lords, to the utter dismay of his Cabinet colleagues: "Of course Haldane's army reorganization scheme was merely a big gamble, with ten to one in its favor."

The Opposition peers, divining something wrong, forebore from utilizing this strange admission on the part of Haldane's colleague. Now announcement is made that Lord Tweedmouth has been suffering for some time from insomnia, and has been ordered to take a complete rest, with cessation from all work, for an indefinite period.

Few men have endured such severe buffets from fortune within a few years as Lord Tweedmouth. Originally he possessed an income of half a million dollars a year, and he and his wife, who is an aunt of the Duke of Marlborough, were leaders of the smart set. This income came largely from the Meux brewery, and when the brewery properties began to decline, his income of course began to dwindle. Finally at a crisis in the affairs of the brewery he sold his houses, including Brook House, in Park lane, to Sir Ernest Cassel, auctioned off his pictures for $300,000, and put all the money thus realized into the brewery for the benefit of the stockholders generally to save the prestige of the business, with which the Marjoribanks family are closely identified. But the sacrifice was vain, and when Tweedmouth was made naval Minister he had little to live upon except the $25,000 a year salary of his office. Meantime his wife died of cancer. This was a staggering blow.

Next came the trouble over his indiscreet correspondence with the Kaiser, followed by his practical supersession as naval Minister, and now this mental collapse.

His sister, the Countess of Aberdeen, is devotedly nursing him. It is understood that he will resign his Ministerial office as soon as the matter can be arranged.

Recently his mother's death increased his income, but the event made him melancholy and reserved. There is very general sympathy for him, for if he was not a man of great mentality he was an honest politician with sincere convictions.

RIGHT ARM INJURED AT C.G.E. WORKS

Was Caught in Cogs of a Machine—Mr. M. Fitzsimmons the Victim

Michael Fitzsimmons, 556 Aylmer street, an employee of the rubber department of the C.G.E. works, was the victim of a painful accident on Saturday. His right arm was caught in the cogs of a machine and it was only by the narrowest margin that his arm was not completely severed. As it was the skin was badly torn and the tissues injured. Dr. Marshall was called and had the young man removed to his home, where he attended him. He will be able to return to work in a few days.

Prof. Frechette Dead.

Montreal, June 1.—Dr. Louis Frechette, famous as a French-Canadian poet, and well known all over the Dominion as a leading litterateur and a personal friend of Victor Hugo, died last night after a brief illness. He formerly represented Levis in the House of Commons and was editor of La Patrie when that paper was conducted by the late Mayor Beaugrand on advanced radical lines.

King Gustave at Berlin.

Berlin, June 1.—King Gustave of Sweden, and the Queen, arrived here yesterday, and were met by the Emperor and other members of the royal family. The route to the castle was lined with troops and the royal visitors were greeted enthusiastically all along the line.

A GLUT IN TAN BARK MARKET

The Cut of Hemlock is Likely to be Reduced This Summer

Hastings, June 1.—Handlers of tan bark up north complain of an absence of a market this spring. Tanners have all they need, and as money is not over plentiful are not buying readily. At Blackstone and Falding siding on the C.P.R. there is said to be four or five thousand cords piled. The tanners are accordingly advocating a considerable reduction in the cut of hemlock the coming summer, and will not contract this spring for anything like the amount they have taken lately.

Fireman Suffocated.

London, June 1.—Fireman W. H. Seccombe, assistant foreman of No. 3 station, was suffocated in a fire which caused $1,000 damage in the cellar of the City Hotel yesterday. There was little fire, but lots of smoke. After the firemen returned to the station, Seccombe was missed. Chief Clark returned, and found him lying dead within a few feet of the door. Arthur Somerville and ex-Ald. Taylor, guests at the hotel, were also overcome and had to be carried out by firemen.

THE "BACK" COUNTRY

This expression so far as it applies to northern Peterborough is a misfit. The northern part of this county is beautiful. The people are in every way likeable and happy. The policy of the Whitney Government in giving the land and all that is upon it or under to the settler for the future, has put a smile upon the latter's face that time itself will not wear off. Why any government should, even in its financial stress, do as the Ross Government did in retaining timber and mining rights, leaving to the settler merely the bare product of his toil is more than most people can understand. It was cruel and inhuman. It was making a hard life doubly hard. The new settlers' life from now on will be one of hope and good prospects. What he will have he will hold. He gets the timber for sure and may strike a mine as well. Who would not be a settler now?

"The money is now spent on the roads," remarked a prominent citizen of Galway recently. This remark tells the whole story. Who runs may read.

THE DOUKS

The Liberal Opposition in the Ontario Legislature reminds us irresistibly of the clothesless Douks. They are wandering unhappily about without their clothes which, they say, Whitney stole from them. They are living in political outhouses, tents, in the bush, and any old where all because they have no clothes and no shoes. They have plenty of principles, but what's the good of principles if they don't know how to use them? We are not in favour of harsh measures, however. As yet their appearance is not indecent although it is rapidly becoming so. If they could only eat hay they might be put to some useful purpose, for A. G. Mackay and Char'ie Smith belonged to the "Old Guard" and the Old Guard never surrendered anything but its principles. They do not represent Liberalism — Heaven forbid! But what do they represent? Possibly after June 8th they will not represent even their constituencies. As for a strong opposition men like Mr. Hossack may help to form one, but not — not A. G. Mackay, who, receiving $4,000 a year from a few friends besides his sessional salary, is on Easy street or Queer street, whichever one prefers. Mr. Hossack says he's an independent Liberal, i.e., independent of Ross traditions. We wish him well when he begins to houseclean.

QUITE CLEAR

"(3) Abolition of the bars from text books in our schools.

(4) Abolition of the bars from Ontario."—Examiner.

The above paragraphs are from a letter appearing in the editorial columns of our contemporary, signed, "Reformer," and endorsed by that paper in a column of agony. There appears in the same issue a pretty bit at Mr. Burnham who is accused of contemplating a lecture to "labour men on how to live while doing nothing. Even if the reference applied to Mr. Burnham it is still up to the Examiner to say if it is not better to do nothing than to do worse than nothing. But the quotation at the head of our remarks will no doubt explain by the lucus a non lucendo principle the state of the Examiner's mind (always assuming that it has one). Still it is not fair to Mr. Gillespie to drag in his name in connection with "Reformer's" awful indictment. We are afraid the strain of the campaign is proving too much for our contemporary.

A MATTER OF SUPRISE

It is a matter of surprise that the "consciences" of men belonging to churches of which they assume the positions of pillars, have become so seared and cynical that their owners can view with equanimity the action of the West Riding Reform Association in the C.G.E. affair. These men are officers, also, of the West Riding Reform Association. In order to help Mr. Gillespie in his campaign they make themselves the tools of Mr. Gillespie. They make themselves the tools of Mr. Gillespie and Mr. Stratton, who secure the suppression of employees through bringing influence to bear on their employers. These officers know this. They know all about it. They grin and pretend that they think it is clever. They know, however, just as well as anybody else, that their conduct is highly improper and their attitude distinctly dishonest. The public is not fooled. These men may pose as upright, God-fearing Christians, but they have got to practise what they preach at least to a reasonable extent. Buncombe won't go. Mr. J. J. Hartley, Mr. G. M. Roger, Mr. F. D. Kerr, Mr. R. F. McWilliams and others who allow their names to appear, presumably in favor of decent politics, are in this case condoning an offence which they well know to be a serious offence, while they prate of high thinking and noble actions. It is such actions as these we now refer to that "betray." They are the crucial points in life. To allow them to be passed by with a leer is evidence of dishonesty and nothing else. There is time to retrace this step. Will these men show themselves to be what we have given them credit for being, or will they for good and all take up the side which they have allied themselves with?

THE QUESTION OF THE HOUR

No blame is attached or attachable to the management of the C.G.E. Co., either here or at Toronto. The blame rests with and upon the West Riding Reform Association for violating the freedom of the C.G.E. employees to think and act as they choose, politically, when on their own time. The odium rests where it should fall, and this interference, which occurred once before, must now be ended for good.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surface. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

TEDDY WAGGONS UNDER THE BAN

Baby Waggons Must be Keept off Sidewalks in Hamilton

Hamilton, May 30.—Husbands will read this with joy, wives with sorrow and anger, and children with weeping and gnashing of teeth. The edict has gone forth that no more "Teddy wagons" shall be allowed on the sidewalks, and that baby carriages are also barred from use on the sidewalk. This morning Magistrate Jelfs and Chief Smith made an oration between them to an admiring trio of reporters, all unmarried, and some happy looking married policemen who are to be seen on their "day off" in the baby carriage parade with wifey keeping them moving. Chief Smith sprang this edict on the police this morning and Magistrate Jelfs announced that it was perfectly right. "With a baby carriage on you heels and a 'Teddy wagon' going past you at about fifty miles an hour, it makes you wish for airships," was the opinion of the two, with shudders as they remembered some of their trips down town. Main street west is a bad place for "Teddy wagons" and there are dozens of them running there all the time. The part of the edict in regard to baby carriages will probably only be enforced on crowded streets, but the children with their Teddy wagons will ride the sidewalks no more.

THE C. G. E. HOLD-UP AND THE W.R. REFORM ASSOCIATION

Mr. J. R. Stratton announced a week ago at a rally of the Liberal supporters of Mr. Gillespie that the executive officer of the West Riding Reform Association had secured the suppression of certain employees of the Canadian General Electric Works who had been taking an active part in politics. There is no proof attempted that the employees in question did anything improper or that they took advantage of their position in any way. It is simply a case of "ward boss" politics on the part of Mr. Stratton who got the management of the C.G.E. to call off these Conservatives from a form of activity which is an honor to every right-thinking and right-acting citizen and elector. There was no pretence that these men had failed in their duties as employees. The first the management knew of the trouble was from Mr. Stratton, whose boldness on this occasion is probably born of a similarly successful attempt on a former occasion, to muzzle the same "free and independent" electors. This is not a mere question of party to keying to get a party advantage. It is a deliberate and successful attempt to coerce employees, and if allowable in one factory, may be applied in all. A little more of it and the public will resent in a practical way the tyrannical action of Mr. Stratton. No one has held Mr. Gillespie responsible for it. If Mr. Gillespie, however, continues to take advantage of it he will be held equally guilty, and properly so. The day of the despot is past.

THE RECORD OF A GOOD GOVERNMENT

FINANCES

a. The bankruptcy of Ontario, admitted by Hon. G. W. Ross: "The normal revenue is about one million dollars short of the normal expenditure." (The Globe, March 23, 1904.)

b. Provincial development, agricultural enterprise, education, etc., necessarily at a standstill.

c. Without increase of taxation the Whitney Government increased the Provincial income so as to wipe out the deficits, afford increased aid to agriculture, education, etc., pay off part of the Ross debt and leave a handsome surplus.

d. Sales on capital account formerly made largely to pay off annual deficits, were converted, under Mr. Whitney, into other forms of capital account, of practical value.

e. Enormous increase in amounts received from sales.

f. Provincial Credit on the London market as a consequence rises from the fifth class, under Hon. G. W. Ross, to the first class, under Mr. Whitney.

SALES

a. Product of Sales on capital account confined strictly to capital account. Current revenue now leaves a handsome balance over current expenditure.

b. Therefore large sales of timber, pulpwood, etc., discouraged.

c. Royalties instituted and greatly increased.

d. Gifts to favorites, money sharks and "private enterprise" cease.

d. Resources of the people preserved for the people. A change from a beggarly pittance to millions for the Province.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS, 1908

To the Electors of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—It is my privilege to again appear before you as the Conservative candidate in the approaching election of members of the Ontario Legislature, and while on the previous occasion I was in opposition to the Government, I now have the pleasure of supporting the Administration of Hon. J. P. Whitney, whose management of the affairs of the Province, with the support of an able cabinet, has, during his short premiership, proved of such marked benefit.

Measures of a far-reaching character have been passed, and the statute books of the last three years are replete with legislation of a high order, as well for its originality as its soundness. Let me mention a few of the important acts of the past sessions. The establishment of a Railway and Municipal Board, the new act relating to mining, the creation of the Hydro-Electric Commission, the amendment of the liquor laws, amendments to the law relating to the election of members of the Legislature, particularly the alteration in the ballot, which is now absolutely secret.

The administration of the public domain, especially the mining laws of the Province, has been most profitable, adding large sums to both revenue and capital, and the different changes which have been effected in the Education Department have met with the approval of all persons concerned in that most important branch of the public service.

One of the beneficial acts of the Government is the taking with its own hands the distribution of electric energy through the great water power of Niagara Falls, and other rivers capable of hydraulic development. Thus are the different municipalities through the Province enabled to obtain the inestimable commodity at a minimum of cost.

The Government, while endeavoring to serve the people generally have not been unmindful of the importance of this riding, and when the new normal schools were to be created one of the four was placed in this constituency, thus affording exceptional advantages to the teachers and schools of this county.

In the short time which will elapse before polling day, I shall endeavour to make my views more fully known to you both privately and publicly, and I bespeak your cordial support, not so much because of any merits of my own, as on account of the splendid record of the Government.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

T. E. BRADBURN

Peterborough, Ont., May 6th, 1908

W. H. HILL, Esq., Manager Central Ontario, Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada, Peterborough, Ont.

DEAR SIR:

In connection with policy No. 18253, taken out by me twenty years ago for $2000, on the 20 year endowment plan, I would like to say to you that I am well pleased with the results. I paid $91.40 a year for twenty years and had my insurance for $2,000, and the cheque you have handed me to-day is for $2653.10 which is $123.15 in excess of what I would have received had I deposited the same amount in the Bank during the last twenty years at current rates. In one case I had my insurance carried and in the other case I would have had none. I can only say that I have never made an investment that has given me greater satisfaction. I believe if I had not taken out the insurance I would not have been worth one dollar more to-day and now I find myself in possession of $2653.10, which will enable me to make a profitable investment. I am now pretty well up in years but if I had my life to live over again I would ensure for as large an amount as I could possibly pay for. During the twenty years, I found it difficult on many occasions to meet the payments, but I met them in every case by practising a little economy in other directions, and I can assure you that I feel I have been well repaid for the pains I took in providing for the money to pay the premiums. You have paid me more considerably than I expected to receive and for this I am grateful.

Respectfully yours,

NELSON SAGE

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

By CHARLES KLEIN.

A Story of American Life Novelized From the Play by ARTHUR HORNBLOW.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

"Would you sacrifice my happiness and your own?"

"No happiness can be built on lies, Jeff. We must build on truth or our whole house will crumble and fall. We have deceived your father, but he will forgive that, won't you?" she said, appealing to Ryder, "and you will go to Washington, you will save my father's honor, his life, you will?"—

They stood face to face—this slim, delicate girl battling for her father's life, arrayed against a cold blooded, heartless, unscrupulous man, deaf to every impulse of human sympathy or pity. Since this woman had deceived him, fooled him, he would deal with her as with every one else who crossed his will. She laid her hand on his arm, pleading with him. Brutally, savagely, he thrust her aside.

"No, no, I will not!" he thundered. "You have wormed yourself into my confidence by means of lies and deceit. You have tricked me, fooled me to the very limit! Oh, it is easy to see how you have beguiled my son into the folly of loving you! And you—you have the brazen effrontery to ask me to plead for your father? No! No! No! Let the law take its course, and now, Miss Rossmore, you will please leave my house tomorrow morning!"

Shirley stood listening to what he had to say, her face white, her mouth quivering. At last the crisis had come. It was a fight to the finish between this man, the incarnation of corporate greed, and herself, representing the fundamental principles of right and justice. She turned on him in a fury:

"Yes, I will leave your house tonight! Do you think I would remain another hour beneath the roof of a man who is as blind to justice, as deaf to mercy, as incapable of human sympathy, as you are?"

She raised her voice, and as she stood there denouncing the man of money, her eyes flashing and her head thrown back, she looked like some avenging angel defying one of the powers of evil.

"Leave the room!" shouted Ryder, beside himself, and pointing to the door.

"Father!" cried Jefferson, starting forward to protect the girl he loved.

"You have tricked him as you have me!" thundered Ryder.

"It is your own vanity that has tricked you!" cried Shirley contemptuously. "You lay traps for yourself and walk into them. You can tell every one around you to lie to you, to cajole you, to praise you, to deceive you! At least you cannot accuse me of flattering you. I have never fawned upon you as you compel your family and your friends and your dependents to do. I have always appealed to your better nature by telling you the truth, and in your heart you know that I am speaking the truth now."

"Go!" he commanded.

"Yes, let us go, Shirley!" said Jefferson.

"No, Jeff, I came here alone, and I'm going alone!"

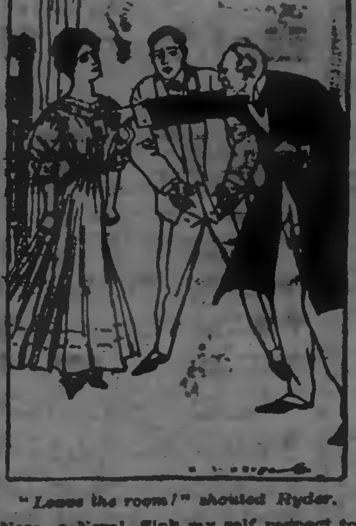
"You are not. I shall go with you. I intend to make you my wife!"

Ryder laughed scornfully.

"No," cried Shirley. "Do you think I'd marry a man whose father is as deep a discredit to the human race as your father is? No, I wouldn't marry the son of such a merciless tyrant! He refuses to lift his voice to save my father. I refuse to marry his son!"

She turned on Ryder with all the fury of a tiger:

"You think if you lived in the olden days you'd be a Caesar or an Alexander. But you wouldn't! You'd be a Nero—a Nero! Sink my self respect to the extent of marrying into your family!" she exclaimed contemptuously. "Never! I am going to Washington without your aid. I am going to save my father if I have to go on my knees to every United States senator. I'll go to the White House; I'll tell the president what you are! Marry your son—no, thank you! No, thank you!"



"Leave the room!" shouted Ryder.

Exhausted by the vehemence of her passionate outburst, Shirley hurried from the room, leaving Ryder speechless, staring at his son.

CHAPTER XVI.

When Shirley reached her rooms she broke down completely. She threw herself upon a sofa and burst into a fit of violent sobbing. After all, she was only a woman, and the ordeal through which she had passed would have taxed the strongest powers of endurance. She had borne up courageously while there remained the faintest chance that she might succeed in moving the financier to pity, but now that all hopes in that direction were shattered and she herself had been ordered harshly from the house, like any ordinary malefactor, the reaction set in, and she gave way freely to her long pent-up anguish and distress. Nothing now could save her father, not even this journey to Washington which she determined to take nevertheless; for, according to what Stott had said, the senate was to take a vote that very night.

She looked at the time—11 o'clock. She had told Mr. Ryder that she would leave his house at once, but on reflection it was impossible for a girl alone to seek a room at that hour. It would be midnight before she could get her things packed. No, she would stay under this hated roof until morning and then take the first train to Washington. There was still a chance that the vote might be delayed, in which case she might yet succeed in winning over some of the senators. She began to gather her things together and was thus engaged when she heard a knock at her door.

"Who's there?" she called out.

"It's I," replied a familiar voice.

Shirley went to the door and opening it found Jefferson on the threshold. He made no attempt to enter, nor did she invite him in. He looked tired and careworn.

"Of course, you're not going tonight?" he asked anxiously. "My father did not mean to-night."

"No, Jeff," she said wearily; "not tonight. It's a little too late. I did not realize it. Tomorrow morning, early."

He seemed reassured and held out his hand.

"Good night, dearest. You're a brave girl. You made a splendid fight."

"It didn't do much good," she replied in a disheartened, listless way.

"But it set him thinking," rejoined Jefferson. "No one ever spoke to my father like that before. It did him good. He's still marching up and down the library, chewing the cud"—

Noticing Shirley's tired face and her eyes, with great black circles underneath, he stopped short.

"Now, don't do any more packing tonight," he said. "Go to bed, and in the morning I'll come up and help you. Good night!"

"Good night, Jeff," she smiled.

He went downstairs, and after doing some more packing she went to bed. But it was hours before she got to sleep, and then she dreamed that she was in the senate chamber and that she saw Ryder suddenly rise and denounce himself before the astonished senators as a perjurer and traitor to his country, while she returned to Massapequa with the glad news that her father was acquitted.

Meantime a solitary figure remained in the library, pacing to and fro like a lost soul in purgatory. Mrs. Ryder had returned from the play and gone to bed, serenely oblivious of the drama in real life that had been enacted at home. The servants locked the house for the night, and still John Burkett Ryder walked the floor of his sanctum, and late into the small hours of the morning the watchman going his lonely rounds saw a light in the library and the restless figure of his employer sharply silhouetted against the white blinds.

For the first time in his life John Ryder realized that there was something in the world beyond self. He had seen with his own eyes the sacrifice a daughter will make for the father she loves, and he asked himself what manner of a man that father could be to inspire such devotion in his child. He probed into his own heart and conscience and reviewed his past career. He had been phenomenally successful, but he had not been happy. He had more money than he knew what to do with, but the pleasures of the domestic circle, which he saw other men enjoy, had been denied to him. Was he himself to blame? Had this insensate craving for gold and power led him to neglect those other things in life which contribute more truly to man's happiness? In other words, was his life a mistake? Yes, it was true what this girl charged—he had been merciless and unscrupulous in his dealings with his fellow man. It was true that hardly a dollar of his vast fortune had been honestly earned. It was true that it had been wrung from the people by fraud and trickery. He had craved for power, yet now he had tasted it, what a hollow joy it was, after all! The public hated and despised him. Even his so called friends and business associates toadied to him merely because they feared him. And this judge—this father he had persecuted and ruined—what a better man and citizen he was! How much more worthy of a child's love and of the esteem of the world!

To be Continued.

DRESS-MAKERS

The nervous strain through which dressmakers have to pass at certain seasons of the year seems almost beyond endurance, and frequently brings on nervous prostration, fainting spells, dizziness, sleeplessness and a general breaking down of the feminine system, until life seems altogether miserable.

For all overworked women there is one tried and true remedy.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

restores the feminine system to a strong, healthy, normal condition.

Mrs. A. D. Trudeau, Arnprior, Ontario, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I suffered terribly from ulceration of the feminine organs for eight years. I tried four doctors but got no relief, and thought I would have to die.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me. I hope every suffering woman will take my advice and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

REV. MR. LOWES AT THE Y.M.C.A.

Gave Splendid Address on "Superb Manhood"--Addressed Boys' Meeting

Rev. Mr. Lowes of Toronto, gave a splendid address on "Superb Manhood" at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon. He referred to the temptations men had to overcome and showed that through Christ, our Lord, and Saviour, was the only way to conquer them, and that by living in Christ we would live a pure life and an overcoming life. He referred to the editorial page in the Ladies' Home Journal this month, and commented very favorably on it. Miss Kidd sang "I am Happy in Him" in her usual effective manner and was much appreciated.

Mr. Lowes also spoke to a number of boys at the Crystal at 10 a.m. yesterday, on "Some Hard Things for a Boy to do." His address was most interesting and held the attention of the boys from the start.

The Finance Committee of the Y. M. C. A., composed of Messrs. J. J. Turner, A. W. Cressman, W. K. Conway, D. F. Ackerman, V. Eastwood and J. R. Howden, meets Tuesday at 5.30 p. m.

AN EXCELLENT PROGRAMME

To be Given by 57th Band at Opening Concert Friday Night

A programme of much merit and one that should appeal strongly to the public has been prepared by the 57th Regimental Band for their first concert this summer at Victoria Park next Friday evening. Bandmaster Gliddon with his usual commendable sense of discrimination has selected the various numbers with a view of suiting all tastes and the programme is nicely balanced with selections of a light and more classical order.

The concert will be given by kind permission of Lt. Col. Stevenson and the officers of the 57th Regiment and the band will be under the direction of Bandmaster Gliddon. The band will number about 35 and this year the playing strength has been supplemented by the addition of a double bass and flute player, Messrs. Cronk and Gowie, respectively, the former a brother of Mr. Ed. Cronk the talented euphonium soloist of the 57th.

One of the most captivating of the popular numbers which will be given will be "Darkies Revels" an up-to-date negro oddity in which the trap effects are heard to much advantage.

The synopsis of the piece is as follows:

Invitation to the after supper party—the arrival of guests — Jake dances a breakdown cake walk by party—another dance by Jake's rival—Hah! the serenade, vocal—Sand dance—the serenaders join the party —step dance—Finally the party disperse at break of day, cock-crow.

Below is the programme:

Flying Squadron—March.
Zanga—Overture.
Cherry—Intermezzo.
My Old Kentucky Home — Paraphrase.
Whistler and his dog— Characteristic.
Song for Cornet —"The Rosary" — Bandsman Hughes.
Darkies' Revels —Negro Oddity.
The mill in the black forest —Descriptive.
Creole queen—Cakewalk.
English Hunting Scene— Descriptive.

Mr. George Wesley has made arrangements to publish programmes of each night's band concert and these will be distributed in the park every Friday evening.

CHRISTIANITY SHOULD BE PLACED ABOVE ALL ELSE

Christ, the Great Benevolent One—Rev. C. H. Coon's Sermon to the Foresters—Annual Church Parade of the Order to Mark Street Methodist Church Last Night.

Rev. C. H. Coon, pastor of the Mark street Methodist church preached a special sermon to the Court Stanley Ancient Order of Foresters and the Queen Alexandra Circle upon the occasion of their annual church parade last night. The parade this year took place to the Mark street church and about one hundred were in attendance. The Foresters occupied a section of the church that had been reserved for them. The hymns were of an appropriate character.

In giving his welcome, Mr. Coon said he did not think it was necessary for him to go into details regarding the growth and prosperity of the Order, but congratulated it on its great success and influence.

The society, the members of which he was addressing, is essentially a benevolent one and the preacher recognizing this dwelt on the necessity of looking to Christ, the great benevolent One, and striving to do His will and placing the carrying out of His teachings above everything else.

The text was taken from Ephesians, 4th chapter and 8th verse, "Wherefore he saith, when he ascended up on high, he led captivity captive, and gave gifts unto men."

"The text," said the speaker, "will turn your attention to our risen Christ." We had to think of Him as the great benevolent One. As Christians we believed in a divine Christ. He came upon earth and brought proof that undoubtedly bespoke His divinity. Jesus Christ was the greatest of all human benefactors.

GIFT OF HEREDITY

We were blessed with the gift of hereditary. All of us may not have had pious parentage but it is very probable that most of us were of moral stock. It is certain at least that our ancestors were civilized. But our forefathers were more than simply civilized. They were moral and they were largely Christians and it was a great heritage they had left to their descendants.

The Foresters had a gift of heredity which they were duty bound to live up to.

MUST AIM HIGH

Forestry was British. We had much to thank God for in the high state of civilization and morality we had attained. Our forefathers had laid down their lives for us, but we could not live on the greatness of our forefathers. We had to be great ourselves. We had many temptations to overthrow.

What the British nation needed, what the right type of manhood and womanhood, men and women that were not afraid of self-sacrifice and self-denial.

THE GREATEST GIFT

But besides the gift of heredity, there was another one the greatest of all—the gift of Christianity. The speaker did not refer to the weak Christianity but the vital kind that meant freedom from the power and domination of sin—a Christianity that meant immortality. The Foresters interested themselves in benevolent work and did well to do so but they did wrong if they failed to treasure above all else the gift of immortal life.

It should be seen by us all that the utmost was done to go forward into Christian life for God and humanity. All the means in our power should be used for the cause of Christianity. How precious were the opportunities of God's men and women today.

CONCLUDING REMARKS

In conclusion Mr. Coon thanked the Foresters in attendance for honoring him by coming to Mark street. He realized the worth of the Order and would pray for the success of its work.

CITY COUNCIL TO TAKE UP THE FIRE BRIGADE PROBLEM

Appointment of a Chief and Several Other Matter That Have Turned up as Result of Yesterdays Fire to be Considered To-night.

Considerable talk is heard on the street regarding the work of the fire brigade at the Peterborough Cereal conflagration yesterday. The brigade is coming in for considerable adverse criticism but whether or not it is deserved the Review is not prepared to say. It does seem, however, as if Chief Rutherford, missed an excellent opportunity of making himself strong among the citizens of Peterborough, and to strengthen his position in the hands of his friends. No matter what dissatisfaction may exist, the chief and the members of the brigade are responsible for the fire protection of the city till midnight on June 30 and the ratepayers look to them for the service that would be given if there was no straining of the relations between the city and the brigade.

The question of appointing a new chief and some other matters in connection with the brigade that have turned up as a result of Sunday's fire will come up at the meeting of the city council to-night. It is expected that the part of the session devoted to the fire department will be of an interesting nature.

Ald. Johnston, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, was asked by the Review if he had anything to say regarding the work of the brigade yesterday. He did not care to discuss the situation until after the meeting of the council tonight.

TRIP TO THE HOLY LAND AND OTHER PLACES IN OLD WORLD

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Matthews Returned to the City, Saturday Evening After Four Months Delightful Tour—Many Places of Historic Interest Visited.

After an absence of nearly four months touring the continent Mr. and Mrs. Frank Matthews returned to the city Saturday evening, having sailed for Canada from Queenstown on the steamship Celtic, on May 22nd. They left here on February 3rd and sailed from New York on February 6th by the steamship Arabic. They were accompanied by the Misses Morrow and Miss Davidson who will return to the city in a fortnight or so. They are remaining in London with Senator Geo. A. Cox and Mr. G. W. Morrow.

The trip was a most delightful and interesting one, the party having visited almost all of the old historic places in Europe and Asia Minor. Their voyage going was not the most pleasant as several days of rough weather were experienced. However they landed at Funchal, a city of the Maderia Islands on February 14. The weather here was most beautiful, the flowers and fruit being at their best, genuine summer weather prevailing. From Funchal they went to Cadiz, Spain and inland to Seville, and from Seville to Granada. They then took the steamship again for Gibraltar. They visited Algiers, Malta, Athens, Constantinople and through the Straits of Bosphorus to the Black Sea. A visit was next made to Smyrna in Asia Minor and then to Caipha where the party taking an overland trip went to Jerusalem, the remainder going by rail to Joppa and from there to Palestine. Jerusalem was visited, also the Dead Sea the River Jordan and the party remained overnight at Jericho. They then returned to Joppa and Alexandra and went to Cairo by rail, where they spent four days viewing the pyramids. From there they went to Luxor and then by steamer to Aswine. Returning again to Luxor and Cairo they sailed from the latter place to Naples. The party visited Rome, Capri, Pompeii, and Sorento.

By steamer they went to Nice in the south part of France. From this point they took a tour in a motor car, to Monte Carlo, Cannes and other places of interest. Visits were made to Genoa, Pisa, Florence, Venice, Milan, Coma, the Italian Lakes, Lugano and then over the St Gothard railway to Lucerne, Switzerland and to Geneva, and Paris. A tour through England and Ireland concluded a splendid trip. The return voyage was much more pleasant than going.

WM. MEEHAN'S BODY HAS BEEN FOUND

Remains of Unfortunate Young Man Found Short Distance From Where He Was Drowned

The body of William Meehan, who was drowned near the mill dam at Lakefield last Tuesday afternoon, was found yesterday afternoon about fifty yards from the spot where the unfortunate young man fell into the water.

Coroner Dr. Gray, of this city, was notified of the finding of the body, but decided that an inquest was unnecessary as it was purely a case of accidental death.

IT WAS ONLY THE CARCASS OF A HOG

But From a Distance it Looked Like the Body of a Man

Two young men who were going down the river in a gasoline launch on Saturday afternoon were given quite a scare. They noticed something floating in the water and at a distance it was not unlike the body of a man. Closer inspection, however, revealed that it was only the carcass of a large hog.

DEAD CATTLE ARE LYING IN WOODS

Near Greystock's Schoolhouse—Farmers Complain

The residents of Otonabee are complaining about three dead cattle which have been lying for three weeks in Mr. Thos. Slattery's woods near Graystock's schoolhouse. The farmers state that the odor emanating from these dead beasts is not the most pleasant. It is generally known who owns them and it would be wise if he would take them away or bury them.

PRESENTATION TO MR. DARLING

Employees of A. W. Cressman Remember Him on His Departure

On Saturday evening at the close of business the employes of Mr. A. W. Cressman gathered to make a presentation to Mr. Norman Darling, who is severing his connection with that establishment. Mr. Darling has been in the employ of Mr. Cressman for six years and during that time has proved himself a capable and faithful servant. He will be much missed as he was exceedingly popular with the members of the store. As Mr. Darling is about to take up farming, his friends presented him with a splendid double-barrel shot gun. He is going to work with his uncle, Mr. Durward in Dummer, and will be seen on the supply boat "Bobs," this summer.

THE RALLY SATURDAY NIGHT ATTENDED WITH ENTHUSIASM

Predictions That Mr. Bradburn Will Have Sweeping Majority on June 8th—Supporters are Warned Against Over-Confidence—Mr. Stratton's Action in Connection With C.G.E. Employees Severely Criticized

There was a rousing meeting in Mr. Bradburn's committee rooms on Saturday night, when over 150 electors gathered. Speeches were made by several leading Conservatives and great enthusiasm prevailed. The swing of victory was in the air and a sweeping majority for the Conservative candidate and Mr. Whitney on June the 8th, was presaged. All the speakers warned the supporters of Mr. Bradburn against over-confidence. Every one of them should turn out and vote on election day. Mr. Stratton was given a severe raking for endeavoring to prevent some of the Conservatives in the employ of the Canadian General Electric Company from taking part in the election and for accusing them of trying to coerce the men under them to vote for the Conservative candidate.

Mr. Wm. Gibbs occupied the chair and the principal speakers were Messrs. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., E. A. Peck, Jas. Kendrey, ex-M.P., J. H. Burnham, J. W. Garvin, Dawson Kennedy and Wm. Jones.

MR. BRADBURN.

Mr. Bradburn said he was glad to see so many friends. He referred to the success of the tour through the back country. The Conservative speakers had been greeted by large audiences at the different points visited and much enthusiasm prevailed. Ladies had been present at several of the meetings and there was little doubt about being on the right track when the ladies were interested.

Mr. Bradburn urged his supporters not to become possessed of the idea that the victory was already won. They should keep right on working up to five o'clock on June 8th.

Mr. Bradburn's remarks were greeted by great applause.

MR. PECK.

Mr. Peck said the fight was on in earnest and it was up to everyone to work. He warned Conservatives about getting out the vote on June 8th. He was glad that it was apparent that Mr. Whitney and Mr. Bradburn were going to be returned, but there was danger in over-confidence. The vote and influence of every Conservative was wanted.

The speaker then took up Mr. Gillespie's address to the electors. The criticism of Mr. Whitney, which appeared in that address was based on a very slight foundation. He referred to the good work done by the Whitney Government during its short tenure of office. The change in the County Council's Act was one of great benefit. It meant much fairer representation for the townships. Mr. Peck also dealt with the improvements in the educational system. Better pay for the teachers and better equipped schools were among the things that had been effected. There was no foundation to the cry of the Opposition that the rights of the school trustees had been interferred with.

Speaking of the finances of the province, Mr. Peck said that the deficits of the Ross Government had been turned into surpluses. The revenue had greatly increased without any increase whatever in the taxes. The affairs of the province were conducted in a businesslike manner by the Whitney Government and the revenue had gone up by leaps and bounds. Naturally the expenditure had increased. Having collected the money it was Mr. Whitney's duty to spend it. If it was not to be spent, he should not have collected it.

Another point in connection with Mr. Gillespie's adddress was that the Liberal candidate and his leader offered no policy. They had no platform and no claims whatever to the support of the electors on June 8th.

MR. KENDREY.

Mr. Kendrey was delighted to be present to speak in the interest of the Whitney Governmnet and his friend Mr. Bradburn. Referring to the trip through the north country Mr. Kendrey said that he was confident that the Conservatives were going to have a bigger majority on June 8th in West Peterborough than ever before.

Mr. Kendrey strongly refuted the charge made by the Grits that the Whitney government had been a party to the spoils system. That such was not the case was shown by the fact that only 31 out of 704 government employees had been dismissed.

Mr. Gillespie and Mr. Stratton accused Mr. Bradburn of not playing fair in refusing to sign an agreement regarding election expenses. The speaker remembered a time when Mr. Stratton had refused to sign a similar document. Perhaps it was just as well he had not. If he did sign it it would not be worth anything anyway. He would prefer him not to sign it for he would not keep it.

Mr. Kendrey then took up the action of Mr. Stratton and the employees of the C G E. vigorously denouncing it. Mr. Stratton had written a letter to one of the men at Toronto connected with the company and informed him that some of the Conservative employees at Peterborough were taking an active part in the campaign. He thought that was beneath any man in the city of Peterborough. No matter who a man worked for he had the right to work or vote for whoever he pleased, provided he did so during his own time. He was sure that the employees of the CGE would resent this action on the part of Mr. Stratton.

"Whoever knew the Grits to fight a fair campaign." asked Mr. Kendrey "If they could not defeat us fairly they resorted to tampering with the ballot boxes. We are in charge of the ballots this time though and we'll take good care they don't steal them".

Ontario at this time, said Mr. Kendrey, had the most honest government it ever had and the electors were not going to make a change, although Mr. Stratton wanted it. If the speaker had the name Mr. Stratton had throughout the country he would be ashamed to take any part in an election.

Speaking of the Conservative candidate Mr. Kendrey said that Mr. Bradburn had done more for Peterborough than Mr. Stratton had ever done. What had Mr. Stratton done for Peterborough. He had done a lot for Mr. Stratton but very little for his constituency.

Mr. Kendrey also warned the electors of West Peterborough against over-confidence and predicted a great victory on June 8th.

MR. GARVIN.

Mr J. W. Garvin made an excellent speech in which he eulogized the Whitney administration very highly. He dealt particularly with the financial standing of the province and showed the wise action of the government in connection with the La Rose mine deal and the CNR guarantee. He was sorry to hear that an attempt had been made to coerce the employees of the Canadian General Electric Works. Freedom to vote as a man pleased was one of the alienable rights of British citizenship and any interference with the right which had been so dearly bought, would not be tolerated.

Mr. Garvin's explanation of the La Rose mining deal and the CNR. guarantee were received with much satisfaction.

OTHER SPEAKERS

Short speeches were also made by Mr J. H. Burnham, Mr Jones, Mr. Dawson Kennedy, Reeve Scott, of Smith and others. Reeve Scott's statement that Mr Bradburn would be given a majority in Smith was received with much enthusiasm.

The rally dispersed with the usual cheers.

"CURLY" WILSON SEVERELY INJURED IN OWEN SOUND WRECK

Melville Lewis Wilson, of Peterborough, was severely injured in the wreck on the C. P. R., near Owen Sound on Friday night. He was employed as fireman and his injuries consisted of a bruised spine, cuts about the elbow, scalp wounds, and burns about the head and neck. He will recover.

Mr. Wilson is well known in Peterborough, having resided here till about a year ago. He was employed with the C. P. R. and boarded with Mr. A. Peters on Aylmer St. His friends here will regret to hear of his accident but will be glad to know that his recovery is assured.

In connection with the accident a Toronto despatch says:

"Melville Lewis Wilson, better known as "Curly" boarded at 52 Victoria St., West Toronto, and is one of the best known and most popular of the younger railway men. He came to West Toronto a little over over a year ago from Peterborough, where his home is still, and has been employed as a spare fireman. His brother has been visiting in this city for a week past and, on learning of the accident this morning telegraphed the news to his mother at Peterborough. He also received a telegram from Owen Sound, saying that his brother's injuries were not quite so serious as was at first supposed."

OUGHT BOYS TO SMOKE?

To the Editor of the Review:

Dear Sir,—I wonder how many have though whether young lads, growing into youth and manhood; do themselves any harm by consuming the cigarette? I am surprised to see and know quite a large number of lads, who smoke. Where does the money come from, in the first place, that enables them to smoke these coffin nails? I do not think I am exaggerating when I say that 50 per cent. of the boys in Peterborough get the first opportunity they can to smoke in secret. Do the parents of growing boys keep a watch to see that the latter's pockets do not contain this useless and injurious substance, called tobacco? And that their breath is not tainted, with its fumes? What action do the great railway companies take, and some of the large manufacturing firms? They will not take on men and boys who smoke, as it interferes with the important work they may have to be engaged in. In what way does does it injure the boys of Canada and boys of other lands? We read in the daily papers, of lads stealing into houses to obtain money, to buy the deadly cigarette. We even read of the deaths of lads, due to their excessive smoking who are not old enough to stand the results. Let us see what the late Sir George Williams has to say, he who founded that fine institution, the Y.M.C.A.: "The effects of smoking with its tendency to encourage drinking, are to reduce a lad's energy, to lessen his intellectual capacity and to weaken his moral character. Tobacco smoke contains five substances, nicotine, carbon, carbonic acid, ammonia and water, in a very impure form. It is bad for the brain and body. Is quite useless. Is very hurtful to lungs and blood, and makes the throat very hot and dry. Being saturated with the poison of the tobacco leaf, is decidedly injurious. I think this is sufficient to arouse the parents of this city, to their responsibility. Let every man that smokes, not give to, or encourage lads to use tobacco. There are men I know who would like to give up this habit, but cannot. With closing I regret to say, our Sunday schools and boys' clubs contain some cigarette fiends. What I put before the public is, no boy under the age of 21 years should smoke, then when he reaches that age he can judge for himself."

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your most valuable space,

Yours truly,
A. C. DAVENPORT.

Decisive Clearance of Remnants, Odds and Ends

On Monday, June 1st, we inaugurate our Annual Sale of Remnants, Odds and Ends and Broken Lines--a sale which means much to every woman who reads this.

We have gone through our Home-Furnishing Departments with critical eyes--wherever we have found a short piece of goods, "slap" it has joined the other remnants.

And the Case is the Same With Odds and Ends and Broken Lines

But not until the Price Cutter has done his "best" or his "worst" for prices have been pruned and clipped until not a vistage of the original profit is visible, and in many cases we cut away into the original cost.

The Remnants and Odd articles are ready. It's a great opportunity to buy splendidly worthy goods, to buy an abundance and pay so little that you hardly miss the trifling sums.

You'd better come early. We say this in earnestness, for careful customers of this store will take care that the goods won't stay here long.

SPORTING NEWS

A BUSY SEASON FOR THE PETERBOROUGH BALL TEAM

An Excursion Will Likely be Run to Cobourg for Game There on Saturday—Arranging for Many Exhibition Contests.

Next Saturday the Peterborough team will journey to Cobourg to play a scheduled Midland League game with the team of that town. The Cobourg team are a very strong aggregation of ball tossers this year, and judging by the way they rubbed it into the Athletics on Victoria Day they should make the local team go a fast pace to beat them. But Manager Johnston will have his team in great shape for the game, and there is not much fear of them playing anything but the best game that is in them. The lay-off occasioned by the rain last Saturday has only inspired them to get out and work their heads on the lake shore. The game scheduled to defeat the strong aggregation ed for last Saturday with the Athletics will be played off at a time agreeable to both teams. The Petes are arranging a lot of exhibition games with teams all down along the line, including Belleville, Picton, Napanee, Wellington, Kingston, Gananoque Charlotte, NY, and then to keep them busy they will play Bowmanville, Whitby, Oshawa, Barrie and Newcastle, if suitable arrangements can be made. So with this list of games on their belts a busy season is in store for the strong aggregation from the Windsor hotel.

An excursion will likely be run to Cobourg for the game on Saturday.

SOME BIG LEAGUE TALK

Tyrus Cobb, of Detroit, the leading player of the American League last year, is again on the top of the ladder as the leading hitter. At present there does not seem to be any person likely to displace him, unless he takes an awful slump, which seems an improbability.

Fielder Jones, the very energetic manager of the White Sox, of Chicago, is still on the suspended list of ball players of the American League. Ban Johnston says that this umpire baiting has got to be stopped in his league as quickly as possible.

Wild Bill Donovan and Hugh Jennings have had their suspensions raised by Ban Johnston, of the American League. This will certainly be a great help to the Tigers, as with their leading pitcher back in the game, things will certainly look bright for Hugh Jennings and his scrappers.

The Chicago Cubs are having their troubles in winning games. This year so far their batting has not been up to the standard, and only the effective pitching of the twirlers keeps them in the leading position in the National League.

Young McQuillan, of the Phillies, of the National League, is destined to become the find of the season in the pitching department of the league. He has won eight games out of the twelve he has pitched, and he is said to have the finest bunch of curves up his sleeves that can be handed out to any of the batsmen.

PETES GREAT BASE STEALERS; THORNE HOLDS GOLD MEDAL

As a base-running aggregation of ball playyers, Bill O'Brien, the manager of the Port Hope team, says that Peterborough's team cannot be beaten, and Bill lays part of the defeat to his team on Victoria Day to the fact that the Peterboroughs are tremendous ground gainers. It seems as though Bill had pretty nearly guessed one of the strong points of the Peterborough game. For in Murphy, Burns, O'Brien, Maddock, Thorne, Cheetham and McDermott, they certainly have a great bunch of base-runners. Walter Thorne, the speedy first baseman, perhaps is the king of them all, for in the indoor base-ball league, base running contests held in Toronto Armouries last winter, Walter won the first prize, a beautiful gold medal, for the fastest base runner in the league, and his ability in this line was proven by the way he purloined bases on Victoria Day against Port Hope. And Murphy, touted to be able to run a hundred yards in less than 10 2-5 seconds, and competed in the last Ward Marathon in Toronto, finishing well up in the race. The rest of the nine above mentioned, need little to be said about them, for the record of stolen bases this year, so far is certainly a credit to the team.

PETES WILL PLAY THE WIDEAWAKES

Home and Home Games Arranged —First One in Lindsay on Wednesday

The Peterborough baseball team have arranged home and home games with Lindsay Wide-Awakes and the first game will be played in Lindsay this Wednesday. The return game will be played in Peterborough at an early date, which will be arranged in Lindsay on Wednesday. The Petes will have on their strongest line-up, because they don't want to take any chances. The following will leave here on the 11.50 train;—Edmunds, c; Clements, p; Lawson, 1b; McDermott, 2b; Cheetham, 3b; Maddock, ss; Burns, rf; O'Brien, cf; Murphy, lf.

WILL PRACTICE TWICE A WEEK

The Cricket Club will hold regular practices at Nicholls Oval every Wednesday and Friday. All the members are requested to bear this in mind. A practice will also be held to-night. The club have under consideration several matches with outside towns but no dates have been definitely fixed.

LAWN BOWLING

The Parkdale Lawn Bowling Club have decided to erect a 3600 club house at Cowan Avenue and King streets, Toronto.

A reception will be held at the bowling green on Wednesday afternoon and evening. All the members and especially the new ones, are requested to be present. An enjoyable time is expected.

Two young Canoe fishermen, David Richardson, and Freeman Feltmale, were drowned yesterday.

SPORTING COMMENT

There should be a splendid patronage given the game on Saturday between Cobourg and the Petes in Cobourg. There are quite a number of Americans at the Lakeside town and the Johnston nine is an aggregation that can dish up fast enough ball to suit the critical ones.

It rains more for baseball than for any other game in the category, while lacrosse, football, rugby and other games are interfered with to some extent by the rain it seems to be baseball's natural enemy and is the cause of all kinds of disappointment to the fans and players.

The walking game has died away considerably locally owing to the fact that it has been somewhat overdone and also on account of the weather getting warmer. The question is, when it is revived will as much interest be taken in it as ever?

The new grand stand at the Riverside Park will seat when completed, about 700 people.

LIVE NEWS OF THE SCRAPPERS

Philadelphia Jack O'Brien is down for a battle with Jack Blackburn, the negro, at Philadelphia, June 3rd. This battle has been on the boards for some time, but for one reason or other has never been clinched. Now that it is settled that the two will surely meet the sports will watch the outcome with much interest. Blackburn is not as heavy as O'Brien, but carries a punch that would do credit to a heavy-weight. He is one of a few negro fighters prominent in the ring to-day whom white boxers have given a wide berth. O'Brien's showing against the black will be closely watched. Jack has not fought a battle since May 8th, 1907, when he and Tommy Burns indulged in their memorable fiasco in Los Angeles, in which Burns handed the Quaker the double cross. Since then O'Brien has not stood very high pugilistically.

The most talked of fighter to-day is Stanley Ketchel, the young western middleweight, who has come to the front during the past year. He is looked upon as a second Fitzsimmons and as he is taking on weight daily, should soon be a dangerous opponent to Tommy Burns.

Battling Nelson won out in his efforts to get a long fight with Champion Joe Gans. They are to meet in San Francisco on the afternoon of July 4th for 70 per cent. of the gate receipts. The weight is to be 133 pounds ringside. Jack Welch will referee the bout and the boxers are to divide their share of the money, 60 per cent. to the winner and 40 per cent. to the loser. Both expect to go through a long course of preparation for the mill which should draw a record-breaking crowd. Gans and Nelson fought 42 rounds at Goldfield September 3rd, 1906, Gans winning on a foul, after giving Nelson a severe beating. The Dane, however, fought a game battle.

Jack Johnson is disgusted with Tommy Burns' actions and lays a claim to the world's championship, because of Burns' exorbitant demands, which the negro says is part of Tommy's plan to sidestep him. Johnson says he is ready to meet any one in the world and will give Burns the first chance, provided he does not demand preposterous terms. In the meantime Burns has accepted an offer to fight Lang, an Australian, in Sidney, during the visit of the American fleet, for which he will receive $20,000, win, lose or draw. He will start for Australia the latter part of June. Johnson defeated Lang in Melbourne last year.

Ike Weir, the one time celebrated featherweight fighter, and a man who is said to have made $200,000 during his ring career, is dying in a charity ward of a Boston hospital. He is 41 years old. Weir's longest and most memorable fight was at Kouts, Ind., when he met Kid Murphy in 1889. The battle, which resulted in a draw, lasted 80 rounds.

ROGERS AND HURTUBISE

Will Meet Again in Handicap Bout on June 10th

The wrestling match between Rogers and Hurtubuise has been arranged to take place on the 10th of June. The articles of the bout have been agreed upon by both men and they will wrestle upon the same handicap conditions as before, Rogers to throw Gene four times in an hour. While the match has been definitely decided upon some few details have yet to be arranged.

W. B. Naylor, Roger's manager suggests Fred Mohl the Buffalo heavyweight wrestler as referee. The bout will be pulled off in the Brock street rink.

BASEBALL

The Y. M. C. A. baseball team will practice to-morrow night at 6.30 at Boswell's field. The following men are asked to be present: Graham, McDonald, Patterson, Dormer, Westbrooke, Squires, Porter, Waram, Harmer, Barber, Gibson, Thornton, Wade, Sanderson, Robertson, Morpher, Oreseman.

TAS PRACTICE

The TAS team will practice at their field tonight at 6.30 o'clock. The team for Wednesday night's game with the Strathconas will be picked.

GAME TONIGHT

A practice game between the Karnots and Strathconas will be played at Nicholls Oval at 6.30 o'clock tonight.

The Maple Leafs, Sheehy's nine, play to-day at 4.30 on Stratton's lawn, Park street.

ANOTHER GAME FOR THE PETES

Will Play in Belleville on Monday June 8, Following the Match With Cobourg.

E. V. Illsey, secretary of the Belleville ball team, has written Mr. Corney Burns, of the local club, stating he would be glad to have a game arranged between Peterborough and Belleville, the game to take place in Belleville on any date convenient to the Peterboroughs. Corney replied that Monday, June 8th, would be most suitable as the locals play in Cobourg on Saturday and from that town they could go right on to Belleville without having to return home. By Peterborough suggesting the 8th it practically means that the game will be played on that date as it is certain to prove acceptable to Belleville.

PRACTICE OF "Y" FOOTBALL TEAM

The Y.M.C.A. football club will practice to-night at seven o'clock at the Driving Park. The following are asked to turn out:—W. J. Coleman, G. R. Coleman, F. A. Sisson, C. K. Colman, D. Baker, W. Milburn, Ray Best, C. E. Sisson, G. Ingham, D. Loomis, P. Barramore, P. M. McCarroll, W. S. Laing, F. Turner, W. Armstrong, F. H. Cameron, W. B. Holmes, S. Anderson, J. Harstone, Dick Evans, J. Archibald, P. McFadden, W. Shinner, T. Deforge, C. E. Underhill, Tharp, J. Harrison.

SATURDAY AT THE WOODBINE

Toronto, June 1.—Five favorites finished in front on Saturday at Woodbine Park, Onyx, Personal, Clell Turney, Spencer Reiff and Gold Way. Louis Cavanagh and Hawkama, second and third choices, were the other winners. Of the beaten favorites Sir Galahad ran second and Belmere third. The track was heavy after the incessant rains, slight showers falling during the afternoon, part of the time a fog hiding a view of the back stretch. Owing to track conditions scratches were plentiful—28 altogether—including Inferno and Cave Adsum from the Toronto Cup, taking considerable from the interest in the feature event. The following were the winners in the day's races:

York purse, 3-year-olds and up, 6 furlongs—1, T. G. Molinelli's Royal Onyx; 2, Temmeraire; 3, Blackburn.

Hopeful purse, 2-year-old fillies, 5 furlongs—1, Mrs. J. McLaughlin's Personal; 2, Cheek; 3, Flat Creek.

Victorious purse, 3-year-olds, 1 mile—1, T. A. Fullum's Lois Cavanagh; 2, Sir Galahad; 3, Flarney.

Toronto cup, 3-year-olds and up, 11-8 mile—1, A. Turney's Clell Turney; 2, Main Chance; 3, Martin Doyle.

Scarboro steeplechase, 4-year-olds and up, 2 miles—1, J. W. Booth's Spencer Reiff; 2, Glencastle; 3, Manzano.

Martimas purse, 3-year-olds and up, 1 1-16 mile—1, P. M. Cecill's Gold-way; 2, Ismalian; 3, Frank Lalor.

Yorke purse, 3-year-olds and up, 6 furlongs—1, Fairport stable's Hawkama; 2, Herman Johnson; 3, Belmere.

INDIAN DRUNK ON CITY STREETS

An Indian from the Hiawatha Reserve, crazed with drink, was arrested this afternoon by P.C. McGinty. He was chasing boys through the streets and was generally making himself a nuisance. He will appear before the Magistrate in the morning.

TENDERS HAVE BEEN AWARDED

For Ice for Fountains and Coal For City---Property Committee met.

Considerable business was transacted at a meeting of the Property Committee on Saturday afternoon. The contracts of supplying ice for the fountains and for coal for the city buildings were awarded. Those present were Ald. Bradburn, chairman; Mayor Rush, Ald. Johnston, Gillespie and Morgan.

It was moved by Ald. Morgan, seconded by Ald. Gillespie, that the contract for ice for the fountains near the police station and at Central Park for the season of 1908, be given to T. A. Rahill at $75.—Carried.

The following tenders for egg coal, hard, were received:

	Per Ton.
J. E. A. Fitzgerald	$7.00
Weir & O'Brien	7.00
Scott & Hogg	7.00
R. J. Wolstenholm	6.50
Peterborough Fuel & Cartage Co.	7.00
Ontario Coal Co.	7.00
R. Hicks & Co.	7.00

It was moved by Ald. Johnston and seconded by Ald. Gillespie, that the tender of R. J. Wolstenholm at $6.50 per ton, to be delivered 50 tons at the city buildings and 30 tons at the fire hall, be accepted, market weight tickets to be furnished with the coal.—Carried.

A letter was received from J. T. O'Connell in regard to purchasing lots 10 and 11, plan 22A, and selling land for an extension to Bethune st.

A report was read from the City Engineer in regard to the gravel pit on the above lots.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Gillespie, that the city purchase from J. T. O'Connell, property on the north end of Bethune street, 66 feet wide and so far as he owns it, for the continuation of Bethune st., at $300, and sell him lots 10 and 11, plan 22A, for $200. Mr. O'Connell to be permitted to grade Caddy street, under the direction of the engineer, provided he uses ground from it to fill up that part of the gravel pit, which is on Caddy street. This whole proposition to be dependent upon Mr. Dixon giving a right of way for the extension of Bethune street from Mr. O'Connell's property to Aberdeen ave.

The chairman was authorized to purchase lights for Victoria Park.

P.O. CLERKS DID NOT GET PAID

In connection with the report that the salaries of civil servants were likely to remain unpaid pending the outcome of the struggle at Ottawa, over the voting of supplies the clerks and mail carriers in the Peterborough post office did not receive their pay on Saturday.

Dominion and Provincial authorities are probing the recent Ottawa street car disaster.

Galt friends last night gave Rev. Rural Dean Ridley a bank book with a credit of $460.

OUR GREAT
June White Sale

A Big Nine Days' Merchandise Movement Thursday, June 4th, to Saturday, June 13th

WITH some manufacturers and wholesalers spring business has not been as good as they anticipated, consequently they found themselves overstocked in certain lines, and in order to adjust their stock to more normal conditions they were willing to sacrifice prices. We have gathered together a number of these lines, all new and seasonable, and will offer them at TRADE COMPELLING PRICES on the above days.

Such economies, coming at practically the beginning of the season, are decidedly unusual, and those who take advantage of them will save largely.

LADY FELL AND FRACTURED LEG

Rose Bradley Victim of Painful Accident Last Night.

Little Rose Brady, a Barnardo Home girl, ten years of age, of Pontypool, was the victim of a painful accident last night. The child, having to get up during the night, leg. She was brought to the city this morning and removed in the Dan Spence ambulance to Nicholls Hospital. Dr. Halliday is attending the little girl who is progressing as favorably as could be expected.

Richard O'Brien, a former newspaper man, was killed by a Montreal street car.

TEMPORARY INCREAEE IN POPULATION

One Hundred Girls Arrive at Hazel Brae From Old Country

One hundred girls from the Old Country arrived at Hazel Brae, the local Barnardo home, at noon to-day. They came on an immigrant train which passed through the city over the C.P.R. about 12.30 o'clock. They were met at the station with busses and conveyed to the home. The girls were bright and happy looking and it was stated that they had a good voyage across the Atlantic. They will be sent out to different parts of the country. A party of boys on the train went on to the distributing home for boys at Toronto.

VOTES OF THANKS WERE PASSED

After the service of Court Stanley, A.O.F. to Mark street church last night the members and companions accompanied by Rev. Mr. Coon, returned to the court room where a hearty vote of thanks was moved by Brother W J Johnston, seconded by Brother G. R. Record, to Rev. Mr. Coon, the choir, and the church officials for the use of the church, to which Mr Coon made a suitable reply, thanking the members for the honor they bestowed upon him, and wished the court every success.

It was moved by Brother J C Hamilton, seconded by Brother E. Adlam, that a vote of thanks be extended to the companions for turning out so well at the service and coming back to the court room, to which Companion Mrs. Head made a reply on behalf of the Lady Foresters, thanking the members for their kind invitation, also the Rev. Mr. Coon for words to them.

ENGINEERS WILL EXCHANGE TRAINS

Drivers Pratt and Wilson of the G.T.R., are taking turns in running the Toronto flyer on the G. T. R. When Mr. Pratt is on the Toronto train, Mr. Wilson is running the morning train to Port Hope and vice versa. This gives each man a shorter day than when one man takes the Toronto train continually.

GREAT DISPLAY

On Saturday, June 6th, at the Grand an event of more than ordinary importance will take place in this city, on which occasion Mr. Henry B. Harris will again present Charles Klein's greatest dramatic effort, "The Lion and the Mouse," which from its first performance, has been the greatest success presented in years, and was voted the theatrical event last season.

"The Lion and the Mouse" is from the pen of Chas. Klein, author of "The Music Master," and is unanimously voted by both press and public, the most absorbingly interesting play of the period. Mr. Klein has taken as his theme the political and money interests of the country, putting them against honesty and the social problem. That a single man can amass a fortune of a thousand millions during his lifetime is argued in Mr. Klein's play to be impossible and honestly done. John Burkett Ryder, the central character of the play, believes that no one has a right or liberty to interfere in any way with his colossal schemes, and because a judge of the supreme court renders decisions unfavorable to his interests, Ryder removes him from the bench. Tampering with the honesty of a supreme court judge brings forth a complication of circumstances which, as Mr. Klein has woven them, holds the interest of the audiences at fever pitch until the last curtain falls.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

STOOL PIGEONS

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir, — Mr. George Roger is allowing himself to act as stool-pigeon for Mr. Gillespie when he helps to call off the C.G.E. employees from acting as ordinary men and free electors on committees for Mr. Bradburn. It's all very well for the West Riding Reform Association to pretend that it is a saintly body representing the Liberal Party. But it isn't. It is just a band of geezers working a fake for an election campaign. Mr. Roger and Mr. J. J. Hartley are a nice outfit to get up in church one day and put the screws on C.G.E. men the next. They had to go to Toronto to get it done. Nobody knew anything about the business here. Well, we'll see. It's a long lane has no turn and the employees of every mill in Peterborough will remember Mr. Geo. Roger and Mr. F. D. Kerr and Mr. J. J. Hartley, officers and stool-pigeons for Mr. Gillespie and those with him who are trying to win by force.

NOMINATION VERY QUIET

This is nomination day. The proceedings for the riding of West Peterborough were of a very quiet nature. The nomination of the two candidates, Mr. Bradburn and Mr. Gillespie, and the election of an agent for each, was practically all that was to it. There were no speeches or a public gathering of any kind. The nomination was held at the Court House between twelve and two o'clock, the returning officer, Sheriff Hall, being in charge. Mr. T. E. Bradburn was nominated by Mr. W. H. Moore and Ald. Harry Phelan, and Mr. G. A. Gillespie's papers had attached to them the names of Mr. Andrew McFarlane and Mr. J. O'Brien.

Mr. E. L. Goodwill was appointed agent for Mr. Gillespie and Mr. E. A. Peck for Mr. Bradburn.

AT NORWOOD

Norwood, June 1.—Nominations for the provincial elections was held here to-day. Warden J. A. Thompson was nominated by the Conservatives and Mr. P. McNulty by the Liberals. A large number were in attendance and speeches were made by the two candidates. Mr. J. W. Garvin and several others.

ST. LUKE'S

The following meetings will be held at St. Luke's church during the week.

Wednesday, 8 p.m.—Evensong and baptismal service.

Friday, 8—Junior Chapter of Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

Thursday, 7 p.m.—Box sale and entertainment in Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street.

ST. JOHN'S

The services yesterday at St. John's were quite in keeping with the great festival of the Ascension of our blessed Lord. At Matins the Rev. A. W. Jenks lecturer in Divinity, from Trinity College, Toronto, dwelt on the literal and historic fact of the Ascension in the course of his sermon. The full choral evensong was conducted by Dr. Langfeldt, of St. Luke's.

The theme of the ascension ran through all the music, ably rendered by the large choir, a special feature being the chorus from Mozart's Twelfth Mass, "Glorious is Thy Name," the choir singing splendidly, assisted by Miss Choate. Miss Wallis and Mr. R. J. Devey gave two trios, "Intermezzo" and "Consolation" before and after the evensong.

Fire completely destroyed the hotel at Point Vivan, a summer resort near Brockville.

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL HELD A REGULAR MEETING

The township council met in the town hall on Wednesday, May 27th. All the members were present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Communications were received and read from—

Wesley Whitfield, asking for the right to perform township work upon the gravel road through lots 3 and 4 in the 7th concession. Received and no action taken.

Mr Brownlee, asking for a refund of dog tax for 1908. Received and laid over.

Accounts were handed in from the following:

Richard Lillico, opening snow roads in R Div No 1	32.90
J Armstrong, opening snow roads, R Div No 8	29.20
W McKee, opening snow roads in R. Div. No 1	2.00
Gillicks & Co. wood for charity	6.00
J Armstrong, repairs to bridges and culverts on Road Division No. 3	11.00
J McIntosh, hauling culvert tile	1.50
Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Co. coal for charity	3.75

On motion of Messrs Howden and Dobbs, these accounts were passed and ordered to be paid.

The committee which was to investigate the matter of constructing a bridge over the dam on Erskine Ave at Cameron street, reported that it would not be advisable at the present time to take any action as the road at this place was not a public highway.

This report was received and adopted.

The committee appointed to investigate the matter of a fence being placed upon the right of way at Braidwood avenue reported having consulted the township solicitor and after a consideration of the matter recommended that no action be taken by the township at the present time.

The report was received and adopted.

The committee who were appointed to look into the advisability of straightening out and grading Erskine avenue, reported that it would be in the interest to all concerned to grade and ditch a portion of this highway and recommended that a committee be appointed to act with commissioner of road division No. 1 to look after the work.

The report was received and adopted.

Moved by Messrs Dobbin and Foster that Messrs. Howden and May are hereby appointed a committee to supervise the work of grading Erskine Ave., from the G.T.R. track northward.

This was carried.

Moved by Messrs. May and Howden that the Commissioner of Road Division No. 1 is hereby directed to grade Western Ave. and to put in a tile culvert at the juncture with the road between Con. 11 and 12.

This was carried.

Moved by Messrs Foster and Dobbin, that the Commissioner of Road Division No. 1 is hereby directed to clear out the sides of the boundary road on Con. 12, one-half the cost to be charged to the Township of Cavan.

This was carried.

Moved by Messrs. May and Foster, that the Reeve and Councillor Dobbin are hereby appointed a committee authorized to open a culvert on the 8th concession, if found necessary.

This was carried.

Moved by Messrs. Foster and May that Messrs. Howden, Foster and the Commissioner of Road Division No. 8 are hereby appointed a committee to investigate the matter of altering the course of the creek and putting on a culvert at McLean's crossing, and to report to this council at the next meeting.

This was carried.

Moved by Messrs. Foster and May that Mr. Howden and the clerk are hereby authorized to estimate the cost of repairing the washout on Park St., and to advertise for tenders to do the work in whatever way might be considered most advisable.

This was carried.

By-law No. 600, "A By-law to Confirm the appointment of a Collector of Taxes for 1908," was then introduced and finally passed.

Council then adjourned till the third Monday in June to meet in May's School House at 7.30 p. m.

HOW TO KEEP JUICE IN A PIE

Any one who has ever had the juice from an apple, rhubarb or other pie, run all out into the oven while baking knows just how annoying it is. I have overcome the difficulty by taking a strip of clean white cloth, about an inch wide, and long enough to lap when put around the edge of the pie plate, wringing it out of hot water, doubling together lengthwise and pinning tight around the edge of the plate. When the pie is baked, take off this rim, and you will find the juice in the pie instead of in the oven.—From Women's Home Companion for June.

VOL. LVI., No. 129. PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, TUESDAY, JUNE 2, 1908 TEN CENTS PER WEEK

HANDFUL OF CONSERVATIVES HELD THE FORT AT OTTAWA

Customs Estimates Come in For Severe Criticism—Morning Sittings Commence To-day—Importation of Lumber From the United States.

Ottawa, June 2.—At 1.30 this (Tuesday) morning a handful of Conservative members were keeping up a stream of talk on the customs estimates. Nearly all the Oppositionists are away, either in Ontario or Quebec for the elections, but there are enough left to prevent the Government making much headway.

Chief Conservative Whip Taylor said after midnight he did not know whether the Government intended to keep the House in session all night or not. Morning sessions are due today.

At 1.30 Mr. Borden proposed that an item of $239,500 for salaries and traveling expenses of inspectors of ports and other officers on inspection and preventitive service be allowed to pass.

Mr. Patterson announced during the evening that seizing officers were to have their salaries increased in lieu of a share of fines imposed for under valuation and similar minor transgressions. In cases of actual smuggling, however, the seizing officer would still share in the fine.

Mr. Foster secured a withdrawal of the statement made by Sir Frederick Borden on Friday that he (Foster) had taken commission on sale of lands bought by Mr. Foster for Union Trust Co., of which he is manager.

The bill of Grand Trunk Pacific Branch Lines Co. was again taken up in committee. Sir Wilfrid Laurier withdrew the amendment to the amendment of Mr. Graham, providing that the Government take over such branch lines that the company may elect not to retain. The amendment of Mr. Lennox was defeated after discussion. It was to take over such lines as the Government may choose. The bill passed its third reading.

Sir Wilfrid moved that, beginning Tuesday, there shall be morning sittings and that rule requiring the House to rise at 6 o'clock be cancelled.

Mr. Borden pointed out there were several important committees sitting in the morning and objected especially to cancelling the Wednesday evening rule. Mr. Foster also pleaded for the Wednesday night break. The House would need it when pressure was put on and members were worked to straining point. Mr. Fielding agreed that there was a large accumulation of business, but in a well organized factory the rule was that when orders multiplied hands work overtime.

"But this is not a well organised factory," Mr. Foster rejoined.

Mr. Lake moved to postpone the change of rules till next week, but Sir Wilfrid moved in amendment that Wednesday night intermission be continued for the time being. This compromise was accepted.

Col. Hughes brought in the question of importation of lumber from the United States. Over $12,000,000 worth of lumber was imported in the past year, and as a result wages of Canadian workmen had declined. Col. Hughes made a plea for increased duty on lumber.

Mr. Knowles (Saskatchewan) protested against an increase. Settlers in the west required cheap lumber. He was an out and out free trader and supported the Liberal party because it was less protectionist than its opponents. The matter then dropped. The House got into supply at 10.30, the estimates of the Minister of customs being again taken up.

ORANGEMEN WILL GET GRANT THE COUNCIL ADOPTS REPORT

Recommendation of Finance Committee is Endorsed—City Council in Regular Session—Several By-laws Passed.

A regular meeting of the City Council was held last night, when in addition to discussing the fire brigade matter, reports were received from committees, by-laws passed and some other business transacted.

Those present were Mayor Rush, Ald. Johnston, Tovey, Elliott, Morgan, Bradburn, Butler, Gillespie, Turner, Neill, McIntyre and Phelan. The Mayor arrived home from Toronto on the local and drove from the station to the Council Chamber.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Ald Bradburn, acting chairman of the Finance Committee, presented the following report:—

Your Finance Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That a grant of $125 be made to the Orange Association towards decorating the city for the 12th of July celebration and that they be given the use and control of the Central Park on the day of the celebration.

2. That a grant of $150 be made to the Salvation Army Band, provided they play in the Victoria Park or in such other park as may be designated from time to time by the chairman of the Property Committee on each Tuesday night during the season.

3. That the assessors be paid $75 each on account of salary on the last days of the months of May, June and July and August of this year and the balance when they return the rolls with their work completed.

4. That the City Treasurer be authorized to pay M. J. Neelon $2.25 witness fees in the case of Russel vs. Nixon.

5. That the request of Dr. D. King for a hound license for a fee of $10 be granted.

6. That the clerk purchase the stationery required for the city to the end of the year by tender from the local stationers.

7. That the business tax of R. J. Sody of $14.70 on Hunter street, be remitted provided he pays the business tax on No. 369 George st.

8. That a cheque for 98 cents be issued to R. Nicholls for dog tax paid in error.

9. That a cheque be issued to the Tax Collector for $6.04 taxes on part of lots numbers 12, 13 and 14, plan 26, and for $7.36 for taxes on 56 Wescott street, being taxed for part of the year 1907, on property purchased by the city.

10. That the following accounts be paid:—

A. H. Stratton & Co.	$ 4.65
Benj. Shortley	5.90
R. Dunne	2.50
Peterborough Lumber Co.	30.00
R. E. Wood	10.00
B. Morrow	3.00
Dominion Lubricating Oil Co.	8.70
Laidlaw & Oke	120.00
Banks Bicycle and Sporting Goods Co.	33.50
Alexander & Miller	1.20
J. J. Turner & Sons	7.88
County of Peterborough	139.70
Peterborough Review	37.81
G. Walter Green	49.48
L. Spry	1.20
Estate of A. McDonald	30.72
Peterborough Examiner	16.00
Thos. Johnston	1.50
J and W. Metheral	39.15
J. H. Savigny	31.00
Fanning's Laundry	5.06
Thos. Irwin	1.45
Bell Telephone Co.	6.55
C.P.R. Co's. Telegraph	1.73
Robert Wilson	4.50
G.N.W. Telegraph Co.	.34
R. Gibbs	11.00
Thos. Johnston	1.50
Peterborough Hardware Co.	90.61
R. Hicks & Co.	832.00
Kingan Hardware Co.	30.59
Hutchinson-Sturgeon Co.	.40
Times Printing Co.	15.35
China Hall Company	.40
Higgins Hardware Company	5.50
C N. Brown	9.55

Mayor Rush pointed out that there had been sound opposition to the grant to the Orangemen, but when the committee had considered the request it was thought it would be a good piece of business to make a grant, as it was considered advisable that the city should be decorated on July 13th, the day of the big celebration. Since then there had been several letters of protest and he had been spoken to by two merchants on George street, who said it was time such grants were stopped.

The Council, however, adopted the report, and the Orangemen will get their money. A clause was put in that the Chief of Police have control of Central Park during the day of the celebration.

LEGAL COMMITTEE.

Ald. Elliott reported for the Legal Committee as follows:—

1. That the Mayor and chairman of this committee interview Andrew Graham, with authority to settle the claim made by him for goods damaged by water.

2. That the matter of the Council co-operating in welcoming an excursion from Whitby under the auspices of the 37th Regiment Band, United Workmen and Sons of England on July 15th and 16th, be left in the hands of the chairman of this committee.

3. That the Clerk write to the Peterborough Radial Railway Co. and tell them of the claim of W. D. Norris and that the cause of the accident was the neglect of the company to spread the snow evenly over the street and ask them whether they are prepared to settle the claim or to defend a suit.

The report was adopted.

Ald. Bradburn presented a report from the Property Committee and it was adopted.

Ald. Phelan, chairman of the Board of Works, presented a rpeort that was adopted on motion.

BY-LAWS PASSED.

The following by-laws were passed:

By-law No. 1,393, a by-law to authorize a grant of $150 to the Salvation Army Band.

By-law No. 1,394, a by-law respecting the construction of a sewer on Harvey street, between Smith street and Antrim street and on Antrim st. between Harvey and Water streets, as a local improvement.

By-law No. 1,395, a by-law to authorize the construction of a sewer on certain streets and part streets as local improvements.

By-law No. 1,396, a by-law to authorize the construction of granolithic sidewalks on certain streets and part streets in the city of Peterborough, as local improvements.

By-law No. 1,397, a by-law to authorize the execution of a contract for the painting of the Hunter street bridge over the river Otonabee.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

The little son of R. Cuthbert was drowned at Keewatin.

The loss by fire to the Peterboro' Cereal Co. Sunday is placed at $80,000.

George Richardson of Chatham, aged 35 and despondent, shot himself on Sunday.

A Plucky Sheriff.

Freeport, La., June 2.—One man is dead, another dying and a third is under arrest as a result of a fight between rival gangs of Italian laborers. One man was captured after he had held a crowd of pursuers at bay for hours from a hut in which he had barricaded himself threatening to kill the first man that approached the stronghold.

Sheriff Foster crept up to the door of the hut. Calling softly that he was a friend the sheriff succeeded in getting the man to unfasten the door. Then he overpowered him.

Fire In Theatre; Panic Averted.

Cleveland, O., June 2.—Fire broke out in Keith's Theatre yesterday afternoon during a matinee performance. A panic ensued, but everyone escaped without injury. Immediately upon the discovery of the flames Manager Daniels of the theatre rushed to the stage and assured the audience that there was no danger.

VILLAGE WIPED OUT BY FLOOD

Eighteen People Were Drowned in Mexico.

City of Mexico, June 2.—Floods have wrought great damage in the neighborhood of the City of Pachula the past two days. Eighteen people are said to have been drowned, and the village of Pachula entirely wiped out of existence.

The flood was caused by a cloudburst, which caused the Barranca Seca, usually a dry and much traveled road, to be transformed into a raging torrent.

After fifty years' service, Mr. Geo. Wright, the station superintendent at Victoria—L.B. and S. C. Ry.—London, will retire in June.

"Bluejeans" In Real Life.

Vancouver, B.C., June 2.—The World publishes the following:

A quartette of Hindus at the Columbia River Lumber Co.'s Mill, Golden, B.C., have been disobeying instructions for some time. The foreman gave them a severe reprimand and threatened them with discharge. At this they became half-crazed with anger, and, seizing the foreman, were in the act of carrying him over to a big circular saw. Just at this juncture another young white employe in the mill came in, picked up a slab and wielded it with such effect that he laid out three of the four Hindus.

Legislature Prorogued.

Fredericton, N.B., June 2.—The New Brunswick Legislature prorogued on Saturday. The most important legislation enacted was the Workman's Compensation, Highway and Audit Acts. Seven thousand five hundred was voted to the Quebec Battlefield Fund.

THE ELECTIONS IN QUEBEC; FOUR SEATS BY ACCLAMATION

Premier Gouin Runs in Two Constituencies—Henri Bourassa, Who Opposes the Premier in Montreal, Also Runs in Two Places.

Montreal, June 2.—As was expected, the Government drew first blood yesterday. Their candidates in Sherbrooke, Richmond, St. Sauveur and Huntingdon were elected by acclamation.

It was reported that L. P. Pelletier had been returned unopposed in Dorchester in the Conservative interest, but this is contradicted, as Dr. Morisette, ex-M.P.P., was nominated against the Conservative leader in the Quebec district.

Hon. Dr. Gouin, the Premier, was nominated in two constituencies, the St. James division of Montreal, and in Portneuf, the latter being an old Liberal stronghold.

Henri Bourassa, who will oppose Hon. Mr. Gouin in St. James' division, was also placed in nomination in St. Hyacinthe.

All of the Ministers of the Gouin Cabinet will meet opponents in their constituencies. Hon. O. R. Devlin is opposed in Nicolet by Mr. Godreau; Hon. W. A. Weir is opposed in Argenteuil by J. W. McDougall; Hon. A. Turgeon is opposed in Bellechasse by Mr. Audet; Hon. L. A. Tachereau is opposed in Charlevoix by P. C. D'Auteuil. This Minister was also nominated in Montmorency, and there he has for opponent Mr. Cauchon. Hon. J. C. Kaine, in Quebec, is opposed by W. J. Breen.

In the five divisions of Montreal and the two other constituencies on the island, there will be warm fights. In two of the city divisions there are three-cornered contests. In St. Lawrence Dr. Finnie was nominated as a Government candidate and opposed to him will be Ald. A. D. Fraser, running in the Independent Conservative interest, and Ald. J. B. Clearihue, the latter running on an independent ticket. In St. Louis, Godfroi Langlois, the late member, was nominated in the Liberal interest. H. B. Ranville is in the fight as an independent, while Harry Bloomfield will represent the Conservative interests.

There were two Labor candidates nominated in Hochelaga, Gustave Francq, the latter being opposed to Dr. G. A. Lacombe, the late member.

One of the features of the struggle will be in Montmagny. Senator Choquette has been nominated in the Liberal interest, and running on the independent ticket is Armand Lavergne.

FENELON FALLS MINISTERS STOPPED BOAT ON SUNDAY

And Nice Mix-up is the Result—The Oddfellows Are Much Incensed.

Lindsay, June 1—There are forty Fenelon Falls citizens who are in a very indignant mood today and in their opinion, as in the opinion of many others, their indignation is justifiable. The cause of the wrathy spirit of these men is explained in the following story:

Yesterday morning the annual parade of the Canadian Order of Oddfellows was held in Lindsay to St. Paul's church in the morning. Invitations were extended to the brethren in Fenelon Falls to be present, and about forty had intended to come. The majority of these were unable to come on Saturday night, and it was decided to sail to Lindsay on board the steamer Kawartha on Sunday morning and preparations were made accordingly. The boat was hired for the occasion, was locked through to the wharf and steam was got up.

Early on Sunday morning the men quietly went on board and were in readiness to sail when along came four ministers. The 'sky pilots' went aboard and informed the officers that the boat could not sail as it was contrary to the Lord's Day Alliance. The party explained their mission but had to give up their intended trip, and the Lindsay brethren waited in vain for their appearance.

The incident did not end here. So incensed were the Oddfellows that they went all over the village and hired every canoe in the place. Then they went up the lakes, where they spent Sunday, all vowing that they would not attend any church.

It has not been heard yet whether it is the intention of the men to 'cut out' church for good and all but it seems their wisest plan would be to make it up with their pastors and bow to the law of the land.

CONTRACTORS ON CANAL CANNOT GET THEIR MONEY

One of the results of the blockade in the House at Ottawa is the inability of contractors to secure money to proceed with the construction of the Trent Valley Canal. A gentleman from Campbellford was in the city last night and stated that the contractors on the canal at that point were unable to secure the money due them from the government. As the work is proceeded with the money is paid in instalments but those have ceased to come.

The contractors can proceed with the work and receive their money when the blockade is raised and supplies are made but this is considerable of a hardship to those who have not plenty of ready cash.

HIS JUBILEE ANNIVERSARY

Rev. Walter Loucks Takes Part in Interesting Service

Kingston, Ont., June 1.—Canon Loucks celebrated his jubilee on Sunday in St. George's Cathedral and his son Rev. W. M. Loucks, of Ottawa, presided at the evening service, an unusual circumstance of a son in Holy Orders taking part in his father's jubilee anniversary.

Canon Loucks in good health rejoiced over the occasion, and the church here and in Picton of which he is rector emeritus, rendered hearty congratulations.

Lead Bounties.

Ottawa, June 2.—Hon. Mr. Fielding has given notice of a resolution to extend the bounties on lead until June 30, 1913, with a provision limiting the payment to $600,000 in any year, provided that the total to be paid shall not exceed $2,500,000.

Farmer Cuts Throat.

Chatham, June 2.—William Ryan, aged 40, a Raleigh Township farmer, committed suicide in his home yesterday morning by slashing his throat with a razor because of worry over a land deal. He lived only half an hour.

Navigation Delayed.

Cleveland, O., June 2.—At a meeting of the Lake Carriers' Association held here yesterday it was decided to defer the opening of navigation on the lakes for at least two weeks owing to the small ore cargoes in sight.

Hose Too Short.

Chatham, June 2.—The new residence of James Lake was burned to the ground Sunday night. Loss [illegible], insurance only $800. The fire department hose was 200 feet short.

Moros Threaten Trouble.

Manilla, June 2.—The Moros, on the Island of Jolo, are reported restless, and one of the Dattos has vowed to personally kill twenty white and 100 Chinese and then declare war. A sentry has been attacked and seriously wounded. The guard has been doubled. It is reported that settlers have been attacked.

BROKE THREE RIBS IN FALL

Mr. John Curtis, Express Driver Sustained Painful Injuries

Mr Jack Curtis, driver for the Dominion Express Company, had the misfortune to have three ribs broken on Saturday afternoon while out delivering. He was carrying a box into Storey & Leary's store when he slipped and fell hard on the box, resulting in the above injuries being sustained.

He was removed to his home where a doctor was called and his injuries were attended.

Entire Family Drowned.

Philadelphia, June 2.—An entire family, consisting of Wm. Eidleman, aged 38 years, his wife, Elizabeth, aged 37, and their two children, Anna, aged 17, and William, aged 7, of West Pensauken, N.J., were drowned in Pensauken Creek, below Riverton, N.J., by the capsizing of a small row-boat.

The family was taking an outing party in celebration of the fact that the father had just cleared off the mortgage on a home he had purchased.

Brave Mistress Saves Girl.

Chatham, June 2.—The prompt action of Mrs. A. B. McCoig saved a servant, Miss Eva Tapham, from probable death by burning yesterday.

The maid's dress caught fire, when she screamed Mrs. McCoig, who was upstairs, seized a blanket and rushing below met the girl enveloped in a sheet of flames, half way on the stairs, when quick use of the blanket smothered the flames. The girl was seriously and painfully burned.

Earthquakes In Russia.

St. Petersburg, June 2.—Despatches received here from Yalta report that repeated earthquakes occurred there between 1.22 and 4.25 o'clock Sunday morning. The inhabitants fled from their homes and spent the rest of the night in the streets and on the quays.

Yalta is a fashionable seaside resort of the Crimea in the Russian Government of Taurida.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

Although Hon. J. R. Stratton placed the blame of the C. G. E. Coercion Act upon the shoulders of the West Riding Reform Association, it is hoped by Liberals loyal to the true principles of Liberalism and common decency, that the officers of that organization are not solely to blame. Such may or may not be the case, but it is incontestible that Mr. Gillespie, Mr. G. M. Roger, Mr. J. J. Hartley, (President); and Mr. W. D. Kerr, (Secretary), knew what was being done. They are taking advantage of a gross wrong and placing Liberalism in a false position. A company cannot stop its work to make a protracted investigation into the pros and cons of a charge of improper interference. All it can do is to advise a cessation of the work which was used as a basis for the charge. This means the circumscribing of the liberties of the men involved just as thoroughly and tightly as if these men had been politically disfranchised. While excusable on the part of the C.G.E. management, this action is wholly and viciously inexcusable on the part of the West Riding Reform Association. Sooner or later there will be trouble. The whole theory of the freedom of the workingman is at stake.

SMALL BUSINESS

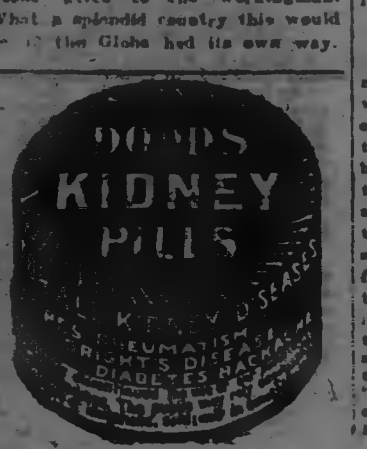
It is universally admitted that the West Riding Reform Association exceeded the limits of propriety in its attack on the C.G.E. employees. To gain or try to gain a party advantage in such a way is not only tyrannical in the extreme, but small business. If the Association is so anxious to win West Peterborough that it cannot contain itself at all, then rather than have such an exhibition of pettiness and inanity, Mr. Whitney might be induced to let the riding go to the Liberal candidate by default. But Mr. Gillespie rests under a serious charge as well as a mean one. It is through his organization and for his benefit "that this thing was done." He must retrace his steps or he will forever be branded as willing to do a small thing in a mean way. Is it a small thing after all? It certainly is not. It is a big mean thing, and by the end of this week it will prove, unless these men are acquitted of the charge and released by the West Riding Reform Association, a much more serious thing for Mr. Gillespie than his "smart Alec" advisers ever dreamed of.

LABOR AND THE GLOBE

A sentimental reluctance towards changes in wages prevents a ready response to the operations of the pressure of supply and demand. During the past few months all economic forces have been working toward the flooding of the labor market. Labor has been arriving at a rate far greater than the absorbing capacity of the country's industrial activities. All forces, public and private, have combined to promote immigration, and the marked attractiveness of Canada during the past few years has been a force acting in the same direction.—The Globe.

This is more of the advice that the Globe gives to the workingman. What a splendid country this would be if the Globe had its own way.

Now "a sentimental reluctance" is good, distinctly good. When a workingman with a family of six or mayhap seven who is the very bone and sinew of the country, asks for enough to clothe, feed and educate his family he is guilty of a "sentimental reluctance," he is. The Globe thinks he should take what he gets and go to work. At all hazards he should go to work. Then the touch on the arrival of foreign labour because Canada under Grit rule has become so attractive, is a good one. Ten dollars a head as a bonus for immigrants is an economic operation which cannot be avoided! It is the law of supply and demand so the Globe says. It is silly rot, most people will say. For a downright cruel attempt to mislead the workingman and cause him to be resigned to his fate, commend us to the articles on Labour in the Globe from time to time.



PROOF POSITIVE

The editorial which we quote further on in this article is from the Globe of June 1st, and disproves as clearly as anyone could wish for the very contention which the writer of that editorial is supposed to be supporting. Remember three things. Ross & Co. sold and fully parted with the O'Brien claim for $700.00 and for this same claim Whitney & Co. afterwards got a 25 per cent royalty, netting in the first two years $230,000! Then again O'Brien was chairman of the T. & N. O. Railway Board, and as such, was a provincial official who had no right whatever to any claim, but who, nevertheless, got the claim for $700. Thirdly: Even if all other arguments in the matter are ignored, can any sensible, sane man or journal contend for a moment that the net result of the Whitney Government's action in this matter does not show infinitely less ground for suspicion than that of the late administration which the Globe is defending? "A weak argument is a deadly weapon" is an old maxim and here we see an example of its truth. The Globe's contention is, as we aver, "proof positive" that Whitney is by so much the nearer right of the two. The Globe's editorial is a eulogium of crookedness. It reads as if it had been written in the dark.

"THAT FAMOUS $130,000.

The excuse made for the famous, or rather infamous, grant of $130,000 to Hon. Mr. Cochrane's brother-in-law's company is that the beneficiary furnished the department with valuable information which aided the O'Brien claim-jumping. This is palpably dishonest, as the information was all in the department. It was secured by the commission which investigated the rival claims of O'Brien and Larose. The decision of that commission was accepted and verified by the former Government. The O'Brien company claimed that the Larose company had obtained more than they were entitled to and asked for leave to appeal. That was refused by the old Government and there the claims rested till the present Government wanted an excuse to hand out $130,000 to a favorite. That excuse was built up by an application from the Larose people for a fiat to attack the O'Brien claim in the name of the Government. All honest applications of this nature should be granted, for the Government has no right to refuse. That it was refused is the best possible evidence that it was a pretence. The Government undertook the claim-jumping on its own account, freely asserting that such an operation would be in the interest of the Province.

Armed with a long purse, with unlimited scope for vexatious delays, with the power to ruin a legitimate and successful mining enterprise, and with the power to make laws to win its case, the Government forced the O'Brien Company to give up one-fourth of its output. On the low ground of actual profit this and similar unsettling attacks on private property resulted in loss to the Province. The injury done by the resultant uncertainty of Ontario titles is far greater than the sum extorted from the O'Brien company. But it served a double purpose. It gave color to an excuse for handing out $130,000 to a minister's favorite, and helped the men near the Government in securing interests in the best properties on favorable terms. This was one of the worst surprises of "that last awful week." —The Globe.

EDITORIAL NOTES

"A parson seems to think it no wrong to cheat the customs."—Examiner, April 28th, 1908.

Is this true?

'A Bible-class will be held in the neighborhood of the C.G.E. works to which all employees are invited who expect to do their own political thinking. The evil of so doing will be pointed out by leading members of the local churches. "How to manage a refractory conscience" will be the topic for the day. A choir of suitable songsters selected from the political frog-pond will do the singing. All the congregation is required to do is to sit mighty still and listen. Mottos will be hung on the fence reading as follows: "Dare to be a Conservative—and you'll get it in the neck." "It is only Grits to be free." "Where others lead the [illegible] to follow," "Vote for Mr. Gillespie and the Minnie M."

THE REEVE OF N. MONAGHAN TAKES MR. GILLESPIE TO TASK

The feature of the largely-attended meeting at the Town Hall, North Monaghan, last evening was the correction by Mr. Brown, the Reeve and chairman, of the statement by Mr. Gillespie, the Liberal candidate, which he said he was at a loss to account for in a man of Mr. Gillespie's hitherto excellent reputation. The statement the latter really must have known was untrue. Mr. Gillespie's statement was, that "Hon. Nelson Monteith, Provincial Minister of Agriculture, was to blame for the dairy show not coming to Peterborough." This misstatement was made on the platform of the Town Hall at the Liberal meeting recently held in North Monaghan. Mr. Brown said that the facts were that Mr. Monteith had nothing whatever to do with it. In January, 1907, a deputation went from Peterborough county to Toronto to get the dairy show. Mr. Brown and Mr. Gillespie were both members of that deputation. The matter was wholly in the hands of the Dairymen's convention, at which Mr. Monteith was not at the time present. The matter of going to Peterborough rested wholly with the convention and Mr. Gillespie must have known it.

Mr. Bradburn was in excellent form and spoke for three-quarters of an hour upon the leading issues of the day, paying particular attention to the school book ring and the greatly increased grants to the country. He supported Mr. Brown's statement regarding Mr. Gillespie, who, he said, should at once withdraw a remark that had no foundation.

Mr. Burnham spoke on the purity of the Whitney bye-elections, of the Toronto Junction poolroom and other issues, showing the violent contrast between the conditions of life now and "then."

Mr. Kendrey opened by remarking that he was decidedly of opinion that Messrs Roger, Kerr and McWilliams should give more attention to details and facts in discussing the alleged spoils system. He quoted the returns made to Duncan Ross, M.P.P., (son of Hon. G. W. Ross), which showed that there had been a low percentage of dismissals, and in the speaker's opinion not half enough. He described the working of the license law in Peterborough. There was no complaint and the commissioners ruled. Formerly Mr. Stratton was inspector, commissioner, member and what not. He had a purpose in being so. Now the only object was to see that the law was carried out, and declared the speaker emphatically, "it is carried out." (Applause.) The usual cheers closed the meeting.

POLITICAL NOTES

"Don't you worry yourself, Mr. Bradburn will have a smashing majority on Monday," said an old-timer today. "It's the best government in Canada, before or since."

The boys are working hard. The Liberals are working might and main. The Liberal organization has never worked harder in West Peterborough. Keep your eye on it. People don't try tricks like that C. G. E. coercion business unless they are in earnest.

THE RECORD OF A GOOD GOVERNMENT

AGRICULTURE.

g.--Continuation schools encouraged in townships.

h.--All because the Province now has the money.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS, 1908

To the Electors of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—It is my privilege to again appear before you as the Conservative candidate in the approaching election of members of the Ontario Legislature, and while on the previous occasion I was in opposition to the Government, I now have the pleasure of supporting the Administration of Hon. J. P. Whitney, whose management of the affairs of the Province, with the support of an able cabinet, has, during his short premiership, proved of such marked benefit.

Measures of a far-reaching character have been passed, and the statute books of the last three years are replete with legislation of a high order, as well for its originality as its soundness. Let me mention a few of the important acts of the past sessions. The establishment of a Railway and Municipal Board, the new act relating to mining, the creation of the Hydro-Electric Commission, the amendment of the liquor laws, amendments to the law relating to the election of members of the Legislature, particularly the alteration in the ballot, which is now absolutely secret.

The administration of the public domain, especially the mining laws of the Province, has been most profitable, adding large sums to both revenue and capital, and the different changes which have been effected in the Education Department have met with the approval of all persons, concerned in that most important branch of the public service.

One of the beneficial acts of the Government is the taking with its own hands the distribution of electric energy through the great water power of Niagara Falls, and other rivers capable of hydraulic development. Thus are the different municipalities through the Province enabled to obtain the inestimable commodity at a minimum of cost.

The Government, while endeavoring to serve the people generally have not been unmindful of the importance of this riding, and when the new normal schools were to be created one of the four was placed in this constituency, thus affording exceptional advantages to the teachers and schools of this county.

In the short time which will elapse before polling day, I shall endeavour to make my views more fully known to you both privately and publicly, and I bespeak your cordial support, not so much because of any merits of my own, as on account of the splendid record of the Government.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

T. E. BRADBURN

W. H. HILL, Esq., Manager Central Ontario, Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada, Peterborough, Ont.

DEAR SIR:

In connection with policy No. 18253, taken out by me twenty years ago for $2000, on the 20 year endowment plan, I would like to say to you that I am well pleased with the results. I paid $91.40 a year for twenty years and had my insurance for $2,000, and the cheque you have handed me to day is for $2653.10 which is $123.15 in excess of what I would have received had I deposited the same amount in the Bank during the last twenty years at current rates. In one case I had my insurance carried and in the other case I would have had none. I can only say that I have never made an investment that has given me greater satisfaction. I believe if I had not taken out the insurance I would not have been worth one dollar more to-day and now I find myself in possession of $2653.10, which will enable me to make a profitable investment. I am now pretty well up in years but if I had my life to live over again I would ensure for as large an amount as I could possibly pay for. During the twenty years, I found it difficult on many occasions to meet the payments, but I met them in every case by practising a little economy in other directions, and I can assure you that I feel I have been well repaid for the pains I took in providing for the money to pay the premium. You have paid me more considerably than I expected to receive and for this I am grateful.

Respectfully yours,

NELSON SAGE

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

By CHARLES KLEIN.

A Story of American Life Novelized From the Play by ARTHUR HORNBLOW.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

What had Judge Rossmore done, after all, to deserve the frightful punishment the amalgamated interests had caused him to suffer? If he had blocked their game he had done only what his oath, his duty, commanded him to do. Such a girl as Shirley Rossmore could not have had any other kind of a father. Ah, if he had had such a daughter he might have been a better man, if only to win his child's respect and affection. John Ryder pondered long and deeply, and the more he ruminated the stronger the conviction grew upon him that the girl was right and he was wrong. Suddenly he looked at his watch. It was 1 o'clock. Roberts had told him that it would be an all night session and that a vote would probably not be taken until very late. He unhooked the telephone and, calling "central," asked for "long distance" and connection with Washington.

It was 7 o'clock when the maid entered Shirley's room with her breakfast, and she found its occupant up and dressed.

"Why, you haven't been to bed, miss!" exclaimed the girl, looking at the bed in the inner room, which seemed scarcely disturbed.

"No, Theresa, I—I couldn't sleep." Hastily pouring out a cup of tea, she added: "I must catch that 9 o'clock train to Washington. I didn't finish packing until nearly 3."

"Can I do anything for you, miss?" inquired the maid. Shirley was as popular with the servants as with the rest of the household.

"No," answered Shirley, "there are only a few things to go in my suit case. Will you please have a cab here in half an hour?"

The maid was about to go when she suddenly thought of something she had forgotten. She held out an envelope which she had left lying on the tray.

"Oh, miss, Mr. Jorkins said to give you this and master wanted to see you as soon as you had finished your breakfast."

Shirley tore open the envelope and took out the contents. It was a check, payable to her order for $5,000 and signed "John Burkett Ryder."

A deep flush covered the girl's face as she saw the money—a flush of annoyance rather than of pleasure. This man who had insulted her, who had wronged her father, who had driven her from his home, thought he could throw his gold at her and insolently send her her pay as one settles haughtily with a servant discharged for impertinence. She would have none of his money—the work she had done she would make him a present of. She replaced the check in the envelope and passed it back to Theresa.

"Give this to Mr. Ryder and tell him I cannot see him."

"But Mr. Ryder said"— insisted the girl.

"Please deliver my message as I give it," commanded Shirley with authority. "I cannot see Mr. Ryder."

The maid withdrew, but she had barely closed the door when it was opened again and Mrs. Ryder rushed in without knocking. She was all flustered with excitement and in such a hurry that she had not even stopped to arrange her toilet.

"My dear Miss Green," she gasped, "what's this I hear—going away suddenly without giving me warning?"

"I wasn't engaged by the month," replied Shirley dryly.

"I know, dear, I know. I was thinking of myself. I've grown so used to you—how shall I get on without you? No one understands me the way you do. Dear me! The whole house is upset. Mr. Ryder never went to bed at all last night. Jefferson is going away, too—forever, he threatens. If he hadn't come and woke me up to say goodby, I should never have known you intended to leave us. My boy's going—you're going—every one's deserting me!"

Mrs. Ryder was not accustomed to such prolonged flights of oratory, and she sank exhausted on a chair, her eyes filling with tears.

"Did they tell you who I am—the daughter of Judge Rossmore?" demanded Shirley.

It had been a shock to Mrs. Ryder that morning when Jefferson burst into his mother's room before she was up and acquainted her with the events of the previous evening. The news that the Miss Green whom she had grown to love was really the Miss Rossmore of whose relations with Jefferson her husband stood in such dread was far from affecting the financier's wife as it had Ryder himself. To the mother's simple and ingenuous mind, free from prejudice and ulterior motive, the girl's character was more important than her name, and certainly she could not blame her son for loving such a woman as Shirley. Of course, it was unfortunate for Jefferson that his father felt this bitterness toward Judge Rossmore, for she herself could hardly have wished for a more sympathetic daughter-in-law. She had not seen her husband since the previous evening at dinner, so was in complete ignorance as to what he thought of this new development, but the mother sighed as she thought how happy it would make her to see Jefferson happily married to the girl of his own choice, and in her heart she still entertained the hope that her husband would see it that way and thus prevent their son from leaving them as he threatened.

"That's not your fault, my dear," she replied, answering Shirley's question. "You are yourself, that's the main thing. You mustn't mind what Mr. Ryder says. Business and worry make him irritable at times. If you must go, of course you must; you are the best judge of that, but Jefferson wants to see you before you leave." She kissed Shirley in motherly fashion and added: "He has told me everything, dear. Nothing would make me happier than to see you become his wife. He's downstairs now waiting for me to tell him to come up."

"It's better that I should not see him," replied Shirley slowly and gravely. "I can only tell him what I have already told him. My father comes first. I have still a duty to perform."

"That's right, dear," answered Mrs. Ryder. "You're a good, noble girl, and I admire you all the more for it. I'll let Jefferson be his own advocate. You'll see him for my sake!"

She gave Shirley another affectionate embrace and left the room, while the girl proceeded with her final preparations for departure. Presently there was a quick, heavy step in the corridor outside and Jefferson appeared in the doorway. He stood there waiting for her to invite him in. She looked up and greeted him cordially, yet it was hardly the kind of reception he looked for or that he considered he had a right to expect. He advanced sulkily into the room.

"Mother said she had put everything right," he began. "I guess she was mistaken."

"Your mother does not understand, neither do you," she replied seriously. "Nothing can be put right until my father is restored to honor and position."

"But why should you punish me because my father fails to regard the matter as we do?" demanded Jefferson rebelliously.

"Why should I punish myself—why should we punish those nearest and dearest?" answered Shirley gently. "The victims of human injustice always suffer where their loved ones are tortured. Why are things as they are? I don't know. I know they are—that's all."

The young man strode nervously up and down the room, while she gazed listlessly out of the window, looking for the cab that was to carry her away from this house of disappointment. He pleaded with her:

"I have tried honorably and failed. You have tried honorably and failed. Isn't the sting of impotent failure enough to meet without striving against a hopeless love?" He approached her and said softly: "I love you, Shirley—don't drive me to desperation. Must I be punished because you have failed? It's unfair. The sins of the fathers should not be visited upon the children."

"But they are—it's the law," said Shirley, with resignation.

"The law?" he echoed.

"Yes, the law," insisted the girl; "man's law, not God's, the same unjust law that punishes my father—man's law which is put into the hands of the powerful of the earth to strike at the weak."

She sank into a chair and, covering up her face, wept bitterly. Between her sobs she cried brokenly:

"I believed in the power of love to soften your father's heart, I believed that with God's help I could bring him to see the truth. I believed that truth and love would make him see the light, but it hasn't. I stayed on and on, hoping against hope until the time has gone by and it's too late to save him—too late! What can I do now? My going to Washington is a forlorn hope, a last, miserable, forlorn hope, and in this hour, the darkest of all, you ask me to think of myself—my love, your love, your happiness, your future, my future! Ah, wouldn't it be sublime selfishness?"

Jefferson kneeled down beside the chair and, taking her hand in his, tried to reason with her and comfort her.

"Listen, Shirley," he said; "do not do something you will surely regret. You are punishing me not only because I have failed, but because you have failed too. It seems to me that if you believed it possible to accomplish so much, if you had so much faith—that you have lost your faith rather quickly. I believed in nothing, I had no faith, and yet I have not lost hope."

She shook her head and gently withdrew her hand.

"It is useless to insist, Jefferson. Until my father is cleared of this stain our lives—yours and mine—must lie apart."

Some one coughed, and, startled, they both looked up. Mr. Ryder had entered the room unobserved and stood watching them. Shirley immediately rose to her feet indignant, resenting this intrusion on her privacy after she had declined to receive the financier. Yet, she reflected quickly, how could she prevent it? He was at home, free to come and go as he pleased, but she was not compelled to remain in the same room with him. She picked up the few things that lay about and, with a contemptuous toss of her head, retreated into the inner apartment, leaving father and son alone together.

"Hum," grunted Ryder senior. "I rather thought I should find you here, but I didn't quite expect to find you on your knees—dragging our pride in the mud."

"That's where our pride ought to be," retorted Jefferson savagely. He felt in the humor to say anything, no matter what the consequences.

"So she has refused you again, eh?" said Ryder senior, with a grin.

"Yes," rejoined Jefferson, with growing irritation. "She objects to my family. I don't blame her."

The financier smiled grimly as he answered:

"Your family in general—me in particular, eh? I gleaned that much when I came in." He looked toward the door of the room in which Shirley had taken refuge, and, as if talking to himself, he added: "A curious girl with an inverted point of view; sees everything different to others. I want to see her before she goes."

He walked over to the door and raised his hand as if he were about to knock. Then he stopped as if he had changed his mind, and, turning toward his son, he demanded:

"Do you mean to say that she has done with you?"

"Yes," answered Jefferson bitterly.

"Finally?"

"Yes, finally—forever!"

"Does she mean it?" asked Ryder senior skeptically.

"Yes; she will not listen to me while her father is still in peril."

There was an expression of half amusement, half admiration, on the financier's face as he again turned toward the door.

"It's like her, just like her," he muttered.

He knocked boldly at the door.

"Who's there?" cried Shirley from within.

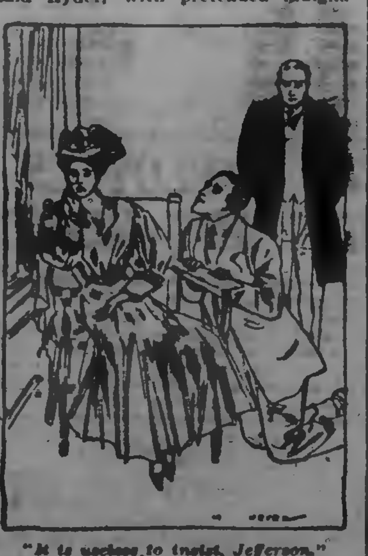
"It is I—Mr. Ryder. I wish to speak to you."

"I must beg you to excuse me," came the answer. "I cannot see you."

Jefferson interfered.

"Why do you want to add to the girl's misery? Don't you think she has suffered enough?"

"Do you know what she has done?" said Ryder, with pretended indignation. "She has insulted me grossly. I never was so humiliated in my life. She has returned the check I sent her last night in payment for her work on my biography. I mean to make her take that money. It's here. She needs it. Her father's a beggar. She must take it back. It's only flaunting her contempt for me in my face, and I won't permit it."



"It is useless to insist, Jefferson."

"I don't think her object in refusing that money was to flaunt contempt in your face or in any way humiliate you," answered Jefferson. "She feels she has been sailing under false colors and desires to make some reparation."

"And so she sends me back my money, feeling that will pacify me, perhaps repair the injury she has done me, perhaps buy me into entering into her plan of helping her father, but it won't. It only increases my determination to see her and her"— Suddenly changing the topic, he asked, "When do you leave us?"

"Now—at once—that is, I—don't know," answered Jefferson, embarrassed. "The fact is my faculties are numbed. I seem to have lost my power of thinking. Father," he exclaimed, "you see what a wreck you have made of our lives?"

"Now, don't moralize," replied his father testily, "as if your own selfishness in desiring to possess that girl wasn't the mainspring of all your actions." Waving his son out of the room, he added: "Now, leave me alone with her for a few moments. Perhaps I can make her listen to reason."

Jefferson stared at his father as if he feared he were out of his mind.

"What do you mean? Are you"— he ejaculated.

"Go—go; leave her to me," commanded the financier. "Slam the door when you go out, and she'll think we've both gone. Then come up again presently."

The stratagem succeeded admirably. Jefferson gave the door a vigorous pull, and John Ryder stood quiet, waiting for the girl to emerge from sanctuary. He did not have to wait long. The door soon opened, and Shirley came out slowly. She had her hat on and was drawing on her gloves, for through her window she had caught a glimpse of the cab standing at the curb. She started on seeing Ryder standing there motionless, and she would have retreated had he not intercepted her.

"I wish to speak to you, Miss—Rossmore," he began.

"I have nothing to say," answered Shirley frigidly.

"Why did you do this?" he asked, holding out the check.

"Because I do not want your money," she replied, with hauteur.

"It was yours. You earned it," he said.

"No. I came here hoping to influence you to help my father. The work I did was part of the plan. It happened to fall my way. I took it as a means to get to your heart."

"But it is yours. Please take it. It will be useful."

"No," she said scornfully. "I can't tell you how low I should fall in my own estimation if I took your money. Money," she added, with ringing contempt, "why, that's all there is to you! It's your god! Shall I make your god my god? No, thank you, Mr. Ryder!"

"Am I as bad as that?" he asked wistfully.

"You are as bad as that!" she answered decisively.

"So bad that I contaminate even good money?" He spoke lightly, but she noticed that he winced.

"Money itself is nothing," replied the girl. "It's the spirit that gives it, the spirit that receives it, the spirit that earns it, the spirit that spends it. Money helps to create happiness. It also creates misery. It's an engine of destruction when not properly used. It destroys individuals as it does nations. It has destroyed you, for it has warped your soul."

"Go on," he laughed bitterly. "I like to hear you."

"No, you don't, Mr. Ryder; no you don't, for deep down in your heart you know that I am speaking the truth. Money and the power it gives you has dried up the wellsprings of your heart."

He affected to be highly amused at her words, but behind the mask of callous indifference the man suffered. Her words seared him as with a redhot iron. She went on:

"In the barbaric ages they fought for possession, but they fought openly. The feudal barons fought for what they stole, but it was a fair fight. They didn't strike in the dark. At least they gave a man a chance for his life. But when you modern barons of industry don't like legislation you destroy it, when you don't like your judges you remove them, when a competitor outbids you you squeeze him out of commercial existence! You have no hearts, you are machines, and you are cowards, for you fight unfairly."

"It is not true; it is not true," he protested.

"It is true," she insisted hotly. "A few hours ago in cold blood you doomed my father to what is certain death because you decided it was a political necessity. In other words, he interfered with your personal interests—your financial interests—you, with so many millions you can't count them!" Scornfully she added: "Come out into the light—fight in the open! At least let him know who his enemy is!"

"Stop! Stop! Not another word!" he cried impatiently. "You have diagnosed the disease. What of the remedy? Are you prepared to reconstruct human nature?"

Confronting each other, their eyes met, and he regarded her without resentment, almost with tenderness. He felt strangely drawn toward this woman who had defied and accused him and made him see the world in a new light.

"I don't deny," he admitted reluctantly, "that things seem to be as you describe them, but it is part of the process of evolution."

"No," she protested; "it is the work of God!"

"It is evolution!" he insisted.

"Ah, that's it," she retorted; "you evolve new ideas, new schemes, new tricks—you all worship different gods—gods of your own making."

He was about to reply when there was a commotion at the door, and Theresa entered, followed by a manservant to carry down the trunk.

"The cab is downstairs, miss," said the maid.

Ryder waved them away imperiously. He had something further to say which he did not care for servants to hear. Theresa and the man precipitately withdrew, not understanding, but obeying with alacrity a master who never brooked delay in the execution of his orders. Shirley, indignant, looked to him for an explanation.

To be continued.

A nightingale is being heard nightly in London in the trees on the south side of Euston road, just opposite King's Cross terminus.

NO MORE RHEUMATISM

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" CURED HIM

Christopher D. Graham is a well known citizen of Ottawa—formerly in the City Hall and largely instrumental in forming the Ottawa Hunt Club. Mr. Graham's voluntary testimonial as to the great benefit he received from taking "Fruit-a-tives" will carry conviction.

Ottawa, Ont. Nov. 26th, 1907.

Dear Sirs:—

I have been a sufferer from Rheumatism for a long time — pains in my shoulder and joints practically all the time. I tried various treatments without benefit and then I was recommended by a friend to try "Fruit-a-tives." I took several boxes of the tablets and now, for a long time, I have been entirely free from all rheumatism and rheumatic pains.

I wish to state, also, that I suffered from haemorrhoids, or piles, for years, I used all kinds of ointments and treatment and nothing did me any good, but after taking "Fruit-a-tives" for my rheumatism I am entirely cured of these dreadful piles. (Sgd) C. D. GRAHAM.

NO HALF HOLIDAY FOR LOCAL CLERKS

But Stores Will Likely all Close at Five p. m. for Portion of the Summer Months

At a recent meeting of a large number of local merchants the matter of closing the stores for a half day each week during July and August was discussed and the conclusion resulted unanimously by all present that it was not advisable to do so, but that between July 14th to September 1st, all stores are recommended to close each afternoon at five o'clock excepting on days preceding public holidays and Saturdays. It is urgently requested that all merchants will observe this arrangement and fall in line with the majority. The merchants are not adverse to granting an occasional half-holiday in turn, to their clerks, in addition to the usual vacations granted.

Undisputed Facts About

Zutoo

Zutoo tablets are now recognized as being without doubt or question, the best and only safe remedy on the market for headaches and colds.

They have practically displaced all other cures, and are now the only one used to any extent.

The reason is doubtless found in this further fact.

Zutoo tablets not only cure headache and colds but, unlike many other remedies, do not affect the heart, nerves or stomach.

COULD NOT SUPPLY COAL FOR $6.50

Mr. Wolstenholm Made a Mistake in Tendering on Coal for City and Withdrew His Tender

R. J. Wolstenholm would have had the contract for supplying 80 tons of coal to the city, but he changed his mind after he had put in his tender. At a meeting of the Property Committee of the City Council on Saturday afternoon, tenders for coal for the city buildings and fire hall were opened, and it was found that Mr. Wolstenholm offered to supply the coal for $6.50 per ton, whereas the other dealers wanted $7.00. Of course the committee decided to recommend that Mr. Wolstenholm be given the contract for the coal, and a clause to this effect was contained in the report of the committee presented to the Council last night. At the Council meeting, however, a letter was read from Mr. Wolstenholm stating that he could not supply the coal for $6.50, and withdrawing his tender.

Ald. Morgan asked if Mr. Wolstenholm could not be held to his tender.

Ald. Bradburn said he did not think so as the withdrawal had been received before the tender had been awarded by the Council.

Ald. Morgan said the coal ring had likely got after Mr. Wolstenholm and fixed it up to have him withdraw his tender. Laughter greeted this remark.

Ald. Elliott said last year the coal was purchased equally from the dealers in the city, and moved that the same be done this year. This was seconded and carried unanimously.

THE FIRE BRIGADE

To-night the council—or a committee of the council—met the members of the fire brigade to discuss matters. Discussion is all very well, and there was ample time for that some months ago. Both sides — for really looks as if the council, instead of appointing and engaging a fire brigade is endeavoring to arrange a sort of truce — will please remember that the city has just had an $80,000 fire loss and if a practical conclusion, promising practical results is not at once reached, the insurance rates may go up, and they go up quickly, and without any conference or negotiation. The managers of the fire companies are aware of the situation, are keeping tab on the delay and will not wait much longer before they act. Once the rate is raised it will be hard to get it down again. Conflicting opinions, various preferences and interests, with inside and outside the council should not be allowed to delay action. To-night's meeting should decide the matter and for good, else the public will assume that other motives than the best interests of the city are being allowed to determine matters. It is not a question as to whether aldermen shall make votes or lose votes, or gain friends or lose friends, but a properly organized fire brigade.

THE TRENT CANAL EMPLOYEES NOT RECEIVING ANY MONEY

the trent canal

Those who are in the employ of the Trent canal are receiving notice from Superintendent McClellan to the effect that they remain in the government's service at their own option, and if they continue in their present positions they will have to be content to await the passing of supplies at Ottawa before any further wages will be paid.

He is receiving many requests from employees of the canal for money but regrets he is unable to meet demands owing to the fact that no funds are at his disposal to draw upon.

BRIGADE WAS CALLED AGAIN

To Peterboro' Cereal Co.—Fire Broke Out Second Time

At two o'clock this afternoon the fire brigade was again called out to the Peterboro Cereal Co. building. The fire was smouldering and it was thought it might spread to the elevator and adjoining properties. A stream was soon playing on it and it was not long before the fire was extinguished.

HAS APPLIED FOR CHIEFSHIP

Mr. J. H. Yelland, who has been a member of the local fire brigade for twenty-one years, has applied for the position of chief. His application was read at the meeting of the council last night and will be considered.

STRAWBERRIES RIPE IN CITY

Mr. Wm. Miles, Weller St., Has Great Success With His Fruits

Ripe strawberries in Peterboro on June 2nd. That's something to talk about. Mr. Wm. Miles, who has a garden at 517 Weller street, today showed The Review a cluster of big ripe strawberries which he had plucked this morning. As far as is known these are the earliest strawberries ever grown in Peterboro. They were first grown under cover and later placed in the open. They are of the variety known as the "Ruby" and are perfectly ripened. Mr. Miles is to be congratulated on his success.

Professor E. A. Cullerton will show his celebrated series of moving pictures, including a trip through Ireland, at Jackson Park, Wednesday and Thursday evening. 57th Band will be in attendance. 2d

PETERBORO' TO BE REPRESENTED

At Summer Training School Which Opens at Whitby on July 2nd

A number of the Young People's Societies of the Peterborough churches are sending representatives to the inter-denominational summer school at Whitby, which opens on July 2nd and continues for ten days. At a meeting of the Knox church Young People's Societies last night, Miss M. Menzie and Mr. H. Wilkie were appointed delegates to the summer school. Murray street B.Y.P.U. is also sending four or five representatives and it is understood that some of the other churches in the city will be represented.

Peterborough Methodist Ministers are in Attendance

The Methodist conference opens in Lindsay to-morrow and the three local ministers, Rev. Messrs. Pearson, Coon and Manning, will be in attendance. Mr. Coon left for Lindsay last night, Mr. Manning went this morning and Mr. Pearson leaves to-night.

...f Scottish miners by a large majority have voted in favour of joining the Labor Party.

PROGRAMME ARRANGED FOR CHEMONG SUMMER SCHOOL

It is Expected That the Attendance Will be Exceedingly Large—An Announcement Has Been Made

Extensive arrangements are being made for the Kawartha Lakes Summer school to be held at Chemong Park from July 6th to the 13th. It promises to be largely attended and most successful in every respect.

An announcement issued contains the following information:

The work of the School consists of real, honest study with the best teachers available of the Bible, of missions, and of practical methods of work. The atmosphere of the school will be essentially devotional throughout. We are hoping to make the school such, that every student in attendance will go home to become a new force and power in their League or Sunday School.

The place of meeting.—The committee are fortunate in securing again the beautiful and charming summer resort, known as Chemong Park Summer Resort. Chemong Park is situated six miles north of the city, of Peterborough and near the village of Bridgenorth and lies on the shores of Chemong Lake. The Park affords excellent facilities for bathing, is beautifully shaded, is practically free from mosquito pests, and is one of the most ideal summer resorts within the bounds of the Bay of Quinte Conference.

Any one who desires the benefit of the school may attend. Ministers, Epworth League and Sunday School workers and others. May every church Sunday School, and League, be represented.

The programme is nearing completion. The mornings will be devoted to study, the afternoons to recreation and personal work, and the evenings to addresses. There are three departments of study. The department of practical methods of work will be in charge of Rev A C. Crews, DD., General Secretary of Epworth Leagues and Sunday Schools. The Mission Study classes will be in charge of Rev Prof E R. Doxsee, BA., BD., of Albert College, assisted by Misses Edna Drewry, teacher, Whitby College, May C. Dobson, Whitby Ladies' College, and Margaret Hamilton, BA, Stirling High School. Two text books will be used with two classes in each text. The books to be studied are; Dr. Zwemerr's "Islam, a Challenge to Faith," and Dr. Brown's "The Foreign Missionary." These are both intensely interesting books. The Rev. E N Baker, DD., Toronto will be in charge of the department of Bible Study. Every effort is being made to secure the presence with us of some missionaries. One evening will be given over to a limelight trip through mission lands. R J. McLaughlin, KC. Lindsay; Judge G E. Deroche, Belleville; J M Denyes, B. A., principal of Newburgh High school F. R. Foley, Esq., Bowmanville, President Bay of Quinte Epworth League; Revs. G W Henderson, Port Hope; S J Shorey, DD, Cobourg; Geo. Brown, Colborne; M V. Mounteer, Colborne; John Garbutt, Bowmanville E A. Pearson, B. A., Peterborough; A H. Foster, Smithfield, and others will also help in the school.

An excursion will be run on Thursday at 6 o'clock p.m. to Bobcaygeon and return, taking in a beautiful and extensive section of the far-famed Kawartha Lakes.

Arrangements have been made to vey all delegates from the trains in Peterborough to the Park. A reception committee will meet all the trains in Peterborough on Tuesday and Wednesday, July 6th and 7th, to give all necessary information as to conveyance, baggage, etc. Charge of conveyance from Peterborough to Chemong will be 25c, each way for each person, including their baggage.

The Peterborough headquarters for all delegates will be the Young Women's Christian Association building.

JUNE WEDDINGS

BUCHANNON—MacPHERSON

An exceedingly quiet wedding was solemnized this morning at 8.30 o'clock, when Miss Kate MacPherson daughter of Mr. Angus MacPherson, Patterson St., was united in marriage to Mr. John R. Buchanan, eldest son of the late John Harper Buchanan of this city. The bride was married in her travelling suit and after the ceremony the happy couple left on the 8.30 G. T. R. train for Toronto. On their return they will reside at 473 King St.

PEARSON—HILL

An exceedingly pretty wedding was solemnized this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at 621 Union St., when Miss Edna T. Hill, eldest daughter of Mr. Wm. Hill, was united in marriage to Mr. H. Allen Pearson, secretary of the St. Catharines Y. M. C. A., and son of Mr. J. J. Pearson, of Lindsay.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Pearson, pastor of George St. Methodist church, in the beautifully decorated drawing room. The wedding took place beneath a bell of white lilacs and the background was white and mauve lilacs. After the ceremony Miss Irene Mowry sang "Island of Dreams"

The bride was beautifully attired in white silk mull, with trimmings of lovers' knots of white satin ribbon. She wore the conventional bridal veil with lillies of the valley and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was assisted by her sister who was gowned in cream net over silk with trimmings of insertion. She carried pink roses. The groom was ably supported by Mr. M. I. Zimmerman, assistant secretary of the West End Y. M. C. A. Little Malcolm Davidson, cousin of the bride, acted as page.

The ceremony was witnessed by the immediate friends and relatives of the bride and groom, after which they sat down to a buffet lunch, the tables being prettily decorated with lilies of the valley.

The bride was the recipient of numerous presents, including a handkerchief shower by the members of George St., choir, of which she was a member.

Mr and Mrs. Pearson left on the 4.48 C. P. R. train for Western Ontario and after their honeymoon trip will reside at 21 Henry St., St. Catharines. The bride's travelling suit was of cream and tan striped cloth with brown hat to match.

BLAKER—MARSBEN

A quiet wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock at the George street Methodist parsonage by the Rev. E. A. Pearson, when Miss Ella Marsben of Alderville was united in marriage to Mr. Samuel Blaker of the same place. The bride was assisted by Miss Mary Beaver and the groom was ably supported by Mr. William Blager.

The happy couple will reside in Alderville.

FLYNN—McGILLIN

The wedding took place this morning at seven o'clock at St. Peter's Cathedral, of Mr. Patrick Flynn, of Marmora, brother of Mr. David Flynn, of Peterborough, and Miss Norah McGillin, daughter of Mr. Peter McGillin, Carlyle Avenue, Ashburnham. Mr. and Mrs. Flynn will take up their residence in Marmora.

JUST AN ORDINARY HAPPENING; NOT A MYSTERY OR ROMANCE

A Review reporter had a peculiar experience last night. He was informed by a local gentleman that some mysterious happenings had taken place on Little Lake yesterday afternoon.

He said that some of the employees of the Dickson Company's mill had informed him that late in the afternoon a woman had been seen paddling across the lake and disappeared around the cemetery point. A couple of men followed her in a canoe also going around the point. When they had it was impossible to see them any more from the mill.

A little later the two men in the canoe paddled back into the lake and got into a gasoline launch in which there were also two men. The canoe was towed after the launch and the launch also puffed out of sight round the point. It came back shortly, one of the men being landed on the Ashburnham shore, where he put the canoe in a boat house and the others in the launch came back to the city. It is somewhat of an unusual thing for a newspaper man to be told of an experience in which he himself figured, and which, although shrouded in mystery to some observers on the shore, was really a trifeling and inconsequential happening.

THE PLOT UNRAVELLED.

The true history of the matter is as follows:—Two reporters from the Review went out for a paddle yesterday afternoon. Coming up the river they noticed a woman in the lee of the cemetery point. She had her canoe close to the shore and as a heavy wind was blowing they were of the opinion that she was possibly unable to recross the lake. They noticed two members of the Examiner staff on the lake in a gasoline launch and asked them to tow the woman across the lake if she needed their assistance. The two in the canoe boarded the launch and all four went to the point, but the woman stated she didn't need any aid and thanked her would-be rescuers. That's all.

DESPATCH SAYS THAT THE CAMP WILL BE HELD IN SEPTEMBER

A despatch from Kingston says that the military camp there will assemble the first week in Septemberr instead of June 15th, as arranged. This owing to the lateness of the season, will be a better time for the farming community. The Barriefield grounds will be in fine shape for the campers in September.

Maj Young, of the 24th, when communicated with by the Review today stated that he had received no official notification of the change of date from June 15th to September but said that he presumed that since the despatch had been received the change had been effected.

The regiments that will go to the camp will include all from No. 3 district, which takes in the 24th Field Battery and the composite regiment of the 57th with Col. Miller commanding.

Decisive Clearance of Remnants, Odds and Ends

On Monday, June 1st, we inaugurate our Annual Sale of Remnants, Odds and Ends and Broken Lines--a sale which means much to every woman who reads this.

We have gone through our Home-Furnishing Departments with critical eyes--wherever we have found a short piece of goods, "slap" it has joined the other remnants.

And the Case is the Same With Odds and Ends and Broken Lines

But not until the Price Cutter has done his "best" or his "worst" for prices have been pruned and clipped until not a vistage of the original profit is visible, and in many cases we cut away into the original cost.

The Remnants and Odd articles are ready. It's a great opportunity to buy splendidly worthy goods, to buy an abundance and pay so little that you hardly miss the trifling sums.

You'd better come early. We say this in earnestness, for careful customers of this store will take care that the goods won't stay here long.

WHY YOU CAN'T SLEEP.

It's just like this. Somewhere in the brain cells or blood vessels that supply the brain with blood, there is SOMETHING WRONG. That wrong must be righted or you'll go to smash.

Your physically exhausted body needs building up, needs more nutritious blood, needs tone and vigor. Your only hope is FERROZONE, which completely overcomes sleeplessness.

FERROZONE

IS GOOD FOR THE SLEEPLESS.

Every FERROZONE Tablet contains more concentrated goodness than you'll get in quarts of liquid medicine. It benefits instantly.

FERROZONE fairly fills the blood with nourishment. Feeds it with iron and oxygen, invigorates as nothing else can.

The refreshing sleep of a little babe, the restfulness and comfort of childhood's days will come every night of your life by using FERROZONE. Avoid substitutes!

Ferrozone is sold by all dealers in 50c boxes or six for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

SPORTING NEWS

FRITZ MOHL COULD BE INDUCED TO WRESTLE ROGERS HERE

During the progress of the last match between Yankee Rogers and Gene Hurtubise it was announced from the stage that arrangements were pending for the bringing to Peterborough of the well-known German champion wrestler. Fritz Mohl, who since coming to this country a few years ago, has made quite a lot of money, and has beaten every wrestler of note with the exception of Beel, Gotch, Rogers and Jenkins. Some of his performances are really splendid. He beat Eckerberg, the much touted champion of Denmark, in Chicago in two straight falls; Perrell, the Dago; Maupas, the clever Parisian, then champion of Canada; Faust, Jim Parr, the clever, though erratic English wrestler; and Apollo, who just recently went up against Hack, in London.

Mohl may be persuaded to wrestle here for a substantial purse, and if he does the public will get all the excitement they want. Mohl is a very little fellow, only weighing 2 pounds of good Teuton stock, so Rogers would have some overweight to get along with. He was matched against the big Caseaux, the Bordelais terror, in Montreal, three weeks ago, and went after the Frenchman so hard that he broke down the ropes and hurled Caseaux off the stage.

Then all wrestling students know what happened when this big rough German chap met Frank Gotch in Lowell, Mass. It took Gotch 82 minutes to get the big fellow down, and before doing that Mohl flung Franky over his head into the stage wings, which caused the champion to loosen up and do something. To hear the tale from Mohl himself, is worth twenty crack comedians.

CHEROKEE BRAVES TO PLAY WITH THE JOHNSTON NINE

The Peterborough public will have an opportunity of seeing a real live bunch of redskin war dancers play ball here when the Cherokee Indian touring ball team and the Johnston nine come together about the middle of the month. The Cherokees have a great reputation and the exhibition should certainly prove one of unusual interest on account of the make-up of the visiting team. The redskins are not simply a circus aggregation going round the country to provide amusement but a ball team of great playing ability and experience and are expert in all departments of the game. As a drawing card they should prove the strongest one of the season. The advance agent of the braves will be here soon and conclude arrangements with Manager Johnston for the appearance of his team here.

TORONTO ATHLETES LOOK TO HAVE PRETTY GOOD CHANCES

Last night's Toronto Star says; The Ontario Olympic candidates should just about sweep the board in the finals. If the records made at the Quebec trails are any criterion, the Easterners, with the possible exception of F. L. Lukeman, the sprinter, will be pie for the Ontario men. In every instance, except the short spring, the Ontario times and figures are all away better.

Lukeman, the Montreal sprinter, is credited with 10.45 for the 100 metres. This is a fifth of a second better than the time given Bobby Kerr, here. But barken! Two watches caught Kerr in 10 4-5; another said 10 3-5. Kerr ran on the grass, and Lukeman did his stepping on the cinders. Watch this pair when they hook up.

D Belland, the Quebec Zouave, who ran second to Lukeman in Montreal, is said to be the "pro" who ran around Peterborough several years ago. Belland will be pie for Lou Sebert, the West End sprinter, if he is allowed in the finals.

In the 400 metres Sandy Quinn, the Ottawa man, won in 54 seconds, while Lou Sebert did it in 51 flat here. Quinn ran about as fast as Joe White, who was second. In the 800 metres, Irving Parkes did 2.57 4-5, while Beddie, the Montreal man, only got 2.20 4-5. We have five men who can beat that time.

In the jumps the Ontario men are far superior. Vaughan, of Ottawa, won the running high jump with 5 feet 5, while Barber did 5 feet 8 here, and can do six feet, while Make Creek is good for 6 feet 2 1-2. In the running broad jump Lukeman got 22 feet 2 3-4, while Brecken here got 22 feet 8 3-4.

In the hop, step and jump Vaughan won with 40 feet 6 1-2 inches, while all the men here did over that mark, the winner, Barber getting 42 feet 10 inches.

In the standing high jump, Haypenny of Montreal got 4 feet 5 1-2, while Barber did 4 feet 8 1-2.

In the 400 metres hurdles, Griffiths of Montreal won with 1.13 2-5, while Cal Bricker did 58 4-5, and wasn't pressed at that. At that rate Bricker should beat Griffith 60 yards. In the 100 metres hurdles Savage, of Montreal, did 17 1-5, while Barber did 16 4-5 here.

In the discus Alex. Sinclair should have a cinch if his 105 feet here, compared with Jackson's 97 feet 5 1-2 at Montreal, is any criterion.

We had no 3,200 metre steeplechaser, but Bredin Galbraith and young Schofield, of Centrals, can both beat 11.12 for the 3200 metres "lapping" race. The Easterners' five mile team was putrid. Lambe of the M.A.A. won in 28.13, while the time here was 26.34 1-5. If Galbraith had not lost a shoe the time would have been about 26.10. In the 15 mile Marathon, Gordon of the Waverleys, only did 33.43. Harry Lawson's time here was 31.30. Martin was second at Montreal, and Noseworthy, the snowshoe champion, third in the Montreal race.

LOUIS YEOTES WON UMBRELLA

Good Shooting for it Last Night Winner Was Tied With Jimmie Martin

There was good shooting for the gold-headed umbrella at the shooting alley, 4th George street. Mr. Louis Yeotes, proprietor of the Yeotes Shoe Shine Parlour, eventually winning out against Jimmie Martin in the shoot off, after both had scored 96. The umbrella is a very valuable one and Mr. Yeotes is to be congratulated upon winning it.

The scoring was as follows:—

Louis Yeotes	96
Jimmie Martin	96
George Trotter	93
W. A. Elliott	91
C. Duggan	89
H. Mackey	84
Chas. Graham	82
W. Robson	77
Roy Hutchinson	76
P. Poe	72

WRESTLING

The match with Rogers and Fitz Mohl, which may be pulled off here, will in all probability take place on June 17th.

Mr. W. B. Naylor, manager for Yankee Rogers, writes that a match will probably be pulled off between Yankee Rogers and Karakanof, the Terrible Turk, or Charles Stuard, of Riverie de Loupe, Quebec. Karakanoc won the big tournament in Montreal three years ago, in which he did some sensational stunts. He beat Roumagnon, of Paris, in one minute, Sampson in nine minutes and Anvery, Belgium, in two minutes, Faust, the big German mat artist, in five minutes and was thrown by Lundin in one minute. all of which is travelling fast for falls. He wrestled Frank Gotch before the biggest audience ever known in Montreal, but was planed for two falls in five minutes and two minutes respectively.

LINDSAY TO HAVE LACROSSE TEAM

Will be Able to Place Fast Twelve on the Sward

Lindsay, June 1—Lindsay is going to have a lacrosse team in the town this season after all. Some time ago Lindsay received an invitation from Peterborough asking them to join the Midland League, which was just then being organized. The invitation came too sudden for the local stick handlers, and the town was unrepresented at the organization meeting in Peterborough. However, the lacrosse fever is now beginning to sweep over the town and by the end of next week it is learned that Lindsay will have one of the finest intermediate lacrosse teams in Central Ontario. Three good players who have been on the line-up of one of Toronto's best teams, have signed and all those wishing to join should hand in their names to Mr. G. A. Little. A meeting will be held some night this week in the local Y.M.C.A. and the officers will be elected.

RECEPTION TO LAWN BOWLERS

All the members of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club are invited to attend the reception which is to be held at the bowling green Wednesday afternoon and evening. The new members are given a most cordial invitation to attend.

T.A.S. AND STRATHS. WILL HOOK UP

T.A.S. and Strathconas play a city league game at Nicholls Oval tomorrow night at six o'clock. It's just a tossing which team will win and the game should be an excellent one.

THREE TIMES IN ONE HOUR

Not Four Times as Stated in Last Night's issue of the Review—Hurtubise--Rogers Bout

Through error it was stated in last night's issue of The Review that Rogers would undertake to throw Hurtubise four times in an hour. It should have read three times an hour.

Rogers will meet Gene on the 10th on exactly the same conditions as the two came together before on.

The match, as stated before, will take place at the Brock St. Rink.

RUNNING

Tom Coley, of St. Patrick's Athletic Club, Hamilton, formerly of the Irish-Canadian Athletic Club, of this city, will not be a starter in the final 25 mile Marathon trial at Rosedale on Saturday. Coley, who has not been feeling well for the past few weeks, is now under the doctor's care, and unless his condition improves considerably, he will not face the starter in the big event. In the opinion of an old-time athlete who saw Coley just before the start of the 15 mile at Rosedale on the holiday, the Hamilton boy is overtrained, and after when he collapsed at the six mile post with cramps in the stomach. With Tom Longboat out, and Tom Coley undecided, Canada's chances for the Olympic Marathon begin to look bad. It is to be hoped that both these men will round into condition in time to face the starter on the morning of July 25th. This morning Chandler and Rain, the British Columbia entries, arrived in town. They are a likely looking pair, but look to be outclassed in the Marathon field, as the first eight men who finished in the fifteen mile on the holiday are fast enough for any company.—Toronto News.

BASEBALL

A GREAT GAME

There is one game of baseball looked forward to every year above all others. This is when the Lindsay and Peterborough nines meet. Since time immemorial the teams have been enemies, and the games have been closely contested. On Wednesday evening the Peterborough's best nine will be here to play the Wideawakes, and a great game is assured. The game will be played in the evening shortly after five o'clock. —Lindsay Warder.

PORT HOPE AND COBOURG

The event of the season takes place at the town park on Wednesday afternoon, when Cobourg and Port Hope will struggle for honors. Both teams will be at their best and one of the most exciting contests of the season is looked for.

Requests have been recieved from various quarters for a game on an afternoon other than Saturday and after much trouble the local management were successful in arranging their game with Cobourg for Wednesday afternoon. The battle will open at 3.30 o'clock and a large crowd should take it in.—Port Hope Guide.

The following will be the lineup of the locals for their game in Lindsay to-morrow:—Edmunds, catcher; Clements, pitcher; Lawson, 1st; O'Brien, 2nd; Chatham, 3rd; Maddock, s.s.; Murphy, l.f.; Burns, c.f.; Craig, r.f.

St. Andrew's and All Saint's played a game in the church league last night. The Presbyterians won the contest by 6—2.

PETES. WILL PLAY AT WELLINGTON

Another Game Arranged for the Lake Front Tour

The Peterborough baseball team has arranged another game for the lake front tour to be taken next week. They will play in Wellington on Wednesday, June 10th, following the game in Belleville on Monday, the 8th. Other games for the tour are being arranged.

SPORTING COMMENT

The appearance here of the Cherokee Indians will be quite a unique and spectacular event in the history of local ball.

Hamilton beat London yesterday by 6-3 and Niagara Falls won from Guelph by 5-11.

Sheehey's nine beat the Maple Leafs yesterday afternoon by 8-7.

Considerable interest is being taken here in the matched race at Port Hope on July 1st between Miss Paisley and Grey Guy.

The Strathconas defeated the Karnots last night by a score of 6-3 in an interesting exhibition game.

PROMINENT IN ATHLETICS AT EDMONTON

The Edmonton Bulletin says:—

Fred Whitcroft, manager of the Edmonton hockey team last year, has been selected to represent the Young Liberal Club Athletic Association at Calgary on Wednesday, May 27th, at the meeting called to complete the organization of an Alberta Amateur Athletic Association. Whitcroft is also manager of J. F. Fitzgerald whom he has entered for the five mile Olympic trial to be held in Calgary on Wednesday.

The Bulletin in connection with the write-up of the Olympic trials for Alberta, says;—

Fred Whitcroft, manager of the Edmonton hockey team last winter, is Fitzgerald's trainer and manager. He states that he has entered Fitzgerald for the five mile event in the Olympic trials to be held in Calgary on Wednesday May 27th. He believes if pressed, he could have cut a minute off his time yesterday.

Fitzgerald won the five mile race.

A KNOCK FOR BURN

Art Burn the Calgary long distance man, is to go to England without competing in the final Marathon trial here. If he comes back inside the first six he is to have his expenses paid by the Olympic Committee. Why Burn! He hadn't a chance to make a place here.—Toronto Star.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surface. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co., Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists. Price, 75c. per bottle.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

THE "BOBHALL" RAN AGROUND

Got on the Sand in Trent River---Rainbow Pulled it off

It is learned that the Government boat, "Bob Hall," which left for Hastings yesterday ran aground near the beginning of the Trent River. The steamer "Rainbow" had to be secured to get it afloat again. The "Bob Hall" had a pilot on board, but he apparently lost his bearing and got out of the right channel.

TELESCOPES WILL BE ON THE LAWN

At Meeting of Royal Astronomical Society at Mr. H. B. Colliers on Thursday

The Royal Astronomical Society will meet on Thursday at the residence of Mr. H. B. Collier, 655 Weller street. In the afternoon two good telescopes will be placed on the lawn from three to five o'clock and they will be equipped for viewing the present beautiful condition of the sun.

At 5 o'clock the meeting will adjourn until 7.30 sharp, when an evening meeting will be held also at Mr. Collier's.

After the moon and stars have been observed, those in attendance will be favored with a lecture from Dr. Stratton, of Napanee, on "The Eye, the Medium of Observation." Strangers and visitors are welcome to both meetings and will be privileged to use the telescopes. No admission fee will be charged.

FUNERAL OF LATE ENGINEER

Toronto, June 1.—The funeral of Engineer William H. Bouskill, who died from injuries received in the train wreck at Owen Sound on Friday night, took place from his late residence, 43 Northcote Avenue, at 1.45 this afternoon. There was a short private service at the house at which only the relatives and near friends attended, after which a public funeral service was held at St. Ann's Episcopal church. Rev. Lawrence E. Skey, M.A., rector of the church, officiated.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers attended in a body. The pall bearers were all relatives, and consisted of a brother, Fred Bouskill, and five brothers-in-law, H. Rush, Peterborough; W. J. Foster, Hawkestone; John Anderson, B. J. Vesle, and Richard Foster, all of Toronto. The interment took place in Prospect Cemetery.

S. S. EXCURSION OF KNOX CHURCH

Will be Held to Jubilee Point on June 16th.

Arrangements are being made for the annual excursion of the Knox church Sunday school, which will be held to Jubilee Point on Tuesday, June 16th. It is expected that the outing will be a very enjoyable one. Down-the-river points are going to be very popular for excursions this summer. The Otonabee Navigation Company's books have been booked for a large number of outings.

ANOTHER BAND OFFERS TO PLAY

Peterborough Band Will Play in Park Once a Week if Council Gives a Grant

The city council can have a third band concert during the week if they care to make a grant to the Peterborough band. At the council meeting last night, Mr. Elliott, secretary of the Peterborough band, appeared and asked for a grant. He stated that the band had been organized the first of the year and was getting along well. Their instruments were not all paid for and a grant would be greatly appreciated. Mr. Elliott said the band would be willing to play one night per week wherever the council might designate.

The matter was referred to the finance committee.

RE ORCHESTRA FOR THE OPERA HOUSE

Editor of the Review

Dear Sir,—The theatrical season is drawing to a close and without doing any unnecessary "knocking" I should like to say one of the most important attachments of an opera house both as in the matter of entertaining the audience between the acts and acting as accompanists for musical shows is the orchestra.

The present orchestra at the Grand Opera House is too small. There should be at least nine to ten pieces in it and six cannot possibly constitute a well balanced orchestra. The people of Peterborough pay as high prices to witness performances as the Toronto public does and have every right to demand that the local orchestra be as large as those of Toronto playhouses.

Yours very truly,
PLAYGOER.

CATARRH NOW CURABLE

But Never by Medicine Swallowed, Snuffs, Sprays or Douches

Catarrh is not a blood disease and that is why it cannot be cured by any medicine taken into the stomach. Catarrh is a germ trouble contracted from the germ-laden air you breathe inward. These germs fasten themselves in the tissue and air cells of the breathing organs, multiply by millions, cause sneezing, coughing, raising of mucous, discharge from the nose, difficulty in breathing, hoarseness, dryness, and stoppage of the nose, tickling in the throat and other symptoms that can only be reached by the dry air principal of Hyomei.

It medicates the air you breathe with the curative properties of the Australian Eucalyptus Forests where catarrh is unknown.

The reason you get relief in a minute or two from Hyomei is because it destroys every catarrhal germ in the air you breathe, and its deep penetrating aroma will reach the innermost recesses of the air passages, killing millions of germs a minute. Their destruction means freedom for oppressed respiratory organs. W. Medill, druggist, corner of Hunter and George streets, Peterborough, sells Hyomei under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. Price $1.00.

PRESENTATION AN UNIQUE ONE

An English Traveller Tells of Amusing Production of "Creation" in 1873---The Mastiff's Misdemeanor

G. P. Upton, in his "Standard Oratorios," gives the following unique description of early oratorios:

"An English traveller, describing a mystery called the "Creation," which he saw at Hamburg in 1874, says:

"Young priests had the wings of geese tied on their shoulders to personate angels. Adam appeared on the scene in a big curled wig and brocaded morning gown. Among the animals that passed before him to receive their names were a well-shod horse, pigs with rings in their noses, and a mastiff with a brass collar. A cow's rib bone had been provided for the formation of Eve., but the mastiff spied it out, grabbed it and carried it off. The angels tried to whistle him back, but not succeeding, they chased him, giving him a kicking, and recovered the bone, which they placed under a trapdoor beside the sleeping Adam, whence there soon emerged a lanky priest in a loose robe, to impersonate Eve."

JAS. A. HALL,
Returning Officer.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS, 1908

To the Electors of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—As you are aware I have received the unanimous nomination in the Liberal interests to contest the Riding of West Peterborough for its representation in the Legislature of Ontario. I beg to respectfully solicit the votes and support of all those who desire good economical and efficient administration of our affairs. I am not bound down by any straight and fast lines, but will, if chosen as your representative, take the course which, in my best judgment will best promote the interests of West Peterborough, irrespective of party considerations, and of the Province generally.

The test of good representation, either by a Government or member, is good work and, in this respect, both the late member for West Peterborough and the Government he supports have fallen short of a faithful discharge of their trust and regard for the pledges upon which was founded the policy upon which they appealed to the people. Both the Conservative leader and Mr. Bradburn appealed for a cessation of the extravagant expenditure, which they condemned in the late Government. The result has been an increase of expenditure in three or four short years of sixty per cent., not a productive expenditure for the benefit of the people, but in the mere work of administration.

In this address I cannot enter into details of the manner in which the present Government has failed to live up to the policy upon which it appealed for office, but there has been a general disregard of the principles which they claimed to be guided by. They have failed in their trust and they evidently feel that they have done so, for fearing to trust to their record, they have resorted to a "gerrymander" of the constituencies, inconsistent with fair redistribution and especial unfairness has been done in the city of Toronto by doubling its representation and giving each elector two votes, thus giving the city voter double the power in the government of the province accorded to electors in the country constituencies.

The interests of the farmers have been ignored to the extent that the expenditure for agriculture has been increased only some eight per cent, while the general increase to less worthy interests has been sixty per cent.

Disregard of the rights of labour was shown by the Government reviving the contract system of prison labour abolished by a Liberal Government, and farming out to contractors Central Prison labour at 3½ cents per hour to compete against free labour.

The introduction of the "spoils system" the failure to remove license administration from the sphere of political influence, the three-fifths handicap to local option, the invasion of the rights of rural trustees by depriving them of the right of saying how they shall spend their own money, the friendliness to corporation interests, the disregard of private rights and discouragement of private enterprise in the matter of mining claims, neglect of law reforms with a view of making our law courts available for securing justice within the means of a poor man, and the delay and inaction in the matter of dealing with the power problem are but items in a long list of matters in which the present Government have forfeited their claim to the support of the people.

If elected I shall devote my best efforts to the advancement of the interests of the city in every direction and shall not overlook its most important interests, the allied welfare of our workingmen and our manufacturing industries; and will also do all in my power to advance the great farming and dairying interests which are the foundation of our prosperity, giving fair play at the same time to every provincial interest and to political friend and political opponent alike.

Trusting that I may be favored with your support and influence and vote, I remain, Gentlemen,

Very sincerely yours,

G. A. GILLESPIE

NO CHIEF YET APPOINTED FOR LOCAL FIRE BRIGADE

City Council Appointed a Committee Last Night to Take Up the Matter at Once--Work of the Brigade Criticized.

Aldermen Were Unable to Agree Upon a Man—Deputations From Manufacturers Association, Merchants Association, Trades and Labor Council, and Others Address the Council—An Interesting Session

The new chief of the Peterborough fire brigade has not yet been appointed. The city council was unable to come to a decision at last night's meeting but at last unanimously concluded to leave the whole question to a committee to deal with.

The committee is composed of Ald. Neill, Phelan and Bradburn has been authorized to lose no time in settling the matter. A report will be made to the council before any decision is arrived at. It is probable that the present brigade will be asked to remain in office for some time after June 30th, the time specified in their resignations till the new brigade has been thoroughly organized and put on a good foundation.

The council chamber was filled with spectators, attracted there by the interest aroused in the fire brigade question. The fire on Sunday had served to increase that interest and the people kept coming in until the benches at the back of the room were crowded. Delegates were present, from the Manufacturers' Association, Merchants' Association, Trades and Labor Council and fire brigade as well as citizens who went to the meeting of their own account.

On it being intimated that there were several deputations present in connection with the fire brigade question, it was moved and seconded that they be heard. Mr. R. G. Kingan was the first speaker.

Mr. Kingan, representing the Merchants' Association, said that at a meeting of the merchants of Peterborough it was decided to urge the council to appoint a fully competent man for the position of fire chief. It made no difference whether he was a local man or an outsider so long as he was capable of performing the duties of his office satisfactorily. A fully competent man was what was wanted.

Mr. H. R. Collier, who was one of the losers in Sunday's fire, criticized the action of the brigade. He said they were responsible for a large part of the extensive damage done. Mr. Collier said he believed there should be some investigation regarding the fire on Sunday, especially as to why the chief of the fire brigade was present and did not take part in fighting the fire. There was something wrong when the water was not turned on till after twenty minutes after the alarm had been sent in. That was not the kind of brigade Peterborough wanted. There seemed to be a lack of system about the way the fire was handled. Mr. Collier did not wish to blame the firemen individually. It was the lack of organized effort that was responsible for most of the inefficiency.

Mr. W. H. Denham also addressed the council. He said the Manufacturers' Association had taken up this matter some time ago and had been assured that it would be dealt with at once. He could not understand why there had been so much delay. It was not a sentimental matter, it was a matter of business. He was strongly in favor of having an outside man. A local man, competent, though he might be, would not have the discipline over the men as he would probably have been a schoolmate and old friend of some of the men under him and under such conditions it was impossible to have the best of discipline.

Mr. Denham said he had ordered an increase in the fire fighting equipment of the Quaker Oats Co. as the city was not providing sufficient. If a good chief could not be secured for $1000, then more should be paid. The council should not let that matter prevent them from getting a first class man.

Mr. Archie Moore contradicted Mr. Collier. He said he was at the scene of the fire five minutes after the alarm was sounded, and there was one stream turned on then. He regretted that a gentleman had come before the council and made statements that were not true. All the brigades in the country couldn't have stopped Sunday's fire. It was like a seething furnace when the firemen arrived.

Mr. Collier said he was not able to say from personal experience whether the water was on till twenty minutes after the alarm sounded. He had been told however by over a dozen persons that such was the case. Mr. Collier said that if the firemen had taken down a pipe leading from the mill to the elevator the damage would have been much less. They had been told to cut down the pipe several times but did not do so for two hours after the fire had broken out.

Mr. Moore said the firemen could not get at the pipe on account of the dense smoke. The firemen had tried to do so but could not stand it. The firemen, Mr. Moore claimed, had done everything in their power under the circumstances.

Mr. Denham substantiated Mr. Collier. He said there would have been no necessity for turning the hose upon the grain if the pipe had been taken down at the proper time.

Ald. Morgan said he considered the fire was well handled.

"You would, would you," said Mr. Collier.

"Yes, I would," was the reply.

"Then I wouldn't like to hire you for chief," said Mr. Collier.

"You needn't worry about that; you will never have the chance," said the alderman.

Ald. Morgan praised the firemen very highly and said they had fought the fire well.

Mr. E. G. Patterson, of the Canadian Electric Works, said it was about time the city got rid of the volunteer fire brigade and got a permanent brigade. Sunday's fire had brought him to his senses of what was liable to happen. He understood that the fire chief sent in his resignation, that it had not been accepted and that the chief was at the fire on Sunday and took no part in fighting the flames.

If that was so the council should accept his resignation at once. The council should establish an efficient permanent brigade.

Mr. Chas. Murty, of the Trades and Labor Council, favored having a local man for chief. There were some people he said, who did not care how big a sum the chief was paid. This view, Mr. Murty said, was held by many of those who had fixed assessments and increased expenditure did not mean any increase in taxes.

There was a faint ripple of applause as Mr. Murty resumed his seat after dilating upon several other points.

All the deputations having been heard, the aldermen then took up the question. All were agreed that personal matters should have no bearing upon the appointment of a chief. A good man was wanted. Ald. Neill and Morgan had a mild tiff that caused some amusement. Ald. Morgan said that Chief Rutherford was as good a man for the position as could be found and the the fire brigade was all right.

Ald. Neill told him to stop talking to the gallery and take up the question in a business-like manner.

Ald. Turner still favored the appointment of Mr. Finch of Brantford and made a strong speech, putting the matter before his colleagues quite cleanly

Ald. Elliott favored the appointment of a local man.

Mayor Rush asked him who he would suggest but Ald. Elliott mentioned no names.

There was considerable discussion in which all the aldermen took part.

Finally it was moved by Ald. Neill, seconded by Ald. Gillespie that the whole matter be left to a committee composed of Ald. Turner, Bradburn and Phelan.

Ald. Turner said he could not give the time to the matter he would like and asked to be left off the committee.

On motion Ald. Neill's name was substituted for that of Ald. Turner and the committee therefore consists of Ald. Neill, Bradburn and Phelan.

The committee will get to work at once and see what can be done. It is the intention to appoint a chief and then arrange for the remainder of the brigade afterwards.

The impression among the merchants and manufacturers is that there should be ten or twelve paid men.

HOTELKEEPER FINED $50 AND COSTS

Appeared in Court To-day for Selling to a Minor

A local hotelkeeper was fined fifty dollars and costs at the Police Court this morning for selling liquor to a minor on Monday, May 25th. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for the accused and pleaded not guilty. Three boys gave evidence, the one who bought the liquor being only sixteen years of age. The sale of the intoxicants was denied by the bartender, who, the boy stated, sold him it.

His Worship after reviewing the evidence imposed the above fine.

GENERAL BULLER IS DEAD ANSWERED LAST ROLL CALL

Had Been Ill for Some Weeks—Began His Career in China—Served in Canada With the 60th Rifles and Went to Red River Under Lord Wolseley.

London, June 3.—Gen. Redvers Buller, who has been ill for some weeks, is dead. He was born in 1839.

Gen. Buller entered the army in 1858, and in 1891 he had risen to the rank of lieutenant-general. He saw active service in many parts of the world. He served in China in 1860, in the Ashanti war in 1874, in the Kaffir war, in the Zulu war in 1878-79; he was in South Africa in 1881, and in Egypt in 1882, and was present at the battle of Tel-El-Kebir; he also fought in the Soudan war in 1884, and was Under Secretary for Ireland in 1887.

He became well known during the Boer war as the man who relieved Ladysmith. He went out to South Africa in 1899, first as general commanding the forces in South Africa, and afterwards as general officer commanding in Natal. He conducted the operations for the relief of Ladysmith, which was successfully accomplished after an investment of 119 days, and subsequently he conducted the operations that resulted in the expulsion of the Boer army from Natal.

In April Gen. Buller contracted a chill in London, and this indisposition was followed by a severe attack of jaundice and other complications. Early in May a hopeful view of his recovery was entertained by his physician, and the turn for the worse was unexpected.

Gen. Buller married Lady Audrey Jane Charlotte, daughter of the fourth Marquis Townsend.

Service In Canada.

The late Gen. Buller, during his long military career, saw a great deal of service in Canada. He came out here with his regiment, the 60th Royal Rifles, which came to Canada during the Fenian raid troubles of 1866, and later accompanied the four companies of that famous corps, which formed part of the Red River expedition of 1870, under Col., now Field Marshal Wolseley. It was that expedition which first established the reputation of Lord Wolseley as a soldier, and it was also in the course of that campaign, with its wonderful record of the march of the Canadian and Imperial troops through the wilderness that then existed between Port Arthur and Fort Garry, that Buller first attracted the attention of Lord Wolseley.

Three years later, when Wolseley was selecting his officers for the Ashanti expedition, he remembered Buller and chose him as one of his staff on that campaign in West Africa.

Capt. Buller was for three years stationed at London, Ont., for the intelligence department, and made a thorough study of Western Ontario.

SUBSIDY HAS BEEN EARNED

The Big Cunarders Make Further Records.

New York, June 3.—The gigantic turbine steamers Lusitania and Mauretania have earned for the Cunard Steamship Co. subsidy of $750,000 per year, the British Government having announced in Parliament that the two great steamers had fulfilled all conditions of the subsidy agreement.

When the Mauretania swung in at her pier yesterday she had two more records to her credit. She had beaten by seven minutes the best previous time over the long course, made by her sister ship, the Lusitania, and also had made the greatest distance in a single day's run ever made by any steamship.

The fastest time of the voyage was made in the last day's run, when she reeled off 635 miles in 24 hours, a new record.

Bringing a String of Seven.

Fort William, June 3.—A chain gang of seven prisoners was taken to Toronto on the Alberta in charge of Officer Ryan of the Central Prison. The most noted prisoner was Forester, the C.N.R. agent at Atikokan, who was recently sentenced to a five years' term in Kingston penitentiary for hold-up of the station and robbery of large sums of money. Others are vagrants.

Strathcona on Canada's Loyalty.

London, June 3.—Speaking at a banquet at Bristol, Lord Strathcona emphasized the undeviating loyalty of Canada and trusted that in the future it would be felt not only as a matter of sentiment, but to their profit that the colonies should deal somewhat more gently and generously with one of their own kith and kin on both sides, than with outside countries.

KILLING EELS BY ELECTRICITY

Novel Method Adopted by Power Company in Northern California

The following interesting article is from the "Electrical World" for May:—

The run of eels in the rivers and creeks in the section of northern California, near Ukiah, is said to exceed any known for years. The canal built by the Snow Mountain Power Company, from its power houses in Potter Valley, has been swarmed with them, and they piled up at the power station in a manner that threatened to clog the wheels. There seemed to be no way of getting rid of them until electricians sunk a large meshed piece of wire in the canal where the eels congregated, and when it was well covered several thousand volts were turned into it. The eels were then gathered up and hauled away and buried. Several waggon loads of them have been killed by this means already, according to the account. The Fish Commissioners are particularly interested in this method of destroying eels, as they are one of the greatest destroyers of young trout known.

YUKON CHARGES IS DEBATED IN THE PARLIAMENT AT OTTAWA

Morning Sittings Begun—The First One Taken up With a Discussion on Charges of Rev Dr. Pringle Against Government Officials—Continued at Afternoon Session—Salary Supplies Voted.

Ottawa, June 3.—Morning sessions began, but little headway was made. As soon as preliminaries were disposed of yesterday Mr. Foster brought up the question of the administration of the Yukon, occupying more than two hours in reading unprintable charges made by Rev. John Pringle of Dawson City, against the character of the Government officials, Girouard and Lithgow, and the reply of Gold Commissioner Congdon thereto.

Mr. Oliver replied, regretting that they were not found fair grounds for investigation.

Answering Mr. Pringle's statement that the waters of the Yukon had been alienated from the people for the benefit of the grafters, the Minister said the Treadgold concession was never taken advantage of. Mr. Pringle was mistaken when he charged that the concession was to the disadvantage of the people.

He had invited Mr. Pringle to appear before the commissioner and substantiate specific charges. The charges were only "tolerably specific."

That was a queer rule to lay down, in Dr. Sproule's opinion, who pointed out that the Hodgins' charges of a general character were being investigated under oath.

Mr. Oliver claimed there was less crime in the Yukon, man for man, than in Ottawa. Why should not Parliament concern itself with the morals of Toronto or Ottawa?

Mr. Borden observed that the power to examine witnesses under oath was the one thing necessary to make an investigation effective. Dr. Pringle's charges were sufficiently specific to warrant a royal commission.

Sir Wilfrid defended his Minister. While there could be no doubt of Rev. Mr. Pringle's interest in the public welfare, yet he had not exercised a great deal of discretion, and his language might have been more moderate. Mr. Pringle had been given ample opportunity to prove his charges, and if witnesses would have come forward then it would have been open to the Government to consider whether they should have been examined under oath.

Dr. Sproule continued the discussion of the afternoon, asking why Mr. Pringle's allegation that two Cabinet Ministers were personally interested in Yukon hydraulic concessions was not of sufficient importance to warrant enquiry.

He then proceeded to read some of "the horrible details" of the alleged escapades of Registrar Girouard, whose denial of the damning accusations were of no more force than the "Not guilty" of the prisoner at the bar, yet the First Minister accepted his denial before the word of a man like Rev. Mr. Pringle, asserted Dr. Sproule.

Mr. Knowles first discussed Col. Sam Hughes' sensational speech in the House some days ago, when the colonel furnished inside information concerning the division among Conservatives in 1896, over the Yukon Railway, giving Sir Charles Tupper credit for saying the party had made a mistake in opposing the railway.

Mr. Foster interrupted with the observation that Sir Charles Tupper had given absolute denial to Col. Hughes' statement. Mr. Knowles said he accepted Sir Charles' word, although, he said, perhaps the old gentleman's memory was defective.

The House got into supply at 10.30 and adjourned at midnight, after passing $190,000 of interior estimates for salaries only.

Just before midnight Mr. Fielding exhibited his usual bad temper by accusing the Opposition of obstructing when Mr. Foster retorted that the Government in the past three weeks had been playing to the gallery and endeavoring to win sympathy from the country. Mr. Foster said three weeks ago he pleaded with Mr. Fielding to take up civil service Government estimates and the Opposition would offer no objection. Mr. Fielding had refused to comply, but had shoved items for public works to the front.

The House adjourned at midnight. The easy-going manner of both sides suggests that the Government is not anxious to press the Opposition to the point of working all night, and that very little will be done till the elections in Ontario and Quebec are over.

ONE MERCHANT COMES OUT STRONGLY FOR HALF HOLIDAY

Says That All the Merchants Were Not Consulted in Making Arrangement—Five O'clock Closing Will Not Work Satisfactorily.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I as well as other retail merchants of the city, was very much surprised to read in your paper of last evening the following:—"A meeting of representative merchants of the city was held recently, at which it was decided not to close their stores this summer on Thursday afternoons, but that they decided to close every afternoon at five o'clock p. m., July 14th to Sept. 1st.

It's a pity some people can't learn to "play fair." There are merchants who can't not only be fair to their employees, but try their prettiest to prevent others from doing so.

Now, Mr. Editor, you were perhaps not told who were at the bottom of of this scheme, but I can tell you, and will name them later on, if they press this matter any further. At most there are only three merchants who are agitating the killing of the Thursday half holiday, and they are the same three who "kicked" so much about it last year. And yet they have the assurance to call themselves "representative merchants." Isn't there a Retail Merchants' Association, one of whose functions it is to amicably arrange just such matters as these? But no one has heard of a meeting being called or anybody consulted, except these triple kickers, and they may as well know first as last that "the other merchants" will not take due notice of this or fall in line with the "majority" of three.

Let me point out just one or two reasons why we will not fall in line.

1st. It is a fact that between say 4.30 and 6 o'clock, during that period between July and September, more shopping is done than during the hours of the day, except Saturday, for the reason that shoppers prefer to wait until the coolest part of the afternoon to do their buying.

2nd. It is a fact that last summer as much business was done on Thursday forenoons as was done on any other whole day of the week between July and September, and the merchants counted their Thursday sales to be equal to, if not greater, than any other day of the week, during that period, except on Saturday. Special bargains were usually advertised for Thursday forenoons, with the result that shoppers were attracted in greater numbers and their shopping all done in the forenoon.

3rd. What particular benefit is it to employer or employee to close at five o'clock. Before stocks are straightened up after the day's business it is 5.30, so that by the time one reaches home no advantage of any kind is gained for the purpose of recreation. But on Thursday afternoon's a delightful outing can be enjoyed, and all can come back next day refreshed by the rest of the five or six hours of cool fresh air exhilaration.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the courtesy allowed me.

I remain yours truly,

FAIR PLAY MERCHANT.

Senators Send Commons Reminder.

Ottawa, June 3.—The Senate resumed yesterday and a resolution offered by Senator McMullen carried, 28 to 19, declaring that the Senate deem it expedient to invite the Commons to co-operate with it by means of a joint committee to consider the advisability of devising methods whereby more equal division of initiation of private and public legislation my be secured between the branches of Parliament, and adopting rules governing debate which will limit the time of discussion so as to better expedite business.

An Insurance Incorporation.

Ottawa, June 3.—The Commons banking and commerce committee has passed a bill to grant incorporation to the Standard Fire Insurance Co. The company has been doing business for eleven years, under an Ontario charter as the Standard Mutual.

Boy Killed.

Napanee, June 3.—While riding on the drivers' seat of a bus, Percy Johnston, 10 years of age, fell under the wheels, which passed over his body. He died a few hours later.

Stock Broker Arrested.

Montreal, June 3.—F. W. Bochen, the stock dealer, who failed recently, was arrested on a warrant sworn out by a creditor to the extent of $25,000.

Boycotting Japanese Wares.

St. Petersburg, June 3.—According to letters received from Harbin, a serious boycott on Japanese wares has developed in Manchuria. All the big Chinese merchants are participating unreservedly in the movement.

Snow In New Brunswick.

Moncton, N.B., June 3.—Snowfalls in the northern portion of the province, and mercury hovering around the freezing point in this vicinity, have marked the opening of June in New Brunswick.

Author's Heavy Sentence.

Leipsic, June 3.—The Imperial court has sentenced Herr Schiwara, a well-known author, to 12 years in jail and the loss of his civil rights after having found him guilty of disclosing German military secrets to France and thus endangering the defence of the empire.

Handcuffed Prisoners Jump.

Port Arthur, June 3.—George Mansfield and Charles Weir, two prisoners en route to the Central Prison from Kenora, though handcuffed together, jumped from the train and escaped. So far they have not been located.

Boy Blinded by Dynamite.

Brockville, June 3.—While playing with a piece of dynamite which he found near his father's home, George Lennox, aged 4, was blinded. The lad dropper the dynamite on a rock. His chances of recovery are slight.

Too Radical.

London, June 3.—(C.A.P.)—The Minister of Labor for New Zealand, speaking at Dunedin, declared the Government had no intention of adopting the Socialists' demand that the state should nationalize all the land and means of production.

Wheat Two Feet High.

Winnipeg, June 3.—Crop prospects continue to be satisfactory and growth vigorous and rapid. Many points report wheat up from 12 to 15 inches, while out in the fall wheat areas of Southern Alberta some of the grain is two feet high.

Suicide In Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, June 3.—The body of a man supposed to be J. M. Hyde of Prince Edward Island was found in the River Park yesterday. A gashed throat and a bottle of carbolic acid indicate suicide.

CHILD HAD TERRIBLE ACCIDENT

Little Boy Fell into Vat of Boiling Water

While playing around the floor Monday afternoon the four year old son of Thos. Waldon of South Ops, fell into a vat of boiling water. He was terribly scalded, and his parents at once set out with him to the hospital.

While on their way to the hospital the horse shied at some obstacle on the road and upset the buggy throwing the occupants out and bruising them badly. The buggy was also broken into splinters. Mr. Waldon then went to a neighboring farm and proceeded with his wife and child to the hospital.

The little fellow now lies in the Ross Memorial Hospital at Lindsay in a very precarious state and the doctors hold but very slight hope for the little fellow's recovery. He is suffering intense pain all the time from the burns and bruises which he received while he was being conveyed to the hospital.

A Cobalt Flotation.

Toronto, June 3.—The successful flotation of the La Rose Consolidated demonstrates that any genuine shipping Cobalt mine that will give the public a square deal will be endorsed by the public.

In New York La Rose closed at 4 7-8 to 5, and 35,200 shares were sold.

Boston absorbed probably 12,000 shares.

Here no shares were to be had for present delivery, but for future delivery several sales were made as high as $5.50, and for early delivery at $4.90.

Arrested For Breach of Promise.

Montreal, June 3.—Charles H. Shaw, son of the president of the Janesville Ohio Tile Co., was arrested on a charge of breach of promise of marriage.

The plaintiff is Miss Charlotte Webster of Montreal, but her relatives are nearly all in New York and are of prominence. She was to have sailed with her mother from New York this week, but the marriage was arranged early last week and was to have taken place on Saturday last.

Miss Webster claims $20,000 damages. Shaw is in jail without bail.

Russia Needs Money.

St. Petersburg, June 3.—According to The Russ Finance Minister Kokovsoff has sent a letter to the Cabinet proposing the immediate issue of an internal loan of $100,000,000 to cover the deficit in the 1908 budget and other expenditures that cannot be deferred. The approval of the Duma would have to be obtained.

The money will be applied as follows: $50,000,000 to the deficit; $8,000,000 to famine relief, and $30,000,000 to the Ministries of War and Marine, principally for the augmentation of munitions of war and military stores.

Team of Horses to Recover Body.

Orangeville, June 3.—The body of William Wisdom, drowned on Thursday last in the flood of water along with his wife, by being swept from under a bridge on their farm, was discovered lying near the place where Mrs. Wisdom's body had been found.

The corpse had been buried under a log in the sediment that had been washed down by flood and it took a team of horses to remove the body.

Mr. Walter Rothschild, Unionist member for Aylesbury, will retire from parliament at the next election.

ANONYMOUS GIVER SENDS BIG SUM FOR BATTLEFIELDS FUND

Gift of $10,000 Sent From New York—Commends Action in Consecrating Historic Battlefields—Canadians Must Become a Lusty Nation.

Ottawa, June 3.—A check for $10,000 has been received by Earl Grey from an anonymous contributor from the Hotel St. Regis, in New York, and has been handed over to the Quebec battlefields commission.

The letter, which explains itself, is as follows:

"To His Excellency Earl Grey, Governor-General, Canada:

"As a British subject, I admire the pluck and patriotism of the Canadians in the work of consecrating the historic battlefields of their country in a way to emphasize the genuineness of the entente cordiale so happily established between the two powerful races resident in the Dominion.

"It is now universally admitted that harmony and goodwill amongst its different races, especially in new country, constitute one of the greatest of national assets.

"If the spirit of unity, typified as it will be, in the course of celebration at Quebec, is perpetuated, Canadians must become a great and powerful people—a lusty nation.

"About this, it seems to me, there can scarcely be two opinions, and of who observant outsiders are perhaps better able to judge than Canadians themselves.

"Your patriotic efforts, sir, in connection with Canada's tercentenary celebration well deserve to be crowned with the success that is attending them, for every such effort exerts a powerful influence in the building of the national foundation.

"I believe it is a mistake to suppose that intelligent Americans are envious of Canada's prosperity and prospects. Americans look on at the preparations for your coming celebration with deep interest and good will and they will be with you in thousands in July.

"It is not an exaggeration to say that the eyes of a great part of the world are turned towards Canada at this time.

"If it will serve any good purpose to publish this letter, you are at liberty, Earl Grey, to do so.

"With profound respect and the best of goodwill and wishes I enclose my card and a check for ten thousand dollars, as a subscription to aid you in your battlefields plans, from

"A Believer in Canada's Destiny."

COMMISSION IS IN SESSION

International Waterways Commission Meeting at Buffalo

Buffalo, June 3.—The International Waterways Commission began an important joint session here yesterday.

"The meeting was called," said George Clinton, one of the three members of the United States, "to consider the laying out of the boundaries which run through the great lakes and the connecting rivers and channels from the point of the intersection of the international boundary lines with the St. Lawrence river to Pidgeon river. This work comes under the terms of the new treaty, which calls for a revision of the boundary line between the United States and Canada."

The commission agreed, however, that a survey of the boundary will not be begun at once. They will first make a careful review of the present charts and boundaries as set by the treaty of Ghent. If the commission fails to reach an agreement within six months, disputed points will be referred to a third party.

The commission adjourned to meet June 23 at Toronto.

Quiet Again.

Constantinople, June 3.—A despatch has been received here from the French consul at Vathy, capital of the Island of Samos, confirming previous reports that tranquility has been restored there.

Autos Prohibited.

Chatham, June 3.—The county council of Kent has passed a resolution to petition the Legislature to prohibit automobiles from running on rural roads on Saturdays and Sundays.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review Does Not Hold Itself Responsible for Opinions Expressed by Correspondents

APPEAL TO ENGLISHMEN

Editor of the Review

Sir,—I beg leave of space in your valuable paper to make an appeal to the English voters of Peterborough to cast their votes on Monday next for Mr. Bradburn if for no other reason than to protest against the action of Mr J. R. Stratton in his attempt to muzzle the employees of the Canadian General Electric Co.

We, who have resided in England for the greater part of our lives know what freedom we have always possessed in regard to the casting of our votes and also to taking what active part we wished for either party, so long as we did it in our own time.

We have always looked upon Canada as a free country and we rejoice in it as such, being an important part of the British Empire and flying the flag of freedom.

Here we have a deliberate attempt to interfere with the freedom of citizens. Men have been muzzled and prevented from speaking in their own time, simply because they were supporting one particular party, a thing which would not be tolerated in England for a single moment, in fact it would not be attempted.

I have known cases where large employers of labor have contested elections and foremen in their own employ have appeared on platforms against them. Were their positions interfered with or were they gagged. No. An Englishman's idea of freedom is freedom of thought and freedom to express it.

Brother Englishmen, show by your votes on Monday next your love for freedom of speech and your abhorrence of the attempt to coerce and gag part of the electorate.

The English vote in Peterborough is large enough to make itself felt and I trust it will do so by returning Mr. Bradburn.

Yours, etc.

AN ENGLISHMAN

Peterborough, June 3rd.

VOYAGE OF THE BATTLESHIPS

Great Britain Has Finer Ships Than the United States.

London, June 3.—The Daily Mail, in a burst of enthusiasm over Australia, on account of the proposed visit of the American fleet, in an editorial reminds the Commonwealth that the British Admiralty is not altogether to blame for the withdrawal of the Chinese squadron, which left Australia open to naval attack, because if large detachments of the fleet were stationed at distant colonies, defeat in Europe would be risked, and, furthermore, colonial contributions towards the maintenance of the navy were notoriously inadequate.

The Mail suggests, however, that in 1909 the Admiralty should despatch a powerful fleet of modern battleships on a voyage of the great colonies of the British Empire, with a view to showing them that Great Britain possesses finer ships than the United States.

Will Test the Anti-Auto Law.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., June 3.—Auto owners ran a car around the city in order to furnish a test case against the recent legislative enactment prohibiting the running of autos in the province.

The autoists point out that in 1902 the Government incorporated a law to operate motor vehicles, and in 1906 granted the franchise to operate "trackless" trolleys. This encouraged the purchase of motors by others, who are now threatened with a "dead loss" as no indemnity is provided for.

Republican Planks.

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 3.—The planks to be presented for the Republican National Convention at Chicago, as decided on at various conferences at the White House, are given in a Washington special to The Times-Star as follows:

"The Chicago platform will take advance ground on the tariff, on control of the trusts, on the amending of the Sherman law, on the currency and on the question of limiting the power of injunction."

Confidence Returns.

Winnipeg, June 3.—A remarkable feature of returning confidence, due to the exceptional crop prospects, is the number and volume of orders being wired down by Winnipeg and western jobbers to eastern wholesale houses. This movement is quite unprecedented for this season of the year.

Sentenced to Death.

Warsaw, June 3.—Three girls and eleven men were sentenced to death by court-martial for attacking a post car at Sokolow, on the Vistula Railroad, last January. A bomb thrown at the car killed two and wounded ten soldiers and employes and after the car was wrecked the safes were looted.

Kaiser, King and Queen Open Show.

Berlin, June 3.—Emperor William and the Empress, accompanied by King Gustave and Queen Victoria of Sweden, opened the shipbuilding exposition in this city.

Emperor William is one of the most prominent exhibitors at the exposition. The exhibits consists of a large collection of gold and silver medals representing every kind of craft, from the vessels of the Vikings to the most modern yachts and warships.

The royal visitors expressed the greatest interest in the show.

Labor Will Take Part.

Washington, June 3.—Organized labor and the trade unionists of Illinois, particularly, will play a conspicuous part in politics during the approaching campaign, according to a statement made by Secretary Nichols of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

Depositors Storm Bank.

Cleveland, O., June 3.—Five hundred infuriated Italians [illegible] closed doors of the [illegible] house of Gaetano [illegible] not been for police [illegible] have forced [illegible] safe, [illegible]

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 3. 1908

EDITORIAL NOTES

Sir,—A quarter of a century ago Liberalism in Lytham was practically a dead letter. It was indeed, a sleepy hollow. But a few Manchester people, for reasons of health, arrived in the place and formed a Liberal Association. We thought of Mr. Morley, whose mother was buried in the local grave-yard and asked him to be our President. In a beautiful letter to me he consented, referring to his close family connections with the town. On his being created a viscount I ventured to remind him of his being one of Lancashire's sons, and mentioned Lytham for his title. A note from him said the name had already occurred to him. Lytham may well be proud of the distinction. She will, I am sure, appreciate the honor conferred on her.—Yours etc.,

WILLIAM TATTERSALL.
Melbrook, Hale, Cheshire,
April 27th, 1908.

The above extract is taken from "The British Weekly." A change seems to be coming over the spirit of Liberalism in England. Mr. Morley, the most thorough-going of Liberals accepts a title and "The British Weekly" the great non-conformist Liberal religious weekly approves of it.

CREW ATTACKED WITH HATCHETS

Would Have Hanged Steamer Officer if Interference Had Been Delayed

Seattle, June 2. —The refusal of Jas. Gainesford, special watchman on board the British steamer Suveric, Capt. William Shotton, loading lumber here, for Manila, to allow her crew of 72 men to go ashore yesterday, so maddened them that they attacked him with hatchets, marlin pikes, and hatchbars and other weapons, breaking one of his ribs and otherwise injuring him.

But for the timely arrival of the ship's first mate and others of the white crew, the Chinese would have succeeded in lynching Gainesford with a rope that some attempted to put around his neck.

The aged watchman fought them off with his revolver and shot one of the assailants in the wrist, inflicting only a flesh wound. No arrests were made, but the incipient mutiny may be looked into by the immigration officials.

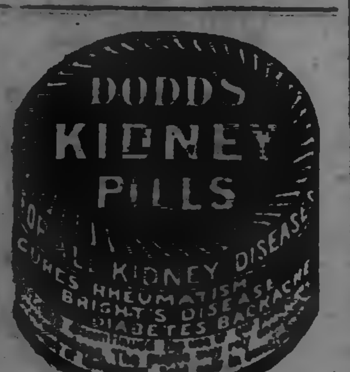
FLIES SHOULD BE KILLED NOW

A Suggestion That Housekeepers Would do Well to Follow Out

A fly in time saves nine—or probably ninety or more. A timely suggestion has been made to the effect that housekeepers kill all the flies they possibly can now and thus save them from becoming so common during the summer.

The suggestion certainly seems a good one.

The sale of the late Marchioness Conyngham's famous collection of curios realized a total of £33,868 13s, at Christie's London auction rooms.



PRISON LABOR

"The problem is to reduce the competition of convict labour to a minimum, and especially to reduce the proportion of prison made goods that are sold in the open market. This problem has been ever present since productive labor was advocated."

Speech of Hon. W. J. Hanna, Feb'y 26th, 1908.

PROVINCIAL TREASURER WILL SPEAK HERE TO-MORROW NIGHT

Col. Matheson, M. P. P. to Give Address in Grand Opera House—Big Gathering is Expected.

The Honorable, the Provincial Treasurer, Colonel Matheson, M.P.P., will address the electors of Peterboro and district in the Grand Opera House, Peterborough, to-morrow (Thursday) evening, at eight o'clock. All will be welcome.

Mr. Bradburn, M. P. P., will also speak and a rousing meeting is expected. Col. Matheson will deal largely with the financial side of provincial politics and his address should be of a most interesting nature.

Seats will be reserved for the ladies and their escorts.

THE RECORD OF A GOOD GOVERNMENT

POWER POLICY

a. Hon. G. W. Ross gave away to Companies 430,000 h. p. at Niagara alone.

b. Mr. Whitney recovered some of this and decreed cheap power for the people.

c. Companies agree and situation saved, a veritable triumph.

THE LICENSE LAW

a. The Dominion Alliance credits Whitney with tightening up enforcement of licence law and laws generally.

b. No possibility of evading penalties now.
c. Licensing bartenders makes them careful.
d. Higher licenses
e. Intoxicating liquor defined, not left to witness.
f. Tied houses cease to be.
g. Children not allowed in bar-rooms.
h. J. P's. have no longer power to issue permits. There were 5000 J. P's. under Mr. Ross.
i. Canvassing for liquor orders in local option districts prohibited.
j. Three-fifths of vote polled required for Local Option. This would usually be about ½ of vote listed. Rev. Prin. Caven, Rev. Dr. Potts, Chancellor Burwash, Chancellor Wallace and others approved similar provision.

THE "GERRYMANDER"

a. In 1883 Conservatives had 3137 majority in province, but were 10 behind in members

b. Forty ridings were changed and in 1886 a Conservative majority of 9860 in province left them in a still worse position viz.: in a minority of 30 in legislature.

c. In 1902 nearly same result.

d. Mr. Whitney tried as nearly as possible to restore and improve old conditions and will continue the good work.

e. Act introduced largely because New Ontario had to have 4 new seats and Toronto 4. They received them.

GOOD RECIPES SUMMER SALADS

Some Information That Will be of Use to Housewives

Tomatoes filled with mayonnaise are not new, but there is a new way of preparing this old salad. Scald and peel small very round tomatoes and chill them, with a sharp knife cut each one through from the top down to the circle at the bottom on which it naturally stands; press the sections apart and you will have a round red affair which looks like a thick-petaled rose; make some very stiff mayonnaise and, just before serving, put a spoonful in each one.

Another particularly good way of making a tomato salad is this: peel and slice evenly some large ones; take some fresh American cheese and cut some thin slices just as large as the tomato rounds; put one slice of cheese between each two of the tomato making a sandwich, and as you do, spread each slice with a little mayonnaise. Put one sandwich on leaf of lettuce for each person and top it with a spoonful of stiff mayonnaise.

Pea salad seems especially designed to eat with cold meat, and on a summer's day this makes a very good luncheon dish; make a stiff mayonnaise and stir it full of cooked peas, season well and arrange a border all around a dish of cold meat, preferably lamb or mutton as the peas go well with this.

One of the most attractive of all summer salads can be easily made with cucumbers and tomatoes. Select evently-sized green cucumbers and cut a good slice from each one lengthwise, without peeling them; with a teaspoon scoop out the pulp in nice pieces and lay it aside; peel one or two tomatoes and cut these up and drain off the juice; fill the cucumber shells with the red and white bits and stand each one on a lettuce leaf on a plate. Cover with French dressing and serve very cold.

THE OTONABEE COUNCIL MEET

The Council of the Township of Otonabee met on Tuesday, 26th May, as a Court of Revision. The following appeals were heard and disposed of;—From R. G. Wood, Hugh Neilson, Hector Neilson, Herb Cardwell and Ben McCoy, each appealing against assessment of a dog.—Allowed. Harold Fitch to be assessed as tenant for west half of east half lot 28, concession 9, Frank Baxter, owner.—Granted. Henry Reed, against being assessed for south-east quarter of lot 15, concession 13, as tenant, as he had left the farm. Granted. John Graham, over assessment on east half of lot 21, concession 3, reduced from $3,500 to $3,300. James Cooney, over assessment.—Assessment confirmed. Fred Holmes over assessment on half acre of land part lot 33, concession 13, reduced $25. Thomas Lang, over assessment on drugs and lot in Keene, reduced $100. John Garvey, over assessment of west half lots 28 and 29, con. 6; reduced $200. John Lang, executor of the William Carter Estate, applied to have the following parties assessed as they had purchased the following lots;—John O'Leary, for that part of west half, lot 29, concession 5, north of the C.P.R., 45 acres assessed for $175; W. E. Ward, for 52 acres of same lot south of C.P.R., 52, $150; Thomas Stillman, part of west half lot [illegible] con. 6, Keene, half acre, $100, David Armstrong, west half lot 18, concession 6, Keene, one-third acre, $65; Jas. Lang, west half of lot, concession 6, Keene, half acre, $65, Edwin Braden, west half lot 13, con. 6, Keene, one-third acre, $60; John Lang, west half lot 13, concession 6, Keene, half acre, $100.—Granted. Jas. Dickson, over assessment on part lot 56, Keene, reduced $180; David Hastie, against business assessment on saw mill.—Confirmed. D. McFarlane, over assessment shop at Keene bridge.—Reduced at $100.

Wm. O'Leary, over assessment on defunct Indian River cheese factory building and ground, and have it assessed to Mr. John O'Leary and Sons; transfer allowed and reduced $30. John Carey, overassessment; reduced $100 on east half of lot 2, $200 on west half. The following names were added to the roll;—Wm. Wedlock, jr.; Wm. Redpath, jr.; Chas. Fairbairn, Sherman Mann, Frank Devlin.

Court of Revision adjourned to 15th of June.

On the same day the council sat and transacted the following business.

James Hall applied for the privilege of running a siding across the 2nd concession line at the Indian River station to connect with an elevator which he purposes erecting. Permission was granted on condition that he keeps the traveled road at the siding and the track in proper repair, and sign an agreement to this effect.

R. J. Stewart, the grader, operator and overseer, of the road gang was present stating that the box in one of the new grader wheels unscrewed and becomes loose, also that owing to so much lost time owing to the wet spring and the trouble and worry in getting men and teams he wanted $2.50. Last year he made $65 less working on the road than he would have made working for farmers. He was granted $2.50 per day and the Clerk was instructed to write to Sawyer and Massey, Company about the wheel.

A communication was received from F. Birdsall requesting permission to perform his statute labor on the boundary as far north as the creek at lot 25.

The Clerk was instructed to say in reply referring him to the pathmaster as to where his work should be done.

The following accounts were passed.

F. Redmond, work on roads ... 1.80
Wm Garvin work on roads ... 3.10
John Edmunds, 15 barrels of cement for culverts ... 30.00
D. H. Moore care of township hall ... 4.25
Express ... 1.40
Peter Hamilton, sharpening grader blades and express ... 1.40

The council then adjourned to June 15th.

MR. G. A. GILLESPIE BID 10 7-8 AT CHEESE BOARD THIS MORNING

Twenty Six Hundred and Forty Three Cheese Boarded—Question of Green Cheese Discussed—Adjourned for Two Weeks

Mr. G. A. Gillespie, buyer for White & Gillespie, was the highest bidder at the meeting of the Peterboro Cheese Board, giving 10 7-8 cts. and securing the output of ten factories. The buyers in attendance were Messrs. Watkin, Fitzgerald, Gillespie, Jones, Kerr, Weir, Cook, of Gunn and Langlois, Montreal, Morton and Cook, of W. S. Cook and Sons, Belleville.

The factories had a splendid representation; 2643 cheese were boarded altogether.

ADJOURNMENT QUESTION

The matter of the length of time most suitable for adjournment was the topic of much discussion. A large number of the buyers were of the opinion that three weeks was too long during the summer months, and a motion for a three weeks' adjournment was defeated. It was decided to adjourn for two weeks and the next meeting will be held on Wednesday, June 17th, at 10 o'clock and not at 10.30 as heretofore.

GREEN CHEESE

President Riddell who occupied the chair, read an account of an instructive address delivered at Brockville a short time ago by Mr. G. W. Publow. The latter stated a cent a pound was lost on much Canadian Cheese exported owing to the fact that it was green and urged proper attention to the curing of cheese.

Mr. Watkin, of Belleville, the oldest buyer of the board, gave some sound advice in the matter and said that the cheese that came from the Peterboro district was not as a rule green, but that green cheese came from districts in which there was no factory inspection.

BRISK BUYING

The bidding was lively and opened at 10 1-2. Mr. Gillespie went 10 7-8 and as there were no higher, he had first choice of the purchase of the cheese boarded.

He took:

Keene, Warminster, Shearer, Central Smith, Selwyn, Villiers, Westwood, Trewern, Myrtle, King Edward. All accepted.

Mr. Watkin bid 10 15-16 and selected Ormonde, Oakdale, Norwood, Shamrock, Brickley, Oak Leaf. None refused.

Mr. Kerr bid 10 7-8 for what was left and took East Emily, Bensfort, Cavanville, Fleetwood, Warsaw, Lakefield, Pine Grove, Maple Leaf, Fraserville, Cedardale, Young's Point, Otonabee, "Union," North Dummer, Lang. They all accepted.

Mr. Jones, at 10 7-8 took Killarney and Daisy D. He said he would take Crown, Montreal, inspection. Mr. Cook, Belleville, said he would take factory inspection at the same price, 10 7-8 and his offer was accepted. This closed the buying.

CHEESE BOARDED

The cheese boarded was as follows:

Factory	No. of Cheese.

JUNE SITTINGS OF HIGH COURT OPEN ON THE 22ND

The June Sittings of the High Court will be held at the Court House on Monday, June 22nd, at 1 o'clock. His Lordship Justice Teetzel will preside. There are seven non-jury cases to come up at the present time, but the time for settlement has not yet expired and maybe before then satisfactory agreements between the parties implicated may be reached.

The County Court, June session, will be held on the 9th before His Honor Judge Weller. There are four jury cases to be heard.

Sir Percy Girouard, High Commissioner of North Nigeria, was Gazetted on Thursday as Governor and Commander-in-chief of the Protectorate.

RESIGNATION OF PRESIDENT

Of the Y.M.C.A. Woman's Auxiliary—Meeting Held on Monday

At a meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. on Monday afternoon, Mrs. E. B. Mason tendered her resignation as president. As there are only two more meetings before the annual, the vice-president, Mrs. Wm. Davidson, will fill the office until then. Mrs. Mason's resignation was received with regret, as she was a most faithful and efficient officer.

DURHAM OLD BOYS ANNUAL OUTING

Will be Held to Niagara Falls on July 8th—Starts at Peterboro'

The Durham Old Boys' Association of Toronto will run the annual excursion on July 8th, starting at Peterborough on the Grand Trunk Railway and connecting with the boats at Toronto. The trip from Lewiston to the Falls will be made by the Gorge route on the United States side Those who wish to cross to the Canadian side can do so on the street car which crosses the bridge at the Falls. The Durham Old Boy's' excursions are deservedly popular, because their arrangements are always so complete and every detail is carried out as planned. The excursion always affords an excellent opportunity for meeting with friends on the boat crossing the lake morning and evening. Toronto friends hope that a large number of their old friends in Durham will as usual take advantage of the excursion.

OUR NATIONAL DANGER

Time to Cry a Halt Before Complete Wreck Results

There are thousands, both men and women, who do not take time to eat properly. They rush through life and as a result we have an age of indigestion, nervousness, irritability, sleepless nights, and morose disposition. Our national danger is stomach weakness, due to the strenuous life.

Mi-o-na tablets, strengthen the walls of the stomach and stimulate secretion of the digestive juices. They make the stomach comfortable and cure indigestion.

Sick headaches, palpitation, yellow skin, and coated tongue are a few of the many distressing results of indigestion that Mi-o-na never fails to cure.

W. McGill, druggist, corner of Hunter and George streets, Peterborough sells Mi-o-na in 50 cent boxes, and guarantees to refund the money if it does not give complete satisfaction.

Professor E. A. Cullerton will show his celebrated series of moving pictures, including a trip through Ireland, at Jackson Park, Wednesday and Thursday evening. 57th Band will be in attendance. 2d

REPORT OF PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

The chairman and members of the Board of Education—

Gentlemen,—Your Property Committee beg to report that the necessary repairs and alterations on the several school buildings are under consideration. Your committee purpose making a visit to each school and will report fully at the next meeting of the Board.

As authorized your committee has asked for tenders for the coal required for next season and have awarded the contract to R. Hicks & Company. After considering the matter very carefully your committee decided to purchase a better grade of coal than the three-quarter lump Youghiogheny, and have accordingly selected "Red Jacket," which is a much harder coal and absolutely free from dust and dirt, as it is loaded over a 1 1-4 screen; the difference hole in the outer wall. But twenty-in cost being only 23c. per ton; coal to be weighed on the market scales and delivered as required. If at any time the coal does not give satisfaction the board has the option of changing for the three-quarter lump Youghiogheny at $5.10 per ton, this being the lowest tender.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

B. F. ACKERMAN.
Chairman.

It was moved by Mr. Crane, seconded by Mr. Nelson, that Mr. H. R. H. Kenner be the appointed examiner at the entrance examinations.

Dr. Morrison said that it would be necessary to build sidewalks and he moved that the building committee be authorized to do so.

Mr Dumble said that wide walks should be constructed and the ground should be levelled. The Board did not want any driveways through the school property. Mr. Dumble seconded Dr. Morrison's motion.

Dr. Morrison moved, seconded by Dr. Burnham, that the schools close on Friday, June 26th.

The Board then adjourned.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD ON THE DINING ROOM FLOOR TO-DAY

Mrs. Andrew Cameron, 541 Homewood Ave., was found this morning by her neighbor Mrs. Zepp, lying dead on the dining room floor. She had been in good health previous and at five o'clock this morning was seen out in her garden. Mr Cameron had been away in Hastings since Monday but on being notified of her death immediately came home. She was found at 9.45 but it cannot be said what time she passed away as she was alone in the house. Dr. McCulloch was called, also Coroner Gray was notified but an inquest will not be held, death being due to natural causes.

She was 64 years of age and was born in Otonabee, her maiden name being Ellen Miller. She was married in 1879.

She leaves no family but three brothers and five sisters are left to mourn her loss. The brothers are Wm. of Keene, and Robert and John of Otonabee. The sisters are Mrs. J. Renick of Lang; Mrs. P. McFarlane of Keene; Mrs. G. Hope and Mrs. D. Cameron of Otonabee.

The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

AFTER SEVENTEEN YEARS SPENT IN AUSTRALIA

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Blade of Menangle, New South Wales, Arrived Here Last Evening—Had a Rough Voyage—Interesting Facts About Australia.

After an absence of over seventeen years from Peterboro, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney "Blade of" Menangle, New South Wales, Australia, arrived in the city last evening and are the guests of Mr. Blade's brother, Mr. Arthur Blade, and his sister, Mrs. Mrs. A. Ringer, 326 Murray St. In a conversation with Mr. Blade, The Review learned some interesting facts about the island of Australia and their voyage to Canada. "Sailing from Sidney on February 20th, on the steamship "Drayton Grange," they arrived at London, Eng., on May 9th. They came by way of Cape Horne, followed along the South American coast, then crossed to the African shore to the Island of Lapalmos, one of the Canary islands. From Lapalmos they sailed to London, Eng., arriving there on May 9th. After spending a few days in London they came to Liverpool from which point they sailed for New York. Three weeks were spent with their daughter and son in Rochester before coming here. The voyage was a long one and exceedingly rough. It was very cold and even at the Equator the weather was just comfortable.

Mr. Blade was engaged as a gardener at Menangle in the Camden Park estate for thirteen years and a half. This estate is owned by Mrs. McCarthy, Onslow, a very wealthy woman. It consists of 28,000 acres, 160 of which is a most beautiful orchard. On the estate there are also butter factories and creameries.

Speaking of the climate of Australia Mr. Blade said that it was ideal. It is winter there now but Australia's winter is not much colder than it is today here, May, June, July are the winter months. August, September October, the spring months, November, December and January, the summer months, and February, March and April the months of autumn.

When Mr. Blade left there hadn't been any rain for 12 months. He said that often when at his work in the evening at five o'clock the thermometer has stood as high as 12 degrees.

Mr. Blade will remain here about two weeks when he will again return to Australia. He will go home by way of England. Mrs. Blade will remain the summer in Peterboro.

THE LION AND THE MOUSE

On next Saturday afternoon and evening at the Grand, Henry B. Harris will again present Chas. Klein's greatest play, "The Lion and the Mouse." The supporting company and production will be in keeping with that of the previous engagement.

Much of the comedy in the "Lion and the Mouse," is furnished by the Hon. Fitzroy Bagley, the private secretary to "Ready Money Ryder." Bagley has secured his position chiefly because of his knowledge of the social code, and one speech which he delivers with evident pride is that he "spent four years as third groom to the bed-chamber of the second son of England's queen."

SON OF THE LATE C. B. BULLER CAMPBELLFORD GETS BARONETCY

Vacated by Death of General Sir Redvers Buller—Late General Has Visited at Brother's Residence in Campbellford

The late Sir Redvers Buller is not a total stranger to these parts and was a first cousin of the late C. B. Buller, of Campbellford. Gen. Buller was in Campbellford quite a number of years ago and stayed with his brother, whose residence was on the outskirts of that town. The exact date when he was there is not recalled by any of the residents of Peterborough who remember him being there but it is said that it is over thirty years since the deceased soldier was in Campbellford.

The late General Buller had no male children and his baronetcy goes to Reginald Buller of Denver, Col. eldest son of the late C. B. Buller of Campbellford. Reginald Buller is a second cousin to the late General Buller as was also his brother Dr. Buller of Montreal.

SEVERAL HAVE NOT QUALIFIED

In Annual Shooting in Connection With 57th Regiment—Must do so to Get Efficiency Pay

Last night Major Clegg of the 57th announced to the regiment that quite a number of its members had not qualified in the matter of annual shooting and this must be done in order to secure efficiency pay.

The ranges at the drill hall are open every week night with the exception of Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Professor E. A. Cullerton will show his celebrated series of moving pictures, including a trip through Ireland, at Jackson Park, Wednesday and Thursday evening. 57th Band will be in attendance. 2d

THE LAST OBJECT

Alton, Ill., June 3.—Belief in the theory that the last object seen by a murdered person may be fixed as a photographic negative on the retina, caused Coroner Streepers to have a photograph taken of one eye of a woman whose body was taken on Thursday from the Mississippi river, and who, it is thought, was murdered and thrown into the river. The developed photograph, the coroner says, shows a faint outline of the face of a man with hooked nose, bearded cheeks and glabrous scalp. The coroner says he will try to find a possible murderer by the use of this photograph. A postmortem examination established the absence of water in the lungs although the body had evidently been in the water for several weeks and the neck was broken.

SALARY SCHEDULE OF SCHOOL JANITORS WAS DRAWN UP

At Meeting of the Board of Education Last Evening—Adopted and Will Take Effect on July 1st—Salaries in Some Instances Increased.

At the meeting of the Board of Education last evening a new salary schedule for the janitors of the city schools was presented and adopted;—

Mr. Hill stated that the Board had schedules for the teachers in the schools but there was none for the janitors. One man had spoken to him about it. Mr. Hill had arranged one which he thought would meet the requirements. In this way an inferior janitor would not be secured.

The following salary schedule shall be applicable to all janitors engaged in the Public schools and the Collegiate Institute of the city of Peterborough.

The remuneration shall be determined by the number of occupied teachers' class rooms, and shall be as follows;—

$60 for each occupied class room up to and including 8.

$50 for each additional room occupied class room over eight.

An allowance of $1.50 per year for each occupied class room to be given for the purchase of tools, brooms, soap, etc. for cleaning and repairing purposes.

$50 extra per year shall be allowed the janitor of the King Edward for attending to the lawn and the grounds.

All janitors having charge of schools containing over four occupied class rooms shall give their whole and undivided attention to the work.

1. Collegiate Institute. 11 rooms—Salary $630.00; brooms, etc., $16.50.
2. Central School. 10 rooms—Salary $580.00, brooms, etc., $15.00.
3. South Central. 10 rooms—Salary, $580.00 brooms etc., $15.00.
4. Queen Alexandra. 10 rooms —Salary $580.00; brooms, etc., $15.00.
5. King Edward. 8 rooms—Salary, $530.00; brooms, etc., $12.00.
6. Ashburnham. 6 rooms — Salary, $360.00; brooms, etc., $9.00.
7. Park street. 4 rooms—Salary, $240.00; brooms, etc., $6.00.

It was moved by W. H. Hill and seconded by M. A. Morrison.—That this schedule be adopted and that it take effect from July 1st, 1908.—Carried.

Mr. Fair thought that the action of Mr. Hill was a good one. The schedule was fair to all and much trouble would be removed in dealing with the janitors.

Mr. Ackerman said that one janitor hired a man to help him each winter, and he wanted to know if this caretaker would have to pay him out of his salary.

It was the opinion of the Board that the janitor should pay his assistant.

TEACHERS RE-ENGAGED FOR SCHOOLS AND THE SALARIES

Report of Committee on Appointments Presented at Board of Education Monthly Meeting Last Evening—New Teachers and Many Changes in Staffs.

At the meeting of the Board of Education last evening Mr W. H. Hill read the report of the committee on appointments. It is as follows;

The Chairman and members of the Board of Education.

Gentlemen,—Your committee on appointments beg leave to report and recommend as follows;

As instructed, your committee advertised for the additional lady teachers required for the Public School staff, and have received 35 applications, 15 holding first class certificates and 20 holding second class certificates.

Your committee after carefully considering these applications recommend that Miss Lena McBride, Miss Beatrice M. Brown, Miss Elizabeth Thomlinson, Miss Jessie Linklater and Miss Minnie A White, all holders of first class certificates and highly recommended be appointed to positions on the staff at the minimum salary of $450 and that Miss Mabel Sutton and Miss Jean Jackson, holders of second class certificates and also very highly recommended be appointed at the minimum salary of $400, duties in each case to start 1st of September 1908.

That Mr W. J. Dunlop be appointed principal of the Queen Alexandra School and that Mr W H. Walkey be appointed assistant principal of the school at a salary of $850, that Mr. F E. Kerr be appointed assistant principal of the King Edward school and that Mr. Wm. Smith be appointed assistant principal of the Central school at a salary of $1000 and that your committee be authorized to advertise for a principal for the Central school, the King Edward school and the West Ward school.

That Miss Warner's salary be in accordance with Clause 4, of the schedule adopted May 5th, 1908, applicable to Public School lady assistants.

That Miss Ada Gillespie be engaged as assistant to Miss Warner at a salary of $300.

That the Inspector and Chairman of the committee on appointments act in conjunction with the principal of the Normal School in regard to the selection of a staff for the Queen Alexandra school.

That the Inspector's recommendation with reference to the Kindergarten directors teaching in the South Central School, King Edward School, Central School and East City School and covered by Clause 5 of the supervision committee's report of May 5th, 1908, be adopted.

That the salary of the Inspector, dating from September 4, 1908, be increased to the schedule maximum.

That the following teachers be re-engaged on the Public School staff for the ensuing year at the salary opposite their respective names;

William Smith	1000

WEEKLY DRILL OF REGIMENT WELL ATTENDED LAST NIGHT

There was a good turnout at the weekly drill of the 57th regiment last night and the men were kept hard at work for an hour and a half. The regiment is shaping up well and now presents a good appearance on parade. The men know their drill well and march smartly and steadily. The following orders were read;

Headquarters, Peterborough, June 2 1908.

Orders by the officer commanding of the 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers

No 1—Detail of duty for the week ending June 9th.

Captain for the week. Capt. Cluxton; next for duty Capt. Hounsell.

Subaltern for the week; Lieut. J. D. Clarke; next for duty, Lieut. Rackham

No 2—Leave of absence from parade was granted to Capt. McWilliams, Lieut. Rackham, Lieut. Best and Lieut. Cameron.

No 3—The bugle band will parade with the regiment on Tuesday evening, 9th inst.

No 4—The Commanding Officer has been pleased to make the following promotion.

E Co.—To be Sergeant, Corporal Foster.

By order,
E. W. BENNETT, Major,
Acting Adjutant.

STAFF OF NEW COLLEGIATE WILL BE INCREASED BY TWO

At the meeting of the Board of Education last evening the following letter was received from Mr. H. R. H. Kenner;

The Peterborough Board of Education.—

Gentlemen—I wish to call your attention to the fact that next term two additional masters will be needed on the staff of the Collegiate Institute. This will be rendered necessary by the fact that we shall have two more rooms than we have at present. Form II and Form III will each have to be divided as there will in all probability be 65 or more pupils for the former and about 58 for the latter.

I would recommend that you secure a specialist in History and English, to take charge of the department of history and help with the English.

At the present time I have the two departments of History and Classics. In order that I may be free the first hour in the morning and the first in the afternoon I shall have to give over the history to someone else.

The other teacher should be able to take Art, Reading and assist with the junior English.

It would be well if one or both were competent to take also drill and gymnastics as we shall require instruction to be given in these subjects as soon as the Armouries are completed. The two teachers should be secured without delay.

There are several other matters to which I should like to direct your attention at the July meeting.

Mr. Hill stated that he had spoken to Mr Fessenden who said it was imperative that these appointments should be made at once. He moved that Mr. Kenner's suggestions be complied with and that the matter be referred to the Committee on Appointments. Mr. L. M. Hays seconded Mr. Hill's motion.

A THEATRICAL TREAT

Much interest is attached to the return engagement here at the Grand of Henry B. Harris' production of Chas. Klein's play "The Lion and the Mouse," which takes place on next Saturday afternoon and evening. The last performance here of this play took place about one year ago, and was the greatest success of the season. The company is all that could be wished and the production in keeping with Mr. Harris' high standing.

It is perhaps true that "The Lion and the Mouse," is the most discussed play in America today. In clubs, drawingrooms, street cars, and especially in commercial circles the Klein piece is talked of again and again.

Undoubtedly this has proven to be one of the factors in its phenomenal success for everyone seems desirous of witnessing this powerful play of American life. Mr. Klein has taken as the theme of his story one of the modern money barons who in his attempt to mass a fortune beyond anything ever known in the world, tramples all conscience and honesty under his golden heel to accomplish his ends and because a judge of the supreme court hands down decisions diametrically opposed to his interests he forthwith has him removed, and the highest office in the United States is made a plaything by this modern octopus. While the theme is serious in aspect it is full of brilliancy, wit and humor.

Plan opens tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

25 YEARS ECZEMA DEVELOPED BLOOD POISON

Theological Student Says Zam-Buk Saved His Leg

The dreadful irritating skin disease Eczema includes amongst its victims the rich and poor, the student and the illitterate. Mr. Geo. E. Williams, who now resides at 69 Mutual St., Toronto, was intended for the Ministry, and to this end studied Theology at King's College, London Eng. He says: "Whilst there I began to suffer from Eczema. This was 25 years ago, and I concluded I was doomed to suffer for life. A few weeks ago I was called to Hamilton on business, and had not been there two days when I was forced to lay up, the pain in my legs was so severe. My wife examined the parts that were so painful, and discovered a patch of badly discolored skin. She did all she could think of to relieve me, but failed. We obtained advice, and it was found I was suffering from Blood Poison, and that I was in danger of losing my legs, if not my life. At this point I decided to try Zam-Buk which I had seen advertised. The first application gave me great relief, and the poisonous matter which came from the wounds convinced me that I was on the right track. I therefore persevered with this healing balm. The first two boxes had cleaned the sores and my legs looked as though they were full of holes. From this time on the healing work commenced, and I am thankful to say that after using 4 boxes of Zam-Buk all the wounds were healed and my legs cleared of the horrible Eczema that had affected me for 25 years."

Zam-Buk Cures obstinate skin diseases, spreading scabs, running sores, blisters, chafing, eczema, pimples, ulcers, festering sores, weak ankles, ringworm, bad legs, piles, swollen knees, inflamed patches, scalp irritation, poisoned wounds, sore faces, etc. Of all druggists and stores, 50c. per box or postpaid from the Zam-Buk Co., 56 Colborne St., Toronto. 6 boxes $2.50.

ARRANGING FOR HIS BIG WALK

Says That Nothing Short of Death or a Broken Limb Will Stop Him

"Jimmy" Reynolds, the Port Hope barber, is going to try the Port Hope-Toronto walk again. This time to win his wager he must cover the distance, 134 miles, in 33 hours, at an average of nearly 4.1 miles per hour. The date set for the attempt is June 11, and the veteran walker will leave the Queen's Hotel at Port Hope at 6 a.m.

"Nothing short of death or broken limbs will stop me this time" said the plucky barber to the Star this morning. "I have $350 of my own money bet against $700 and I cannot afford to lose that money. Last time I think I could have covered the distance all right in 33 hours if it had not been for that fall I got in East Toronto, which raised a lump on my leg as big as a hen's egg and and gave me such a shaking that I was sick. As it was, I finished in 36 hours 18 minutes. This time I have got to beat my time to Toronto — 16 hours 8 minutes — by at least an hour, and I'll have to keep walking all the time. It's a big task, bigger than ever attempted before, but I think I can do it. I am feeling great."

Reynolds and Wm. Howard are arranging a big 4-day walk for the Old Boys' Reunion at Port Hope on July 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th. It is to take place in the skating rink, and all the American crack walkers are expected to participate. On the first two days the men will walk four hours each evening and the last two days there will be a ten hour grind. —Toronto Star.

GEORGE ST. HAD EASY VICTORY

Got Away From Anglican Nine by Score of 14 to 1—Game in Junior Church League

George Street had an easy time with the St. Luke nine in the Junior Church League game between the two at Riverside park last night, walloping the Anglicans by a score of 14 to 1 in a five innings game. Mr. Fred Craig made an efficient umpire.

The game was too one-sided to be of much interest to the spectators. The teams were:

ATHLETICS WILL BE STRONGER

Should be a Fast Game Between Locals and Port Hope on Saturday

The Athletics should be there or thereabouts for the game with Port Hope on Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park. They will have a considerably strengthened nine.

Port Hope, however, has a first-class aggregation and one capable of playing ball of the kind the spectators like. The contest should be a good one.

FORM III WON AN EXCITING GAME

A Good Contest in the Collegiate Inter. Form League This Afternoon—Score Was 4-2

The most exciting game so far in the Collegiate Inter-Form League, was played before Forms III and Upper I. at the Central School Grounds this afternoon, Form III winning by 4—2.

Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, as in all other Inter-Form games in which he has officiated this year, made a most satisfactory umpire. Lees and Dobbin, and Mmorgan and Layfield, the batteries, respectively for the winners and losers, did splendid work.

Conroy on first bag for Form III, handled himself in phenomenally good form and did great work at all stages.

The teams:

FORM III.

Lees, pitcher
Dobbin, catcher
Conroy, first base
O'Brien, second base
Anderson, third base
Walls, short stop
Johnston, left field
Ackerman, centre field.
McGill, right field.

UPPER I.

Mmorgan, pitcher,
Layfield, catcher
Turner, first base
Conroy, second base
Gibson, third base
Sheehey, short stop
Giroux, left field
Tovey, centre field
Cmney, right field.

BASEBALL

The following members of the Athletics are requested to turn out at the Driving Park to-night at 6.30 for their game with the Lakeviews:—

Rattray, catcher.
Quinlan, pitcher.
Graham, 1st base.
Heaslip, 2nd base.
Shea, short-stop.
Landry 3rd base.
Pilling left field.
Connors, centre field.
Callahan, right field.

Murphy, of the Johnston nine, is troubled with a somewhat badly bruised finger.

Quite an interest is being taken in the city league game to-night at 6.30 at Nicholls oval between the Strathconas and T.A.S., and a good sized crowd of spectators will likely be on hand. The teams are a tie in the league standing and will put up a big battle for the honors.

The Strathconas nine will be:—Catcher, Wilson; pitcher, Graham; and Heffeghren; 1b, Heaslip; 2nd b, Weatherston; 3b, McMillan; s. s., Kendry; lf., Shaw; cf, Curtis; rf, Allison.

The following T.A.S. players are asked to be on hand at Nicholls Oval at 6.30 for the game with the Strathconas;—McFadden, Cahill, C O'Brien, Derocher, Doris, Doherty, Lecombe, Hayes, Corbery, Quinlan, Devlin, C. and L. Giroux.

RUNNING

Tom Longboat is reported to have covered the 15 miles Marathon course over which Lawson ran last Saturday in 1.31.00, in forty seconds faster than Lawson's time.

NAYLOR COMING TO PETERBORO'

Is Expected Here To-day or To-morrow to Look After Yankee Roger's Interests

W. B. Naylor, manager for Yankee Rogers will probably be here to-day or to-morrow to look after Rogers' interests in connection with his match here with Hurtubise on June 10th, at the Brock St. rink.

The referee has not been decided on yet. Mohl of Buffalo has been suggested, but an agreement concerning the official has yet to be arrived at.

LANDERY'S ARM STILL SORE

Landry, of the Athletics, is still troubled with a bad wing. He strained the tendons of his upper arm early in the season and the soreness is staying with him, affecting his throwing strength considerably.

THE RING

POLICE STOPPED BOUT.

Brantford, June 2. — The police interfered in three bouts at Waterloo St. rink in this city last night, stopping a 4-round contest between Jim Burg of Brantford, and Chas. Christie of Toronto, in the third round. Christie grew very aggressive and was punishing his opponent so hard that the latter became groggy, and in order to prevent a knock-out Chief Slemin stopped the fight. The Police Commissioners were present and are said to have concurred in the action of the chief. No prosecution will be made.

In other bouts, Cox of Hamilton and Daly, of Toronto, drew, as did also McEwen of Toronto, and Smith of Brantford.

T.A.S. AND STRATHS. PLAY TO-NIGHT

The T.A.S. and Strathconas come together to-night at Nicholls Oval in a city league game that should be a particularly close and exciting one.

Both teams are playing snappy ball and are strong in all departments.

RUNNING

Tom Longboat will not be a starter in the final Canadian Marathon trial here Saturday.

He will run in a three-mile handicap race.

The Indian has got rid of his boils and is taking light training, but he is not fit to run 25 miles, and therefore will not be asked to enter the trial. He will go to England on his record.

Canada will have about ten starters in the English Marathon.

The six first men in the Marathon final will go.

Art Burn, of Calgary, goes without running in the final.

So will Thomas "Big Chief" Longboat.

George H. Goulding, the Central Y.M.C.A. walker, was a good distance runner last season, and will start in the Marathon.

So will Jack Tait, the West End miler, if he makes the team—and that seems likely.—Toronto Star.

BRIGADE TO STAY ON DUTY WHILE LONGER

Latest Phase of the Fire Department Situation---Meeting Held Last Night

The special committee appointed by the city council to report concerning the appointment of a new fire chief and a paid brigade, waited on the local brigade at the fire hall last night and requested them to stay on duty until the special committee had brought in its report. This they promised to do.

Mayor Rush accompanied the committee which is composed of Ald. Neil (Chairman) and Ald. Turner, Bradburn, and Phelan. Ald. Morgan and McIntyre also went to the hall with the mayor and committee.

NEW BUTCHER SHOP TO OPEN

The new butcher shop, which has been newly fitted up in W. H. Wrighton's old stand, will open up to-morrow with a choice stock of all kinds of fresh meats, pork pies and sausage. The store is bright and convenient, and the proprietor, Mr. J. W. Edwards, should receive a fair share of business.

IMMENSE SPOTS ON SUN TO-DAY

Billions of Miles of Disturbed Area on the Solar Disc.--Meeting To-Morrow

There are immense disturbances on the surface of the sun to-day. There are three tremendous spots with a total area of several billion miles. Dr. Marsh had a fine view of them through his telescope at Springville, and says they are the largest spots that have been on the sun in years.

If the sky is clear to-morrow the disturbances can be seen through the two telescopes on the lawn at 555 Weller street to-morrow. Dr. Marsh will be present and everybody is invited to assemble and have a look through the big glasses.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surface. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists. Price, 75c. per bottle.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

WERE REMANDED UNTIL SATURDAY

The boys found guilty of stealing grain from a G.T.R. car appeared for sentence this morning, but were again remanded, pending the trial of the men who bought it from them. He came up before His Worship Magistrate Dumble at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon. The boys were remanded until Saturday morning.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W., 82, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother, her home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

OUR GREAT
June White Sale

A Big Nine Days' Merchandise Movement
Thursday, June 4th, to Saturday, June 13th

WITH some manufacturers and wholesalers spring business has not been as good as they anticipated, consequently they found themselves overstocked in certain lines, and in order to adjust their stock to more normal conditions they were willing to sacrifice prices. We have gathered together a number of these lines, all new and seasonable, and will offer them at TRADE COMPELLING PRICES on the above days.

Such economies, coming at practically the beginning of the season, are decidedly unusual, and those who take advantage of them will save largely.

LITTLE BOY FELL INTO A PAIL OF BOILING WATER

Special to the Review.

Norwood, June 2—A week ago Saturday morning Phillip, the three-year old son of Mr. Patrick Doherty of Asphodel, while playing in his home accidentally fell into a pail of boiling water. Medical aid was at once summoned and the little sufferer was made as easy as possible and on Monday morning he was taken to the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto, where he is progressing favorably.

SIDING TO MATTHEWS PLANT WILL LIKELY BE CONSTRUCTED

Railway Commission Will Give Order to This Effect if Other Satisfactory Arrangement Cannot be Made in Fifteen Days

It is likely that the application of the Grand Trunk Railway to construct a siding into the premises of the George Matthews Co. on George street will be granted by the Railway Commission. The matter came up at Ottawa yesterday and the Commission ruled that unless the city and the property owners interested could make some other arrangement satisfactory to the Matthews Co. and Grand Trunk within fifteen days they would give an order for the siding.

Mr. M. K. Cowan, of Montreal and Superintendent Tiffin were present in the interests of the Grand Trunk. Mr. R. F. McWilliams and Mr. T. F. Matthews were present for the Matthews Company. Mr. Angus MacMurchy, of Toronto, and divisional Superintendent Murphy appeared for the CPR. City Solicitor Hall appeared for the City of Peterborough, Ald. Buller and Mr. F. D. Kerr for the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Co., and Mr. Ozias de Laplante for the property owners. The Hilliard Estate was also represented.

The CPR., City of Peterborough, Fuel and Cartage Co., and property owners objected to the application being granted but the Commission held that the siding was necessary in connection with the Matthews Company's business but would prefer to see some arrangement made between the CPR and GTR. whereby it would not be necessary to have another siding constructed. They allowed fifteen days to see what could be done in this direction. If some arrangement can not be made the Commission will give an order for the construction of the siding.

DRINK JOHNS' TEA

A LARGELY ATTENDED MEETING AT BRIDGENORTH

Mr. Bradburn Well Received—An Unpleasant But Instructive Incident—The Park in its Summer Garb—Better to be Sure Than Sorry.

Last night Mr. Bradburn held a largely attended meeting in the new pavilion in front of Chemong Park hotel in Smith. There was a large number of electors present. Mr. R. N. Scott, reeve of Smith, occupied the chair.

Mr. Bradburn, who was received with applause entered upon an extended analysis of the policy of the Whitney government and of the manner in which it had fulfilled its pledges and promises. He was very grateful for past favors on the part of the electors and expressed himself as very much gratified at his splendid reception in Bridgenorth. The financial condition of the province was now such as to elicit the admiration of even its most critical friends. Large surpluses had succeeded the immense deficits to which Hon. G. W. Ross had been compelled to plead guilty. No one heard a word of the financial question from the Liberal speakers or newspapers. They cried "extravagance" and were content with that. But they wisely refrained from making an attack in detail on the greatest success of the most successful and efficient government ever in office in Ontario. At the present time the Examiner was shouting "Prison Labour" as if the undeveloped and miserable condition of prisoners sentenced for long terms had not been the direct result of a complete breakdown on the part of the Liberal administration with regard to it. For the very first time in the history of this province an effort and a successful effort was being made by the Whitney government to put prisoners at farm work so that they might not again come into competition with legitimate labour but might have the "open air" treatment as well. Mr. J. P. Downey's report of this work is a most extensive and valuable record of practical value. The speaker then turned to the ballot. It was the first opportunity of the province to have a free election in provincial affairs. We had been too long held in bondage by designing politicians. But at last the change had come and everybody welcomed it.—Applause.

Mr. Kendrey took up the leading issues of the day in a lengthy speech and severely scored men like Mr. Northey, who stood up at opportune moments in Grit meetings to announce that having been misled by Conservative promises they gladly returned to the fold. Mr. Northey had stated in Mr. Gillespie's meeting at Bridgenorth that he had intended to vote for Mr. Bradburn if the latter had "signed the bond," but that now he would not. Rising to denounce Mr. Whitney for his treatment of the Toronto License Commissioners, Mr. Northey was given a patient hearing. Mr. Kendrey's effective reply was received with loud applause. Mr. Northey then attempted to go on but for the first time in the history of the riding the spectacle was presented of an old man's being hissed, hooted and stamped down. The large audience had had enough of him and his professions. He took the hint.

Mr. Kendrey showed that in all the time Mr. Stratton was at Toronto we had got no public buildings while Cobourg and other places had got them. In his first term, Mr. Bradburn had secured the magnificent new Normal School besides large increases in county grants. He left the people to judge between the two as representatives.—Applause.

Mr. Burnham, who had a severe cold remarked that people who found fault with the Whitney government for its conservative treatment of the three-fifths majority question were in many cases those who had helped to pass the wretched Dunkin Act with great enthusiasm and then had left it so that it had never come into force at all. The town was left "wide open" and the real temperance men had been compelled to hasten to the rescue and re-institute the Crooks Act. It was for just such a reason that the Scott Act had passed and had done so much harm. It was evidently best, as Mr. Whitney urged, to see that public opinion was really well behind a measure before bringing it into effect.

The usual cheers closed one of the largest and most successful meetings ever held in Smith township.

SAWMILL EMPLOYEE HAD HAND COMPLETELY SEVERED

Word has reached the city of a very sad accident which happened on Monday afternoon at Frank Parker's sawmill in the ninth line of Dummer township. One of the employees of the mill, Wm. Rogers, son of Mr. John Rogers, of Dummer, put his hands under the carriage to take cuttings from behind the saw when his right hand came in contact with the fast revolving saw and was completely amputated at the wrist.

The unfortunate young man was taken to Norwood as quickly as possible and his injuries were dressed by Drs. Pettigrew and Wilson. He is getting along as nicely as can be expected.

Scene Act III., in "Th Lion and the Mouse" the dramatic success of the Century, to be presented at the Grand next Saturday, June 6th, Matinee and Night. Plan opens to-morrow morning.

I Took Pe-ru-na, Hardly Daring to Believe

So Writes Mr. Newhof, of Albany.

Pelvic Diseases in Men.

Many an invalid is dragging out a miserable existence with catarrh of the kidneys, catarrh of the bladder, or both.

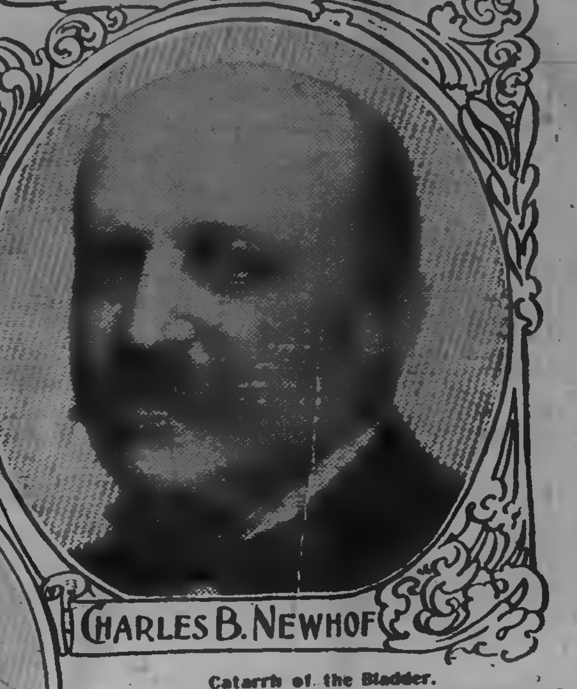
There is no disease equal to catarrh of the bladder in producing complete wretchedness, absolute despair, haggard misery and stubborn weakness.

An army of this sort of victims have one by one discovered that Peruna could be relied upon to relieve such cases.

One man tells another man, and in this way the news spreads until in all parts of the country are to be found men who have been permanently liberated from the thraldom of catarrh of the bladder by a course of Peruna.

Many cases of catarrh of the stomach, kidneys and other abdominal organs have reported themselves as cured.

We give below two prominent testimonials which illustrate the benefit of Peruna in these cases.



Catarrh of the Bladder.

Mr. C. B. Newhof, 10 Delaware street, Albany, N. Y., President Montefiore Club, writes:

"Since my advanced age I find that I have been frequently troubled with urinary ailments. The bladder seemed irritated, and my physician said that it was catarrh caused by a protracted cold which would be difficult to overcome on account of my advanced years. I took Peruna, hardly daring to believe that I would be helped, but found to my relief that I soon began to mend. The irritation gradually subsided, and the urinary difficulties passed away. I have enjoyed excellent health now for the past seven months. I enjoy my meals, sleep soundly, and am as well as I was twenty years ago. I give all praise to Peruna."

Catarrh of Stomach and Kidneys.

Mr. H. L. Emory, Vice Chancellor and Master of Arms, K. P.'s, of Omaha, Neb., writes from 205 North Sixteenth street, the following words of praise for Peruna as a tonic. He says:

"It is with pleasure I recommend Peruna as a tonic of unusual merit. A large number of prominent members of the different orders with which I have been connected have been cured by the use of Peruna in cases of catarrh of the stomach and head; also in kidney complaints and weakness of the pelvic organs.

"Peruna tones up the system, aids digestion, induces sleep, and is well worthy the confidence of sufferers of the above complaints."

Mr. David L. Jaycox, Chaplain Clarinda I. O. G. T. and Chaplain G. A. R., 865 Broadway, Oakland, Cal., writes:

"I am an old war veteran. I contracted severe bladder and kidney trouble. I spent hundreds of dollars and consulted a host of doctors, but neither did me any good.

"Finally some of my comrades who had been cured by Peruna advised me to try it. I at once bought a bottle, and found it helped me so much that I kept using it for nearly four months.

"Peruna has proven the best medicine I ever used. My pains are gone and I believe myself to be cured. I feel well, and would not be without a bottle in time of need for ten times its cost."

Mr. Robert E. Hanvey, Treasurer Knights of Industrial Freedom, also a well known writer and lecturer, writes from 11 South Nicholas St., Chicago, Ill., as follows:

"I was in good health until about four years ago, when my back became lame and sore. The pains kept increasing, with severe twitches and slow exhaustive aches. Urine was highly colored and passed with great irregularity. I knew this must be inflammation of the bladder.

"Having read of Peruna I decided to try it. I found relief from the pain within ten days. The aches gradually diminished, and it was a blessed relief I can assure you. Within three months I was well once more. My appetite had returned, nervousness and irritability were things of the past, and for over two years now I have been a healthy man.

"I give all thanks to your Peruna, and believe that it is a blessing to mankind."

NORWOOD

The many friends of Mr. Baker were very much shocked on Monday evening to hear of his sudden death. In the afternoon Mrs. Baker went to the garden and found her husband very ill. He had taken a stroke. He was taken to the house, where medical aid was summoned at once. Mr. Baker only lived about half an hour after he took the stroke. The deceased was 61 years of age and was born in England. His wife is left to mourn his loss.

FROM WESTWOOD

Westwood, June 2nd — On Wednesday evening at six o'clock death claimed a victim in the person of Mr. Thos. Eason of the boundary of Otonabee and Asphodel. The late Thos. Eason had for the past few months been a sufferer from dropsy and kidney trouble, and, although the best medical aid was obtained he passed to his reward amid great suffering. His demise will be greatly felt by the neighbourhood of Westwood and surrounding country, as Mr. Eason was widely known and highly esteemed, a loving husband, a kind father and a good neighbour.

The funeral on Friday afternoon to Westwood cemetery was well attended, over one hundred vehicles being in the cortege, showing the high esteem in which the late neighbour was held by the entire community.

The late Thos. Eason was 63 years of age, an elder of the Westwood Presbyterian church and a Liberal in politics.

To mourn his loss are his wife, formerly Miss Gabbie, two sons, George at home and Alex, formerly of Peterboro, now of Pittsburg, O., one daughter, Miss Jennie, at home.

Three brothers of the deceased are Richard, of Lindsay, Peter and David of Huron County. The relatives have the sympathy of a large number of friends.

Rev. D. D. McDonald of Keene, conducted the funeral services.

Birth. — To Mr. and Mrs. James Richardson, of Keene, on May 22nd, twin sons.

Mr. Richard Fox of Otonabee, has purchased the hotel property of Jeremiah Heffernan of Westwood, closed from liquor business by local option. Mr. Fox will give good accommodation to the general public, both meals and stabling at reasonable rates.

Mr. John Fox, of Villiers, has purchased a new threshing machine and expects to do a heavy fall's threshing; this time a Waterloo Champion.

THE DOMINION PARLIAMENT; NOT MUCH BUSINESS DONE

Some Questions Asked and Answered—Camp for Military District No. 1 to be Held at Goderich—Supply Reached and Estimates for Dept. of Interior Passed.

Ottawa, June 4.—In the House yesterday morning R. L. Borden was informed that Judge Cassels would be back in Ottawa this month to resume the marine enquiry and that a bill was before the Senate to relieve him of Exchequer Court work.

The House spent the afternoon in committee of supply, an item of $630,000 for astronomical surveys branch being passed just before 6 o'clock.

R. G. MacPherson (Vancouver) asked if survey parties, who were to delimit the boundary between Alaska and Canada, were being delayed because supplies were being held up. Frank Oliver admitted this was partially correct. The Government did not feel justified in sending out parties till funds were available.

This led to charges and countercharges of obstruction, Mr. MacPherson alleging that United States survey parties were waiting in Juneau, Alaska, for our own men, who were held in Vancouver.

Mr. Foster pointed out that Parliament had not been asked for one dollar for this service, while R. L. Borden showed that the House had recently passed these items: May 15, public buildings in Manitoba $532,000; May 20, militia, $1,104,895; May 22, post office, $5,479,110; June 1, customs, $1,515,000. Why had not the Minister realized the importance of the survey item when the House was in supply on these dates?

Mr. Lancaster called attention to the fact that the International Waterways Commission had been meeting in Buffalo. The people in Niagara district feared that the United States would ask for a great deal more than they expected in order to get more by compromise than they were entitled to. Mr. Lancaster expressed a fear that the Canadian commissioners had not sufficient information and for three years Americans had been working up evidence on the Canadian side.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS FROM MANY POINTS OF THE WORLD

The old age pension bill has been passed in Australia.

The locomotive and car shops on the Erie Railway have been placed on a ten-hour basis.

The crop outlook is the best in 30 years. Indications point to an exceptionally large hay crop.

Edgar Winter, aged 73, dropped dead. He was for many years sexton of St. Thomas's Church, Belleville.

The sheep men of South Alberta have had one of the best lambing seasons in the history of the sheep raising industry in this part.

Geo. A. Galt of Winnipeg has been appointed Labor Department representative on the conciliation board between the C.P.R. and its employes.

Postmaster-General Buxton announced in the House of Commons penny post arrangements with the United States as completed. A similar arrangement with France is expected.

Chas. T. Muir, paying teller of the Forty-Second street branch of the Corn Exchange Bank, New York, being discovered in a shortage of $9,068, went to the basement, wrote a confession and shot himself.

Herman Krone, a young German farmer on trial at Edmonton for the murder of his brother-in-law, John Broska, has been acquitted. Krone shot Broska three times in self-defence, killing him instantly.

PRESIDENT HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Roosevelt's Presence of Mind in Face of Danger.

Washington, June 4.—President Roosevelt had an exceedingly narrow escape from a serious accident while horseback riding in Rock Creek Park. Mrs. Roosevelt was with the President. The animal stood up straight on its hind legs and then fell over backwards into the creek with the President. Feeling that he was going backward, Mr. Roosevelt slipped from the saddle, and, as luck would have it, fell into the creek close beside the horse, which landed on its bed. The horse fell on the down-stream side of the President, who, realising that he would be in danger from the animal's feet should the horse turn towards him, got away as rapidly as possible.

The President remounted and rode for an hour and a half before returning to the White House.

Toronto Man Delegate.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 4.—The election of officers of the International Typographical Union is officially announced as follows: President, James M. Lynch, Syracuse, N.Y.; first vice-president, J. W. Hayes, Minneapolis, Minn., secretary-treasurer, J. W. Bramwood, Denver, Col.; agent Union Printers' Home, Geo. P. Nichols, Baltimore, Md.; delegates to American Federation of Labor, Frank Morrison of Chicago, Max S. Hayes of Cleveland, O., Hugh Stevenson of Toronto, Ont., and T. W. McCullough of Omaha, Neb.; trustees Union Printers' Home, Anna C. Wilson of Washington, D.C., L. O. Sheppard of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Thomas McCaffery of Colorado Springs, Col.

The total vote for the candidates for president was 21,076 for Lynch and 13,361 for H. S. Hudspeth of New Orleans.

Insurance Company Defrauded.

Kingston, June 4.—An alleged case of fraud and forgery is reported here. Insurance was paid by a Toronto company on the life of one Zeigler, a young married man, whom, it is declared, is not dead.

He disappeared three years ago, and soon after his going the company was notified of his death, and the money paid to the authorized person.

Now the doctor and undertaker quoted both deny knowledge of the death.

Hays Hammond With Taft.

Washington, June 4.—John Hays Hammond, whose fame as a mining expert extends around the world, has authorised the announcement that he is a candidate for the vice-presidential nomination, and that his name will be presented at the Chicago Republican convention.

A Boundary Expert.

Washington, June 4.—Otto K. Titman, superintendent of the coast reserve, has been appointed an expert commissioner on the United States-Canadian Boundary Commission.

Bar Iron Reduced.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 4.—Following the cut of $4 per ton on bar steel, just announced, the bar iron manufacturers have reduced the price of bar iron $3 per ton.

COL. MATHESON SPEAKS TO-NIGHT

Provincial Treasurer Will be Greeted by Large Audience at Grand Opera House

Great interest has been aroused by the announcement that Col. Matheson, M.P.P., Provincial Treasurer, will speak in the Grand Opera House, Peterborough, to-night. A monster audience is assured as Col. Matheson is one of the leading members of the Whitney Cabinet and is able to deal with the finances of the province better than any one else in Ontario. There will be one or two other speakers, including the candidate, Mr. Bradburn, M.P.P., and a rousing meeting is expected. Everybody is cordially invited. Seats will be reserved for ladies and their escorts.

Two-Cent Postage.

Washington, June 4.—Postmaster-General Meyer announced that an agreement had been reached with the British Government providing for a letter postage of two cents an ounce between the United States and Great Britain and Ireland, to become operative Oct. 1, 1908.

He stated further that the British Postmaster-General, Sydney Buxton, was making a like announcement to the House of Commons.

Favor Divorce Courts.

Ottawa, June 4.—Senator Cloran's motion to give the six months' hoist to the divorce bill of Hattie Spratte was defeated in the Senate. The Senator claimed evidence was insufficient. Senators Domville and William Ross spoke in favor of divorce courts.

Sudden Death.

St. John, N.B., June 4.—G. M. Jarvis, district superintendent of the I.C.R., died suddenly in the Royal Hotel. Deceased entered the employ of the I.C.R. over 30 years ago.

Meet at Detroit Next.

Columbus, Ohio, June 4.—Detroit was selected as the place of meeting of the International Locomotive Engineers for the year 1910.

Children Faint.

New York, June 4.—Reports that hundreds of pupils in the public schools are suffering from lack of proper nourishment, as a result of so many persons in the poorer sections of the city being out of employment, was given official notice by the Association for the Improving of the condition of the Poor yesterday. It is expected that relief will be sent to hundreds of homes within the next few days.

In many cases it has been found that children go without food on an average of two days a week. Many of these children have fainted in school from lack of nourishment.

In Hands of the Bailiff.

Brockville, June 4.—The residence of John E. Anderson, the bigamist and former inspector of the public schools here, is now in the hands of a bailiff.

It turns out that Anderson represented himself as being worth $30,000, with the result that he obtained all kinds of credit.

He furnished his house lavishly, but failed to pay for the goods. Even his wedding suit was not paid for, and has been seized.

IMPORTANT SUIT HAS BEEN ENTERED

British Admiralty Claims Damages From Owners of St. Paul

London, June 4.—The case of the British Admiralty against the owners of the American line steamer St. Paul, because of the collision with the Gladiator, comes up for hearing before Sir John Gerell Barns, in the Admiralty Court.

The Admiralty claims damages, alleging negligent navigation on the part of the St. Paul, that she did not sound her sirens at proper intervals, that she improperly failed to pass on the port side of the cruiser, that she was traveling at excessive speed under the circumstances, that she improperly attempted to cross ahead of the Gladiator, and that she failed to slacken her speed or reverse her engines in due time.

There is also a cross-action by the owners of the St. Paul, who claim damages against Capt. K. Lumsden of the Gladiator, and the navigating officer of the cruiser. The allegations are practically identical with the above.

Capt. Lumsden was the first witness. He expressed the opinion that if the two vessels had continued on the course they were going when they first sighted each other they would not have collided. He claimed that the St. Paul not only starboarded her helm, but said she invited the Gladiator to do the same by blowing two blasts. The St. Paul afterwards ported her helm.

MURDER IN A RAILWAY CAMP

Cobalt, June 4.—Murder is the charge which has grown out of an altercation in a camp at Iroquois Falls last Saturday night. One man is dead and three are held in custody, one of whom is charged with the murder. Fritz Young, 30 years of age, from Stanhope, Que., is the victim, and T. S. Wright is accused of being his slayer.

Young was in charge of three boats taking supplies down the Abitibi. He took away three boats, but returned in the evening with only one. This gave offence to T. S. Wright, the foreman, and there were some hot words exchanged. Dan Milligan, the cook; L. Brisson, Quinn and Morris were all present at the tent at the time. A general scrimmage ensued, in which Young was fatally stabbed in the abdomen.

A very heavy rain began to fall, and the men wrapped the wounded man up in blankets, put him in a boat and started down the river for McDougall's Chutes about 9 o'clock at night. After they got up the river about five miles they decided to camp for the night, and left Young, who was in terrible agony, wrapped up in the boat. Next morning Young was dead.

The coroner's jury brought in a verdict against Wright of wilful murder, and Michael Morris and James Quinn were arraigned as accomplices aiding and abetting in the crime.

AN AMUSING INCIDENT AT A LAKEFIELD MEETING

There was a full house at Mr. Thompson's meeting in Lakefield town hall last evening when the electors assembled to listen to addresses in the interests of Mr. Thompson and the Whitney government. The speakers were Messrs. J. W. Garvin, F J Lillicrap and J. Thompson. Mr R. F. McWilliams appeared for the Opposition and received somewhat caustic treatment at the hands of Mr Thompson regarding Lakefield and the "Gerrymander." Dr. Fraser occupied the chair.

Mr. Lillicrap opened by a general reference to the sound financial condition of the province at the present time. Under Mr. Ross the province was bankrupt both financially and morally.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams followed with references to the C.N.R. the spoils system and the "Gerrymander." His application of the Gerrymander to Lakefield was unfortunate.

Mr. Thompson in a speech of three quarters of an hour scored the preceding speaker for his attempt to show that Lakefield had been made the victim of a wrong. "When I was in Lakefield in March," the speaker said, "the Liberals asked me to wire Whitney to put Lakefield in the East Riding." Mr. Tanner, who was one of the nominees of the Liberal convention at Norwood recently, was perhaps the chief one of those making the request. The others were nearly equally prominent. Mr. Tanner said that they would furnish the petition if I would sent it in. I called up Toronto and found that Lakefield was to go into the East Riding already. Now we have Mr. McWilliams coming here and trying to score the government for what was asked by Lakefield Liberals to be done. He should have got his case up first before springing it on an audience. Its a mere waste of time for a man to adopt such shallow methods — general applause and laughter. Mr. Thompson continued to make a most effective presentation of the government's record.

Mr Garvin in a very eloquent speech dealt with the Mercer Reformatory and Prison reform questions as well as with mining rights and forestry.

The usual cheers concluded the meeting.

COLE BROS. CIRCUS HERE ON JUNE 17TH

Mr. John D. Carey, Advance Agent, in the City To-day—A Good Show

Cole Brothers World Famed Circus and menagerie is coming to Peterborough on Wednesday, June 17. This is the only circus that will visit Canada this year but some consolation may be found in the fact that Cole Brothers possess one of the best circuses, both as to magnitude and merit ever organised. It is the oldest railroad show in the world and has established a reputation that has never been equalled. The show has been considerably enlarged in every department since its last tour of Canada and merit in its performance has kept well apace with its increased magnitude. It is not and old feature aggregation and every feature is one of refreshing newness. The Cole Brothers' circus is the only one deserving of recognition, not controlled by the circus trust and the one whose stand against the abolishing of the circus parade, has prevented their the circus parade, has prevented this enjoyable circus feature from being relegated

GUELPH TO HAVE OLD HOME WEEK

Commencing on August 2nd.—Great Programme Has Been Prepared

Guelph is holding an "Old Home Week," on August, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th, and is preparing to receive a monster crowd. A great programme has been prepared, including the following events;

Eastern League Baseball Match — Toronto vs Jersey City.

International League Baseball Match —Guelph vs Hamilton.

Old Boys' Baseball Match — The old time Maple Leafs vs picked nine

Championship intermediate lacrosse match.

Matinee by the Guelph Driving and Riding Association.

Military tatoos.

Athletic and acrobatic events.

Hose reel races and ladder climbing contests.

Special parades every afternoon and evening.

Grand display of fireworks and plenty of music.

Baptist Association Growth.

St. Catharines, June 4.—At yesterday's session of the 80th annual conference of the Niagara and Hamilton Regular Baptists' Association, Rev. Mr. Simmons reported 33 churches in the association, with a total membership of 4,291. During the past year the average membership increase had been 160, and the total amount contributed to home, foreign and western missions, Linge and ministerial associations $4,497.38.

Fought Fire With Milk.

Woodstock, June 4.—The brick residence of Reeve William Pullin of West Oxford Township, at Folden's Corners, was badly damaged by fire yesterday. Neighbors and men from the cheese factory nearby came quickly, and the flames were energetically fought by a bucket brigade, using water, milk and whey as material.

Seats For Ladies Only.

Brantford, June 4.—The parks commissioners have decided to place seats "for ladies only" in all local parks.

Mr. W. Hayes, for many years usher at the old Rolls Court in Chancery Lane and afterwards at the Royal Courts of Justice, has just died in his ninety-third year.

Sanitary Inspector Rushworth of Oldham, who has just retired after thirty years' service sometimes amused the members of the Health Committee by writing his reports in verse.

PROFITS FOR CONTRACTORS

Major Hodgins Gives Evidence Before the Committee.

Ottawa, June 4.—The committee investigating Major Hodgins' allegations of overcharges by contractors on the National Transcontinental Railway resumed yesterday and will continue Friday afternoon.

Major Hodgins claimed to have himself effected a saving of $1,400,000 by changing the location of the line over a distance of 250 miles and that his calculations had reduced the prices of the contractors from $13,000,000 to $11,600,000.

In regard to his interview with Commissioner Reid in Ottawa, witness said the latter had not suggested that he should do anything illegal in the matter of classification, but he was sure Commissioner Young had urged him to use the Quebec classification in his own district. Moreover, he was sure Engineer Armstrong of the G.T.P. had told him that the over-classification in Quebec district would add two million to the most of that section.

He was quite positive that Mr. Grant, the new inspecting engineer appointed by the commission, had told him the commissioners wanted the contractors to make money. He was so positive about this that he went to Mr. Butler, Deputy Minister of Railways, and spoke to him about it, and Mr. Butler said Grant had no authority to make such statement.

After a Big Rail Contract.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 4.—It is said that the United States Steel Corporation is negotiating with the Russian Government for relaying practically the entire track of the Siberian Railway. Probably more than 1,000,000 tons of 80 and 85-pound rails will be required. The value of such a contract would be about $25,000,000.

A Woman Hanged.

Voronezh, June 4.—Mlle. Feoderovna, the woman who made an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate Gen. Bibikoff, governor of this province, on May 6, was hanged yesterday.

She was 25 years of age and was formerly a school teacher.

HALF A MILLION LIVE IN HOTELS

Rich New Yorkers Hurt by Slump in Stock Have Given up Home Life

New York, June 2.—During the last ten years $50,000,000 has been expended on hotels in New York City and they are already the most advanced, convenient, luxurious and expensive ever conceived of. The Waldorf-Astoria is assessed for taxation at $12,160,000, the new Plaza at $7,600,000, the Astor at $5,000,000, the Belmont at $3,875,000, the Manhattan at $3,200,000, the St. Regis at $2,300,000, the Knickerbocker at $2,000,000, the Gotham at $1,250,000, and in addition to these there are fifty-two other hotels of similar valuation on the assessors' books, which, of course, represents not more than 50 or 60 per cent of the actual investment.

It is estimated that there are 100,000 transient guests in the hotels of New York every night, and the servant problem and other housekeeping expenses and annoyances have driven thousands of families from their homes to the hotels and apartment houses. This fact is emphasized by the large number of residents on Fifth avenue, Madison avenue, and fashionable cross streets that have been boarded up all winter.

"The rich man's panic" is supposed to account for some of them. Many of the residents of the fashionable section east of Central Park and west of Lexington avenue were so badly hurt by the slump in stocks that they have been unable to keep up appearances and have either found quiet and inexpensive places to live in Europe or have rusticated through the season in their country homes. But a still larger number of rich families are living in the big hotels because it is less expensive and they are not compelled to entertain and are relieved from the cares and annoyances of housekeeping.

The resident hotel and apartment population of New York City is now estimated at half a million souls.

TWO HOURS TO MARK BALLOT

Factory Employees Are Privileged to Remain From Work From Twelve to Two O'clock

Here is a section of the Manhood Suffrage Act which is worth noting by factory employers who vote:

"A voter entitled to vote within a city or town shall, on the day of polling, for the purpose of voting, be entitled to absent himself from any service or employment in which he is then engaged or employed, from the hour of noon until the hour of two of the clock next thereafter, and a voter shall not, because of his absenting himself be liable to any penalty or suffer or incur any reduction from the wages or compensation to which but for his absence he would have been entitled; provided, that this section shall not apply where a voter is by his employer permitted or allowed at any other period during the hours of polling, reasonable and sufficient time and opportunity to vote.—R. S. O. 1897, c 9 s 63."

SIR ROBERT REID WEALTHY MONTREALER CALLED AWAY

Montreal, June 4.—The death occurred yesterday of Sir Robert Gillespie Reid, after two weeks' illness, of pneumonia.

Born in Scotland in 1842, his father being the owner of small linen mills at Coupar-Angus, he learned the trade of stonemason, and then in 1865, a victim of the "gold fever," he went to Australia. While there he became interested in construction and engineering, and his talent in this direction brought him to America. He got several contracts in connection with the Parliament buildings at Ottawa, and in 1871 he was superintending the erection of the International Bridge across the Niagara river at Fort Erie. He then went into bridge work for the G.T.R. and in Texas for the Southern Pacific, and he also constructed the heaviest sections of the C.P.R. in the Lake Superior district. The Lachine bridge is a monument to his genius. It was, however, in Newfoundland that he became famous, and one biography of him says:

"In 1890 came the dawn of his greatest success. Newfoundland was nearly bankrupt. This colony with ambition was struggling with political corruption complicated with chaotic chicanery and mismanagement. This Government was crying for a railroad—steel tracks through the wilderness. They made a proposition to Reid to build 200 miles; this he did and did it well. Three years later they called on him again for more building; they had little money, but they had land privileges, concessions, franchises, rights and monopolies—these were placed on a silver platter which they implored Reid to accept. In later emergencies he repeatedly came to their rescue till the books of his wealth showed to his credit 7,000 square miles of the most arable sections, forest areas, mineral belts, lakes and rivers, the railways of the colony, its telegraph system, 8,000 miles of coast docks, and other monopolies too lengthy to catalogue."

MOONLIGHT TRIP ON THE OTONABEE

Bible Class of Y. M. C. A. to Hold One on June 9th

A grand moonlight excursion under the auspices of the Intermediate Bible Club of the Y. M. C. A. will be run next Tuesday evening June 9th, on the beautiful steamer Otonabee. There is sure to be a large crowd and an enjoyable time spent by all who go. The boat will leave the Wolfe St. wharf at 7.30 p. m. and the end of the car line at 8 p. m. Everyone is invited to take this delightful trip. The Intermediate Bible Club will be remembered as the class with the large average attendance during last winter at the Y. It is composed of working boys from the ages of 12 to 17. This class, under the leadership of Dr. Middleton and a few of the boys, grew from an average attendance of four to over 30. The leaders in the class are going to keep something doing this summer and any boys interested are asked to get in touch with Dr. Middleton or Messrs. Arthur West and Mitchell Hart.

New Bridge Across the Niagara.

Buffalo, June 4.—Buffalo and Toronto traction magnates met at the Clifton House, Niagara Falls, Ont., regarding the building of a new bridge across the Niagara river, one-half mile above the Cantilever bridge.

The structure will be the connecting link in a proposed Buffalo-Toronto electric railway, and a franchise has been asked of the Dominion Government.

Frederick Nicholls of Toronto represented Canadian interests at the meeting, which was attended also by Henry J. Pierce, president of the International Railway, operating the Great Gorge Road; Porter Norton, attorney for the company, and Frank A. Dudley, a New York financier.

The perfection of the bridge charter was the principal matter discussed at the meeting.

The Mississippi In Flood.

Hannibal, Mo., June 4.—On account of floods hundreds of homes along the Mississippi river in this vicinity have been abandoned and citizens' protective associations are being formed throughout the bottom lands to prevent looting.

It is estimated that 500 persons have been compelled to abandon their homes and seek shelter on the table lands. In many cases they have been unable to remove their valuables and thieves have been busy.

The Alexandria bottoms, a rich cucumber and tomato country, are under two feet of water, and the damage is estimated at $1,000,000.

Ten thousand acres of corn and wheat have been destroyed by the high water.

Soda Tank Exploded.

Shelburne, June 4.—While charging a soda water fountain, R. J. East, proprietor of a fruit store, and a young lad, John Anderson, who was assisting him, were badly injured by the explosion of the gas tank.

Mr. East's injuries consist of a fractured skull and shattered hip, and small hope is entertained for his recovery.

Anderson has a compound fracture of one arm, and the other is also broken.

Found Bombs and Weapons.

Baku, June 4.—Thirty bombs, a large quantity of explosives and a collection of arms and ammunition, were found in the house of a Swede named Wurten.

The inmates of the house resisted the efforts of the authorities to search it.

A lodger was killed and Wurten's wife and daughter were wounded.

Heavy Rains Do Damage.

Lethbridge, Alta., June 4.—The continuous heavy rains of the past three weeks have produced the natural results. The water in the river is very high and is rapidly rising, with little hope of abatement for some time.

At Frank, the bursting of a dam has cut off the town's water supply.

ZOLA'S REMAINS IN TEMPLE OF FAME

Newspaper Makes Bitter Attack for Government's Action.

Paris, June 4.—Preparations for the interment to-day of the remains of Emile Zola with full national honors in the pantheon, the French temple of fame, are complete. The ceremony will be very elaborate and impressive and almost identical with that observed when the body of Victor Hugo, the last great Frenchman to be so honored, was transferred to the pantheon.

The rabid anti-semetic journal, La Libre Parole, publishes an extra denouncing the Government and Parliament in the foulest terms for ordering the "glorification of Zola," characterizing it as an infamy which will convert the pantheon into a sewer. It appeals to the people to demonstrate against this insult to the country and their faith.

The anti-Dreyfusards have also placarded a number of walls with posters setting forth a protest and bearing the alleged signatures of 34 officers of the "old army."

A small body of students attempted a demonstration before the pantheon, but were easily dispersed by the police.

Mrs. Guinness' Accomplice.

Montreal, June 4.—Julius G. Truelsson, who has made a confession to the effect that he helped Mrs. Guinness, the notorious Laporte, Ind., murderess, in her nefarious business, was in Montreal, as he said in his confession.

He arrived here about March 8 with his bride and registered at the Place Viger Hotel. They were supposed to have come from Quebec, and got the best of rooms, and his wife attracted general attention on account of her beauty and winsomeness.

On March 10 he suddenly disappeared, and a few days after his wife confided to the manager of the hotel that she was without money and had been deserted by her husband.

Disaster at Sea.

Victoria, B.C., June 4.—Bringing news of an unprecedented disaster to the pearling fleet off West Australia, with a loss of forty luggers and 270 lives, twenty only being whites, in a typhoon, the Canadian-Australian liner Manuka arrived here.

The survivors reported harrowing experiences, some being picked up in the last stages of exhaustion after having cut away their masts and having begun clinging to the wrecked hull, while sharks followed, waiting for the exhausted men to drop from the wreckage.

The beach near Broome presents a terrible sight, being covered with wreckage and bodies.

May Exclude the Press.

Regina, June 4.—Premier Scott in the Legislature has threatened to exclude newspapers from the press gallery, resenting alleged misrepresentations in The Standard for party benefit.

The Opposition pointed out that the quotations cited were an actual statement of proceedings, and Mr. Haultain remarked that he was often grossly misrepresented by the Government organ (The Leader). The Premier said the time had come when newspapers in general should be given to understand they were present as a matter of courtesy.

Presbyterian General Assembly.

Winnipeg, June 4.—At the opening of the Presbyterian assembly last night, Dr. F. B. Duvall was nominated by Prof. Bryce and Judge Forbes, St. John, N.B., and elected moderator by acclamation. The sermon was preached by Dr. Cr[illegible]well, the retiring moderator.

One Hundred and Fifty Killed.

Mogador, Morocco, June 4.—The Angloss tribesmen, supported by the Cherifian troops, recently engaged the Mtouguis tribe near here and defeated them after a bloody battle. The losses on both sides were heavy. The Mtouguis left 150 dead on the field.

Whole Family Asphyxiated.

Chicago, June 4.—Mrs. Mary Dow[illegible]man and her three children were found dead at their home, having been asphyxiated by gas escaping from a stove.

PRISON LABOR

"We have in Northern Ontario a stretch of country with lock-ups maintained by the province at different intervals over a stretch of eight or nine hundred miles. They are many in number, and the Province maintains them. To bring our prisoners from that territory here frequently means a trip of from three to twelve hundred miles each way—the bailiff going for the prisoner, both coming back, the Province buying the prisoner a ticket home on his release, and all this for a sentence anywhere between six months and two years, and averaging, in fact, less than eight months. Could we not have, in that section a prison that would be carried on as an adjunct to the Central Prison? There is land there at no too great cost. There are roads there to be built. There is work to be done and much of it that surely would not invite protest and would have a great reformatory value.

These are the questions without more that the Government is considering to-day. These are the questions upon which the Government will have taken its position before the House meets again. There is much in the conditions here that makes for this solution.

In this connection, Sir, we have already done some work in this Province that has a bearing as indicating how far the prisoners may be trusted under proper conditions. When we took office we found a Mercer Reformatory and a Mercer Refuge for Girls. The population of the Mercer Refuge for Girls averaged about 72, with five women officers of this Government in charge as matrons, instructresses and otherwise. These girls were from sixteen to nineteen years of age.

Early in 1906 we took up the question of how far we could dispense with that institution entirely. We set Mr. Kelso to work to see what could be done towards placing those girls in homes with relatives, or otherwise, where the environment would be such as to give them a chance, instead of having them serve their terms and sent back to the old environment only to have them sent to the senior institution for a worse crime.

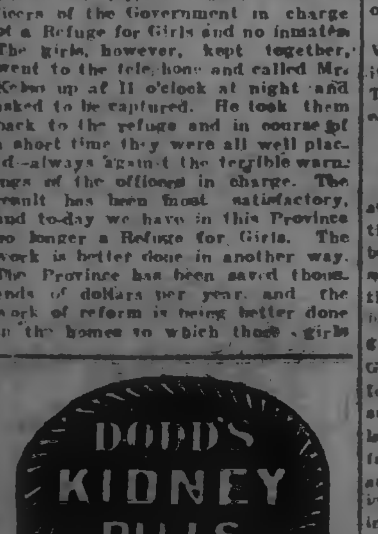
He did get to work. One after another of the girls was placed, sometimes with relatives, sometimes in homes far removed from the homes that they first knew, until finally we were left with the Mercer Refuge for Girls with but four prisoners and five officers in charge. We were told that whatever might be said of the others that had gone out and of whom we had received good reports in nearly every case, that these four could not be trusted out of sight of the authorities in charge. One night they saw their chance and made their escape, and then the situation was terrible indeed. Five officers of the Government in charge of a Refuge for Girls and no inmates. The girls, however, kept together, went to the telephone and called Mr. Kelso up at 11 o'clock at night and asked to be captured. He took them back to the refuge and in course of a short time they were all well placed—always against the terrible warnings of the officers in charge. The result has been most satisfactory, and to-day we have in this Province no longer a Refuge for Girls. The work is better done in another way. The Province has been saved thousands of dollars per year, and the work of reform is being better done in the homes to which those girls have been sent without cost to us.

I wish to move in amendment, seconded by Hon. Dr. Willoughby:

"That all the words after 'that' in the motion be struck out and the following substituted: 'That this House approves of the announcement made by the Government that the whole question of prison labor has been for some time under discussion and will be inquired into forthwith with a view to arriving at a solution which will prevent for the future any competition of prison labor with free labor."

The motion as amended was carried.

The above extract from Hon. W. J. Hanna's able speech on the subject gives an insight into the methods employed by the present Government to solve the problem of prison labour. In what shape did this administration find it? It was a legacy of deficits, competition with free labour, long contracts, some of which are still in existence, old methods and dense ignorance. The noise the Opposition is now making is not real thunder; it is only stage thunder. Be not deceived.



C. G. E. COERCION

When Mr. Stevens was manager of the Electric Works in Peterborough, Mr. J. R. Stratton wrote during an election campaign, to the Canadian General Electric management in Toronto making certain false charges against men employed by the establishment here. This letter type-written as it was and signed by Mr. Stratton, was sent down here from Toronto It was shown to the men involved. The management here cut the Gordian knot by calling off the men without an investigation. There was no time to stop work for an investigation The men did not blame the management but naturally felt sore over Mr. Stratton. Mr. Stratton accomplished his object. His coercive measure worked then and he has tried it on again sheltering himself if he is to be believed behind the West Riding Reform Association which he has always made a tool of for his own purposes The limit however, has probably been reached even here. It certainly has been reached in the matter of his interference in the management of the CGE. Does any one suppose that Mr. E. G. Patterson, Superintendent of the C.G.E. in Peterborough does not know what is going on in his own works? Does he say that Mr. Stratton is in the right? Has he made a complaint? Does anybody back up Mr. Stratton? What has the West Riding Reform Association to say about this affair?

TO THE ELECTORS

Do not fail to remember that while a strong opposition is a necessary thing a government with a small majority is a thing of misery. Many think for they have said so that Whitney cannot and will not be beaten, that in all probability he will have a bigger majority than ever. How will he get it if electors act as if he needed curbing instead of support. Will you run the risk of killing the Power Policy? Beware of being too magnanimous. Contempt for the personnel of the present Opposition and a desire to improve it may very easily lead to something that you never would forgive yourselves for.

A CONFESSION

The Review seems to think that an untruth will go if it is stuck to. It continues harping upon the false statement that an attempt by Liberals was made to interfere with the exercise of political rights by the Electric Company. Nothing of the kind was done; on the contrary, an attempt was made to prevent employees being coerced into voting at the dictation of certain petty official busybodies who are charged with using the authority of their official position gives them to unduly influence employees under them to vote Conservative whether or not they wished to do so. The object was to free the employees from this coercion and to give them the free exercise of their franchise, free from official dictation or coercion.—Examiner.

If all this is true why doesn't the West Riding Reform Association clear its skirts by producing the victims? The proof of the Examiner's case is easy—if it has the evidence.

POLITICAL KINDERGARTENS

Mr. Stratton has originated a new and effective method of instructing the electors. Instead of appealing to them as men of mature age and sound judgment, he hands out to them a few clothespins and perhaps a washer. Having put these glaring testimonies of the Whitney Government's iniquity clearly before the infant electoral mind, he sings a song of triumph "composed largely of references" to his own firm stand in the cause of virtue and good conduct. This is accompanied by a club and rolling pin swinging with a "washboard solo. For those who are unable to ascend to the dizzy heights of his explanation he provides a step-ladder. Taken altogether, it is one of the grandest and most effective assaults upon the Prison Policy of the Whitney Administration yet devised. Classes will be continued up to June 8th, but not afterwards.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Mr. Whitney rather did up the politicians who charge him with introducing the spoils system when he pointed out that his own opponent is a magistrate whom he had kept in office.—The Mail and Empire.

Only about 5 (five) per cent of Ontario prison-made goods are sold in Canada. Only 11 lines of prison-made goods are now made in Ontario. Under Ross there were sixty-five. The present government is laboring to do away with it all if possible.

The objection is also taken that a brother-in-law of Hon. Frank Cochrane is a shareholder in the Larose Company, which gets the $180,000. It happens that this brother-in-law is the ex-president of the Sudbury Liberal Association, and those who know Mr. Cochrane have sufficient faith in him to believe that he would neither favor a person because of a relationship by marriage, nor treat him unjustly because of his political predilections. Is this O'Brien matter a good reason for the rejection of the Whitney administration? Surely not. The politician who gave a ten million dollar mine to a government official for $700 may be, and no doubt is, by reason of that circumstance, unfit to rule, but the minister who recovered for the people a share in the public property thus squandered ought to be returned with a larger majority than ever.—The Mail and Empire.

This being the case, with respect to Mr. Cochrane's brother-in-law, there remained not one Conservative in the Larose company.

Adolphe Steinheil, the distinguished French painter, and his mother-in-law were murdered in Paris yesterday, and the house robbed of money and jewels valued at several thousand dollars.

PLAIN WORDS FOR AMERICANS

Canadian Member in Boston Says Canada is Seeking no Favors

Boston, Mass., June 3.—Mr. E. M. McDonald, M.P. for Pictou, N.S., in the course of his address to the Canadian Club here, said:—"The map of Canada is being rolled back to the northward; we have found in the North and that where you can't farm you can mine. Twenty-five years ago the great West was unknown country; now there are two new provinces there and a million people. This year we shall produce more grain in Canada than any other country, under any government in the world. The Northwest will one day dominate Canada. We have anticipated labor troubles by a law which prevents strikes until each case has been investigated. In our constitution we are better equipped than you to the south of us. Ours is the land of true democracy; there is no class legislation and no distinction between class and mass.

"We have become self-reliant. We don't look southward for trade favors, reciprocity or anything of that kind. There is no talk of annexation nowadays."

POLITICAL NOTES

Mr McNulty, Hon. J. R. Stratton, and Mr. Daniel O'Connell held a meeting in the interests of Mr. McNulty in Havelock last night. They report a successful meeting and a splendid reception.

The meeting this evening in the Opera House in the interests of the Liberal Conservative candidate, Mr. Bradburn, will be addressed by the Honourable the Provincial Treasurer Colonel Matheson. Ald. Phelan and Mr. J. W. Garvin will also speak. There is a meeting, previously advertised, at Ennismore, this evening which Messrs. Bradburn, Moore, Peck and Burnham will attend.

THE RECORD OF A GOOD GOVERNMENT

THE BALLOT

a. Absolute secrecy of ballot.

b. A year's imprisonment and fine of $200 for hinting that it is not so.

c. New ballot that practically prevents spoiling.

d. The returning officer now prints ballots, not the government or private agents thereof.

e. A majority of 200 or over does not forestall recount as formerly. Stuffing not protected.

f. Electoral offences triable summarily and pecuniary penalties recoverable in division courts, etc. Expense no bar.

g. A host of offences now made "corrupt practices." Men "named" for crookedness barred. A clean and free election assured.

GREATER ONTARIO

a. The settler now gets all above and below the soil. Liberals took both away.

b. "Concessions" stopped.

c. Tax on mines made a feature of the business.

d. Old policy in spite of recommendation of governmental officers was to sell out absolutely at $3 per acre. This is where "private enterprise" came in. Mr. Gillespie endorses "private Enterprise."

e. Enormous increase in prices for limits, mining rights, etc., from a few paltry hundreds to millions.

f. Company fiends made liable for prospectus.

g. Maps of whole country made and certificate of title given.

h. Water-powers saved. [see Conmee and Senator Kerr at Ottawa.]

i. Forestry policy set on entirely new footing. Reforesting for both old and new Ontario.

j. Enormous increase in collections of dues.

COUNTY COUNCILS

a. Ross innovation annulled. Old plan restored.

SCHOOL BOOKS

a. Are any of your school books cheaper?

b. All will be cheaper and if possible, free.

c. The Province now has the money to do it.

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

By CHARLES KLEIN.

A Story of American Life Novelized From the Play by ARTHUR HORNBLOW.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

"You don't need them," he exclaimed with a quiet smile in which was a shade of embarrassment. "I—I came here to tell you that I"— He stopped as if unable to find words, while Shirley gazed at him in utter astonishment. "Ah," he went on finally, "you have made it very hard for me to speak." Again he paused and then with an effort he said slowly: "An hour ago I had Senator Roberts on the long distance telephone, and I'm going to Washington. It's all right about your father. The matter will be dropped. You've beaten me. I acknowledge it. You're the first living soul who ever has beaten John Burkett Ryder."

Shirley started forward with a cry of mingled joy and surprise. Could she believe her ears? Was it possible that the dreaded Colossus had capitulated and that she had saved her father? Had the forces of right and justice prevailed after all? Her face transfigured, radiant, she exclaimed breathlessly:

"What, Mr. Ryder, you mean that you are going to help my father?"

"Not for his sake, for yours," he answered frankly.

Shirley hung her head. In her moment of triumph she was sorry for all the hard things she had said to this man. She held out her hand to him.

"Forgive me," she said gently. "It was for my father. I had no faith. I thought your heart was of stone."

Impulsively Ryder drew her to him. He clasped her two hands in his, and, looking down at her kindly, he said awkwardly:

"So it was; so it was! You accomplished the miracle. It's the first time I've acted on pure sentiment. Let me tell you something. Good sentiment is bad business, and good business is bad sentiment. That's why a rich man is generally supposed to have such a hard time getting into the kingdom of heaven." He laughed and went on: "I've given $10,000,000 apiece to three universities. Do you think I'm fool enough to suppose I can buy my way? But that's another matter. I'm going to Washington on behalf of your father because I—want you to marry my son. Yes, I want you in the family, close to us. I want your respect, my girl. I want your love. I want to earn it. I know I can't buy it. There's a weak spot in every man's armor, and this is mine. I always want what I can't get, and I can't get your love unless I earn it."

Shirley remained pensive. Her thoughts were out on Long Island at Massapequa. She was thinking of their joy when they heard the news—her father, her mother and Stott. She was thinking of the future, bright and glorious with promise again now that the dark clouds were passing away. She thought of Jefferson, and a soft light came into her eyes as she foresaw a happy wifehood shared with him.

"Why so sober?" demanded Ryder. "You've gained your point. Your father is to be restored to you. You'll marry the man you love."

"I'm so happy!" murmured Shirley. "I don't deserve it. I had no faith."

Ryder released her and took out his watch.

"I leave in fifteen minutes for Washington," he said. "Will you trust me to go alone?"

"I trust you gladly," she answered, smiling at him. "I shall always be grateful to you for letting me convert you."

"You won me over last night," he rejoined, "when you put up that fight for your father. I made up my mind that a girl so loyal to her father would be loyal to her husband. You think," he went on, "that I do not love my son. You are mistaken. I do love him, and I want him to be happy. I am capable of more affection than people think. It is Wall street," he added bitterly, "that has crushed all sentiment out of me."

Shirley laughed nervously, almost hysterically.

"I want to laugh, and I feel like crying!" she cried. "What will Jefferson say? How happy he will be!"

"How are you going to tell him?" inquired Ryder uneasily.

"I shall tell him that his dear, good father has relented, and"—

"No, my dear," he interrupted, "you will say nothing of the sort. I draw the line at the dear, good father act. I don't want him to think that it comes from me at all."

"But," said Shirley, puzzled, "I shall have to tell him that you"—

"What!" exclaimed Ryder. "Acknowledge to my son that I was wrong, that I've seen the error of my ways and wish to repent? Excuse me," he added grimly. "It's got to come from him. He must see the error of his ways."

"But the error of his way," laughed the girl, "was falling in love with me. I can never prove to him that that was wrong."

The financier refused to be convinced. He shook his head and said stubbornly:

"Well, he must be put in the wrong somehow or other. Why, my dear child," he went on, "that boy has been waiting all his life for an opportunity to say to me, 'Father, I knew I was in the right, and I knew you were wrong.' Can't you see," he asked, "what a false position it places me in? Just picture his triumph!"

"He'll be too happy to triumph," objected Shirley.

Feeling a little ashamed of his attitude, he said:

"I suppose you think I'm very obstinate." Then as she made no reply he added, "I wish I didn't care what you thought."

Shirley looked at him gravely for a moment, and then she replied seriously:

"Mr. Ryder, you're a great man, you're a genius, your life is full of action, energy, achievement. But it appears to be only the good, the noble and the true that you are ashamed of. When your money triumphs over principle, when your political power defeats the ends of justice, you glory in your victory. But when you do a kindly, generous, fatherly act, when you win a grand and noble victory over yourself, you are ashamed of it. It was a kind, generous impulse that has prompted you to save my father and take your son and myself to your heart. Why are you ashamed to let him see it? Are you afraid he will love you? Are you afraid I shall love you? Open your heart wide to us. Let us love you."

Ryder, completely vanquished, opened his arms, and Shirley sprang forward and embraced him as she would have embraced her own father. A solitary tear coursed down the financier's cheek. In thirty years he had not felt or been touched by the emotion of human affection.

The door suddenly opened, and Jefferson entered. He started on seeing Shirley in his father's arms.

"Jeff, my boy," said the financier, releasing Shirley and putting her hand in his son's, "I've done something you couldn't do. I've convinced Miss Green—I mean Miss Rossmore—that we are not so bad after all."

Jefferson, beaming, grasped his father's hand.

"Father!" he exclaimed.

"That's what I say—father!" echoed Shirley.

They both embraced the financier until, overcome with emotion, Ryder senior struggled to free himself and made his escape from the room, crying:

"Goodby, children! I'm off for Washington!"

MOOSE IN CAPTIVITY.

Not Difficult to Domesticate, but Hard to Keep Alive.

"The reason so few moose are seen in captivity in the parks and circuses of the country is not because they are naturally too wild to be domesticated, but because they usually do not live long in captivity," said a St. Paul man. "My father was for many years a settler in northern Minnesota, and at different times in his experience he had three moose on his homestead which recognized him as their master.

"All the animals were captured when they were very young, and in each instance it took them only a few days to become apparently attached to father and his small farm. For two or three weeks he would keep them fenced in and then would allow them to roam around at will. They would be gone for two or three hours, or perhaps half a day at a time, but always came back all right. By allowing them the run of the premises this way they met practically the same conditions as if they were wild in the forest, and therefore were always in good health, but the moment any of them were shipped to the city a change was noticeable.

"Two of the animals were sold to city park associations at different times, and in each instance the moose finally died. They seemed willing enough to remain in the parks, but conditions were not such as they were used to, and from the first it was to be seen that they were failing in health. A moose can stand all sorts of hardships in the woods, but when he is in captivity lack of exercise or lack of proper food or lack of something else puts him on the down grade, and as a rule he passes in his checks in a few weeks or a few months at the outside.

"One of the animals my father owned was a handsome bull, and he was trained to harness. The animal could pull a good sized load and travel through the woods with a sleigh behind him at a very lively clip. This third moose was one day shot by a hunter near the house. So all three animals met with an untimely fate, which goes to prove, I suppose, that man should not monkey with the plans of nature."—Duluth Herald.

Ideas of the Soul.

The old Egyptians thought the soul was a bird with a human face and human hands, which, on the death of him in whom it dwelt on earth, flew to the gods, its kin. Drawings and sculptured figures show this little winged soul, sometimes represented as perched by the sarcophagus, touching the mummy, in a last farewell before it rose in heavenward flight.

Among the Greeks the soul was thought of as a tiny human figure. In Roman days the butterfly was taken as its symbol. In mediaeval pictures and reliefs we see it leaving the mouth of the dead, either as a child or as a tiny naked man—as, for example, is shown in the Campo Santo of Pisa in Orcagna's fresco of the "Triumph of Death."

In northern lands we learn from folklore the soul not seldom left the body as a mouse, or a snake. It was on the former superstition that the story of the bishop of Hatto was based and also, as some say, that of the "Pied Piper of Hamelin."

Tim and His Time

By W. F. BRYAN.

Copyright, 1906, by Associated Literary Press.

Tim Roscoe sat on the coal box at the rear of the station and gazed discontentedly upon the shabby little town. For the first time he was unimpressed by the fact that Cheldon Center possessed two banks and a brick postoffice that stood quite apart from other buildings and paid a good salary.

Ever since he could remember it had been a treat to drive over to the Center, and he had been rather proud of the town. Now he was seeing it through Matie Westcott's eyes, and the huddle of wooden buildings distressed him. Recently he had seen a magazine picture of lower Broadway, with its mountains of masonry and its rivers of humanity flowing through the narrow canyons called streets. He wondered what Matie would think when presently the train from the junction should roll in and she should stand on the station platform, comparing the place to the New York she had just left. He had never seen New York, but he knew much about the wonder city, and he knew also that Matie would never again be content with Cheldon Center, much less with Gardenvale. She would despise the town and its people alike.

Matie's cousin Bess had married well. Her husband, Richard Beldin, had been the secretary to a railroad magnate who made his summer home on the hills back of Gardenvale. Beldin had met and married Bess Petty during one of those summer visits. After making money in stocks he and Bess had urged Matie to visit them.

Tim had said goodby with unusual meaning as he had helped her aboard the train at the Center. There had been more than a hint in Bess' letter that she had a match in mind for Matie. All that had happened two months ago. Today Matie was coming home.

A faroff whistle announced the approach of the train, and Tim sauntered around to the front of the station. The platform was crowded with outgoing passengers and the usual reception committee of small country town loungers. Tim lost himself in the crowd until the train pulled in, and a lithe, girlish figure sprang down the Pullman steps before the porter could offer his hand.

Tim had been watching the day coaches, but he sensed Matie's presence and hurried to relieve her of her suit case. It was the first sign of the change, this substitution of the smart leather case for the near-leather valise which had been considered good enough for traveling when she had left home.

"I'M GOING TO SPEND THE REST OF IT TELLING YOU I LOVE YOU."

"Your pa couldn't get over," he explained as he raised his cap without offering his hand. He had heard that people in the city did not shake hands, but simply bowed.

"Father sick?" asked Matie quickly. Tim shook his head.

"It's only the rheumatism," he explained, "but he thought it would be bad to get out in the cold, and so he asked me to come. I'll get your trunk."

Matie handed him the check in silence, and presently the smart new trunk had joined the suit case in the box of the bobsled, and Tim offered her his hand to help her into the seat.

"It ain't an automobile," he said apologetically, "but I thought you'd be in a hurry to get your trunk over to show all your pretty things, so I didn't bring the cutter."

"That was nice of you," said Matie appreciatively. "I do want to display all the wonders I brought back from town. Tim, do you suppose we could stop at the grocery and get some ginger snaps? There was no dining car on the train, and I'm hungry."

"Your ma sent over a box of lunch," he responded, diving under the seat and producing a shoe box filled with homemade cake and biscuit sandwiches. Matie gave a cry of delight.

"That's just like mother," she declared as she extracted a huge wedge of cake. "She knew I'd be hungry for home things."

"I should think you could get better cooking in the city," observed Tim pessimistically. "They tell me that some of their cooks get $1,000 a year."

"Lots of them," assented Matie, "the chefs in the restaurants. Some get more than that, but they can't make biscuit taste like home. They don't know what home is in the city, Tim."

"I should think a man could make pretty good biscuits for a thousand dollars a year," said Tim practically.

"But he doesn't make them at all," declared Matie laughingly. "The more money a cook gets the less he cooks. He just orders the others around. At the hotel where Bess lives the chef does not cook at all. He would feel insulted if you were to ask him to."

"Bess live in a hotel?" asked Tim in surprise. "I should think that would cost a lot of money. Bill Pratt stopped at a hotel, and they charged him a dollar and a half a day, and they never fed him for that."

"Bess and Dick have six rooms in an apartment hotel," explained Matie. "They pay $3,500 a year just for six rooms."

Tim whistled. "You could build a house for that!" he cried.

"Not in the city," she reminded. "Land costs too much. They have to build houses high to get the value of the land, although, of course, there are a lot of private houses. Most persons prefer the apartments."

"I suppose that even the Center seems a pretty small place now," suggested Tim, upon whom a gloom had settled.

"Not a bit of it," declared Matie brightly. "It's more like home than New York was, and I'm just crazy to see Gardenvale."

Tim touched up the team.

"We'll be there pretty soon," he said as he pointed to the hill ahead. Once up there they should come in sight of the town nestling in the valley on the other side of the divide.

It was a tedious climb, but presently it was accomplished, and a short drive brought them to the brow of the hill on the other side. Matie gave a little cry of delight as the road broke through the trees.

A tiny river wound its way past the town, a huddle of frame buildings along the straggling main street, with a half dozen back streets sparsely settled. The snow covered roofs gleamed white in the winter sun, and the spirals of smoke from the chimneys intensified the whiteness of the snow. Matie laid her hand upon Tim's, holding the reins.

"I want to get a good look a moment," she explained. "All the time I was away I could shut my eyes and see the town, but it wasn't real like this is."

"What's the use of shutting your eyes and seeing a make believe Gardenvale when you could open them and see real thirty story buildings?" demanded Tim practically. "Mebbe the town is a sort of contrast, but I supposed that you would come back and make fun of our town and the people. What'll you do when you go back to New York to live?"

"But I'm not going back," she declared stoutly. "I know what you mean," she added defiantly. "Bess wanted to marry me to a young man down there. She wanted to dazzle me with the town, and then she thought I'd be glad to marry to stay there, but I didn't."

"Why not?" asked Tim breathlessly. "I was almost ashamed to come over after you in the bobs after your riding in automobiles and in the subway and things like that, and I didn't suppose you'd care for that lunch after all the city truck you'd been eating."

Matie regarded him scornfully.

"Bess did one thing," she said quietly. "She made me contended with my lot. They live in a real palace with a hundred servants, and they don't ever walk up and down stairs. They have beautiful rooms and costly food, but it's not like a home. Why, Tim, most of the men in New York don't even have time to love their wives. They're too busy making money."

Tim cleared his throat and fixed his gaze upon the distant hills.

"Matie," he said timidly. "I—I've got a lot of time and—and"—

"And you've been wasting it making yourself miserable over the thought that I was going to come back citified and tired of old faces and friends," reminded Matie. "I'm afraid you don't make very good use of your time, Tim."

"I'm going to spend the rest of it in telling you that I love you," said Tim boldy, and Matie's face gave assurance that the telling would be welcome.

The Bride's Weakness.

"That is the second time I have done that within a week," said the bride of six months as she put down her pen, with a disgusted expression on her face, "and I just don't like it!"

"What have you done now?" queried her friend.

"Done? I have made out a check, signed it, inclosed it with a bill and mailed it, expecting to receive the receipt back, and instead I have got the check, and across it is stamped, 'No account in this bank.' Of course I have an account there, but I've signed the check with my maiden name instead of my married one and consequently have made all kinds of trouble, to say nothing of appearing ridiculous in the eyes of several people. I never shall draw a check again unless I have some one censor it and see that I have not forgotten that when I was married I changed my name!"—New York Press.

Very Convenient.

An energetic vicar of an English country parish, who had long labored to raise the funds necessary to add a set of chimes to his parish church, was one day both surprised and gratified by an elderly lady, who, though reputed to be very well off, had hitherto declined to contribute, offering to complete his subscription list provided the new chimes would be sounded at a specific hour each evening. This was agreed to, and they were soon in active operation. Meeting her out one day, he repeated his acknowledgments, saying: "I am so glad to have been able to meet your views. It must please you very much to hear these grand old hymn tunes at night."

"Oh, yes," was the reply, "and it is really so very convenient! That stupid maid of mine brings me my medicine now quite regularly!"—London Tit-Bits.

The assembly will be the first district meeting ever held for Peterborough district, and its purpose is to have the various lodges come together in order that matters of interest may be discussed to mutual advantage. It will probably become an annual affair.

RECALL OF THE DAYS OF 1860; LOCAL TROOPS AT THE FRONT

June 2nd marked the anniversary of the leaving for the Fenian Raid in 1866 of the loyal volunteers of Peterborough. Two companies left Peterborough and vicinity, No. 1 Infantry under the command of the late Captain John Kennedy and the No. 1 Rifle Company under command of the late Col. Poole. A company also went from Ashburnham. Col. Miller was identified with No. 1 Infantry and among other Peterborough citizens who are still living that were members of the various companies are Messrs. John Kylie, Wm. Langford, and R. Sanderson. The total strength of the three companies numbered 150.

At the call to arms they went east as far as Kingston some stopping off at Oshawa, for the purpose of preventing the Fenians from landing at wharves there in case they should endeavor to do so.

The troops among which the local companies were dispatched to Niagara Falls reached there just after the Queen's Own had been driven across the frontier. They returned home and a little later in July No. 2 Infantry company went from here to Fort Erie remaining there two weeks but the Fenians had apparently had enough fighting and the company saw no active service.

PIANO PUPILS GAVE RECITAL

At Home of Mrs. W. A. Greenslade, King St.---An Excellent Programme

The pianoforte pupils of Mrs. W. A. Greenslade gave a delightful recital at her residence, 189 King street last evening, which was attended by the parents and friends of the pupils. An excellent instrumental programme was rendered, it being varied by recitations from Miss Greta LeBarr, who is always a great favorite, and Miss Agnes Carr, whose vocal numbers last night were exceedingly pleasing.

The piano work of the pupils was exceedingly well done, an evidence of the careful and thorough training they receive from their teacher.

The programme was as follows:—

Piano Duet, Diabelli—Floda Law, Alberta Rehill.

Piano Solo, "Melody" Op. 89—Webb—Floda Law.

Piano Solo, "Skating", Klein—Alberta Rehill.

Reading, selected—Greta LeBarr.

Piano Solo, "Pastorale" Hitz—Cecil White.

Piano Solo, "Bluette Waltz", Duvernoy—Geraldine Montgomery.

Vocal Solo—(a) "I Know a Lovely Garden"
—Guy D'Hardelot
(b) "Four Leaf Clover"
—L. M. Brownell
Miss Agnes Carr.

Piano Duet, "La Gracieuse" Op. 207 Bohn—Geraldine Montgomery and Ruby Carr.

Piano Solo, "A Shepherd's Tale," Nevin—Ruby Carr.

Reading selected—Greta LeBarr.

Piano Solo, (a) "Elfantanz"
(b) "Albumblatt"
—Grieg
Ethel Goodenough.

Piano Solo, (a) Mazurka in G" Op. 10 3—N. Moskowski
(b) "Valse in E Flat"
—Durand
Gladys Rose.

Piano Duet, "Sonatina No. 1," Op. 163, 1—Diabelli
Ethel Goodenough, Gladys Rose.

Frederick F. Wood, an 18 year old aeronaut, of New Haven, Conn., while descending in a parachute yesterday, fell into the Passaic river, and was so entangled in the flag that he was carrying that he drowned before help could reach him.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Man Charged With Receiving Grain Knowing it to be Stolen, in Court Yesterday---Allowed Out on Bail

The south end resident who appeared in police court yesterday, charged with receiving grain, knowing it to be stolen, was committed for trial by His Worship Magistrate Dumble. He pleaded not guilty. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared on his behalf. The evidence of the boys was taken, all apparently convincing the Magistrate of the accused knowing it to be stolen. He was allowed out on his own bail of two hundred dollars.

RUSHING WORK AT ROSEDALE

Mr. Frank Fairen of Peterborough was in town yesterday on his return from Rosedale and he informed the Post that work is now in full swing on the canal at Rosedale. The steam shovel is now at work and the dredge is being worked full time on the job. There are now over 100 men at work and more are being engaged daily.—Lindsay Post.

SHOW BUSINESS IS VERY POOR

Theatrical Man Informed Review To-day That Season Was an Especially Bad One

The show business continues to be bad. A Review reporter had a talk with a theatrical man this morning and the latter stated that the profession and managers were up against it this season in the truest sense of the term.

"West of the Mississippi," he said, "the business is good," but in most parts of the States and Canada it is very poor. In the metropolitan centres especially, it is bad and business there has been very discouraging."

THE STORE THAT NEVER DISAPPOINTS

THE POWER OF FIFTEEN DOLLARS

You say there is no room for argument—One dollar is worth as much as another. We will agree with you, one hundred cents is equal in value to another hundred cents, but when it comes to the spending of that money, one dollar has a great deal more power if spent some places than if spent elsewhere.

Cressman's FOR YOUR Clothing

Your money has more value receiving power at Cressman's Semi Ready Wardrobe than it has elsewhere. More true style, more real worth is given than can be found at the best city tailors. Our clothing is expert tailored and finished equal to any and a great deal better than most custom tailored suits.

$15 SUITS

There is more high class style in the lines of our 15 dollar suits than you could expect to find in the ordinary suit at the same or even a higher price. Your $15 has more buying power here than it would have elsewhere. Our suits have more wearing qualities, are better finished, more of the style and appearance you would expect to find in the 20.00 goods. You ask why. Here it is. The Semi Ready policy is to produce high class goods, no matter what the price is. The Semi Ready standard cannot be sacrificed at any price, and when they produce suits to sell at 15.00 you can depend upon it, that the Semi Ready qualities are there that has so popularized this make of clothing and placed them at the head of the long list of men's wear in Canada. Our values this season are better than any previous year, and we are proud of them, but feel unable to do justice to such goods with the expressing of mere words. We heartily invite all to let us demonstrate the extraordinary values we are giving—the stylish, seasonable cloths and patterns that characterize these and appeal to the most exacting dresser. We will be pleased to show them whether you wish to purchase now or not.

All the newest effects in Tweeds, Worsteds and Serges—Strips and checks and plain weaves in the right shades of seasonable colorings. The biggest value ever produced for the popular price 15.00

Closing Exercises of the Conservatory of Music

The closing exercises of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, June 23rd and 24th. They will be held in the Conservatory of Music hall. It has been found advisable to have the exercises on two nights and the programme will be of unusual interest. Arrangements are now being made.

DOG OWNER IN COURT TO-DAY

A man by the name of Barringer appeared in police court this morning, charged with neglecting to get a tag for his canine. He stated that he had got a tag in Sault Ste. Marie that was good for all the province. He also said that the dog belonged to his sister. His Worship enlarged the case in order to allow him to get a tag.

James Whitehead, charged with removing sod from the streets, appeared this morning. The case was again enlarged for a week.

ENGINE RAN INTO ROUND HOUSE

At the G.T.R. station this morning a locomotive shunting in the yard ran into the round house, knocking a large hole in the north end wall. The engine was backing up and the engineer not thinking he was so close to the building collided with it, damaging it as stated above.

GOD SAVE THE KING

IDLE PERSONS IN LOCAL PARKS

Complaint has been made that in the local parks the benches are being occupied by a great many idle persons and that the ladies have on many occasions no place to sit. Very often also the language of those assembled is anything but gentlemanly.

In Brantford acting on the advice of the City Council, the Parks Commissioners have decided to place seats "for ladies only," in all local parks.

SAYS FEES WERE PRETTY STEEP

A Hamilton despatch says;—

The management of Cole Bros' circus, which appears here on June 17th, feels that it was held up here. The exhibition took place in Barton township just outside the city, and the Township Council recently increased the fee from $500 to $200, but on account of the strenuous kick it was reduced to the former amount. The city charged $300 for permission to hold the parade.

GOOD PLACE FOR TURKISH BATHS

Peterboro a Splendid Location for the Establishment of Bath Parlours—None Between Toronto and Montreal

A gentleman yesterday speaking to a Review reporter said there was a great opening for Turkish bath parlours in Peterboro.

"There are no Turkish baths between Toronto and Montreal," he said, "and Peterboro would be an excellent intermediate point for the establishment of the baths. Of course it costs something to fit up the parlors, but when they were finished and in operation they would certainly prove a good paying proposition.

Get your screen doors and windows on before the flies come. The kind we sell are extra strong and well made.

SEWING "BEE" AT THE SHELTER

Many Ladies Assisted in the Good Work Yesterday Afternoon

A most successful sewing "bee" was held at the Children's Shelter yesterday afternoon. About a dozen ladies were in attendance and sewed for the little girls whose home is at the Shelter. Several dresses were completed and good progress made on the other garments. After the sewing was over, ice cream and cake were served to the ladies. Among the ladies present were: Mesdames Jas. Best, Rawlings, Jas. Montgomery, John Roe, Harding and Udy, and Misses M. Anderson, B. Mann, and E. Cochrane.

Another sewing bee will be held on Tuesday afternoon to make clothing for the little boys.

The officers of the Children's Aid Society desire to thank the ladies who turned out yesterday. What they have done is greatly appreciated.

PETES WERE THERE AT LINDSAY; LANDED THE GAME BY 4-1

The Johnston Nine Put Up a Good Game—Look Like Penant Winners to Scugog Fans—Workman Hurt

Special to the Review
A Lindsay despatch says;

Peterborough had an easy time with the Wideawakes of the Town League of Lindsay last evening. The score was 4-1 at the conclusion of the ninth innings with the Petes on the large end.

A rank error was the cause of the only run Lindsay got. Pitcher Clement threw the ball past Cheatham and none other than Bill Cinnamon, the old Redskin, who so often figured on the line-up against Peterborough, scored the run.

The game was listless and but a small crowd was present. The Peterborough nine were trickier and good hitters. Some fast basework was pulled off by the locals however, including a double play. On one occasion with but one out and a man on second and third both were got in the box and both were tagged out Workman, Thompson and Williams figuring in the play for the locals.

The Peterborough men are fast, very fast and if they do not win the Midland League it will surprise Lindsayites.

Clements looks good from here in the box and Edmunds has the necessary qualifications for a catcher. The outfield is a strong asset to the team, all being heavy hitters.

During the game the Lindsay star second baseman, Herb Workman was injured and continued only with difficulty. Afterwards he was taken to the Ross Hospital and was delirious for some time.

The game, which was played at the Exhibition grounds started at five o'clock and was the best game of base ball seen there for a number of years. The Petes started in to win, right off the reel, scoring their initial counter in the first, Murphy doing the trick.

Two more tallies were chalked up in the second and another in the third, which finished the scoring as far as the Petes were concerned.

The Wideawakes finished each inning up to the fifth with a goose egg to their credit, but in the sixth by securing a pass, Koyle reached first, went down to second on the throw, got the third peg on Nesbitt's bunt. This was the only tally they got, only getting to Clements for three singles.

The longest hit of the game went to O'Brien, he landing on the horsehide for two cushions. Burns made a drive early in the game which would have been going yet had not Koyle made a circus catch which brought the crowd to its feet.

The Wideawakes pulled off a pretty double play in the fourth innings.

Clements, who was on the slab for Peterborough, had the Lindsayites doing a fanmill stunt and succeeded in striking out six would-be swatters. Cinnamon was also in form tossing over three strikes each to three men and issued no free passes

The Petes kept up their good work on the bases, Burns, Murphy, Clements, Lawson and Craig working steals.

Maddocks as usual put up a star game having four put outs, five assists and one error, was up four times getting two hits.

Craig also had a good day, having two hits to his credit out of four times at bat

The score was as follows:

STRATHCONAS WON FROM T.A.S. LAST NIGHT BY SCORE 13-3

Another City League game was pulled off last night when the Strathconas and T.A.S. clashed for the first time. At the start the game promised to be very close, but the winners in the latter half demonstrated to the big crowd of fans present that they were superior in every way to their opponents. Both sides, however, did good work in the field and running catches and neat pick-ups were by no means rare; Girous and Lemome, for the T. A.S., swallowed up everything that came near them, while Curtis carried off the fielding laurels for the Strathconas. The winners had it all over their opponents at the bat, making 16 hits off Cahill, while "Curly" Belleghem, who pitched splendid ball for them, held the T.A.S. down to 7.

For the first three innings play was fast, no error having been made on either side and at the end of the third the score stood 3—1 in favor of the T.A.S. The Strathconas then got busy with the willow and piled up the runs until the T.A.S. fans were soon convinced that their nine was "up against it." In the fourth Allison's beautiful drive to left for three sacks brought in two runs and this started the scoring for the winners. Belleghem scored Allison and Curtis on a two-bagger and at the end of the fourth the score was 5—3. The T.A. S. were shut out for the rest of the game which was mostly due to the fact that when once on the bags they were forced to stay there on account of Belleghem's clever trick when throwing to the bases. The winning side kept up their heavy hitting and base-stealing till the end of the game, and the final score of 13—3 gives a pretty good idea of where the championship of the City League will go this season.

Strathconas—P, Belleghem; c, Wilson; 1b, Heaslip; 2b, Weatherstone; 3b, McMillan; s.s., Kendry; lf, Shaw; cf, Curtis; rf, Allison.

T.A.S.—P, Cahill; c, McFadden; 1b, Doris; 2b, Denathey; 3b, Doherty; s.s., Corkery; lf, Lemome; cf, Hayes; rf, Giroux.

RANK OUTSIDER GALLOPED HOME WINNER OF THE DERBY

Italian Horse Wins England's Great Sporting Event—Record Attendance at the Derby—Half the Horses Considered Possible Winners.

London, June 4.—A rank outsider, Signorinetta, owned by E. Ginnistrelli, and quoted in the betting at 100 to 1 against, defeated all the British, American and French cracks and captured the Derby Stakes, valued at 6,500 sovereigns, and the greatest prize of the turf world. The Italian horse simply cantered home from the best favorites by two lengths. A neck only divided the second horse, the Duke of Portland's Primer, at 40 to 1, and the third, Barclay Walker's Llangwm, at 100 to 8.

The Derby Stakes, worth $26,944 to the winner, $2,430 to the nominator of the winner, $1,944 to the second horse and $972 to the third. One and one-half miles. Entries originally numbered 391.

Time 2.39 4-5.

Mountain Apple was fourth. Some delay was caused at the post by Azete and Vamose breaking the tape, but ultimately a good start was effected. Mercutio led to the mile post, when August Belmont's Norman III. drew to the front. The American horse, however, going down the hill, was overhauled by Mountain Apple. Mountain Apple held the lead with Signorinetta, Primer and Llangwm in close attendance until the quarter-mile from home, when Signorinetta, the only filly in the race, came on with a rush and romped home the easiest of winners.

Only one of the favorites flattered his supporters at any point of the course. This was Mountain Apple, who took up the running upon entering the stretch. He was pursued by Seasick II., Royal Realm, Signorinette, Primer, Llangwm, but the pace was too fast for the son of Persimmon and with the quarter mile still to go he dropped back beaten. At this stage the unfancied Italian filly, which had been occupying a nice place in the centre, raced to the front.

Signorinetta never has been seen to advantage. She could only reach fifth place in this year's Newmarket Stakes. It is probably that the filly did not carry more than $25 of the public's money, and her victory was received with blank dismay. The quoted price on her, 100 to 1 against, was purely nominal: the layers would have given any price asked. Except from the bookmakers, who had reaped perhaps the richest harvest of their lives, there was not a cheer to proclaim the victory of the Italian entry.

The only horse considered a possible winner to secure a place was Llangwm, with Maher up. Both Norman III. and Seasick II. started well enough and made a running in the early part of the race, but soon fell into the ruck.

Signorinetta is the first filly to win the blue ribbon since the victory of Shotovers, in 1882.

Maher was the only American to figure prominently in the Derby, which, from the spectacular point of view, was the greatest Derby for years.

Lured by the fact that at least half the horses were considered winners, the largest crowd that has been seen in many years found its way to Epsom Downs.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra, the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and other members of the royal family went down by train.

The win of Signorinetta at such odds is the biggest upset since 1898, when J. Gubbins' Jeddah captured the event at the same odds. Never before nor since has a horse at that long odds won.

It is the second year in succession for a foreign horse to win the world's greatest flat race, and in 1901 Volodyovksi, leased by Mr. Whitney of New York, won.

WILL PLAY FOUR GAMES DURING TOUR

Peterboroughs Will Play at Cobourg, Belleville, Frankford and Wellington

The Peterboroughs will play the following games during their lakefront tour;—

Saturday, June 6—Cobourg (Midland League game.)

Monday, June 8—Belleville, exhibition.

Tuesday, June 9—Frankford, exhibition.

Wednesday, June 10—Wellington, exhibition.

After the game at Wellington the team will return home to get rested up for Saturday's game against Cobourg.

The arrangements for the game at Frankford were completed today. The visit of the Petes is arousing great interest in the towns to be visited.

Negotiations are in progress for games at Picton, Napanee and Gananoque.

The team is in great shape for Saturday's game at Cobourg and should come out of it with another win. The Petes have now won six straight games, scoring 42 runs to their opponents' six.

BASEBALL

The Y.M.C.A baseball club will play a practice game tonight at the Riverside grounds with the Peterborough team. The following Y.M.C.A men will compose the team; Graham, McDonald, Patterson, Dormer, Westbrooke, Waram, Porter, Wade, Barber

Port Hope, June 3.—In the opening league game of the season here to-day Port Hope defeated Cobourg by the score of 12 to 7. Turner, Cobourg's imported twirler, was knocked from the box and Wyestone, his substitute, proved easy for the local sluggers. Surplis pitched in masterly style for Port Hope, and O'Hearn and O'Brien of Toronto shone at third and shortstop.

Batteries;

Cobourg—Turner, Wyestone and Turpin.

Port Hope—Surplis and Andrews.

The Athletics trimmed the Lakeviews last night in a practice game by 10—2. The victory was an easy one for manager Lynch's outfit.

TANNING OF LEATHER.

It is Probably the Most Ancient of All the Arts.

Tanning of leather is probably the oldest of all arts. Agriculture is the only one that would have a chance of competition, but the probabilities are that cold weather taught the first intelligent anthropoid ape to move south or cover himself with skins. Without tanning the raw hides would soon stiffen and in damp weather would rot and become unbearable because of their odors. Probably about the period of the troglodytes, or cave men, the art had its inception, and right here is to be stated one of the most curious features of the art—namely, that, while every other art has advanced, the methods employed by most tanners today are quite similar to those used in the time of Herodotus, a writer who has told us more about the world as he found it than has any historian who succeeded him.

Herodotus says he found the Africans wearing skins for clothing, a remarkable statement about the people of a country in which the thermometer rarely goes below 100 degrees F. The Phoenicians used tanned leather for the outsides of ships with which they fearlessly navigated every square mile of the sea of all antiquity. Babylonian leather workers were respected in the time of David of Judea. Russia leather has held a proud place since the first century of our era. Dyed maraquin leather from Astrakhan, at the mouth of the Volga, made from goatskins, is famous the world over for the beauty of its red and yellow dyes. Then there is the shagreen of Tartary and Armenia, made of only a small piece of ass' skin, a square of two feet, just over the tail.

To me the most memorable thing I saw at Tangier, Morocco, was a famous tannery that dated back to the period preceding the Arabic invasion of Europe. For some of the finest grades a man was treading the skins in a vat barefooted. He was some wretched outcast picked up on the streets and in need of a few copper coins to save him from starvation. The guide told me that an hour among the mineral and vegetable acids in that vat would cause the skin to peel from his feet and legs as if the flesh had been boiled. As hospitals are unknown in Tangier, this seemed a serious prospect for the poor wretch. This incident recalled the unfortunate mules at Guanajuata and in other places of Mexico that are put into the cyanide tanks to separate the silver by tramping. The poor brutes soon lose their hoofs and have to be shot.

Morocco leather is made of goatskins, dyed upon their outer surfaces. Not until the middle of the eighteenth century was the art introduced into France, where the highest grades of Morocco leather are made in these days. But most travelers are shown books in the Vatican at Rome and in the Royal library at Madrid bound early in 1700 that are in fine condition. Dyeing leather red is the most difficult of all arts in treating skins. The color requires some mysterious mordant to fix it, and not a dyer between Mogadore and Aleppo will give up the secret.

Wendell Phillips and Blaine.

When Wendell Phillips was last in Washington he was for a few minutes on the floor of the United States senate, surrounded by a group of senators, among whom was Senator James G. Blaine, always a favorite with Mr. Phillips. It so happened that a few weeks before this time Mr. Blaine in presenting to congress the statue of Governor King, first governor of Maine, to be placed in the rotunda of the capitol, had commented severely on the loyalty of Massachusetts and especially the Federalist party during the war with Great Britain in 1812.

Of this party the father of Wendell Phillips, John Phillips, was a conspicuous member. When Blaine's speech was made, Dawes and Hoar were senators from Massachusetts, and they both essayed some sort of an impromptu reply thereto, but did themselves little credit in parrying the thrusts of Blaine's glittering rapier.

So when Wendell Phillips met Blaine on this occasion he said to him laughingly, "I wish I had been a member of this body for about an hour the other day when you made that speech attacking the Massachusetts Federalists."

"Ah," said Mr. Blaine, with that ready wit which never deserted him, "if you had been here I shouldn't have made that speech."—Exchange.

The Home of Edam Cheese.

The northern part of Holland is the seat of the Edam cheese industry. In making the Edam cheese fresh cows' milk is carefully strained and the rennet added. As soon as the milk curdles the whey is drawn off, and the curd, thoroughly kneaded, is pressed into molds. This process is repeated until the whey has all been extracted and the curd is comparatively dry. It is then wrapped in a linen cloth and kept for ten or twelve days until quite solid. Then the cloth is removed and the cheese put into salt lye. Afterward a little more dry salt is sprinkled on the cheese until the maker thinks it is salt enough to insure its keeping. It is next put into a vessel and washed with whey and scraped to remove the white crust. It is next carried into a cool room and laid on shelves, where it is frequently turned. The ripening process lasts from two to three months, the round balls growing the fine yellow or reddish color peculiar to Edam cheese. The cheeses intended to be exported to this country are rendered still more brilliant by dyeing the rind with a vegetable dye.

Driver Foote, a Royal Canadian Horse Artillery deserter, was sentenced to six months at hard labor.

A Baseball His Tombstone.

The grave of William A. Hulbert, at one time president of the old National Baseball league, is marked with a tombstone in the shape of a baseball. When Mr. Hulbert died, in 1882, some of his old associates set about to show their love and respect for him, and the result was the monument in Graceland cemetery, Chicago. The baseball is made of red granite, about twenty inches in diameter, showing the seams as they appear upon the balls used in the regulation games. Across the top appears in raised letters, "W. A. Hulbert, President National League, P. B. B. C., 1876, 1882." On one side appear the names of four clubs in the old league—Boston, Providence, Worcester and Troy—and on the other those of the other four—Chicago, Cleveland, Buffalo and Detroit. Also there is a headstone of white marble, upon which appears the name, together with the date of birth, Oct. 23, 1832, and the date of death, April 10, 1882.

A Valuable Service.

"The traveler in Ireland will do well," recently remarked an attache to the American embassy at London, "when he engages a jaunting car to make sure of the step to which in mounting he must trust his weight. The carman does not help him to mount.

"I am afraid that step is loose," an American once said to the driver he had engaged.

"The man took hold of the step and shook it. 'Ah, shure,' said he, 'it's too sthrong, it is. What are ye afraid of?'

"As he was talking the thing came off in his hand.

"This mishap did not, however, embarrass the Irishman, for, with the sunniest of smiles, he turned to his fare, saying:

"'Shure, now, I've saved yer honor from a broken leg!'"

Home Rule In Canada.

Cardinal Logue, Primate of all Ireland, when in Montreal, discussing home rule, remarked that all Ireland is bound to have it, but he felt they would be satisfied with something less than the fulness of the home rule that Canada enjoys.

This woman says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her. Read her letter.

Mrs. J. A. Laliberte, of 34 Artillerie St., Quebec, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"For six years I have been doctoring for female weakness, heart and nerves, liver and kidney trouble, but in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I can safely say I have found a cure.

"I was continually bothered with the most distressing backaches, headaches, and bearing-down pains, and I kept growing more and more nervous.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of all these distressing symptoms and made me a well woman. I would advise all suffering women, young or old, to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

MANY LOGS IN BACK LAKES

Drives Being Rushed Through on Account of High Water---Very Little Trouble in Creeks

A number of the back lakes are becoming somewhat blocked with logs coming down from the lumber camps. The water is high and the foremen of the camps are taking advantage of this favorable condition and getting the logs down as soon as possible. They are not having much difficulty moving them along the tributary creeks on account of the depth of the water.

CHANDOS COUNCIL

The Chandos council met at Hall's schoolhouse on May 30th, 1908.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and signed.

Moved by Messrs. Tanner and Jones, that the communication from C. A. Ghent be received, and that there be no action taken.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Tanner and Wilson, that this Council pass a by-law allowing the trustees of School Section No. 6 to borrow six hundred dollars on debentures to build a new school house, said debentures to be payable in twelve annual payments.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Jones and Gooley, that By-law No. 111, a By-law allowing the trustees of School Section No. 6 to borrow six hundred dollars, pass it several readings and be signed by the reeve and clerk and sealed.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Tanner and Gooley, that Albert Wilson's offer for lot 2 in the 9th concession be accepted, and that he be placed on the assessment roll for same.—Carried.
